U.S. POLIO EXPERTS' CONFERENCE ADVISES:

Halt Adults' Type III Oral Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A temporary halt in the use of Type III oral polio vaccine for adults, was recommended Saturday night by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The decision, announced by Surgeon General Luther Terry, came after a day-long meeting of an advisory committee of polio experts.

The committee had not planned to meet until Sept. 27 but moved up its session after Canadian authorities recommended against further mass use of the mouth-administered Sabin oral vaccine.

* * * *

THE CANADIAN FEDERAL health department acted after getting reports of four cases of paralytic polio among four million persons who had received the Sabin live-virus vaccine.

The committee's decision is advisory, and local health officials will make their own decisions on immunization programs.

Reached by ship-to-shore telephone from New York to the liner Queen Mary, aboard which he is returning from a business trip abroad, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, vaccine developer, said:

"I think all community-wide immunization programs should go on as scheduled.

"I have had at least 15 ship-to-shore calls since the decision was handed down and in each case the callers assured me there would be no discontinuance of their programs."

He said the immunization-program leaders had called from St. Louis, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn.; San Francisco Bay area and other cities throughout the nation.

"I left the United States Aug. 16 and the day before I left I attended a conference of the surgeon general's committee and on the basis of the evidence at that time, there was no reason for alterations in the program."

Asked specifically if he meant that the vaccine should continue to be given to adults, Sabin replied:

"I see no reason why the vaccine should not be given to adults."

* * * *

HE SAID HE EXPECTED to arrive in New York Tuesday and would then seek to read the minutes of the meeting at which the decision was made to recommend a temporary halt in the program.

Terry said two reasons prompted the committee to recommend use of Type III vaccine for preschool and school-age children:

1. The outbreak of polio after reception of Type III vaccine has been confined to adults.

2. Children are more susceptible to polio and need the protection the vaccine will give.

He noted that the incidence of polio in adults after reception of the vaccine was less than one per million doses.

Inoculation Plans Here Unchanged

No change was forseen Saturday night in plans to open Type 1 Sabin oral polio vaccine clinics in the Long Beach area and Orange County on Oct. 21.

Statements from medical directors in both areas indicated the "Sabin Oral Sundays" programs of administering the new vaccine would continue barring later action by the U.S. surgeon general or other competent authority.

Belief in validity of the program followed on the heels of an order from the surgeon general in Washington, D.C., halting use of Type III vaccine for adults.

According to a previously released schedule, Type I will be given throughout California on Oct. 21 and 28; Type II on Jan. 20, 27; and the newly suspect III Dec. 2 and 9.

"We have plenty of time to evaluate Type III" before it would be used in this schedule, Dr. Harold A. Neibling, Long Beach Medical Society president told The I, P-T. "Type I and II are proven perfectly safe" by a recent world-wide experimental program.

These sentiments were echoed by Dr. Sam S. Woolington, of Long Beach, SOS medical director. "The group advisory committee meets Tuesday and I expect we'll have a further statement then."

Commented Dr. William K. Friend, Anaheim, president of Orange County Medical Society and member of the statewide SOS committee:

"We're going ahead with the program as planned . . . except for Type III. There we'll follow the recommendation of the surgeon general, which has been that it be given only to

HAIRY YES-MAN

Castro Purely Nikita's Stooge

Editor's Note—What is actually going on in Cuba? Recent events etch the pattern of Communist control. Just how far this has gone is summed up in this article by a specialist in Communist affairs who worked in Cuba both before and after Castro seized control. The analysis is based on inside information from Cuba, a survey of Havana and Moscow statements, and diplomatic reports.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

Moscow today just about owns Cuba—lock, stock, barrel and beard.

Inexorably, Soviet communism is closing its steel grip. Challenging the United Sates in the sensitive Caribbean and the Western Hemisphere, Moscow has given the world a lesson in imperialism.

When the Russians colonize, they colonize for good. Short of armed invasion, there seems little hope of prying the Communists out of a base 90 miles from U.S. shores.

* * * *

THE SOVIET takeover will be complete when Fidel Castro is shoved aside, along with his 26th of July Movement revolutionaries. This will be a slow and cautious process, but signs of party conflict are clear.

Daily, Castro, now plump and overweight, appears more and more in the role of a bumbling and confused man, loudly demanding everything his own way, but bowing to what he now calls the "collective leadership." He has lost much popular support. Havana reports suggest only 20 per cent of the people back him now. That is much more than the percentage backing the old guard Communists, but they do not need popular support. They have their tight, disciplined, spy-ridden organization—and they have Moscow on their side.

* * * *

COMMUNISTS are patient. They can wait until popular disillusion and economic chaos make Castro no longer important. They are letting him shoulder the blame for Cuba's internal woes. They are letting his entourage of "new Communists"—men like Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Fidel's brother Raul Castro and others of his Sierra Maestre revolution following—hang themselves with ropes fashioned of their own confusion. The time will come when Castro can safely be removed.

A close examination of just how tightly the Soviet Communist grip has seized the Pearl of the Antilles produces a sense of shock. From documents and official regime statements, and from reports of diplomatic travelers, this picture emerges of a Cuba as tightly bound to Moscow as is Bulgaria:

THE ARMED FORCES

The rag-tag 26th of July army of bearded romantics who marched into Havana Jan. 2, 1959, is no more. In its place is a force of about 300,000, made up of more than 50,000 trained regulars and a heavily armed militia. The training is by Communist bloc officers. The equipment is modern. The discipline is strict and Soviet style. The facilities are installed and expanded by Russians and East Europeans.

Even now the army has political commissars, carbon copies of the "politruk" officers of East Bloc armies, assigned to nail down party authority. One group of 750 "revolutionary instructors" was graduated this month from a special school and is being infused into the army. Castro says their mission is to "teach the class struggle character of the revolution" to the army.

Havana is ringed by military hardware, manned by Russians and Cubans. The Russians paid cash for former estates near Havana, and the belief is the areas will be used for anti-aircraft batteries and rocket-launching sites.

Lawyer Aids FBI Detect Russ Spies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Saturday said a three-year investigation uncovered illegal intelligence activities by two Soviet employes of the United Nations.

One left the country before the United States submitted its evidence to the U. N. Secretariat and the other left afterward, presumably expelled by the United Nations.

The Justice Department said the illegal activities were uncovered by the FBI with the help of Richard A. Flink, a young New York City lawyer who is a Republican candidate for the state assembly.

The announcement said Yuri A. Mishukov, a 31-year-old translator first established contact with Flink in the fall of 1959.

* * * *

WHEN Mishukov left the country this summer, for reasons unannounced, he turned over the contact work to Yuri V. Zaitsev, a 38-year-old political officer in the U.N. Political and Security Affairs Council, the department said.

The announcement said the Russians promised Flink a $3,000 campaign contribution in return for information regarding what the Justice Department described as "internal operations of the United States government agencies and personal information about influential members of Mr. Flink's political party."

The department said the money actually was paid to Flink who turned it over to the FBI. That agency impounded it and its final

Security Talks Said 'Beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defense chiefs of the United States and Britain have completed a week of "most beneficial" talks on cooperative efforts to further the security of the free world, a joint communique said Saturday.

The Pentagon issued the joint British-American report on talks this week between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Britain's Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft.

* * * *

"THE PRINCIPALS WERE in general agreement on the matters discussed," the communique said.

A prime topic of the conversations was the intensification of joint British-American endeavors in military research and development.

The communique said the discussions also covered the balance between nuclear and conventional forces in the military establishments of the Western Allies, and measures necessary to "insure maintenance of Allied rights in Berlin under any circumstances."

Thorneycroft, who was a guest of President Kennedy on visits to space installations in Alabama and Florida on Tuesday, visited the headquarters of the Supreme Allied Command for the Atlantic at Norfolk, Va., Saturday.

Deadlock Ends Rail Parleying

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations aimed at ending a strike against the Chicago & North Western Railway broke up Saturday and the railroad said it would not talk again until the union yields on its job-security demand.

The 17-day-old walkout by about 1,000 members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers has idled about 15,500 railway workers in a nine-state area.

* * * *

IT IS HAVING a serious economic impact throughout the territory and the results have stirred demands from Congress and elsewhere for an early end to the shutdown.

At his news conference Thursday, President Kennedy called for an early end to the strike, in the public interest, and expressed hopes for weekend settlement.

K Seen Angling for JFK Talk

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may be maneuvering for a meeting with President Kennedy before forcing a Berlin showdown, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow said it looked as if Khrushchev wants a summit conference before the end of the year to determine whether a negotiated East-West settlement is possible.

The Soviet leader is not planning to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York this week. The Soviet delegation is being led by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

But Gromyko was expected to sound out the prospects of a Khrushchev-Kennedy get-together, after the general debate of the U.N. Assembly.

* * * *

MOSCOW's announcement earlier last week that it will not press Berlin negotiations until after the November congressional elections in the United States was believed intended to allow time for another round of top-level talks.

Kennedy left the door open for such a meeting with Khrushchev when he recently stated he would be prepared to meet the Soviet leader if he came to the United Nations.

The dispatches suggested Khrushchev is anxious to get the Berlin issue "out of the way." But, at the same time, is increasingly aware that any forceful action now could lead to armed collision with the United States.

Bay City's Mayor Reverses Slump, but Tax Rate Soars

SAN FRANCISCO — The economic health of San Francisco, a city that lost population in the 1960 federal census, is likely to be a top topic in the election race for lieutenant governor.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, is being hailed by his proponents as the man who put San Francisco on its feet again.

* * * *

CHRISTOPHER literally rebuilt run-down San Francisco municipal facilities and backed bond issues for civic improvements. Private developments and a higher employment level followed, and civic leaders say the population decline has been halted.

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER
Colorful, Aggressive

But Christopher's progress program increased spending by 71 per cent and left behind some record-size tax bills. And some Christopher foes charge the king-sized tax bills will hamper San Francisco growth in the future.

San Francisco's budget has skyrocketed from 188 million dollars in 1954-55 to 322 million dollars in the current fiscal year of the Christopher administration.

San Francisco has the second-highest per-capita property tax in the nation, outranked only by Boston. And Democrats in San Francisco have wide political grins.

* * * *

"CHRISTOPHER presented San Francisco with the highest tax rate in history while roaming the state with Richard Nixon preaching economy in state government and demanding lower taxes," said Thomas

Police Probe Mysterious Death Here

Homicide detectives Saturday probed circumstances surrounding the death of a 22-year-old man whose body was found in a Long Beach hotel.

Joseph English Lindsey, of 3925 Livingston Dr., was dead Saturday afternoon in the hotel room at 131 E. Anaheim St. he had rented 12 hours earlier.

Police said a number of capsules were found near the body. An autopsy will determine cause of death.

A relative informed police Saturday night Lindsey did not use drugs nor drink alcoholic beverages. The relative said Lindsey had suffered four stab wounds in the back Wednesday night, but the wounds appeared superficial and were treated by a neighbor.

L.A.C. Says: A Close Race

It is probable the results of the governor election in November will be decided by one of the smallest margins ever experienced in a state election. It cannot be much closer than the 1960 Nixon-Kennedy state election which Nixon won by a margin of only 35,623 votes. But experienced politicians agree—in private at least—that it is a horse race with the odds even.

This reasoning is despite the fact that there are a million more Democrats registered than Republicans. It is also while remembering that Brown was elected by a million majority in 1958. It is apparent the close race predicted is based on results of the June primary election when Brown received less than half of the Democratic vote eligible to vote in that election.

In that June primary election two million Democrats failed to even go to the polls. Of those who did vote, 102,595 wrote in the names of Republicans Shell and Nixon. Another 294,000 voted for three virtually unknown Democrats opposing Brown—and most disturbing to Brown is the fact that some 300,000 Democrats who did cast a ballot failed to vote for him—they left the governor candidate portion of the ballot unmarked.

Because both the Nixon and Brown forces recognize the closeness of the race, they are making every effort possible to get their supporters active. In the 1960 election Nixon won by a margin of less than two votes for each precinct in the state. That should cause each precinct worker to realize the importance of the work they do.

California has long been a state where voters crossed party lines. The great majority of Democrats are as conservative as are the great majority of Republicans. But the Democrats are saddled with the left-wing program of their powerful CDC. After years of accepting CDC actions some of the Democratic candidates are now hedging. But they still support the over-all organization whose programs have embarrassed them into "death-bed conversions" in opposing some of the more radical CDC programs.

It is apparent many of the registered Democrats who did not vote for Brown were disturbed over this situation. There is good reason to expect them to be equally disturbed when they go to the polls—if they do—in November. Many of them will vote for Nixon and many will again leave their governor section of the ballot unmarked.

There is reason to believe this is why Brown and Richard Richards are concentrating so much of their attention on labor unions. Their largest recent audiences have been before labor union-sponsored meetings. The union leaders are using all their facilities to line up their members to vote for Brown. But they are finding a great apathy among the rank and file members. These are some of the reasons why it is expected to be a close race, when it should be a walkaway for a Democrat candidate who held the respect of the registered party members.

We are often asked—what can I do?—by readers who are anxious to discharge their responsibilities. Our answer is—organize the groups with which you associate. Hold neighborhood meetings to discuss the issues. Carry out systematic precinct work. Write your views to your congressmen, assemblymen and your newspapers. Do what you can—with what you have, wherever you are—and you will be a vital part in the campaign, regardless of which side you are on. This is the way elections are won. It may seem a small part—but its accumulated force is tremendous. It is no time for laggards—it is a time for real Americans to go to work.—L.A.C.

Ill Judy Leaves Hospital

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Entertainer Judy Garland, wearing pedal pushers and a red and black jersey, was discharged from Carson-Tahoe Hospital Saturday after undergoing treatment for a kidney disease.

"I'm feeling fine and I want to go back to work if my kidney keeps behaving," she said.

Dr. Richard Grundy said the 39-year-old singer-actress was suffering from acute pyelonephritis in the right kidney, which produces a severe pain similar to kidney stones.

* * * *

HOWEVER, Miss Garland, who left the hospital in a black Rolls Royce belonging to Nevada gambler Bill Harrah, said she still plans to keep her Sahara Club date in Las Vegas next week.

It had been reported earlier that Miss Garland accidentally took an overdose of barbiturates. Dr. Grundy said this was not true.

Miss Garland's personal physician, Dr. Kermit Osserman, was flown here from New York Friday night after the entertainer, vacationing at nearby Lake Tahoe, was found on the floor of the home of a friend Friday afternoon and taken to the hospital.

school-age or younger children.

"By December, when the Type III clinics are set, they probably will have cleared it for use by everybody.

"We"—the medical profession—"are not going to give or recommened use of anything we wouldn't use ourselves. I, personally, would give my children all three types today without any qualms," Dr. Friend declared.

Dr. Ian MacDonald, Los Angeles County Medical Society head, could not be reached for comment but his colleagues felt his thinking insofar as the entire county is concerned would approximate their own.

Hold Three Teen Girls in Robbery

Three teen-age girls were booked for investigation in connection with the Saturday night assault and robbery of a 75-year-old woman dress shop owner.

Mrs. Louise Frances Gorman, owner of Gorman's Dress Shop, 1292 E. 4th St., was knocked down when she struggled with a girl who was fleeing with $6 from the cash register.

Booked were Dixie Arthur, 17, of 822 Island Ave., Wilmington, who police said took the money; Judy Ann Jones, 16, of 1134 E. Renton St., Torrance, and Jo Ann Catherine Robinson, 18, of 1339 Devonshire Rd., Anaheim.

L.B. Woman Hurt in Fatal Crash

A 21-year-old Long Beach woman was injured critically Saturday in a West Los Angeles traffic accident that killed her male companion.

Taken to UCLA Medical Center was Janice Garcia of 7140 Myrtle Ave., who police said was speeding in her sports car when it slammed into a power pole on Sepulveda Boulevard, two miles north of Sunset Boulevard.

Killed was Edward Dino Damiani, also 21, of Hollywood.

THE TWO Russians also asked Flink to advocate certain policies in speeches if he were elected to the New York Assembly, the Justice Department said.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department spokesman said that the two U. N. employes wanted Flink to advocate "policies favorable to the Soviet Union." There was no elaboration.

The two Russians, Mishukov, the translator, and Zaitsev, left the United States this summer, the department said.

There was no indication that the United States planned further legal action. As is customary in such cases, the United States reported the matter to the U.N. Secretariat on July 26.

Expulsion is the usual procedure in such cases involving United Nations employes.

Spy on Spies in Chance Role

By United Press International

Young Bob Flink isn't a cloak-and-dagger man. He doesn't look, act or behave like one.

Yet he became a valuable undercoverman for the FBI. It was purely by chance—when he attended a Soviet trade fair in New York in 1959.

* * * *

IT WAS Mishukov who first approached him to spy for the Russians, although neither Mishukov nor his cohort, Yuri V. Zaitsev, 38, ever used that word—even when they offered him $3,000 for his services.

"They were not that crude," Flink said. "They knew what they were doing and I knew what I was doing. I guess you would have to say that I was a spy as far as they were concerned."

The rising young lawyer, a new father and now a candidate for the New York State Assembly on the Republican ticket, readily admitted he didn't relish his counter spy role.

DILAPIDATED S.F. CIVIC FACILITIES REBUILT

Christopher Foes Rap Spending

E. Feeney, San Francisco Democratic wheelhorse.

Tom Gray, manager of the San Francisco Down Town Assn., said: "If this gets much worse, I don't know how San Francisco is going to be able to attract new business."

Christopher said a $1.08 tax increase is due to mandatory increases in city spending. He said he can control only $2.5 million of the spending.

Also, Christopher has been rebuilding.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO City Hall newsmen say that prior to the Christopher Administration, city facilities were rundown and maintenance had been neglected.

Christopher put the city facilities in good shape. He spearheaded campaigns for capital improvements.

San Francisco, one of the few major cities in the nation that registered a population slump in the 1960 federal census, now shows a new face and new signs of life.

New civic center buildings have gone up. Employment is up. Ground has been broken for new high-rise apartment projects. A rapid-transit district is proposed in a coming bond election.

* * * *

"WE HAVE doubled our construction rate in five years," said Christopher. Some of Christopher's predecessors had been blasted as do-nothing mayors.

Nobody, not even his worst enemy, would say that about Christopher.

Typical of Christopher's attitude on government was this comment: "Do you know what makes a lame duck administration? It is sitting back and coasting downhill."

Asked about the tax increases, he replied: "Yes, tax rates are going up . . . but we have restored our plant . . . and put maintenance on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Meanwhile, San Francisco has a tax rate of $9.39 per $100 valuation—highest in its history.

* * * *

ONE COLORFUL chapter in Christopher's career — a battle against state milk-price-fix laws—seldom has been aired fully by his past political foes.

But the fact that Christopher once spent two days in jail over a state milk-price-fix-law dispute invariably pops up as a back-door issue in every Christopher campaign. Sometimes Christopher's opponents only have identified him as an ex-jailbird, and haven't stated why he was behind bars.

Thus far, Christopher has come out on top when political foes raised the spectre of a misdemeanor milk-marketing violation that occurred 22 years ago.

* * * *

AND CHRISTOPHER has made it plain he will talk candidly about the milk-pail controversy of 1940 if the topic comes up in the current campaign.

Asked if he anticipates that his political foes will try to skim some 1962 political cream off the old jailing, Christopher replied:

"I understand that a picture of me was being shown two weeks ago, and I look for it to be used in the campaign."

He referred to a picture in jail garb and numerals which officers snapped for identification when Christopher was locked in Marin County Jail.

As a prelude to his jailing for two days and two nights, Christopher had been battling for his Meadow Glen Dairy and other small milk distributors to upset a new state milk-price-fix law.

* * * *

THE SMALLER dairies contended it was discriminatory legislation because it helped the big dairies maintain their share of the market.

"We filed suit and won our case in Los Angeles County," said Christopher. But the appellate court reversed the superior court—and that was when the state lowered the boom on Christopher.

Hauled in by State Department of Agriculture agents, Christopher was taken before a justice of the peace and found guilty of five counts of a misdemeanor.

The convictions, brought under a section of the State Agricultural Act which forbids the purchase of milk for less than the prices set by the state, resulted in a stiff sentence for Christopher.

* * * *

HE WAS FINED $5,000, placed on probation for two years and ordered to quit the dairy business for one year.

Christopher subsequently was jailed and mugged when—on advice of counsel he ceased making $200 monthly payments on his fine, and his probation was revoked. His attorney adopted the cease-payments tactics when he decided to appeal on the ground that the justice of peace had acted illegally.

After the jailing, a different court listened to an appeal that there had been an injustice in the Christopher case. That appeals court commuted the remaining half of the fine, and allowed Christopher to return to the dairy business.

* * * *

A. E. BAGSHAW, the district attorney who prosecuted Christopher, subsequently came to his defense, saying:

"This and other legislation of a similar type, regulating prices in other industries, were unpopular with the buying public because of a feeling that they made impossible the low prices which come from unrestricted competition.

"I do not with to be interpreted as condoning Christopher's offenses. However, in their nature, they did not involve dishonesty, immorality or moral turpitude, but constituted violations of regulatory laws not unlike . . . presently existing price-control legislation, which are quite generally violated."

Other candidates dream of Christopher's favorable press, a relationship he cultivates carefully with open-door policies for reporters and daily press conferences.

* * * *

QUIZZED ABOUT the strengths and weaknesses of their mayor, the San Francisco City Hall press corps had only praise for Christopher.

"I tell them the truth—even when I make a mistake," explained Christopher.

Christopher, 54, came to San Francisco as an immigrant boy. He attended a tough school south of Market Street, sitting next to both a future mobster-murderer and an eminent priest-to-be.

His climb to the political peaks was fast and sometimes stormy. Also, he has founded a successful dairy business.

His foes accuse him of moving too fast in negotiating the Candlestick Park baseball deal with the New York Giants and also of making rapid-fire decisions on other projects before all the facts could be evaluated fully.

* * * *

HIS REGIME also has been blasted by some for spending too heavily, though Christopher has the reputation of paring budgets of his department heads.

And though the San Francisco press generally has hailed his administration in editorials, some tongue-in-cheek feature stories have sniped at Christopher for being "a square."

In the 1960 presidential campaign, Christopher stirred up a furor by forcing a City Hall elevator operator to remove a Kennedy lapel button.

Christopher also has been blasted by some segments of the city for running too tight of a town. They say: "A little vice might help the convention business."

BIXBY KNOLLS, DR. REHMAN

Long Hospital Case Trial Due

By DON MADDOCK

A marathon trial, involving felony conspiracy charges against a local osteopath and three associates, is scheduled to begin Friday in Superior Court here.

The jury hearing is expected to take at least three months, and may last six. The prosecution alone has subpoenaed nearly 300 persons as possible witnesses.

Key defendant in the proceedings is Dr. Jerome Rehman, operator of Bixby Knolls Community Hospital at 3833 Atlantic Ave. from January, 1961, until he closed it recently.

Dep. Dist. Atty. John Marin, who will present the state's case, terms the hospital as having been a "butcher shop."

* * * *

DR. REHMAN, 35, claims he is a "scapegoat in a 1962 witch-hunt" who is being harassed for his liberal views, especially as they relate to the medicare program.

Dr. Rehman; hospital orderly Dichard Gorman, 26; X-ray technician Charles Symes, 30, and the hospital's attorney, Mark Sincoff, are accused of conspiring to commit acts injurious to public health.

The state's main contentions are that unnecessary surgery was performed, and that patients were hospitalized for undue periods.

* * * *

Three chiropractors, who allegedly delivered babies illegally, also were named. Proceedings against them have been postponed until November, pending an Appellate Court ruling in a separate case involving similar charges.

Dr. Rehman also was indicted on a manslaughter count, involving the death on June 29, 1959, of Mrs. Rosa Lugo, 23, former Wilmington resident who had undergone surgery 20 days earlier.

* * * *

SUPERIOR COURT Judge Joe Raycraft threw out that charge in one of several hotly contested preliminary proceedings.

The judge ruled the charge was barred by a three-year statute of limitations, which he decided began running as of the date of the surgery.

The indictment was returned within three years of Mrs. Lugo's death, but more than three years after the allegedly negligent operation.

The district attorney's office has appealed Judge Raycraft's ruling.

Marin and district attorney office investigator Joe Carroll touched off another court battle Aug. 22, when they spearheaded raids at the hospital and a Wilmington clinic, in which about 400 patients' records were seized.

* * * *

DEFENSE attorneys Milton Emlein, Albert C. S. Ramsey and Russell Pray demanded that Municipal Court Judge Charles T. Smith quash the search warrant under which the documents were taken.

Judge Smith heard many hours of legal arguments and testimony, then denied the defense motion. First, however, by agreement of opposing counsel, he ordered return of about 80 files.

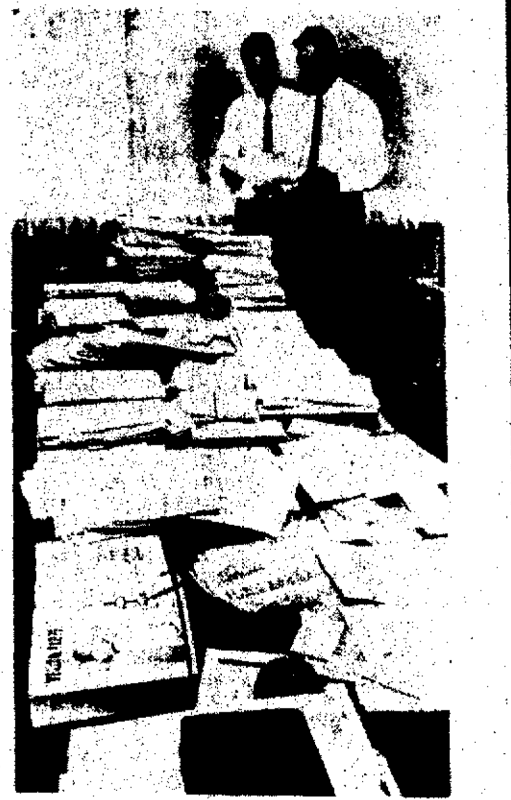
That action came Sept. 6, just 15 days before the trial's start, but it wasn't the last preliminary step.

* * * *

TWO DAYS ago the attorneys were back in court, asking that the place of trial be changed to the city of Los Angeles or into Orange County, and that they be permitted to examine all prosecution records.

They lost the motion to move to a different court, but Superior Court Judge Maurice C. Sparling granted them permission to inspect the district attorney's files.

That, presumably, will keep them busy until Friday.



SUBPOENAED BIXBY KNOLLS Hospital records are scrutinized by Deputy Dist. Attys. Charles Sheldon (L) and John Marin. Some 300 cases of medical reports and other papers were confiscated in recent raid on closed hospital.

Confinement Said No Cure for Drugs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—A panel of experts appointed by President Kennedy rejected the practice of lengthy confinement for drug addicts Saturday and recommended instead a stronger focus on rehabilitation.

The Newport White House released a progress report by the panel which also.

—Said there was increasing evidence, particularly among teen-agers, of the "spree" use of a number of different drugs in rotation.

—Reported an evident decrease in abuse of such narcotics as heroin at the present time, but an increase in the abuse of such non-narcotic drugs as the barbiturates.

—Said the drug habit is "only rarely initiated by the pusher with economic motive in mind" but is instead "spread from user to user."

—Suggested the possibility of investigating critical factors in those who, while also exposed to drug abuse through physical proximity or actual experimentation, manage to remain free of the habit.

—Rejected any public policy which would continue a person's addiction by furnishing him with drugs.

The report was to be the principal working paper for the first White House conference on narcotic and drug abuse, set for Sept. 27-28. Kennedy commissioned the report six months ago for the forthcoming conference at which an estimated 400 scientists, law enforcement officials and other authorities are expected to gather.

The White House said the report was not being presented as conclusions to be approved or disapproved by conference participants.

* * * *

THE REPORT said the most critical component of treatment and rehabilitation is not confinement but rather appears to be a "long, strictly supervised, highly controlled parole period, with legal and practical measures to assure that the parolee remains drug free."

The general recommendation, the report said, is for the post-addict to remain about five months in a drug-free environment after withdrawal from physical dependence on drugs.

The report said the great majority of addicts are discharged from a hospital or prison after their withdrawal with little supervision or help, without resources to sustain them until they find a job, and without agencies working to assist them to become established and productive members of society.

By RALPH HINMAN Jr.

It would be fitting. . . .

* * * *

IN A twinkling his tight little craft was in a shambles, hull ripped asunder and the frozen fish cargo about to wash seaward.

His plight was observed by Schuyler V. V. Hoffman, resident in the Portuguese Bend Club. Quickly Hoffman organized 78 men, women and children into a human chain stretching from wreck to beach.

* * * *

DURING six grueling afternoon hours the 78 tossed or passed about five tons of albacore from boat to truck. By 6 p.m. only a single ton remained in the hold, the bulk delivered to a cannery.

By unofficial estimate the Samaritans saved Gunn between $1,500 and $1,800.

Bullfighter Better

MADRID (UPI) — Antonio Ordonez, Spain's top bullfighter about whom Ernest Hemingway wrote "The Dangerous Summer," was reported feeling "quite well" Saturday after being gored twice in the right thigh.

17-Month-Old Boy Kills Young Sister

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A 17-month-old boy apparently killed his 9-day-old sister by beating her with a feeding bottle, a coroner said Saturday.

Coroner W. C. Telford quoted Mrs. Randall McCoy, mother of the children, as saying she left the girl on a bed in a room Friday. She said when she returned to the room she found the boy on the bed striking the infant with a bottle.

Communism Courses in Curriculum

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The State Board of Education Saturday unanimously approved a policy statement calling for a scholarly and objective approach to the study of communism in California secondary schools.

The statement called for this approach rather than indoctrination.

Such a program should develop clearly the threat of communism to the free world, the statement stressed.

* * * *

OBJECTIVES of the program, the statement added, were "to prepare the pupil to think for himself and to act as a responsible patriotic citizen of the United States.

Local school district governing boards would be responsible for establishing the courses of study.

ORDERED TO TAKE A REST

Memorial Hospital Has VIP Day for Two Teen-Age Volunteers

Jill Beckwith, 16, and Peggy Avery, 17, are getting the VIP treatment in Memorial Hospital.

The girls were sent to the hospital after a picnic Saturday in Recreation Park and ordered to rest through today.

It's Memorial Hospital that's got an acute case of appreciation.

JILL, DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beckwith, and Peggy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Avery, are two of the 75 members of the Volunteens, organization of teenagers, 14-18, who do work at the hospital summers, after school and on weekends. They give messenger service, answer telephones, read to patients, wheel patients, help in the print shop and mail room, stuff and correlate printed material for hospital departments, etc. The group soon will be expanded to 100 members.

Jill and Peggy have put in 1,000 hours each as Volunteens, and the hospital treatment is their reward.

At the Recreation Park picnic they were awarded their 1,000 hour pins and bracelets. (All 75 Volunteens worked a total of 10,000 hours at the hospital last year). Howard Brightman, with 950 volunteer hours, is president.

Volunteens were organized in 1960 with 12 members, under sponsorship of the Volunteer Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Earl Burns Miller. The committee of adults working with the Volunteens are: Mrs. Douglas A. Newcomb, chairman, Mrs. Willis Boyd, Mrs. William Boswell, Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Ralph Pillsbury, Mrs. Robert J. Yancy, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Dan Baker, director of Volunteers.

Doctors to Push Chest Campaign

Medical doctors are pushing their drive to attain the $9,180 Community Chest quota set for them and dentists have collected all but $400 of their $2,016 goal, United Neighbors Community Chest spokesman said Saturday.

Dr. Donald J. Greco, team chairman for the medical doctors, who begin their drive Monday, said:

Having over-subscribed our goal by six per cent last year, we have set a precedent that civic pride requires us to maintain. Although many of our doctors are members of A.I.D., our workers still have nearly 300 calls to make."

The team of doctors working under Dr. Greco at the direction of Dr. Harold Neibling, president of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, Long Beach District, include last year's award winning chairman, Dr. Richard Nixon, and Drs. Alexander Van Dyke, George Bryant, L. L. Wiltse, Charles Oliver, C. E. Bodensteiner, David Gean, M. M. Haskell, John Morgan, Gene Bouch, Irvin Pilger, Orville Cole, Richard De Golia, Thomas Wright, Jack Lynn, John Kashiwabra, Jerome Cope and Lowell Bowton.

Others are Drs. David Williams, Edward Artman, Chester Laubscher, Donald Malcolm, W. G. Durnin, Leonard Wachs, Roger Slater, Harry Vanley, Louise Benefield, Robert Gumbiner, Richard Steiner, Raymond Kelso Jr., James Keipp, George Evashwick, Owen Walker and Francis C. Hertzog Jr.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE ALBRIGHT
They Were Childhood Sweethearts

MAUDE, GEORGE

He's 85, She's 81, Old Enough to Wed

By GEORGE ROBESON

Two childhood sweethearts were married Saturday and set up housekeeping in Wilmington.

The groom is 85, his bride is 81.

The romance between George and Maude Albright, who now live at 1168 Ravena Drive, began about 1890 in Highland County, Ohio.

* * * *

"WE WERE both orphans," the new Mrs. Albright recalled Saturday. "George's father married my aunt, and George and I were brought up together. We always had an awful crush on one another."

George Albright was 13 at the time. Maude was 9.

Shortly after, occupational necessities and the traveling propensities of pioneer life split the family. George sought his fortune in Missouri, where he married. Maude went with her stepfather to South Dakota. She married a cowboy there.

* * * *

SHE BECAME a widow 35 years ago and had lived in the Long Beach area for 16 years when George Albright came back into her life last July.

"George's wife had died two years before," Mrs. Albright said. "We contacted each other through my uncle in Ohio."

For several years, each had known where the other was living. And then George came to Long Beach, where Maude was living with a daughter.

* * * *

"WE RENEWED our acquaintance," the bride beamed Saturday. "We know we need each other, and need to take care of each other. And we love each other as we did when we were young."

And as for George Albright's feelings as a bridegroom at 85:

"Like Teddy Roosevelt used to say," said Albright, "I feel like a bull moose!"

Stockbroker Marries Actress Janet Leigh

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Janet Leigh, a jilted wife in August, married stockbroker Bob Brandt Saturday — one day after she won a divorce from actor Tony Curtis.

Brandt, a wealthy and handsome sportsman, is her fourth husband. She is his third wife.

Dist. Judge David Zenoff performed the civil ceremony in the presidential suite at the Sands Hotel. Thirteen guests were on hand, including singer Dean Martin and his wife.

The shapely 34-year-old actress wore a pink dress with a pink ribbon in her hair. She was attended by Mrs. Jerry Gershwin of Beverly Hills. The groom had two best men — Mort Viner and William Cooper, both of Los Angeles.

WHISKERED YES-MAN

'Big-Shot' Castro Actually Khrushchev's Trained Seal

Soviet radar, Russian-manned, checks all flights. Dozens of Soviet night fighters have been shipped may reach 200. Cubans are trained to use them. A parachute corps will be sent to Russia to complete training. And military equipment pours in, along with thousands of "technicians."

THE ECONOMY

Moscow owns the economy. Fantastic numbers of trucks, jeeps and other vehicles pour in from the Red bloc, each batch making Cuba more dependent upon Soviet petroleum shipments.

Imports for 1962 from the U.S.S.R. include: wheat flour, cereal grain, edibile oils; canned, frozen and cured meats, condensed milk, baby foods, rice, butter, lard, peas, canned fish, beans, potatoes, fertilizers, rayon and other textiles, superphosphates, trucks, jeeps, buses, tractors, a petroleum tanker, rice harvesters, machine tools, power shovels, graders, bulldozers, compressors, rolled steel, tinplate, steel pipes, cast iron, cardboard, raw materials for soap manufacture, cement, lubicants, ammonium nitrate and even containers for sugar.

Czechoslovakia is sending textile yarns, artificial leather, steel products, chemicals, glass, foodstuffs, newsprint, buses, tractors, trucks and tow-trucks, machinery and tools, diesel motors, electronic units. Red China sends soybeans, rice, canned meat, medicines. Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Poland send food. The bloc also sends swarms of technical assistants.

Cuba's sugar goes to the bloc in part payment. The sugar industry, always the backbone of the Cuban economy, is dominated completely by the Soviet bloc. Bloc equipment runs the refineries.

The island, therefore, now is practically wholly dependent on world communism. JUCEI, the regime's "coordination and inspection board," is a central plan body modeled on the Soviet GOS plan—state planning board.

AGRICULTURE

In a May 1961 speech to farmers, Prime Minister Castro ridiculed the idea that farms would be collectivized. He said: "The revolution would never do such a foolish thing . . . although this is a socialist revolution, the land will not be socialized . . . if a farmer prefers to keep his bit of land, then the revolution will never try to socialize it."

An agrarian reform law a year before had broken up big holdings for distribution. Peasants, in order to make any economic sense of their production, had to form cooperatives, especially in such fields as sugar, coffee, rice and cattle raising. The number of cooperatives grew to 622.

As late as two months ago, Castro repeated the pledge against collectivization. Then he changed his mind — or it was changed for him.

Last month, Castro told a sugar cooperative conference that distribution of land to the peasants would mean destruction of the revolution. Nor was the cooperatives idea practical, either. The answer had to be "people's farms" — a copy of the Soviet state farm idea in which the government owns the land and the peasant becomes a sort of farm-factory worker. There already were 300 "people's farms." Castro indicated the regime would collectivize all the cooperatives so that, in his words, the farmer would be a real proletarian and get rid of his instinctive impulse to own land.

As in other Communist lands, production quotas are laid down. Norms are set for cattle and livestock production, and as in the other lands, the big drawback is that the cattle cannot read instructions. The economy is prey to all the ills that afflict other Communist agriculture.

LABOR

Regimentation is on the Soviet model. The working man is subject to production quotas. "Socialist emulation," the speed-up device invented by Moscow, formally was introduced April 16. The speed-up worker is known as "distinguished worker."

The Cuban Workers Central directs 25 national unions and automatically approves what the regime orders. As in other Communist countries, it does not represent the labor force, but the state. Workers are subjected to lectures, work discipline, warnings about such things as a "formal bureaucratic attitude." They are punished for lateness or absenteeism. Directors are punished for failing to make quotas or for distorting figures.

Cards were issued Aug. 15 to all workers over 18. The information about each worker took up 15 pages. Fourteen pages went into regime files. The worker got the 15th as his card. He cannot work without it.

Before the Castro era, few women in Cuba did heavy labor. Now they — along with workers, students and even aged people —are dragooned into "Socialist Sundays." They are supposed to be volunteers to save sugar crops. Women also cut hay, pick coffee and cotton and do other agricultural labor.

Castro announced a year ago plans for a system of "corrective labor" for prisoners, sounding much like the forced labor of other Red nations.

The regime constantly nags workers about greater production. There is even a board of "volunteers" supervising sports, called "Listo Para Vencer" (ready to win). This copies the Soviet organization GOTOV (initials standing for "Ready for Labor and Defense").

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Russian Rocket Rattling Over Cuba Evokes JFK Roar

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia rattled nuclear rockets again last week, warning they could rain down if the United States attacks Fidel Castro's Soviet-armed Cuba.

President Kennedy gave this all-inclusive response: There will be swift and overwhelming retribution if at any time the Communist buildup in Cuba seriously endangers U.S. security, the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, access to the Panama Canal, missile and rocket operations at Cape Canaveral, the lives of American citizens; or if Castro attempts to export war in this hemisphere, or allows Cuba to become an offensive military base for Russia.

"This country," the President added, "will not take any action the situation does not require and will take any action the situation does require (and) all Castro's weapons could not change the result."

As to Soviet retaliatory threats, he noted that the United States "has been living with such threats for many years."

CASTRO

The Chief Executive assured a nationwide radio-television news conference audience that Moscow's arms shipments to Castro do not as yet constitute a hazard to any part of the hemisphere. But he warned Latin American nations to "realize the consequences to themselves" if Cuba becomes a real offensive base.

The President called on all Americans to keep cool and shun loose talk. This plea was echoed in Congress which drove toward bi-partisan passage of a resolution affirming and endorsing his fight-if-we must Cuban policy. Congress also was preparing to arm him with authority to call up 150,000 ready military reservists if an emergency warrants it.

Castro berated Kennedy as usual but did not repeat his customary claim that the Soviet Bloc would spring to his defense if attacked.

* * * *

THE STATE Department noted that Russia threatens to use rockets to protect Cuba, yet foreswears "intimidation" as alien to Soviet foreign policy. This, it said, must be news to the people of Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia and "all the millions in other countries whose voices have been stilled by the tide of Communist tyranny."

The President pledged that the United States would win the race with Russia to the moon and make space " a sea of peace and not a terrifying theater of war."

He pounded home that theme in addressing big audiences in a two-day tour of space centers.

"We have vowed," he declared, "that we shall not see space filled with weapons of mass destruction but with instruments of knowledge and understanding."

His statement appeared to signal increased peace-and-war space spending next year —well beyond this year's record $5.4 billion which includes $3.7 billion in actual spending.

The President acknowledged the heavy cost—rising to 50 cents per week for every American. But he said the challenge from Russia was one we intend to win.

At Cape Canaveral he inspected a huge rocket destined to carry America's third astronaut—Lt. Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr.—into orbit within the next few weeks.

At his news conference, Kennedy denounced acts of terrorism against Negroes in the South as "cowardly and outrageous." He was particularly incensed by the burning of two Negro churches in Georgia. He promised the FBI would bring the perpetrators to justice.

The Navy disclosed that it will establish a Polaris H-bomb missile Submarine base at Guam. The Russian Siberian coast and the Red China mainland would be easy targets for the underwater long-range missiles in event of war. The first such base is at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Nationalist China assumed full responsibility for the flight of an American made U2 patrol plane shot down over Communist China. But the Peiping government laid the whole blame on the U.S. and linked the flight with the current Far East tour of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman-designate of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The United States let it be known that it plans to begin its final above-ground nuclear test series in the Central Pacific late this month or early in October. Russia continued its "retaliattory" tests and still proclaimed its readiness to sign a test-ban treaty. It was silent again, however, on a cheat-proof inspection system.

Runaway Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen died in convulsions in London after taking a massive dose of barbiturates to foil his deportation to the United States and life imprisonment. London police investigated to determine how he got the drugs.

Congress sent to the White House a bill making it a federal crime to drop a Canadian quarter, a Mexican centavo or a slug into vending machines, pay-telephone slots, postage stamp machines, or other vending devices. It also sent to the White House the President's $100-million public works authorization bill which is aimed at providing jobs in distressed areas. The money must still be appropriated.

Former President Eisenhower hit the election campaign trail in behalf of Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind. The House, meantime, "acquitted" Halleck of charges he shot doves in a baited field in North Carolina. A federal game warden cited Halleck and other members of a hunting party. Halleck denied knowing the field was baited. House Democrats and Republicans gave him a vote of confidence.

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire who had admitted an interest in the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, was defeated in a re-election bid upset in a primary election. The conservative was vanquished by businessman John Pillsbury, GOP leader in the state legislature. In the Minnesota primary, veteran GOP congressman H. Carl Andersen was retired to private life. His name had been linked with that of fallen Texas tycoon Billie Sol Estes.

Brown Notes Mexico Independence Day

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Warm wishes to Mexico on its Sept. 15 independence day were extended by Gov. Brown.

In a statement, Brown said that Americans feel a kinship for Mexicans on their independence day because the U.S. gained its independence only 34 years after Mexico won freedom from Spain.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Corp. Profit, Personal Income Set New Records

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Good, but not good enough.

That was the reaction this week to the newest reports on the course of business.

New records were established by corporation profits and personal income. While this was encouraging, the rate of gain was not up to expectations.

Retail sales dipped slightly in August from the record level of July but stayed ahead of August 1961.

Profits of corporations attained an annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter, a period in which the stock market collapse occurred. In the preceding quarter the rate was $50.1 billion.

* * * *

THE TOTAL income of all Americans climbed by $900 million to an annual rate of $442.8 billion in August. However, there was a decline in manufacturing payrolls of $400 million to $94.1 billion.

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges called the figures "not entirely satisfactory, but I still think good."

He said business has bounced back a little from what it looked like two or three months ago, and added:

"I would rather say that over the short term—I believe the economists call that about six months—I thing business is going to stay good; not as much as we would like, but still good."

* * * *

RETAIL SALES slipped in August to $19.6 billion from July's peak of $19.7 billion, a drop of only 0.5 per cent. They were 8 per cent above a year earlier.

A survey by the National Retail Merchants Association indicated that retailers look for a sales increase in the second half of this year. Seventy-one per cent of the 211 store executives polled put the anticipated boost at 5 per cent.

The Electronics Industries Association estimated that manufacturers' sales of electronic devices and equipment will increase this year to a record $13.1 billion from about $12 billion last year. It attributed most of the growth to equipment for the defense and space programs.

* * * *

"ANXIOUS scanners of the economy's bulletin board are finding the posted notices more than ordinarily uncommunicative," said the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. "The summer months probably sustained a modest expansion in over-all business activity, but the trend was not sharply etched. Certainly it wasn't sufficiently strong to dispel concern over the expansion's staying power for the longer pull.

"As autumn begins, there is less talk than there was a few months ago of the likelihood of a downturn of business activity in the near future. But earlier bearishness has not been replaced by strong confidence."

* * * *

PRODUCTION of passenger cars spurted to an estimated 120,000 last week as assembly of 1963 models picked up speed. The output the previous week was 65,221.

In August, steel production totaled 7.1 million tons, up from 6,174,187 in July and down from 8,660,527 in August 1961. In the first seven months of this year, shipment of finished steel products from mills amounted to 43,986,282 tons, a gain of 21 per cent over the like 1961 period.

* * * *

T. F. PATTON, president of Republic Steel Corp., pleaded with the Senate Judiciary Committee that it not insist that steel companies submit confidential information on production costs. As spokesman for Republic, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel and Armco Steel, he said the data, if made public, would help the industry's domestic and foreign competitors.

The four companies had refused to answer subpoenas issued by the Judiciary Committee's Antitrust Subcommittee. Eight other steelmakers submitted the information. Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver sought to have the full committee cite the four companies for contempt.

The subcommittee's investigation of steel industry competition is an outgrowth of the unsuccessful attempt to raise steel prices last spring.

* * * *

A FEDERAL Grand Jury in Hartford, Conn., indicted 11 big fabricators of copper and brass mill tube and pipe over a period of five or six years. Sevcen company officials also were indicted.

The Grand Jury charged that price-fixing meetings were held in hotels and private clubs in at least three cities. The government said the companies account for 90 per cent of the $400 million annual sales of brass mill tube and pipe.

General Hits Reserve, Guard Slash

DENVER, Colo. (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robt. S. McNamara's plan to reorganize and cut back the National Guard and Army Reserves came under more fire Saturday from Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president of the National Guard Association.

In a statement issued in advance of the Association's 84th general conference here, Harrison asserted the plan was devised by civilians who don't know "what makes the citizen-soldier tick." He said it would disrupt the present Reserve program and destroy its effectiveness.

McNamara ordered the reorganization in the backwash of bitter disputes over Reserve readiness in President Kennedy's Berlin crisis manpower call up last year. State governors and many congressmen warned that reducing the citizen-soldier army would imperil the nation.

Harrison charged Saturday that the proposal was drawn up without the benefit of advice from National Guard and Army Reserve leaders who must recruit and train the Reserve forces.

* * * *

McNAMARA ASKED Congress for authority to cut the Reserve units from 700,000 to 642,000 men. He would eliminate 1,700 units altogether and add new ones, for a net cutback of 800. He is still standing by the plan despite bitter resistance. He also is screening Reserves to eliminate or reclassify those who because of family ties cannot respond to a mobilization call.

Harrison, noting that President Kennedy has just asked Congress for power to call up 150,000 Reserves, said the Reserve forces "are poorly supported and badly administered by the Pentagon."

"What the forces need," he said, "is not another major reorganization but better policy direction, better high level administration, and better logistical support. Any reorganization should build on the sound foundation of Reserve power that now exists."

* * * *

HE SAID the Guard was prepared to organize the type of units McNamara desires and he resented Pentagon "implications" that the Guard seeks to hang on to obsolete units.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," Harrison added. "The existing units were assigned by the Army less than three years ago. If they have become obsolete in this short time, we are prepared to convert to what is now needed. We are, however, opposed to wholesale elimination of effective units so long as the current world crisis exists."

In his latest request for call-up power, the President had in mind the Berlin and Cuban crises.

Harrison said the National Guard "is presently at the highest level of readiness in its history." He said it was greater numbers of school-qualified officers and non-commissioned officers than ever before and that 40,000 members are now enrolled in Army schools either taking or conducting extension courses.

"The high readiness has been achieved," the general said, "despite a series of Pentagon reorganization orders that have plagued it (the Guard) since the end of World War II."

Tense U.N. Opens 17th General Assembly Tuesday

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations, broke but still brawling and growing, opens its 17th General Assembly Tuesday in an atmosphere of tension.

Delegates from 104 nations —totaling 1,000 or more men and women — will play roles in the annual international drama of politics.

The 89-item agenda, or work program, does not include the question of Berlin and The Wall specifically. There is no entry to pinpoint a debate about Moscow's use of Cuba as an entering wedge in the Western Hemisphere. The U2 headlines do not figure in the printed agenda.

But the program contains enough friction points to insure bitterness in debate for the three months or more of the session.

* * * *

THE AGENDA is shot through with hostilities—East against West, anticolonialists against colonial powers, anti-Communists against totalitarians — and, in the case of South Africa, black against white.

To start the session a general policy debate lets spokesmen for all countries give their views about the state of the world and what the United Nations should do about it. These statements are made not only to impress other delegations but government officials and the folks back home.

Berlin, Cuba, Laos, Viet Nam, U2 incidents—all flash points but not included in the printed agenda — are likely to figure in many policy speeches.

In actual agenda items the delegates also have plenty of fodder for censure, recrimination, the sharp word, the taunt, the rebuke.

* * * *

THEY HAVE before them a no-progress report on disarmament from the 18-nation committee that wrangled all summer in Geneva over Soviet and British-American disarmament plans.

They must debate bans on nuclear weapons tests of the kind that have stirred continuing U.S.-Soviet rivalry for a year since the Soviet Union broke the moratorium on testing.

They must try to reconcile U.S.-Soviet differences on co-operation for peaceful uses of outer space.

The delegates must decide whether the United Nations can go on pouring $10 million a month into the Congo in the face of a deficit mounting to $180 million because the Soviet bloc, France and some others refuse to pay assessed shares.

* * * *

THEY MUST decide, in fact, whether the United Nations has enough money to keep going at all.

They must elect a secretary-general. The Assembly and the Security Council hold the answer to whether U Thant, Burmese diplomat who was picked on a temporary basis to succeed the late Dag Hammarskjold, now will get a full five-year term. Britain and the United States support Thant. A Soviet veto could end his career as chief U.N. executive next April.

Delegates will decide in the face of increasing clamor from the Soviet bloc and some African countries whether the United Nations should use force in ending South Africa's 40-year mandate over South West Africa and set that territory free.

The delegates must pronounce on quick independence for half a dozen other dependent territories in Africa.

* * * *

THE UNITED STATES probably will take its traditional spot in the policy debates next Thursday — two days after the Assembly opening, unless deadlocks in electing Assembly officers delay that.

Whether President Kennedy will come here to deliver the U.S. statement ranks in speculation with whether Premier Khrushchev will come back to the Assembly hall where he banged his shoe in 1960.

If Kennedy does not deliver the statement, it is expected to be made by Adlai E. Stevenson, head of the U.S. delegation. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected during the second week of the Assmbly for private talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko about Berlin and with Latin American diplomats about Cuba.

* * * *

BEFORE THE Assembly is very old, at least four countries will be added to the roster making the total 108. They are Rwanda and Burundi in Africa, Jamaica and Trinidad—Tobago in the Caribbean.

Algeria, if it gets a stable government, and Uganda after independence Oct. 9 are expected to raise the membership total to 110 before the year-end holidays.

The election of an Assembly president, one of the earliest orders of business, mirrors some of the organization's internal conflict. Veteran Muhammad Zaffrulla Khan of Pakistan is pitted against G. P. Malalasekera, a Buddhist scholar from Ceylon who is a newcomer here. Zafrulla Kahn's supporters claim the simple majority necessary to elect him, but there is talk of a deadlock to pave the way for a darkhorse.

Defense Minister Urged to Keep Post

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has appealed to West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss not to leave office, it was reported here.

Strauss has been asked to run for the premiership of Bavaria State Nov. 25, and was known to have been seriously considering the suggestion.

12 Red Suspects Arrested in Munich

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Twelve persons, most of them employes of the Munich transit system, have been arrested during the last six weeks for Communist activity, officials reported.

They are accused of being members of a Communist ring who tried to distribute Red propaganda. Officials refused to give details.

Hungary Illiteracy

BUDAPEST (UPI) — The newspaper Nepszava reported that thousands of Hungarian children are illiterate. The newspaper said most of the illiterate youngsters are from Gypsy and farm families living in remote areas.

IN MASSACHUSETTS TUESDAY

Teddy or Eddie? Race Looks Like a Toss-up

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief of I. P.-T. Washington Bureau

BOSTON, Mass. — Whenever you deal with Massachusetts politics you deal with political outer space. The incredible is the norm in this state of tangled political loyalties and ambitions and the outsider must tread warily in attempting to assess what he sees—or thinks he sees—in Massachusetts' turbulent political pot.

Thus, to state it bluntly, this reporter has not the faintest idea of how Tuesday's important primary contests here will come out. Facing each other in the Democratic senatorial contest are two youthful members of families long associated with Massachusetts politics, Edward J. (Eddie) McCormack, the state's attorney general, nephew of Speaker of the House of Representatives John W. McCormack, and a formidable vote-getter in his own right, and Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy, grandson of famed former Boston mayor, "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, brother of U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and also brother of U.S. President and former Bay State Congressman and senator, John F. Kennedy.

The Republican contest is no less interesting. It pits youthful, 35-year-old George Cabot Lodge, grandson of the famous U.S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and son of former U.S. senator, former U.S. ambassador to the U.N. and former GOP vice presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., against the aging scion of still another prominent Massachusetts family and present congressman from Massachusetts 10th District, Laurence Curtis.

The cast of characters having been introduced, you then shoot off into the fifth political dimension. By almost everyone, young Kennedy (30 years old) and young Lodge are considered too young and too inexperienced to be senator, but that doesn't mean people won't vote for them.

Curtis, 69 years old, is widely regarded as too old to make his first Senate effort, but that doesn't mean they won't vote for him. McCormack, 39 years old, is looked upon as verging upon the right age, but is accused of having too parochial a mind, but that doesn't mean people won't vote for him.

The facts are that no one seems to like anyone who is running in either primary, which makes it extremely difficult to arrive at any conclusion about who's going to win.

AS SEEN HERE by self-appointed Massachusetts political experts, the Kennedy-McCormack struggle is a literal toss-up. The regular Boston Democratic organization is dominated by the clan McCormack whose chief, Speaker McCormack, represents in Congress 18 of Boston's 22 wards. Thus, young McCormack should come out of Boston with a large majority.

Kennedy's hope is to offset the expected Boston margin in the outlying areas where, it is said, he is much stronger than McCormack.

U.S., Russ Race for 'Weather as Weapon'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Russia are in a scientific race to achieve human control of the world's weather and thus possess the "ultimate weapon."

The prospects and the hazards involved in the fantastic project were explored this week at hearings of the House Space Committee. Testimony showed that while the United States has begun work on such a project, the Soviet Union also steadily has been increasing research spending on the program in the last few years.

Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, told the congressmen that the weather studies were dealing with forces "almost beyond imagination."

He said great caution had to be exercised because some careless scientific tinkering "might touch off a catastrophic reaction."

During the subcommittee's meeting with Waterman, Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa., observed that the nation which first learns to control the weather "would have the ultimate weapon, far beyond nuclear warhead capability, because it could give or withhold life-giving water and rain."

Waterman agreed in general. He said the government had begun study looking toward creation of artificial clouds to shade large portions of the earth against the burning rays of the sun.

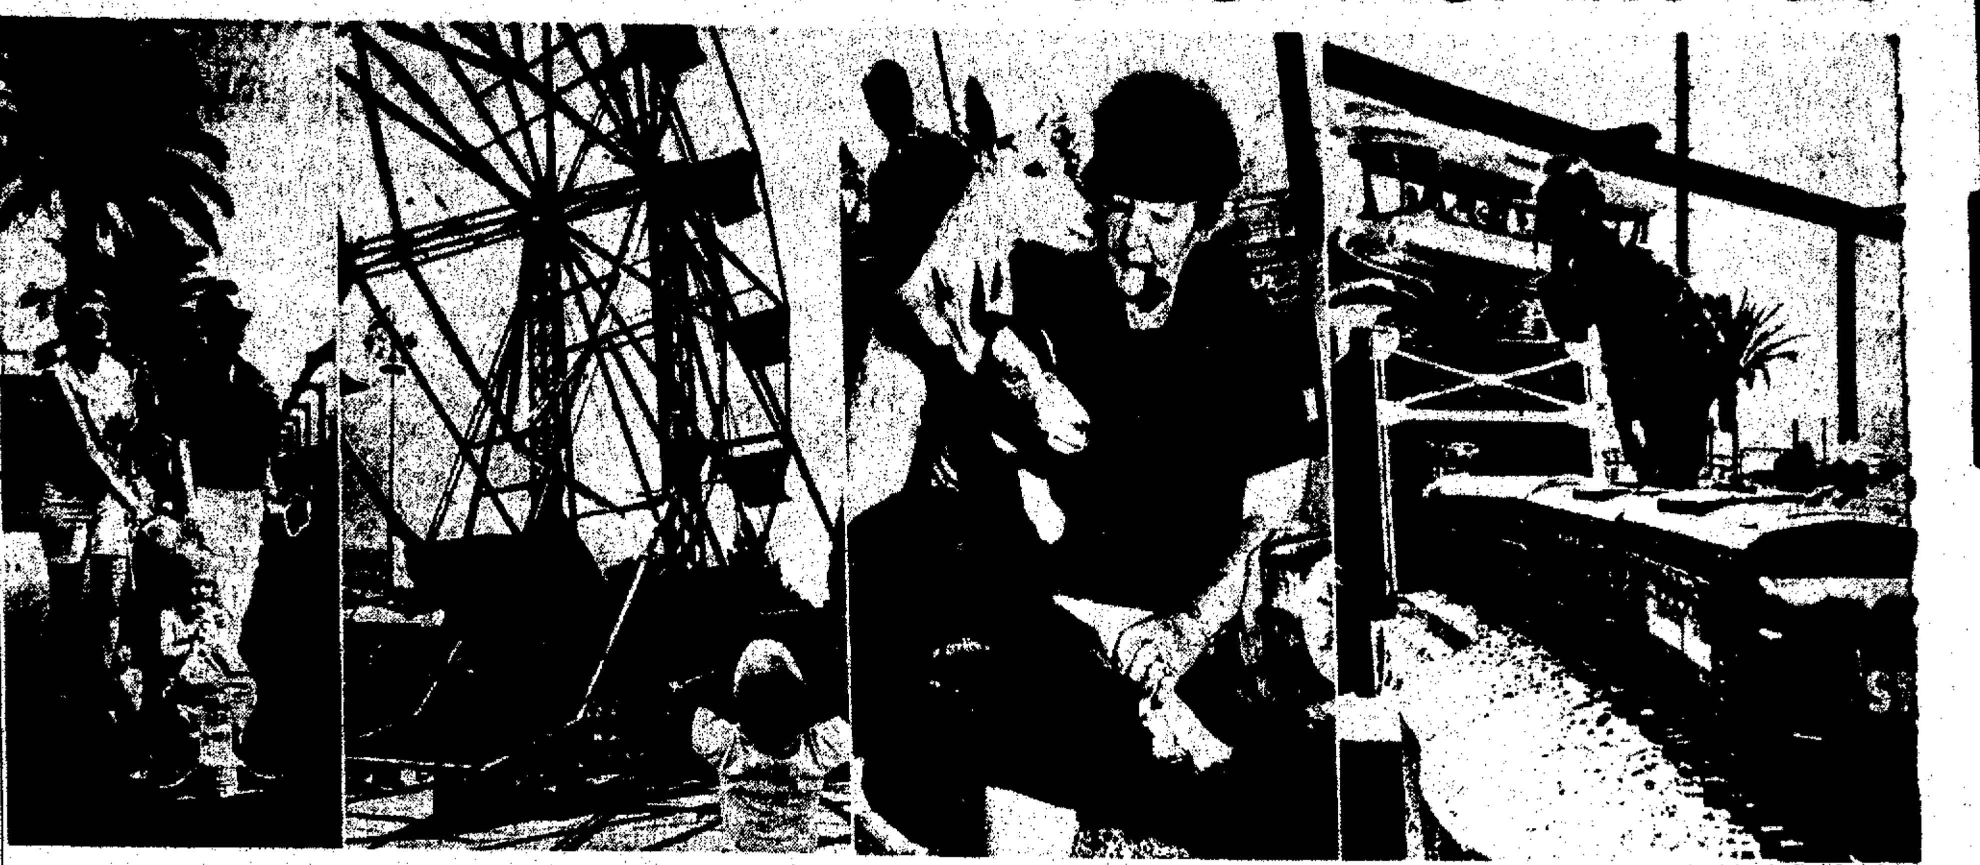
Thousands Stream to Pomona for the Fair



—Staff Photos by Chuck Sundquist

A FIRST-DAY CROWD of 44,883 persons went to the County Fair in Pomona Friday—slightly under the first day's turnout for the 1961 Fair—but Saturday's outpouring of Fair-goers appeared to be setting new attendance records. Opening day visitors included hot dog-munchers Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrys, 17920 Gard St., Artesia, and their two children Tami, 4, and Danny, 2. Ferris wheel and other rides attracted the youngsters, but Mrs. G. G. Chilson, 79, of 744 Daisy Ave., Long Beach, found the goats interesting. The pipe is no prop—Mrs. Chilson has been smoking it for 16 years, she said. Mark Edmondson, 5, of 16884 Wegman Dr., La Puente, is enthralled by forms of transportation, model of diesel railroad, truck equipment and the up-and-coming form—monorail.

BEACH Combing

THE FEAR of making a boner from a public platform harasses most people who, now and then or regularly occupy one.

Politicians, in particular, are so haunted, and his fellows will sympathize with Dick Hanna, the Assemblyman and Congress candidate from nearby western Orange County, who introduced former President Truman at Anaheim as former President Hoover.

Truman graciously eased any emotional stress Bro. Hanna may have had about it. He said he didn't mind at all, that he had great respect for Hoover. So it all came out all right.

POLITICIANS on speaking tours are always under the threat. A friend of mine, running for office in a northwestern state, told his audience how glad he was to be back in good old Harney County. This would have been fine if he had been in Harney, but he happened to be speaking in Malheur County.

Covering politics here for many years, I've observed a number of candidates get in small trouble by locating themselves "here in Los Angeles." The audience always lets the speaker know that he's pulled one. One alert speaker recovered by saying, "Well, here in Los Angeles County." You can't challenge that.

As president of the downtown Kiwanis Club this year, I've been regularly before a gang of guys who, I knew, would have a jolly experience catching me on boners. I haven't had geographical location trouble, but the fellows have given me the horse laugh on some pronunciations. Notably, on an occasion when I had to use the name of the fish, pompano, happy catcalls rang out. (How do you pronounce it, anyhow?) Last week, I tackled the name of some Hawaiian place, (we had a guest from there) and what a field day the club had. The gang gets such pleasure out of such things, I ought to stage one a week.

THE OTHER day an interesting headline appeared over one of our editorials. It read: "Just Who's Zoo Is It?"

To avoid personal embarrassment, and I do mean personal, I will not identify the writer of that headline. In a momentary lapse, toward the end of a busy day, it was written as it was by one who knows better. Let him who has never made an error cast the first mineral matter. Or better yet, let him, or anybody else, have a little fun with this fascinating group of words.

In fact, here's an offer of a $5 bill for the jingle, or what-have-you, about this headline, which is adjudged the best submitted.

And to stimulate a start, I offer a dish of blank verse salad that I tossed together in the editorial kitchen between writing some editorial page headlines, composing this column, and handling my other duties which I like to think are multitudinous. Here it is:

"Just who's zoo is it?"
Who's the cuckoo
In the IPT zoo
When it should be whose zoo?
Who's in Who's Who,
The newspaper crew's,
Who hasn't got the news
About whose and who's?
What's to blame?
His education . . .

Boys' Club Units Reopen With Full Program for Fall

The four branches of the Boys' Club of Long Beach will reopen Monday after being closed two weeks for renovation.

Associate Executive Director Lou Yantorn said the program will include sports, arts and crafts, radio, lapidary and other events, with physical fitness being stressed in the program.

Effective with the reopening, the Downtown Branch at 1585 Chestnut Ave. will cease to operate as a full-fledged branch. It will serve as the central services building, housing offices, warehouse and major indoor sports program for all branches, said Executive Director Maurice A Bugbee.

The change reflects shift of population to the Lakewood-Los Altos area where a new branch has been established at the corner of Charlemagne and Arbor.

The basic building, formerly the Lakewood Lions Club Hut, was made available by the Lions for the Lakewood Branch. This branch will be open for pre-registration, 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and will begin activities Oct. 1. Information about the club branches may be obtained by calling the central office, HE 2-4070.

Air Force Stunters Starred

By LEE CRAIG

The Air Force's famed "Thunderbird" aerobatic team and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's X15 rocket plane, the world's fastest aircraft, will be featured in the 24th annual "Wings Over the World" event here next Sunday.

The Thunderbirds, flying their sleek F100 Super Sabre jet fighters, will perform their aerial bag of tricks along a several-mile radius over the ocean just off the beach.

* * * *

TO ASSURE a good view for the thousands expected to gather on the sand and the ocean bluff to watch, the Air Force's top stunt fliers will stage their show below an altitude of 8,000 feet.

The Thunderbirds' performance, beginning at 4 p.m., will climax the regular "Wings" program at Long Beach Municipal Airport, starting at 9 a.m.

More than 50 military and civil aircraft of all types will be on display, according to Maj. R. H. Harter, coordinator of the event for the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

HEADING the list of the craft to be exhibited will be the North American Aviation-built research rocket aircraft X15, which has zoomed to an altitude over 300,000 feet and

Vehicles of Bygone Era Readied for Horse Show

Evan K. Shaw, president of a Manhattan Beach dinnerware company, will display some 25 carriages that helped write history in this country.

* * * *

THEY RANGE from a Concord wagon that rode the dusty trails of the west to an elegant town rig driven by the first Alfred Gwinn Vanderbilt.

Employes of the Shaw firm share in the boss's hobby by helping to restore the rusting pieces of old carriages to a shiny finished product. The carriages have been used to advertise the company's product.

One of the collection will be put to good use during the horse show. A popcorn wagon—complete with steam whistle—that rattled over the streets of American cities at the turn of the century will dispense hot popcorn and peanuts once again.

MORE THAN 700 entries will compete during the show Saturday and Sunday at the Portuguese Bend Riding Club. The program, for the benefit of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital, will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. Children's riding events are scheduled the first day.

The event, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Wetzel Jr., will wind up with a buffet dinner at the club Sunday evening.

NATION ACCLAIMS L.B. PROGRAM

Pupils' Maps Chart Safest Way to Walk to School, Back Home

By GEORGE WEEKS

With the opening of the school term last week, Long Beach's nationally recognized program to establish safe school route maps has been broadened to protect the lives of 44,000 children.

That number of elementary grade pupils in 49 schools received maps the first week of the term defining the saftest routes for walking to and from school.

* * * *

ON THE REVERSE side of each map is a list of safety rules for children and parents. The do's and don'ts for children are specific. Parents are merely reminded to obey all traffic laws and especially not to double park or stop near red-painted curbs.

Three schools outside the public system joined the program this year. Pupils at St. Lucy's St. Bartholomew's and Bethany Baptist got the materials, along with those at St. Joseph's, which joined last year.

All public elementary schools in Long Beach, or those serving pupils who walk on Long Beach streets are enrolled.

City engineers who coordinate the program and prepare the maps reported that Lakewood is considering adoption of the same system, which has won commendation from the Automobile Association. Signal Hill already distributes its own maps.

The 10-year-old program was originated by City Traffic Engineer Robert D. Dier. It quickly won the approval of school authorities and is kept up to date by map revisions every year.

Assistant Traffic Engineer Tom Shreve, who has supervised the revisions for the last four years, explained that all school principals are invited to suggest corrections each year. Shreve evaluates these suggestions by field checks before incorporating them in the latest editions.

"We don't know how many lives have been saved," said Shreve, "because there are too many factors in traffic accidents. We do know that the child who follows the route on the map will be safer than the one who forgets."

* * * *

IN RECENT YEARS the Long Beach Safety Council (subsidized in part by the city) and school authorities have paid for printing the maps.

Selection of routes and of the material on the reverse side of the maps is reviewed and approved each year by a citywide safety committee. In addition to the city traffic engineering division, members represent Long Beach Unified School District, the Long Beach P-TA Council, the Police Department, the Safety Council and the Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Save Land for Parks; Vote Yes on County Prop. B

LOS ANGELES COUNTY'S population is growing at the rate of 188,000 persons a year, and its available land area is being consumed for industrial, commercial, and residential purposes at the rate of 100 acres a day. To mix a metaphor, the tide of concrete is on the march. An orderly and effective program to preserve and develop some of the remaining land for parks and recreation is imperative. Hence, Proposition B on the Nov. 6 ballot.

AT PRESENT, the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation is a creature of county ordinance. Created by the Board of Supervisors, it could be abolished by the board. Since it does not have charter status, its moneys may be (and have been) diverted to other uses. As a result, the department's planning is uncertain and short-range.

Proposition B gives the county a regional parks and recreation system with permanent charter status. It provides that money earmarked for acquisition and development of regional park and recreation areas will be used for those purposes. Thus, the county will be able to maintain an orderly, long-range plan of development; parks will become realities instead of dying on the planning table.

THE PROPOSED MEASURE anticipates the fear of county encroachment on the facilities of other levels of government. It specifically provides that the department must not interfere with the control or operation of any park, parkway, or other public recreation property owned or controlled by a city, a special district, the state, or the federal government—unless invited to do so.

The department's objectives within its own jurisdiction will be to acquire acreage to meet the growing deficit, to develop the unimproved parks; and to improve existing sub-standard facilities.

ACCORDING TO THE National Recreation Assn., the national standard for park and recreation areas is 20 acres for every 1,000 people—15 acres for regional and 5 for local areas. The county's regional park and recreation plan has established the modest goal of six acres per thousand people for regional park and recreation services. If Los Angeles County is going to have anywhere near a decent amount of regional park acreage for the nine million persons who will be living here by 1975, the program of acquisition and development must start now—with a "Yes" vote on Proposition B.

Protests Against Powell Pouring In

WASHINGTON—Letters are beginning to pour into the various Congressional offices protesting the antics of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat, and demanding that their representatives DO something about it.

Powell recently cut short an educational tour he was making as chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor. In company with two handsome female members of his committee staff, he was studying Paris nightclubs, various beach resorts and his report is awaited here with some anticipation.

Citizens throughout the country are demanding his ouster. This free-spending junket on the U. S. government, plus the $12,000 salary he gives his Puerto Rican wife for watching the beach at San Juan, has enraged them and they are demanding action.

Unfortunately, the only action that can be taken is by the voters of Harlem who, if the past gives any basis for judgment, will undoubtedly return Powell for another term. And another. And another.

About the only step for House members would be a vote of censure. Presumably the leadership could remove Powell from his important committee assignment, but it will weigh this one in the light of the seniority system along with the important factor that Powell is the only Negro with a chairmanship. Political wind sampling quite often ignores the basic issue of what is right and what is wrong and concerns itself with what is best for the party.

AN IRON-WILLED Congressman of our acquaintance was discussing a personal problem at lunch the other day. He, first of all, has achieved the impossible: he has dieted away 10 pounds AND given up smoking. He has also cut down on his intake of highballs.

"You are like a distance runner who has quit running," one of his colleagues theorized. "The more you run the more you can run. You'd better get back in training."

Senate Committee Declares War on U.S. Steel Industry

WASHINGTON.—Persecution of the steel industry by "liberal" or "radical" Democrats in Congress has reached the point where even the labor unions are becoming apprehensive that the end result may be more plants closed down and more jobs lost. If present proposals are carried out, it could mean a form of government control of the automobile industry, of aluminum, coal, copper, iron ore and other basic materials, and of related manufacturing enterprises.

LAWRENCE

Some of the radicals have gone so far as to concede that the purpose of their current demand for cost figures from the steel companies to be submitted to a Senate committee is to determine whether a public-utility system of regulating prices, and perhaps wages, may be desirable as a "public policy" for Congress to enact.

A memorandum authorized for distribution by Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, Democrat, to the entire membership of the Senate Judiciary Committee says flatly that, if a company seeks efficiency through the size of its operations, it may have to pay the penalty for it in a system of public-utility regulation.

* * * *

THE SENATE subcommittee memorandum, in effect, declares war on the steel industry and threatens it either with laws that would establish a public-utility system of government regulation or a split-up of existing companies into smaller units, irrespective of whether they will be efficent or make a profit adequate to insure further funds for investment in plant and equipment.

All this is being done in the face of statements from steel industry executives that net profits in their rate of return on invested capital have declined in the last 10 years by almost 50 per cent, Thomas F. Patton, president of the Republic Steel Corp., said to the committee.

"A product-by-product breakdown of the American steel industry's costs, whether published by groups of three companies or even 12 companies, would be invaluable to foreign competitors engaged in penetrating our markets."

Mr. Patton testified also that disclosure of cost data would have a serious domestic impact in that producers of competitive products "would have for the first time steel-cost information which could prove of great benefit to them and great damage to us in the steel industry." Describing current conditions in the steel industry, Mr. Patton added:

"Wheeling Steel Corp. has reduced its dividend, Lukens Corp. has reduced its dividend, Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co. has reduced its dividend, and if you look at the profits of the steel companies for the last quarter, you will see that a number of them did not earn enough to cover their dividend, and I am sorry to have to say that when you look at the earnings of the current third quarter when they are published they are going to look even worse."

Mr. Patton predicted that, if foreign competitors could get the cost figures of American steel companies, they "would be better able to take business away from us—we could have our steel works working less, and more people out of work, and the towns in which our plants are located would be suffering even worse than they are today."

Sens. Scott of Pennsylvania and Keating of New York, Republicans, asked whether plants in their respective states would be affected and received the reply that the impact would be serious everywhere if foreign competitors obtained access to the cost data of American companies.

* * * *

IT LOOKS now as if the Democratic party candidates for Congress, generally may be adversely affected if the President continues to stand behind the Kefauver committee's crusade. There have been rumors that the White House and the steel-union leaders are taking another look at the whole situation. For it could become a potent issue in the current congressional campaign.

Kennedy Trying to Mollify Both Liberals and Business

WASHINGTON.—By phone and pen, President Kennedy is trying to convince business leaders that he is not antibusiness and simultaneously convince liberal leaders that he is not probusiness.

PEARSON

A coterie of liberal senators in particular have been growling among themselves that the President has been leaning backward to please business.

First, he gave his blessing to a tax bonanza for the Du Pont empire on its forced sale of General Motors stock; and Senate liberals note sarcastically that doubtless the Du Ponts will show their gratitude, as in the past, by contributing their usual quota of about $200,000 to the Republican Party.

Next, Kennedy appointed two pro-oil industry men to the vitally important federal power commission, despite the fact he had promised in his well-publicized speech in Springfield, O., that he would not appoint industry men to regulatory commissions.

Then Kennedy called for the takeover of the communications satellite system by a private company dominated by American Telephone & Telegraph, which every Democratic administration in recent years has castigated and prosecuted for antitrust violation.

Simultaneously, brother Robert Kennedy, the attorney general, according to Senate liberals has one of the worst records of antitrust enforcement in history, with most of his cases actually originating under the Eisenhower administration.

On top of this, the President urged the Senate to give special tax incentives to companies which modernize their equipment. Senate leaders claim this favors big business and discriminates against little business.

All this is why a stanch, tough-minded group of senators who battled hard for Kennedy's election are now threatening to wage continuing legislative war against the man they helped elect—on the pledge that he was a liberal, not a conservative.

To head off the uprising, Kennedy invited Sens. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico and Gene McCarthy of Minnesota, both on the Senate Finance Committee, to the White House to hear his arguments. JFK has also tried telephoning other rebels to mollify them. In most cases they are taking the attitude that his call accomplished little.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the President has been inviting businessmen to quiet luncheons and dinners, to try to convince them that he is not antibusiness. The business leaders go away with White House matches they have snitched to show that they have been the President's guests, but otherwise joke with their friends back home about Presidential attempts to woo them.

BOB HOUSER

HST's House of GOP Horrors Built on Brimstone Footing

THE HELL which Harry S. Truman gives 'em rises from doctrinaire brimstone. The brimstone is HST's foundation. So news accounts of new speeches deal generally with the new things said, taking hell for granted.

HOUSER

Reworking the notes from Ol' Harry's most recent Ol' Ned in Southern California, we find quotables crowded out of the news coverage by space considerations.

On GOP charges that Democrats are too friendly with labor: "If this is crime, I want to plead guilty. They can't send me to jail for it although some of the damn Republicans would like to do it."

What, asked Truman, are the real, basic differences between the two great parties? His answer:

"Democrats try to do what is best for all of the people; the best way to do this is to pay special attention to the problems of the working people of America. We also have special concern for those who cannot provide for themselves—the older people, the sick, the dependent children and all the unfortunates who need help. I've been charged with being a socialist; if concern for 180 million people is what they mean I guess I am one, but to hell with them.

"WHAT ABOUT the Republicans? I think they try too, in their own peculiar way . . . but they start in the wrong place. They start at the top and wait for things to trickle down. This has never worked. But they refuse to try the other approach because they are committed traditionally to special privilege and to those at the top of the economic ladder. The rich get richer and the poor become completely dependent on the whims of the rich. That's Republican policy."

HST told his Los Angeles labor audience that Nixon and his agents would use every device and means of political chicanery and demagoguery in the current campaign, but "you voters of California have too much sense to put a counterfeit in as governor . . . off the record, he's no good."

OTHER assorted Truman spice:

Be careful of the underdog. When the underdog gets on top he's a damn sight meaner than the top dog.

Thomas Jefferson was the first in the White House to understand the GOP special-privilege and trickle-down policies.

If Andrew Jackson had been President in 1860 there wouldn't have been any war.

Earl Warren was a Democrat and didn't know it.

The worst thing FDR ever did was to hijack me into being Vice President.

SOME OF Governor Brown's staff are tough customers. I would have liked to have some of them in my cabinet.

On Nixon, "Don't you talk about him; let him go to hell on his own hook."

On HST's campaigning for JFK: "A law student at the University of Virginia asked what I was going to do when the Pope takes over the White House. I told him that 10 or 15 million Catholics voted for me in 1948 and didn't give a damn whether I was a Baptist or not."

Juvenile delinquency is in about the same proportion as it was in our day, but communications were not so good and it didn't get all the attention. Don't tell me there's a one of you here who didn't do some wrongs. You needn't worry about those youngsters.

Birth Control Key to Peace?

EDITOR:

What is progress? Webster's dictionary defines it as "advance toward perfection." The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to spend $20 billion in the next nine years in trying to land a man on the moon, while half the world goes to bed hungry every night. Is this progress?

Progress to me means increasing the happiness and welfare of mankind, and the greatest discovery that has ever been made to alleviate suffering and increase the happiness of mankind is a little pill. It was developed by a group of scientists and doctors headed by Dr. George Pincus, and cost only a few thousand dollars to discover. This little pill when taken 20 days a month prevents pregnancy. It is safe, and is now available on a doctor's prescription for $3.50, less in clinics, for a month's supply. It can put an end to wars, starvation, crime and diseasse.

* * * *

WARS ARE caused primarily by a lack of space and resources due to the overpopulation which plagues most of the world today. This also causes poverty and starvation. In Brazil, a predominately Catholic country, it is estimated that a third of the population is starving. The infant mortality is as high as 80 per cent in some parts. The rhythm method of birth control, the only one approved by the Catholic church, is too complicated for many and unworkable for others. Dr. John Rock, a Catholic, says of the pills, "Since the action of the pills seems to be completely physiological and in accord with human nature, I believe their use for legitimate contraception is completely moral."

It is now possible for the women of the world to build a civilization where human life will be precious and sacred, where there will be no wars, no hunger, no unwanted, mistreated children, no disease and little crime.

Instead of giving so much adulation to our astronauts, our rockets, our Telstar, let's give our praise and support to the men and women who devote their lives to discovering things that lessen the suffering of the world.

Easier to Start Than Put Out Fire

EDITOR:

Strange as it seems, Mr. Khrushchev may have given the United States an idea worth consideration. His suggestion that we open up trade with Cuba may be a sound idea. We really ought to get along with our nearest neighbors as a matter of common sense. Trade makes better relations between nations than threats of invasion.

Military posturings, belligerance and blunders on both sides have not paved the way to peace nor provided solutions to the economic and political problems that plague most nations, including our own.

Fortunately, the United Nations opens its fall session soon. One cannot help but hope that some new, non-military approaches will be offered to relieve the international tensions which become more dangerous to the entire human race. It is easier to start a fire than to put one out, therefore, it takes more courage to come up with constructive answers, than to trust in guns and bombs.

Mail Took Long Time Getting There

I read in your paper about Sen. Kuchel being worried and concerned about Southern California beaches. It is remarkable how long it takes these public representatives to get their mail. Several years ago the beaches from Long Beach to Huntington Beach were washing out so fast you couldn't keep up with the square yards that were lost per day.

I, with a very few other concerned people were firing letters to Washington every few days and believe me there were very, very few coming back to us from them. I feel quite sure I either read or heard about all that were received from them, and about the only thing any of them said was that nothing could be done. This erosion was started in the first place by building jettys for the Harbor to the Navy Depot at Seal Beach.

What started it doesn't really matter. It is the fact that these people running for office now were not the least bit concerned about whether our homes were washed away, or how much precious beach was lost.

I just hope these dedicated followers of the four men who were in office at that time take a really good look at them and see what some of them did for Southern California.

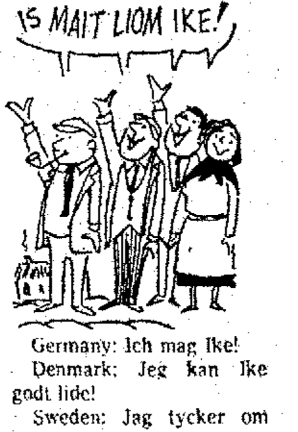
Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz
and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

It is reported that when ex - President Eisenhower visited Ireland he was acclaimed with the cry, in Irish Gaelic, Is mait liom Ike! (pronounced Is ma lum Ike.)

Here is how General Eisenhower heard the famous expression, "I like Ike," in some other countries on his recent trip:



IS MAIT LIOM IKE!

Germany: Ich mag Ike!

Denmark: Jeg kan Ike godt lide!

Sweden: Jag tycker om Ike!

Norway: Jeg liker Ike!

In this conection there is a popular Spanish story that when General Eisenhower visited Spain the cheering crowds coupled his name with that of Franco, shouting Franco! Ike! Inasmuch as "Ike" is pronounced "eh-keh" in Spanish, this makes a Spanish pun. For Franco—y que? is colloquial Spanish for "Franco—so what?"

A copy of the Berlitz "Diner's Dictionary" will be mailed to anyone submitting a question used in "Languages in the News."

Homeowners get their first opportunity today to view the new pool and patio displays at Sunset Fence and Patio Co. and Sunset Pools. The firms are located at 3626 Long Beach Blvd., and are open every day.

Many of the problems confronting home owners who seek to improve their property are erased under a complete one-package program launched here by these two well known building firms.

To home owners this means a distinct advantage in which a swim pool, complete decking, filter and heating system for the pool, patio and patio cover, fencing or any needed building work all can be provided in a one-package, one financially arranged project.

"And," says a spokesman, "much of this can be arranged under a 5 per cent, 7-year bank loan, something unheard of until now in such developments.

IN THEIR LARGE headquarters, the two firms have model pools, patios, decking, walks, fencing, fireplaces and other home improvement models in display.

Patrons are invited to browse around the grounds and view the improvements and then discuss with well qualified building and design experts any plans for improvements which they might have.

No longer will the home owners have to worry with the responsibilities of arranging various loans, contracts and permits. All responsibilities from the designing to completion and the financing will be handled by the one-package Sunset project.

Remodeling of older homes, room additions, modern fireplaces and other such improvements all can be included in the Sunset offer.

YOUR DREAM HOME comes true when you have a lovely swim pool like this. And such a pool is well within range of most Southland home owners under Sunset Pools broad financing plans. No down payment. No payments till May, 1963.

Home Improvement of Any Kind Offered by Sunset

For 16 years Sunset Fence and Patio Co. of Long Beach has been a progressive, leading home improvement firm doing business with at least 1,000 customers a year.

Today, Sunset is ranked as one of the leaders in the home improvement field.

While fences and patios still provide a big share of the business, Sunset provides far greater services.

Room additions, remodeling, new kitchens, improved baths, family room additions, fireplace installation and general improvements all come under Sunset's extensive work.

Sunset's experts pay the closest of attention to designs and will update exteriors and interiors of older homes by using the most modern materials.

Sunset Fence and Patio Co. has arranged new financing through a 7-year bank loan to cover up to $10,000 in home improvements at the low rate of 5 per cent to qualified borrowers.

A COMPLETE PACKAGE, including a swimming pool, decking, filter, vely patio, fencing and other improvements is now offered by the combination of two major Southland firms, Sunset Fence and Patio Co., and Sunset Pools. This is one of the displays offered at 3626 Long Beach Blvd.

Warren W. Kingsley, president and founder of Sunset Pools, led his firm in 10 years to become a leading builder of pools in Southern California. Now with the E. L. Bruce support he announced they will be able to build a better pool for the buying public at more advantageous prices.

Sunset Pools claims a number of innovations in swimming pool construction, including safety ledges, love seats, the anti-vortex main drain and the dial-clean automatic filtration.

"We believe the swimming pool business in Southern California has come of age," the Bruce firm announced at the merger. The combined methods of sales management and financial dealings will give better pools to more Americans and we intend to make Sunset the world's greatest pool builder."

$20 MILLION SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Torrance, P.V. Vote Tuesday

TORRANCE — Voters in Torrance and the Palos Verdes Peninsula go to the polls Tuesday to ballot on nearly $20 million for school construction needed to avert double sessions in both school districts within three years.

Booming populations in both areas are expected to help increase present student enrollment of nearly 30,000 in the Torrance Unified School District by at least 6,000 students and the enrollment of nearly 9,000 in the Palos Verdes Peninsula Unified School District by some 3,000 students.

In Torrance, voters will be asked to approve $8 million in school bonds, although the district will be limited to issuing about $2 million annually as old bonds are retired because the district already is bonded to its debte limit of 10 per cent of its assessed valuation.

* * * *

SINCE the district already is taxing to its bonded capacity, there would be no increase in the tax if the bond proposal is approved by voters, according to school officials.

Immediately affected if the bond program is not approved, according to school officials, will be the new Torrance Elementary School, Torrance High School rehabilitation and Victor Elementary School additions.

Bond funds would be used to add classrooms at all four present high schools, build three new elementary schools and make additions to at least five elementary schools.

* * * *

PALOS VERDES schools are asking the approval of $6,800,000 in bonds and authorization for state loans of $4,900,000.

Approval would mean a tax boost of about 12 cents per $100 assessed valuation, school officials estimate.

Funds would be used to build the projected Rolling Hills High School and Margate Intermediate School and constrict another intermediate school and two elementary schools.

* * * *

THE MONEY also would be used to buy sites for a third high school in the Miraleste area, four intermediate school sites and nine elementary school sites.

Both bond issues have received support from civic groups and have not had any organized opposition.

It will require the support of two-thirds of the voters Tuesday to pass.

Discussion on Failing Firms Set

ANAHEIM — An inquiry into the revival of failing businesses will occupy Orange County industrial engineers at the first of their monthly dinner meetings here Tuesday at the Water Wheel restaurant.

Speaker for the evening will be W. K. Bock, specialist in management services with an accounting firm.

Future meetings will cover sales, productivity, acquisitions and diversification, organization structure and cost control, according to Leo Berghaus, program chairman for the sponsoring American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

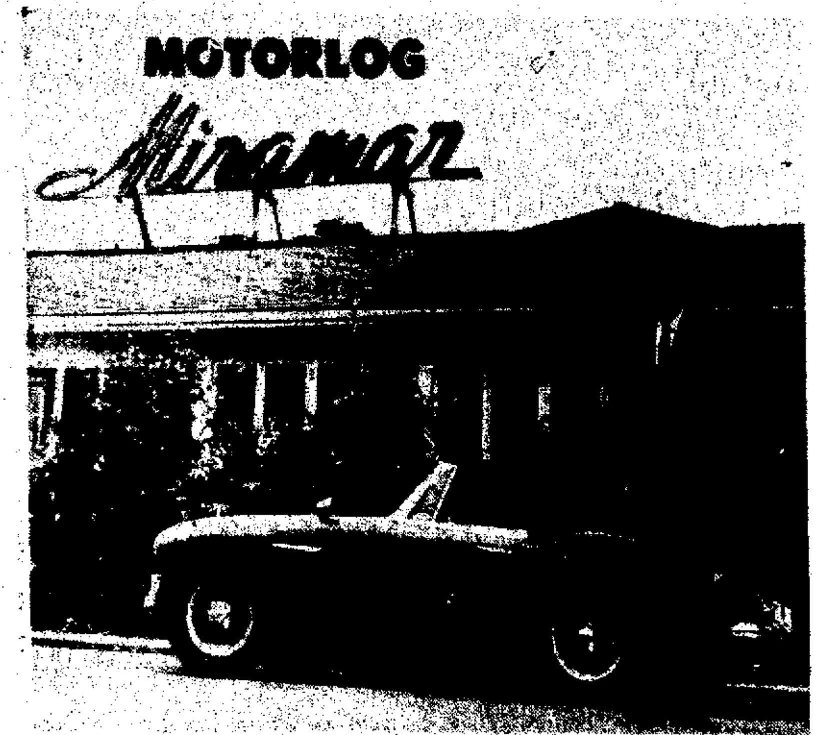
Weekend in Santa Barbara



STEEN WEINOLD FORMER LONG BEACH HOTEL MANAGER

By BILL EMERY
Auto Editor

A new prestige import sports car was introduced to the public two weeks ago by Bob James of JAMESTOWN, 1350 Long Beach Blvd.—"the fun car center." It's the car you see all over this page, the 1963 Austin Healey "3000" BJ7 convertible.

The British Motor Corporation introduced the "3000" in 1959. The Sports Convertible is the latest version of this basic model. It features a new wrap-around windshield, roll-up windows with hinged side vents and a removable rear plastic window for added ventilation.

Our Motorlog BJ7 convertible had a Blapunkt radio with AM, FM and Marine band that played like a hi-fi with the speaker mounted in the top well in the rear.

The top flips back or up with a flip of the hand as you sit in the car. The top boot is the easiest we've ever put on or taken off.

But the fun is in the driving! The three-liter six-cylinder engine has twin two-inch SU carburetors. Torque power has been increased in the lower range up to 4,000 r.p.m.'s.

Bill Young, Jamestown's sales manager and race driver, checked me out in the four-speed shift with overdrive in third and fourth, giving the car six speeds forward. This is what makes the car a fun car to drive . . . especially in Santa Barbara's hilly streets and the scenic back road to Ojai, Santa Paula and back to Highway 101 at Camarillo.

With a sporty car, we picked a resort with lots of recreation available for our weekend stay. The Miramar is just three miles south of Santa Barbara and a leisurely two-hour drive from Long Beach on the freeways. Steen Weinold, former Long Beach hotel manager, supervises the operation of Miramar's 21-acre complete vacationland.

There are accommodations to meet the requirements of more than 400 guests and convention banquet facilities for groups from 10 to 1,000. A second swimming pool and poolside units were recently added. And with the adjoining beach and board walk with beach playground facilities, the Miramar is ideal for a family resort.

Other recreational facilities located on the spacious grounds include a tennis court, ping-pong tables, shuffle board, horseshoe rings, croquet, putting green and a bar for those requiring elbow exercise. Nearby are horseback riding stables, polo grounds, deep sea fishing charter boats, sailing and golf privileges at an adjoining country club.

And if you're still looking for something to do, Santa Barbara has the Mission and Museum, the Botanic Garden, Museum of Art, theaters and playhouses.

The variety of units available is as complete as a small city. There are rooms, poolside lanais, ocean-front cottages, one, two and three-bedroom cottages with parlors, fireplaces and even kitchens all with radio or television.

Ask for room service and a waiter rings your bell with his elbow. You're pleasantly standing at your door—both amused when you see Steve hands full and the tray balanced on his head.

PRIVATE BEACH FOR MIRAMAR GUESTS

Winter rates are now in effect until May 25.

There's something about driving a sports car that makes you an automatic friend to man. If you're parked down town—any town—strangers come up and start talking as if they hadn't seen you for a week or so. The conversation immediately focuses on the car. On the road, every sports car driver is your next door neighbor. You wave at each other. Not vigorously. One or two fingers usually does the trick. But you get the feeling you're among friends . . . even if you are hopelessly lost on an unmarked back road.

In case you're interested in getting lost among friends, you can do it in the Austin Healey BJ7 convertible for $3,599 and that's fully equipped!

Champagne Bet Rides on AF Competition

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A case of California champagne rides on the performance in Troop Carrier Wing competition of a U.S. Air Force crew from California against a crew from Texas.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown put up those stakes in a bet with Gov. Price Daniel of Texas. The annual competition will be held Sept. 17-21 in Los Vegas, Nev.

"To add a little 'kick' to the competition, I would like to wager a case of California Korbel champagne that California crewmen, from either Hamilton or McClellan Air Force Base, will beat the teams from your state," the California governor said in a letter to Daniel.

Red Cross Position Filled

ANAHEIM—Blood on call—24 hours a day, seven days a week—that's the responsibility of Orange County's new coordinator of the Red Cross emergency blood delivery service.

Roy Wade, 218 S. Primrose, began work today as a volunteer in charge of expediting blood deliveries to 21 Orange County hospitals.

The former railroad official and veteran Red Cross worker, has served as a first aid instructor for the Anaheim chapter, and for the past year has worked in the emergency blood depot at Red Cross headquarters in Santa Ana.

Since its inauguration in March, 1961, the emergency blood service has made 3,817 deliveries to hospitals throughout the county. A special car is kept at headquarters to speed blood deliveries. Orange County Sheriff's officers also deliver blood.

The emergency program was formerly under the direction of Mrs. John F. Anthony of Costa Mesa. She averaged 150 volunteer hours a month as coordinator of the blood program and as motor services chairman for the Southern Orange County Red Cross chapter.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

'Soft' Victim Hides Burglar

A Downey man had a change of heart after he captured a burglar, police said Saturday.

Gary Coffin of 12852 Lakewood Blvd., an apartment house resident, called police to report he had captured the suspected burglar after a struggle in Coffin's bedroom. But when the officers arrived, Coffin said the man had escaped.

A search of Coffin's apartment, however, revealed he had hidden the suspect, Ralph S. Hunsaker, 33, of 9518 Walnut St., Bellflower, in a kitchen-broom closet.

Police said Coffin sympathized with the suspect after Hunsaker told him a "hard-luck story" about being unemployed and broke. But police took another view. Hunsaker, they said, was carrying $530 taken in five Friday night burglaries.

Urges Action in Cuba

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, one of last year's major critics of the callup of reservists, told an audience in Anaheim he approved President Kennedy's move to recall reserves in the new Cuban crisis.

"But," said Tower, "what good does it do if you call them up but don't use them?"

Sen. Tower, in Anaheim to speak at a $100-a-plate GOP dinner at Disneyland Hotel, said he did not recommend reservists be used in Cuba, but he repeated his propositions for action against Castro's island.

He said the United States should recognize a Cuban government in exile, employ a naval blockade, work through the Organization of American States (OAS) for additional sanctions, and, if the OAS did not act, to work unilaterally for such sanctions.

Forums on Freeway

Public forums for persons affected by state acquisitions of property for the Artesia Freeway in Bellflower have been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Simms Park, 16614 Clark Ave.

The forums will be under the guidance of the relocation committee of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors and the Chamber of Commerce. The Tuesday meeting is for residential property owners and the Wednesday session will be presented for owners of commercial and industrial property.

Sewage Plan Protested

Plans to discharge sewage from the Moulton Ranch senior citizens project into San Diego Creek has drawn fire from a half-dozen spokesmen from Orange County cities, the county itself and several organizations.

The current plan is to dispose of the sewage "after thorough treatment," in a sewage treatment plant. The plan was outlined this weekend to the Santa Ana River Basin Water Pollution Control Board.

But protests from citizens were registered against "possible contamination and pollution" of the waters of Upper Newport Bay, into which the creek empties.

John Troups, consulting engineer for Ross Cortese, who plans the housing project for up to 40,000 persons, claimed that no contamination would result.

'Win or Else' Today for Rams, Colts

Unitas' Crew Six-Point Pick in TV Opener

By JERRY WYNN
I. P-T Staff Writer

BALTIMORE—Like two peas in a pod of hot coals, the Rams and Baltimore Colts will be seething for victory today in their National Football League opener.

Normally the presence of pro football's most rabid fans is incentive enough for Baltimore . . . and the customary sellout crowd of 55,000 will be out to cheer on their heroes at Memorial Stadium today.

But the Colts have additional spurs for this game.

For one, it is "Art Donovan Day" in honor of the 13-year veteran tackle who retired last month. Secondly, the team received a verbal lashing from coach Weeb Ewbank after losing to the Steelers last week that crackled with "win or else" overtones.

* * * *

THE RAMS also will enter the contest with a dedication seldom seen in recent years. Raked by the fans, press and coach Bob Waterfield for their inept showing against the 49ers, they must prove anew that they are capable of playing first-class football.

WYNN'S WINNER
Rams 21, Colts 20

There also is a feeling among the players that if they can get by the always-powerful Colts at Baltimore, they will have an excellent chance to beat their next three foes — Bears, Cowboys and Redskins—and gain a 4-0 headway into the rugged NFL campaign.

So there is plenty at stake for both sides today in what could be the fiercest battle in Maryland since the North and South bloodied the waters of Antietam Creek 100 years ago tomorrow.

* * * *

PACED BY the premier quarterback of pro football, Johnny Unitas, Baltimore is rated a six-point favorite to hand the Rams their eighth consecutive loss at the Colt corral. With Raymond Berry, Jimmy Orr, R. C. Owens and Dee Mackey as targets for Unitas, the Colts have the most dreaded passing attack in football.

The Rams can't match Unitas with Zeke Bratkowski but they should have a far superior ground force in Jon Arnett, Dick Bass and Ollie Matson and equally talented receivers in Jim Phillips, Carroll Dale and Duane Allen.

* * * *

RAM ROOKIE Merlin Olsen will start at tackle in place of injured Urban Henry, and Carver Shannon replaces Alvin Hall at right corner back. Probable starters:

LEATHERNECKS CUT DOWN 49ER
Fullback Wayne Mickaelian of Long Beach State nets only 2½ yards in first-quarter plunge against San Diego Marines Saturday night at Veterans Stadium. No. 64 of 49ers is lineman Darryl Wright.

Worst Defeat in 6 Years as 7,100 Watch

By AL LARSON

Dee Andrews has landed at Long Beach State, but the San Diego Marines had the situation well in hand Saturday night.

The famed halfback, making his college debut as a 49er, was handcuffed on three carries and "netted" minus six yards as the Marines stormed to an impressive 39-0 victory in the season's opener at Veterans Stadium.

A record LBSC crowd of 71,100 watched the Leathernecks roll unchecked. Outweighing their opponent 23 pounds per man, the Marines scored in every period as they handed Long Beach its worst defeat in six years.

* * * *

THE BLANKING was also the first since San Francisco State turned the trick in 1960 and marked the seventh year in a row that the 49ers have lost their opener.

Andrews, who found no running room whatsoever, entered the game 7½ minutes into the first period. Running against a giant wall that averaged 235 pounds, Dee gained one, then lost four and three yards the only other times he handled the ball in the first half. He saw limited action in the final half, but didn't carry.

Cast as two-touchdown underdogs, the 49ers advanced only once beyond their own 27-yard line in the first half as the Marines' massive line held back five successive assaults. The lone threat was short-circuited by an interception on the goal line as the second quarter came to a close.

The 49ers found running against the Marines even more futile the second half. Not once did they advance past their own 35 on six series of downs.

The Marines, led by the sparkling running of Dave Edmunds, Ron Everett, King Dixon, Kelton Winston and Perry Rodrigue, ground out 232 yards to Long Beach's 18.

The Devildogs added 62 through the air to L.B.'s 53 for a net advantage of 294 to 71.

Leading ground gainer for the Leathernecks was Edmunds with 63 yards on four carries. They even had a Jack Armstrong, one of 12 different backs who packed the ball.

Wayne Mickaelian was Long Beach's top runner, picking up 18 yards on 8 attempts. Gene Williams gained 13.

* * * *

THE TIDE of battle was determined on the opening kickoff. Leatherneck tackle Bill Meglen, a future draft choice of the Rams, recovered Bruce Hichman's fumble and four plays later Bo Raney booted a field goal from the 20-yard line.

The Marines increased their lead to 10-0 as a result of another costly fumble. This

TRIPLE STEAL STUNS CUBS, 6-4

Dodgers 4 Ahead, Pennant on Ice?

By GEORGE LEDERER
I. P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The champagne isn't on ice, but the Dodger pennant is — for all purposes except mathematics.

By scoring four times in the last two innings of an error-infested contest, the Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs, 6-4, Saturday, and also floored the Giants, who trail by four games with 13 left to play.

The magic number for the Dodgers is 10. Any combination of Dodger victories or Giant defeats totalling 10 will mean a fourth World Series ring in Walter Alston's jewelry box. Or, to make it simple, if the Dodgers win only seven and lose six, the Giants would have to win 11 and lose two in order to tie.

The corks are ready to pop!

All sloppiness to the contrary, the Dodgers' seventh successive victory and Cubs' 10th loss in a row was as exciting as freeway traffic at five o'clock.

As a matter of fact, it was just past five when the three-hour and 34-minute rat race ended with Ed Roebuck saving the win or Ron Perranoski (6-4).

The winning run came on a triple steal, with Tommy Davis on the front end of a dash as daring as Paul Revere's. Only someone forgot to warn Glen Hobbie, the losing pitcher on two ninth-inning unearned runs.

The bases were full of Dodgers and the score was 4-4 when Andy Carey stepped in as a pinch-hitter for Perranoski with two out in the ninth.

Davis took off on Hobbie's first pitch, as did Tim Harkness at second and John Roseboro at first. The timing turned out to be excellent since Carey wound up looking at a third strike. Two runs scored on the play, Harkness also crossing over as Hobbie was charged with a wild pitch.

Even though Davis was safe on Andre Rodgers' error to start the inning, and Ron Fairly followed with a single, Hobbie dug his own hole. Frank Howard bounced into a double play to ease the pressure, leaving Davis at third. Hobbie, however, hit Harkness, who batted for Larry Burright, then walked Roseboro to fill the bases.

Wally Moon, pinch-hitting for starter Don Drysdale, had tied the score with a two-run double in the eighth inning at the expense of Friday's loser, Don Cardwell. Moon's hit took Drysdale off the hook and justly so.

Drysdale yielded all the Cubs' runs in the fourth inning, although he was blamed by no one but the official scorer. The Cubs scored four times in that round on the grand total of two hits after two of four Dodger errors and two intentional walks.

The first Dodger run also was unearned, on an error by Ken Hubbs. There were seven physical errors, not to mention a bundle of mental ones. But with a pennant on the

By ROSS NEWHAN

Mathematically eliminated from the race via the Yankees victory Saturday afternoon, the Detroit Tigers got even a few hours later by lowering the Angels coffin another notch.

The Tigers clawed the Angels, 7-3, before 15,255 fans dejected at the sight of the Seraphs fourth consecutive defeat, matching their longest losing streak of the season.

Still alive, but with their pulse barely audible, the Angels fell six and one-half games behind New York.

The Yankees' magic number is now six and the Angels would have to sweep their remaining 12 games to duplicate the New York Giants miracle of 1951. Even with a sweep, the Bronx Bombers need play at only a .500 clip to eliminate the slumping Seraphs.

The Angels now face a tough task trying to rescue second. Minnesota's advantage is two and one-half games. In fact, the way the Angels are producing runs, their four-game spread over the fourth place Chicago White Sox appears as thin as Bo Belinsky's pay check after fines.

* * * *

DURING THE current losing streak, Gene Autry's wranglers have scored but 10 runs, during their last 73 at-bats, Albie Pearson, Leon Wagner and Felix Torres — bright lights in the Angels' halo—have collected only six hits.

Manager Bill Rigney benched Torres Saturday and inserted Gene Leek, but the young infielder followed his teammates poor example and managed only a second-inning single.

Don Mossi (10-13) and Jim Bunning yielded 12 hits, but the Angels again lacked the big blow at the key moment. Bunning, a 17-game winner, was pressed into bullpen duty when the Angels mounted their only rally in the eighth.

Trailing 4-0 and limited to seven hits through seven frames by Mossi, Pearson opened the one big frame with a single. One out later, with runners now on first and third, Bobby Rodgers' doubled to ruin the shutout. Lee Thomas followed with a single, making it 4-3 and producing his 98th and 99th RBI.

That brought Bunning to the mound. The bullet-throwing righthander struck out Tom Burgess, but Tom Satriano kept the inning alive with a single. Bunning then ended the threat by getting Jim Fregosi on a fly to center.

The Tigers got those three runs right back in the ninth when Norm Cash followed an error by Satriano on what should have been the inning-ending ground ball with his 37th home run off Ted Bowsfield, the fifth Angel pitcher.

WSU's Shirts Are Clean

PULLMAN, Wash.—Washington State University is the newest member of the AAWU (and eligible immediately for a Rose Bowl appearance), but the talk around this isolated campus centers more on educational requirements than future football victories.

Even coach Jim Sutherland, the man who gained fame as Ronnie Knox's tutor and as an exceptional recruiter, has his sights trained on the academic changes which permitted WSU to enter the AAWU.

JIM SUTHERLAND
Sights Academic Changes

"I've got to," explains Sutherland, who has compiled a remarkably consistent 29-29-2 record in six seasons in Cougarville. A few eyebrows were raised when Washington State was accepted into the AAWU, so we want to keep our shirts clean and prove to the other schools that our football players aren't strictly the knucklehead variety that can't get into other institutions."

Washington State, among other northwest schools, for years owned the unenviable reputation of accepting athletes whose grades wouldn't permit them to pass through the doors of California universities.

All that was changed, however, last June when the AAWU looked over Washington State's scholastic records and invited the Cougars to join its chummy five-school conference.

"We have the same entrance requirements now as UCLA, USC, Cal and the other AAWU schools," said Sutherland. "If an athlete can't get into one of those schools, he can't get into Washington State, either."

What effect has Washington State's raised standards made on recruiting football players?

"It's hurt us already," admitted Sutherland, "but on the other hand, in the long run it will help us. For instance, nine boys I could have recruited in past years, I had to forget about this summer. They didn't have the grades.

"However, we won't lose as many players in their junior and senior years as we did in the past. Many football players with poor grades that we accepted in the past just couldn't stand the grind of study and dropped out of school. I'd rather have a smaller group of athletes that will stay with me until graduation than a large group with dropouts!"

WHY SHOULD A GOOD FOOTBALL player enroll at isolated Washington State instead of a California school? The writer had pondered this question for years and wondered even more about it after visiting Washington State for the first time Friday.

The school is 40 miles from Lewiston, Idaho, and 80 miles from Spokane. It's in the middle of a wide expanse of nothing. An athlete or any other student could get mighty bored in this country.

One was 215-pound tackle Bill Benton from Bakersfield. The other was 195-pound guard Chuck Barnes from Santa Maria. Benton was a star on last year's Bakersfield College eleven which squashed Long Beach City College.

His frank answer: "I was tired of the smog and rush-rush-rush of the city. Not only that, but it's a lot easier to study here. And I've got to study darned hard. This is clean, cool country and I much prefer it to the heat of California."

Replied Barnes: "I like the air here, too, much better than in California. But I love to hunt and this area has some of the greatest hunting in the world. I'm much happier studying and playing in Pullman than I would be almost anywhere else."

Hunting, country life and clean air—three new reasons for luring athletes.

WASHINGTON STATE doesn't figure to cut much ice in football circles this autumn, but it does boast a genuine all-American, end Hugh Campbell, who was the NCAA pass receiving champion the last two seasons.

"Hugh is a marked man this season and will be double and triple-teamed by every opponent," claims Sutherland. "Therefore, he may not be setting records. As a result, I'm changing my usual offense to emphasise more running than ever before."

For Sutherland to run instead of pass is as strange as Governor Brown attending a Nixon luncheon. But "Suds" isn't worried about de-emphasis of his renowned aerial circuses.

He's too busy entering the records office to check the grades of the boys who hate smog and love hunting.

THIS HURRICANE WRECKED PITT

Nick Spinelli (20) of the Miami Hurricanes is surrounded by Pittsburgh players but managed to score touchdown in third-period action Saturday. The scores gave Miami 17 points and all it needed to beat Pitt. The final count was 23-14.

Hurricanes Slip Past Pitt, Mira Stars in TV Tilt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — All-America quarterback candidate George Mira dazzled a national television audience with his running and passing Saturday and halfback Nick Spinelli scored two touchdowns in leading Miami to a 23-14 victory over Pitt.

Mira, an impetuous junior from Key West, Fla., completed 13 passes in 25 attempts for 162 yards and one touchdown. But it was his deceptive running that frustrated the Pitt defenders in the opening game of the season for both teams.

STATISTICS	Miami	Pitt
First downs	24	16
Rushing yardage	280	192
Passing yardage	162	133
Passes	13-25	10-23
Passes intercepted by	1	1
Punts	3-34	4-42.8
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	75	30

He zig-zagged down field for 86 yards, picking up most of his yardage at crucial moments for the Hurricanes.

Spinelli scored on runs of one yard and eight yards. He also caught six passes from Mira for 67 yards.

For a while, the game appeared as if it was going to be a defensive struggle. Both teams had drives thwarted before Miami's Bob Wilson booted a 25-yard field goal three minutes into the second quarter.

Then Mira and Spinelli went to work in earnest, leading the Hurricanes on a 97-yard drive for a touchdown. Mira ran for 19 and eight yards and also hit with a pay 15-yard aerial to Spinelli.

* * * *

Mira's dead-eye passing and Spinelli's running and receiving broke the game open in the second half.

Mira, apparently trapped, broke away from tacklers and raced 36 yards to help set up Miami's second touchdown in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Spinelli smashed eight yards off right guard for the score to climax a 73-yard drive. Wilson's kick again was good.

* * * *

MIRA THREW for his only touchdown pass in the fourth quarter after a drive that started on the Pitt six-yard line. Mira hit Jack Sims from 15 yards out in the left corner for the score. Wilson's kick was wide.

Utah State Gets Revenge on San Jose

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Utah State, with veteran quarterback Jim Turner scoring three touchdowns and passing for another, avenged five defeats at the hands of San Jose State Saturday night by knocking off the Spartans, 29-18.

Turner, who also kicked three conversions, smashed over from close up for three TDs and connected on a 17-yard pass to Darrell Roberts to register another.

The Spartans, who had never before been scored on by the Aggies, stayed in the game until the fourth period. Then, trailing 14-12, San Jose attempted a run after setting up a fake kick. But end Jim McNaughton of the Utags broke through to smear Larry Doss for an eight-yard loss and give Utah the ball on the San Jose 45.

From there, the Aggies moved to the San Jose one from where Turner crossed over.

Then Utah State marched right back again for another tally after containing the Spartans.

* * * *

ALL OF San Jose State's touchdowns came on spectacular plays. The final Spartan tally was registered as the game ended when Rand Carter hit Dave Johnson on a 57-yard pass play.

Earlier, Walt Roberts of the Spartans opened the second half by returning a kickoff 68 yards, then went 32 yards for a touchdown around left end on the next play.

Big Ben Is Ticking Again for Troy . . . McKay Elated

Big Ben Wilson, Troy's all-American fullback candidate, went through contact work in USC's workout Saturday and showed no signs of a knee injury which has plagued him so constantly.

The 225-pound senior rolled up 86 yards in 11 carries, running "almost" at full speed throughout the scrimmage. He ran easily at first and then gradually let himself out.

USC scored eight touchdowns in the drill, with Wilson smashing over on runs of one and six yards and quarterback Bill Nelson scoring on 49 and 3-yard jaunts.

Besides Wilson, McKay was not pleased with the scrum. "We're making too many sophomoric mistakes considering the first game is only one week away."

* * * *

MEANWHILE, in the UCLA camp at Westwood, fullbacks also were the surprise of the day in a 45-minute scrimmage.

Warren Jackson and Mitch Dimkich gained over 100 yards. Jackson getting 65 on six tries and Dimkich 41 on 6 carries.

Quarterback Ezell Singleton enjoyed another fine day, completing all four pass attempts for 55 yards and one TD.

Broncos Squeeze Past Bills

But it was the old pro, 34-year-old quarterback Frank Tripucka, who molded the surprising Broncos into a devastating football team in the final 30 minutes.

Tripucka fired two touchdown passes, one an electrifying 96-yard strike, to scatback Al Frazier that spearheaded the Broncos' 20-point second half. The Bills had taken a 20-3 lead at the intermission on the passing of Al Dorow and the running of fullback Cookie Gilchrist.

STATISTICS	Buff.	Den.

Passes completed	16-34	29-56
Passes int. by	3	2
Punts	6-36.5	4-41.8
Fumbles lost	0	1
Penalties	76	93

The triumph put the Broncos atop the AFL's Western Division with two victories in as many starts. It was Denver's second straight upset of the young season. Tripucka passed for 375 yards in a 30-21 victory over San Diego last week.

* * * *

FOR BUFFALO, it was another humiliating defeat. The Bills failed for a third time to conquer the Broncos in War Memorial Stadium.

The Bills looked like they were going to run away and hide when they built a 17-point bulge in the opening 30 minutes as the balding Dorow connected on touchdown passes of 12 yards to former Canadian end Ernie Warlick and 19 yards to another Canadian import, Gilchrist.

time. Jack Farls jumped on Gene Williams' loose ball on LBSC's 21. Long Beach's defenses rose up and pushed the Marines back to the 49er 28.

On fourth down Dick Trivino's field goal attempt from the 34 fell short, but he was roughed on the play and the Marines were rewarded with their second golden scoring opportunity. This time they didn't fail.

* * * *

QUARTERBACK John Arms drove his squad into paydirt, ramming the final three yards on a sneak. Raney converted with 8:55 remaining in the opening period.

San Diego lost another touchdown when King Dixon clicked with Farls on a 57-yard pass play but an illegal man downfield penalty wiped out the TD.

The Devildogs broke through for another score midway in the second period when Dave Edmunds scampered 47 yards on a sweep to the left. Raney's PAT was wide and the Marines led 16-0.

When the 49ers were unable to get untracked on their fifth series of downs, the Marines came right back on a 51-yard drive. A wobbly pass from Dixon to Brad Hubert ate up 32 valuable yards. Dixon crunched 8 over left guard and two plays later Ron Ebbert leaped into the end zone with 3:25 remaining.

* * * *

LONG BEACH'S only threat in the first half ended when Rick Lussier's pass was intercepted on the goal line when the gun sounded. The snappy reserve QB from Cerritos College engineered the 58-yard advance as he connected on four of seven passes good for 41 yards. He was the brightest light in the 49er backfield.

The Marines ground out 71 yards to Long Beach's 24 on the ground the first half and added 62 through the airlanes for a 133-65 advantage overall.

The Marines pushed the scoring avalance to a 32-0 as Lussier was tackled by Neil Wright in the end zone for a safety with only 1:30 elapsed in the final stanza.

A senseless personal foul gave the Marines their final touchdown as Tank Moore climaxed a 44-yard drive by popping over from the 1. Raney's extra point pushed the count to 39-0.

Wyoming Wins, 13-0

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI) — Wyoming's Cowboys scored late in the second and final quarters Saturday to wrest a 13-0 victory from the surprisingly tough Montana State University Grizzlies.

The Cowboy scores came after two first period thrusts over Montana's goal were nullified by offside penalties.

Wyoming got its first touchdown with 1:10 remaining of the first half when left halfback Dave Madia drove over from the five. The kick for extra point was wide.

The touchdown came at the end of a 40-yard drive in 10 plays with Madia doing most of the legwork.

Parnelli Wins Hoosier 100

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Pole sitter Parnelli Jones lapped the field to win the richest Hoosier Hundred 100-mile big car auto race ever Saturday for his first major triumph since last November.

The 29-year-old speedster from Torrance, Calif., took the lead from Jim Hurtubise on the sixth lap and kept it to win the major share of a record purse of $43,775.

Two accidents marred the 10th dirt track event before an estimated 26,000 fans, but no serious injuries occurred.

Jones, first daredevil to average 150 mph for 500-mile qualification, won at an average of 90.604 mph. He lapped runner-up Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., on the 94th lap, then drove the remaining six laps without challenge.

BALTIMORE—It will be your pleasure this morning to view the greatest quarterback in football.

He will be presented live and probably quite lively on television (channel 2, 11 a.m.), as well as in person here when the Rams play the Baltimore Colts.

He is 29 years old, 6-foot-1, 194 pounds, wears uniform No. 19 and can do as many things with a football as there are Kennedys in neighboring Washington, D.C.

His excellence as a passer is matched only by ability to call plays. He has passed for 125 touchdowns in six years, and his record of firing for scores in 47 consecutive games rates with Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak as the most impregnable achievements in all of sports.

He is Mr. Quarterback, Johnny Unitas.

It has been said, Johnny, that a quarterback is 50 per cent of a team. Do you agree?

"Goodness, no. No player is 50 per cent of a team. Even in the broader terms of the question, I will still answer definitely no."

Colt fans probably are the noisiest in the league. Does the yelling of a partisan crowd give you a lift?

"I can honestly say that I often hear no crowds at all. I guess I am too absorbed in what I am doing. The only time I notice the noise is when it jams up my signals."

How seriously will the loss of Lenny Moore affect the Colts' attack?

"When any club loses a player of the caliber of Lenny Moore, it is going to hurt a lot. We will just have to try to make up for it in other ways, and by doing things differently."

What makes Raymond Berry such a great receiver when he doesn't have the speed or height of many other ends?

"Raymond is not the fastest, that is he doesn't go as fast as Carroll Dale, but he is not slow. And he is 6-2 which is not small even in this league. But I think I know what you mean. You can explain it by saying that Raymond is a perfectionist. Whether he is writing a letter or running a pass pattern, he tries to do it perfectly. There is no harder worker or more serious student in the game."

Have you devised any Alley-Oop patterns to use with R. C. Owens?

"Owens has been injured, so we haven't tried any of that Oop stuff yet. I really can't say if we will."

Last year, a Ram player was ejected for hitting you after the whistle. Do you feel rival linemen point for you because of your reputation?

"Not any more than they point for any other quarterback."

Is there one lineman who gives you the hardest rush?

"You know I never stop to check numbers when they are running at me. Any defensive lineman in the NFL if he is up for the game or having a particularly good day can give you fits, and I am not just trying to dodge the question either."

What can a quarterback do once the "wolves" break through the blocking barrier?

"Well, first you've got to see them, but I think I've been blessed with a sixth sense that warns me of impending doom of this nature. Then you've got to counter by sidestepping, 'juking' or just plain taking off. I suppose you could say that a quarterback reacts to pass-rushers like a person would touching a hot stove."

Who do you consider to be the greatest quarterback?

"Jerry, I make it a point not to rate players, at least offensive players. I'm thankful I don't have to worry about them at all."

What do you consider your greatest game?

"I like to think it was the overtime playoff win in 1958 against the Giants. But actually until the overtime, I didn't have much of a day. One game that really sticks out in my mind is the one that clinched the title in Baltimore in 1958. We were behind, 27-7, at halftime against the 49ers, and we won it, 35-27. To come from behind 20 points and in the game that clinched our club's first Western Division title was a real big thrill for me."

Last year, the Rams had better success against Baltimore than other clubs. How do you rate them this season?

"From the trouble the Rams gave us last year, especially that working over on the Coast, it was hard to see why they finished where they did. This year, of course, all I have to go on is the game films I've studied all week. Honestly, I have never seen so many big guys in my life. I think the Rams may take over the Bears' nickname and become the Monsters of the Midway."

Are the Colts going to win today?

"Our head coach has indicated he would appreciate such a happening."

'Title' Games Open 43rd NFL Season

By Associated Press

The National Football League opens its 43rd season today and puts a dog-eat-dog title fight for the Eastern Conference championship right on the line with a pair of key games in Cleveland and Philadelphia.

The NFL has come up with an opening day schedule that pits the defending Eastern champion New York Giants against current favorite Cleveland, and almost equally strong St. Louis at the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 14-week schedule, which also finds champion Green Bay entertaining the Minnesota Vikings, will be launched under a new $9.3 million, 2-year television contract (CBS) whereby each team will share equally in all revenues. In paid attendance, the NFL expects the season's total figures to top the 4 million mark for the first time in history.

A third of a million fans are expected at the opening day program, with more than 60,000 in Cleveland where coach Paul Brown will take a revamped team, that won all five exhibition games, against the strong Giants.

In other NFL openers, the Rams are at Baltimore, Chicago visits San Francisco, Pittsburgh plays at Detroit and Washington is at Dallas.

The Browns will have Jim Ninowski at quarterback and Tom Wilson at halfback, both of whom were obtained in trades during the winter. Ninowski, traded for Milt Plum, and Wilson, from the Rams, have given fullback Jimmy Brown plenty of offensive support.

Brown will be seeking his sixth NFL rushing title and the Browns will be looking for only their second win in the last 10 games with New York.

The Giants also revamped their forces after losing 37-0 in the 1961 title game. They still have Y. A. Tittle at quarterback, but have backed him with Ralph Guglielmi from St. Louis and have bulwarked their offensive and defensive lines with a fine crop of rookies.

In addition, former all-pro halfback Frank Gifford is back after a year's lay-off and will add zest to the offense that this year is without Kyle Rote, Charley Conerly and Pat Summerall, all retired.

The Cardinals, with the league's only new coach in Wally Lemm, will have halfback John David Crow ready after recovering from a sprained ankle suffered in an exhibition game three weeks ago.

Quarterback Sam Etcheverry also has proved his injured arm of a year ago is again sound, as has Eagles' signal caller Sonny Jurgensen, who led the league in passing yardage last year.

The Packers rode through six exhibition games unbeaten and have the same cast that powered them to the title last year.

The Vikings finished strong in exhibition play, winning their last two games with soph Fran Tarkenton at the controls, and have buoyed their sagging defenses of a year ago.

The Colts were severely crippled last weekend when halfback Lenny Moore broke his left kneecap. Lenny will be out for six to eight weeks. He joins fullback Joe Perry on the disabled list.

Quarterback John Brodie leads the 49ers, whom coach Red Hickey calls the "best team I've ever had." Bill Kilmer, the soph pass-run threat, has recovered from an exhibition injury. The Bears lost all five preseason games, but will be in their best physical condition so far with rookie of the year Mike Ditka and halfback Johnny Morris back in shape.

Bob Ferguson, the all-America fullback from Ohio State, and rookie Joe Womack of Los Angeles State, lead a revamped Steelers' running game against the Lions. Plum got better with each exhibition game and will get a chance to call his own plays.

Lane Scores TKO, Boosts Title Go Bid

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., scored a ninth-round technical knockout over Len Matthews of Philadelphia in a nationally televised bout Saturday night to even an old score and boost his bid for a title shot against lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz.

The referee halted the one-sided contest at 2:54 of the session with Matthews taking a severe pummeling from the southpaw slasher from Michigan, who entered the ring a 3-2 favorite.

San Pedro tied the score in the same inning on singles by George Pearson and Manny Ortega, a triple by Ben Brescovich and Ben Souders' single.

The Bombers won on two more of San Pedro's seven errors and a hit in the 10th. San Pedro's next game will be Monday.

Australian Sloop Overwhelmed, Granted Delay to Patch Wounds

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Defender Weatherly handed Gretel, the darling of Australia, a stunning half-mile defeat Saturday, in the opening race of the 18th challenge for the America's cup, and drew a snappy salute from the President.

The Australians were so shaken by the decisive setback that they immediately hoisted a flag requesting that they not race on Monday. Sunday is traditional off-day.

They needed more time to patch their wounds and pride. The Gretel showed a tendency to keel over on the waves of the Atlantic.

Now, the next race in the best-of-seven series for the trophy which has been in America's possession for 111 years, is scheduled Tuesday over a triangular 24-mile course. But no one in this old seaport thinks the result will be any different.

It looks like another four straight sweep.

As Weatherly pushed her slender, azure-blue nose across the finish line, the Australian challenger was so far back she appeared to be part of the spectator fleet.

She finished 3 minutes and 46 seconds later — a hangdog, broken crew aboard.

It was just a race for just two of the 24 miles, and for 24 minutes Saturday.

Then it turned into a rout as Weatherly showed definite superiority.

The American sloop was completely the master beating into the wind. She stood straighter, pointed higher and west faster.

Gretel's keeling weakness had turned up in practice, but never was completely confirmed before. The seas were chopped up by winds which reached gusts of 20 miles an hour.

This was supposed to be Gretel's weather, but it was Weatherly's day and the decision came early.

200 TO SEEK CROWN IN AMATEUR TEE

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Amateur golf this week picks its successor to burly Jack Nicklaus, who abdicated as king for money.

SAYS WBA OFFICIAL

No Rematch for Floyd If Loses

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — If Sonny Liston dethrones heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Sept. 25 there will be no rematch, says Emile Bruneau, newly-appointed chairman of the World Championships Committee of the World Boxing Assn.

Bruneau, chairman of the Louisiana Boxing Commission and a member of the WBA Executive Committee, said Saturday he'll thwart any rematch.

"If Patterson loses, he'll have to fight and beat the No. 1 contender to earn another title shot," Bruneau said.

"The same holds for Liston," Bruneau added. "Should Liston put up a strong fight—and lose—he'll have to beat No. 1 contender before getting another crack at the championship."

Under present rules of the World Ratings Committee, the loser of any title fight must be dropped to at least No. 3 contender in the next monthly ratings. The No. 2 contender behind Liston is former heavyweight titlist Ingemar Johanssen, followed by Eddie Machen.

* * * *

BRUNEAU made it clear he had no information of any impending rematch clause should Liston win. "But things like that have happened before. I'm only making our position crystal clear should any attempt be made to have it happen again."

Bruneau said he spoke with full approval of Dr. Charles Larson, president of the WBA.

Asked what recourse the WBA would have if the edict were defied and a rematch arranged, Bruneau replied: "Any state or country which didn't go along with our ruling could be suspended . . . we would tell other fighters, 'you can't fight in that state or country.'"

Forecast Record Year in Trade Marts

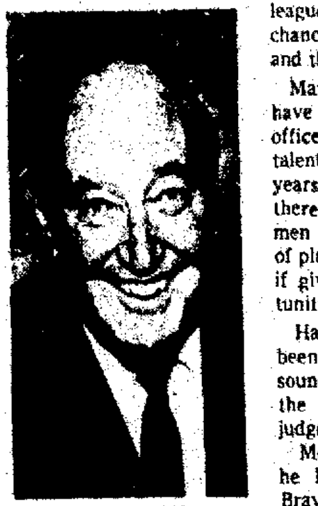
The success of the Los Angeles Angels this year has been a severe indictment of virtually every front office in the major leagues.

Key man in building the Angels into a pennant contender in their second year of operation, of course, has been general manager Fred Haney.

The original club which the Angels were stuck with in the special A.L. draft when the league expanded to 10 teams wasn't much more than an average minor league outfit.

It lost nine of its first 10 games in '61 and in that form would have been as pitiful as this year's New York Mets.

But Haney refused to sit still. He began wheeling and dealing. Men completely overlooked by all other major league clubs were given a chance to play regularly . . . and they came through.



FRED HANEY
Key to Angels Success

Many major league scouts have been critical of front office judgment of playing talent down through the years . . . pointing out that there have been scores of men in the minors capable of playing major league ball if given the proper opportunity.

Haney, of course, has long been considered one of the soundest baseball men in the game and a shrewd judge of talent.

Most fans remember that he led the Milwaukee Braves to two pennants and a world championship and then was fired the next year. The club hasn't been the same since.

Haney had hoped to move into the front office at Milwaukee and Braves fans are now wondering why he wasn't considered.

FRED'S FANTASTIC SUCCESS with the Angels has led to a whole new line of thinking in the majors that is destined to result in the greatest trading season of all-time during the coming winter months.

Indications are that most of the other major league clubs will follow Haney's format in attempting to regroup their forces. As one general manager said recently, "If he can do it without anything to start with, the rest of us should be able to do so, too."

And it is said that owner August Busch's recent blast at his Cardinal organization stems from the Angels' success. "How could they accomplish in a year and a half what we haven't been able to do in 10 years?" he asked his front office people.

ALL SIGNS POINT TO BRISK trading with six clubs leading the way . . . the Cardinals, Braves and Pirates in the National League and the Tigers, Indians and White Sox in the American. Thorough house cleanings are in order.

Other clubs will not deal as briskly as the above six plan, but some interesting trades likely will be completed.

Clubs most likely to stand pat, except for replacements from their farm systems, are the Dodgers, Giants, Twins and Orioles. However, each club may arrange at least one trade. The Dodgers would like another pitcher, the Giants a reliever, the Twins a starting pitcher and the Orioles a power hitter.

Cincinnati has a great crop of young players at San Diego ready to move up and if they make the grade, the Reds would have some veteran talent with which to complete a very important deal.

ALTHOUGH THE YANKEES have just about clinched another pennant, they plan to deal more than they have in many years.

Those close to the club say they were much more concerned over the late-August slump than they let on. It was during this slump that the pitching shortage became so evident.

The Yanks are pretty well set in every other position, thus any deals must involve pitching.

They would like the Angels' Bo Belinsky, a strong possibility now that Ford Frick has nixed his going to Kansas City. The Yanks have ample manpower to trade. Shortstop Phil Linz and possibly first baseman Moose Skowron would be the major attractions.

Mayo Smith, the Yanks' top scout, has been covering the National League for the past several weeks, presumably watching possible World Series opponents. However, he has looked at other clubs more frequently than he has the Dodgers and Giants, the two most likely winners.

Bailey's Triple Helps End Sanford Streak

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped righthander Jack Sanford's 16-game winning streak and handed second place San Francisco another severe pennant jolt by defeating the Giants 5-1 Saturday. The Giants now are four games behind the Dodgers.

Bob Friend dealt the Giants their fourth successive defeat, limiting them to five hits. The only run the Giants got off the veteran righthander was unearned.

The Pirates scored four runs in the eighth inning to snap a 1-1 tie. Sanford, who hadn't been beaten since June, had permitted the Pirates only two hits and had retired the first two batters in the eighth when the Pirates erupted.

JACK SANFORD
First Loss Since June

Smoky Burgess singled and Howie Goss, his pinch runner, took second on a passed ball. Roberto Clemente doubled to make it 2-1.

Don Clendenon was purposely passed for Bob Bailey but the rookie third baseman from Long Beach, Calif., foiled the strategy, slamming a triple over rightfielder Willie McCovey's head to score Clemente and Clendenon. After Bill Mazeroski was given an intentional walk, Friend blooped a single to drive in the fourth run of the inning.

Friend struck out eight and walked only one en route to his 17th triumph. He has lost 13.

Sanford, now 22-7, walked eight batters and fanned three.

Mets Tie 'Futility' Record

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets mathematically doomed themselves to a 10th-place finish and tied another major league record for adversity Saturday when they bowed, 9-6, to Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Reds.

Purkey was credited with his 22nd victory of the season, although he needed relief in the eighth inning from Jim Maloney when the Mets staged one of their futile rallies for three runs, Maloney retired the four batters he faced.

The Mets' pitching staff tied a major league record when Jerry Lynch tagged Jay Hook for a two-run homer in the seventh. This was the 187th home run yielded by Mets' pitchers this season, tying the mark set by the 1956 Philadelphia Athletics.

* * * *

PURKEY, who gave up only four hits during the first seven innings, ran into trouble in the eighth when he served a two-run homer to Marv Throneberry and then made a throwing error on Joe Christopher's infield hit.

The Reds jumped on Hook for three runs in the second inning, Frank Robinson starting the outburst with a double and John Edwards knocking in the last two runs with a triple. Cincinnati scored three more runs in the fourth with the help of an error by Mets' outfielder Frank Thomas.

Phils Rally in 9th Nips Cards, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies rallied for three runs in the ninth Saturday to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, with a one-out single by pinch-batter Mel Roach driving in the winning run.

Reliever Bobby Shantz, who gave up three straight singles in the ninth, including two by pinch-batters, was the loser, while Jack Baldschun, who pitched the final inning for the Phils, was the winner.

Shantz was the fourth Cardinal hurler after St. Louis built up a 4-1 lead off rookie Jack Hamilton with a seven-hit attack that included Ken Boyer's 22nd homer.

It was the third successive game in which the Phils rallied in the ninth to win.

Yank Defense Collapses, but Homers Bump Bosox

BOSTON (UPI)—The New York Yankees defense collapsed in a rash of errors Saturday but the league leaders recovered to beat the Boston Red Sox, 9-6, on a barrage of homers.

Roger Maris, Tom Tresh, Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard homered for the Yanks, who rallied for the victory on four ninth-inning runs. The Red Sox had rallied on five eighth-inning runs.

The defending American League champions erred four times but it was one of three Boston errors which set the stage for the winning rally along with Howard's insurance homer.

The Yankees, who earlier had blown a 5-1 lead, won it when reliefer Jim Bouton, third New York pitcher, shut off Boston's rally in the eighth. He held the Red Sox to one hit in the ninth to gain his seventh victory.

Yankee starter Bill Stafford wound up with nothing to show for it though he pitched one-hit ball before tiring after seven innings.

Maris rocketed his 32nd homer of the season 12 rows deep into the bleachers with one man on in the fourth. Tresh hit his 19th with the bases empty an inning later.

MAYS 'FAIR,' ON SIDELINES INDEFINITELY

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) —Willie Mays said he felt "just fair" and manager Alvin Dark said Saturday he had no idea when his star outfielder would return to the lineup.

The flashy Mays, stricken with an attack of indigestion Tuesday night in Cincinnati, worked out lightly at Forbes Field before the game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dark made it clear that Mays would not play until he feels better. "I don't know when Willie will play," Dark said. "He's still weak and we'll just have to wait."

Dodgers' Williams Tests Buhl Today

line, there was bound to be a bundle of nerves.

The Dodgers staged a "bum of the inning" campaign from the fourth through the ninth, but there were some brilliant plays as well.

* * * *

HOWARD'S howitzer arm cut down the lead run in the eighth inning when George Altman attempted to score from second on Rodgers' single to right. In the same inning, Perranoski made a protective stab of Ernie Banks' liner, but erred two plays later when he threw away Ron Santo's bouncer.

Roseboro, Carey and Maury Wills also made errors, but each atoned.

Wills stole his 92nd base and is now four games ahead of Ty Cobb's 1915 record pace. He needs five steals in the next seven games to break the record sans asterisk.

Roseboro drew four of 11 walks doled out by four Cub pitchers and scored the tying runs in the eighth.

* * * *

WITH LUCK, Drysdale could have become the sixth 25-game winner in Dodger history. His troubles in the fourth began when Santo legged out a topper to third for the first Cub hit. Errors by Wills and Roseboro let in two runs, two intentional walks refilled the bases and Dick Bertell's single accounted for the last two.

Wills took the rap for Fairly's high throw on a double play ball and Roseboro escaped without an error, although he dropped another right field strike from Howard.

The series concludes this afternoon with Stan Williams (13-11) opposing Bob Buhl (10-12).

DIS AND DATA—Trainer Bill Buhler has rejoined the Dodgers after recovering from a kidney ailment . . . Happy birthday to Stan Williams, 26, saturday . . . Williams hopes to celebrate today by gaining his seventh career win at Wrigley Field . . . He broke in here with a two-hit shutout win in 1958 and never has lost here.

Drysdale walked Altman to start the second inning and promptly picked him off base . . . Dodgers entered with a .288 batting average against the Cubs, led by T. Davis' .394 . . . Tommy has 204 hits, the most by a Dodger since Lefty O'Doul's 219 in 1932 . . . Babe Herman set the club record of 241 hits in 1930.

Dodgers have stolen 176 bases, best in NL since 1924 Pirates swiped 181 . . . Fans cheered when four eighth-inning runs for Pirates were posted on scoreboard as Dodgers came to bat in the fifth . . . The pro-Dodger crowd also chanted "Go-go-go" before Wills stole in the same inning.

Climaxing a day of boo-boos, Roseboro popped to left field in the sixth inning, was half way to second when Williams dropped the ball for an error, but was thrown out attempting to get back to first . . . Altman pulled a similar blunder in the Cubs' half . . . Altman left second base as Rodgers flied to right, was doubled easily, albeit on a peculiar relay, Howard-to-Drysdale-to-Gilliam.

Hubbs saved at least one run by fielding Fairly's grounded behind first base and throwing him out to end the seventh . . . Two Dodgers were left on base, Wills at third.

Killebrew Smashes 2, Twins Romp

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew came off the bench Saturday to drive in five runs with his 38th and 39th homers and pace the Minnesota Twins to 12-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Killebrew, who was benched after Wednesday's game, was inserted in the lineup in the second inning after rookie outfielder Tony Oliva was injured. Killebrew belted a three-run homer in the second off Cleveland starter Barry Latman and smashed a two-run belt off Pete Ramos in the sixth.

The five runs batted in brought Killebrew's total to 109 for the season.

Angel Losing Streak

gels, and after three impressive performances, hit a sour note.

Grba, who now plans an October wedding in lieu of the Angels absence from the World Series, had a no-hitter until rookie third baseman Frank Kostro singled with one out in the fifth. One strike later, catcher Dick Brown planted a Grba fast ball into the left field pavilion for his 12th home run.

Brown, whose offensive and defensive abilities are so well known he is listed as a pitcher in baseball's "Who's Who," produced his third RBI of the game and the Tigers' third run in the sixth. His squeeze bunt scored Cash from third after Danny Osinski had replaced Grba.

Ken McBride, absent from the mound since August 3, puts his 11-4 mark on the line this afternoon against Phil Regan (9-9). No relation to the singer, Regan should still have little trouble lullabying the faltering Angel bats to sleep. He'll have to wait a half hour longer to try, however. Game time is 2 o'clock.

* * * *

ANGEL ANGLES: McBride will be seeking his third consecutive Chavez Ravine shutout, having blanked Cleveland on four hits on July 21 and Detroit on three hits on July 17 . . . In his last appearance against Baltimore on Aug. 3, McBride yielded five hits and four runs in six and two-thirds innings and receipted for his fourth defeat, breaking a 10-game winning streak.

Rocky Bridges and Bobbie Morton will be the pitchers in today's preliminary contest which pits Billy Moran, George Thomas, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner against the Tigers' Vic Wertz, Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash . . . The home run duel starts at 1:30.

Gene Autry, Bob Reynolds and Leonard Firestone will present the first "Angel Owners Trophy" prior to Saturday night's game . . . The award goes to a player to be selected in secret ballot by his teammates . . . Voting will be done on the basis of performance, sportsmanship and leadership.

The Angels are off Monday and have been invited to participate in a golf tournament at Lakeside Country Club . . . Baltimore moves into the Ravine for Tuesday and Wednesday night games, and after another day off Thursday, the Angels host Cleveland in a three-game series which concludes the home season.

K.C. Hurler Fischer Cracks 49-Year 'Walkless' Record

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bill Fischer broke the 49-year-old major league mark for continuous innings pitched without giving up a base on balls Saturday night but failed to break his five-game losing streak as his Kansas City Athletic teammates won a 5-4 11-inning victory and swept a doubleheader from the Baltimore Orioles.

Jose Tartabull's single drove in Haywood Sullivan with the winning run and made Dave Wickersham (10-3) the winning hurler. Billy Hoeft was the loser.

The Athletics won the first game 4-3 in ten innings.

Fischer completed 68⅓ innings without a walk and broke the record set by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1913. He surpassed Mathewson's record in the seventh inning and got two out in the eighth before he was relieved by John Wyatt.

* * * *

THE 6-FOOT, 195-pound Fischer retired Jim Gentile and Charley Lau to run his record to 69⅓ innings. Then Dave Nicholson hit his second home run of the night to bring the Orioles within one run at 4-3. When Whitey Herzog followed with a single, manager Hank Bauer replaced the 32-year-old righthander with Wyatt, who had won the first game in relief of starter Ed Rakow.

Wyatt got the side out but gave up the tying run in the ninth when he walked Russ Snyder and Lau doubled the Oriole catcher across.

Sullivan's hit won the opener. Norm Siebern's single, a walk and an intentional pass set the stage for his single. Hoyt Wilhelm took the loss.

Nicholson's homer tied the score 3-3 in the ninth.

Restrictions Burden High School Aquatics?

By DOUG IVES

Do you ever wonder why Moore League swimming and water polo coaches talk only about the city championship and not about the league title?

Or why the CIF's biggest and supposedly strongest league generally comes out poorly in the Southern California championships?

There are reasons — and good ones.

* * * *

THE FACT is that Long Beach high schools are too burdened with restrictions—bans which very few other cities invoke.

For example, Downey has pools open during the summer for age group and AAU swimming and polo. Long Beach schools do not. Lakewood does because it's not under L. B. Recreation Department.

Downey, of course, follows Moore League rules, but the valuable experience gained during the summer makes the Vikes almost unbeatable, which is why other Moore coaches almost concede the league title to them.

* * * *

THE HIGH school pools in Long Beach are considered among the finest in Southern California. Yet, not even one hour a week during the summer is set aside for competitive swimming or polo.

There are other restrictions, too. Aquatics is one sport which isn't allowed extra time for tryouts.

Therefore, coaches must take everyone who signs up and then cut the squad later. This takes up valuable practice time. And even when a coach finds talent, he may not get it as only 10 boys are allowed to make program changes.

Coaches are not even supposed to talk to prospects during the summer. A relaxation of this rule would help them find out the boys who really want to compete.

Moreover, girls have the pool twice a week. This seems fair, but the boys don't get to make up the lost practice time during the weekends or in the morning.

There are many coaches who probably would like to teach during the summer, or at least be given use of a pool to help them out. This also is denied them.

CIF rules are more lenient, but each league can make its rules tougher. The Moore League has chosen to do this, and the result is a hardship on the coaches who wish to boost their sport and the boys who genuinely hope to be better competitors.

It's time for a change, isn't it?

Predict One of Best LBCC Teams

By KEN PIVERNETZ

The Vikings of Long Beach City College have picked up momentum and are starting to roll.

Six days away from the opening game at Glendale, coach Jim Stangeland feels he has one of the finest teams in the history of the school.

There's no talk about a conference championship or unbeaten season, but only about what has already happened. After two weeks of practice and two scrimmages, it's been nothing but good news.

Up front, the Norsemen look every bit as good as in 1960. Line coach Rollie Eilerts is high on the size and speed of his entire interior front wall and end coach Joe Lannings feels the same way about Frank Roy, Frank Mazotta, Rich Croson and Mike Fambrough on defense.

Guard Bill James is a good example. A first stringer last year, who was forced to miss Thursday's scrimmage against Mt. San Antonio still suffering from a slight knee sprain, he now finds himself on the second string.

Compact Ken Brewer (5-9, 224) is a good bet to go both ways Friday night at offensive right guard and tackle on defense as a result of his rugged play Thursday.

James, Mike Blume and Joe Pearson, forced to sit out the Mt. SAC scrimmage, are expected in uniform Friday. None of their injuries are serious.

Glendale, with flashy halfback Bill Renison, is expected to provide a rough time Friday night. Renison made second-team J.C. Grid Wire all-America last year and heads a team that includes returning Western States Conference all-stars Don Johnson and Ron Clark.

Salute to Mexico Card Monday at Sports Arena

Promoter Joe Louis will stage his fourth boxing show of the season at the Sports Arena Monday night and it may be the best one to date.

The former heavyweight champion has lined up a triple 10-round "Salute to Mexico" program featuring such Latins as Zurodo Pina, Gil Cadilli, Rudy Corona and Marcelo Vargas. The show coincides with today's celebration of Mexican Independence Day.

Louis, after three "flops," has switched from "names" to "exciting" fighters and expects a $15,000 gate, or more.

Nicklaus Fires 65, Leads Player by 2

SEATTLE (AP)—Two of pro golf's big time, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, shot blistering sub-par third rounds in the $30,000 Seattle Open golf tournament Saturday. Nicklaus moved out in front at the 54-hole mark.

Nicklaus, the Ohioan playing out of Tucson, Ariz., was five-under with a sparkling 65. He had a three-day total of 67-65-65—197 awaiting today's final 18-hole firing.

Player, the South African who confided here in midweek he was "about at the top of his game," was six under par with a 64. He closed out the day two strokes behind Nicklaus with a 68-67-64—199.

* * * *

"IT WAS a good round, but I'm still second," Player said. "Don't get me wrong. You have to be greedy in this game."

Nicklaus, who said he was "holding back on his drives" to control the ball better, had five birdies. His three-round total of 197 tied this year's pro tour record set by Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., in the Tucson Open.

Shot Lead for Jessen; Wright 3rd

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Ruth Jessen chipped with precision and fired a two-under-par 72 Saturday to take a second-round lead of 145 in the $8,500 Sacramento Valley Ladies Open golf tournament.

In second place going into today's final round was Shirley Englehorn, a 21-year-old free swinger who last week won the Eugene, Ore., Open.

But the big surprise was veteran Betty Hicks, 41, who hasn't played in a tournament since 1959. She came home with a three-under-par 71 to tie the first-round leader and favorite Mickey Wright at 147—under par for the 36 holes.

Miss Jessen's key hole was the 17th, where she wedged in a brilliant 85-footer for a birdie. Last year's tournament runner-up also birdied the first, 13th and 14th holes.

Solid Claim for Muncey in Cup Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Muncey and Miss Century 21 of Seattle staked a solid claim Saturday to a second President's Cup unlimited hydroplane title with a record-shattering run in the first heat.

Miss Century 21 streaked along the Potomac River in the first 15-mile heat at 111.639 miles per hour, breaking the record of 109.245 set by Don Wilson in 1959.

In the other elimination heat for unlimited hydroplanes, Tahoe Miss of Reno, Nev., driven by oldtimer Chuck Thompson of Detroit, sped to victory in a race tainted by the failure of three boats unable to start.

Two elimination heats will be run today and the six boats with the highest point totals go for the golden trophy in the final.

Following Century at the finish were Bardahl, Gale V, and Lumberville of Detroit, driven by Walt Kade, in that order.

In the first heat, Thompson, only four-time winner of the President's Cup, had a nine-second lead at the start over Bob Gilliam of Seattle driving his own Fascination, only other boat under way when the starting gun fired.

EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIPS

British, German Runners Surprise

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bruce Tulloh, Britain's barefooted distance running star, and a pair of German runners came through with upset victories Saturday in the European track and field championships.

An outstanding runner who couldn't seem to win in the big races, Tulloh made good by beating Poland's Kazimeirz Zimny and Russia's powerful veteran, Piotr Bolotnikov, the 10,000 meter victor, in the 5,000 meter (3 miles, 188 yards) final. Tulloh was clocked in 14:01.8 and Bolotnikov in 14:02.

Manfred Matuschewski, in the 800 meters, and Jutta Heine, in the 200 meters, were Germany's first gold medalists of the meet in the huge Yugoslav Army stadium.

* * * *

MATUSCHEWSKI, a real outsider, captured the 800 meter run decisively in 1:50 with Russia's Mvalery Boulychev second, Germany's Paul Schmidt third and Finland's Olavi Salonen fourth, all in 1:51.2.

Fraulein Heine, attractive 22-year-old blonde, spoiled Dorothy Hyman's bid for a sprint double by winning the 200 in 23.5. Miss Hyman, winner of the 100 earlier in the meet, was second in 23.7.

The formidable Russians bagged three of the seven championships Saturday and ran their victory total to 11 in 23 men's and women's events. The 28-nation competition ends today.

The Soviet winners were world record holder Tamara Press in the discus, 186 feet, 8½ inches; world record holder Tatiana Chelkanova in the broad jump, 20 feet, 10¼ inches, and Ian Loussis in the men's javelin, 269 feet, 2 inches.

Miss Press, a powerful 25-year-old veteran, completed a double. She had won the shotput previously, and holds the world records in both events. After she won, Miss Press said she would quit sports next year to concentrate on her studies. She hopes to become a construction engineer.

PENTTI NIKULA, the 23-year-old Finnish gymnastics teacher, won the pole vault with a leap of 15 feet, 9 inches, well under the vault of 16-2½ he has lined up for world recognition. The flying Finn gave the 40,000 fans a thrill when he tried to better his pending mark but failed three times at clearing 16 feet, 2⅞ inches. He used a 16-foot fiberglass pole.

Britain, with four gold medals, was second to Russia. Germany and Italy have won two each.

In the unofficial scoring, Russia is far in front with 148 points; Germany is second with 113½ points, followed by Britain, 73; Poland, 55½; Finland, 29; France, 23; Hungary, 20, and Italy 15.

Kosarich Second in Griffith Run

John Kosarich of Long Beach State College took second in the annual cross country run staged at Griffith Park Saturday with a time of 13:04. Long Beach was well represented in the three-mile grind with runners from City College and the local high schools competing along with the LBSC harriers.

Out of some 60 unattached athletes in the race, six local runners placed in the top 20 and seven more in the first 48.

The five others who were among the top 20 were Mit Hunt, LBCC, fourth (13:12); George Lacy, LBSC, eighth (13:30); Tom Jennings, LBSC, 10th (13:51); Ralph Lee, LBSC, 11th (13:52) and John Fairchild, Poly H.S., 16th (14:06).

Real Range of Horsepower

CALLAWAY GARDENS, Ga.—There's a motto among Kiekhaefer Corporation employes that if you want 100 horsepower or under, stick to Mercury outboards; if you desire more power than that, start looking at the MerCruiser inboard-outboard units that range from 110 to 620 horsepower.

It is my conviction that the motto is a good one after seeing everything that Kiekhaefer has to offer for 1963. The range of horsepower in the outboards is beyond doubt the most amazing change in Mercury's history.

There are four models—the 20-horsepower Merc 200, the 35-hp. Merc 350, the 65-hp. Merc 650 and the 85-hp. Merc 850. Added to the four models that are being retained, the eight engines make an imposing array for any outboard industry.

Others are the 6-hp. Merc 60, the 9.8-hp. 110, the 50-hp. Merc 500 and the giant of all, the 100-hp. Merc 1000, which has proved to be the most popular motor Kiekhaefer has ever designed since he started making 6-cylinder engines.

The main changes in the Mercury line are engineering refinements, improved alloys, better bearings and insulation and improved balancing.

MOST OF YOU OUTBOARD FANS are well acquainted with the 60, a perfect fishing motor that a child can carry, the 100, another fishing motor that puts out more horsepower than you think, the 500, an excellent engine for speed either alone, or in pairs, and the great 1000 that really sends you places in a hurry.

Now let's take a close look at the new models. First of all, the 200, a 20-hp. motor that is portable enough for carrying in a car, yet strong enough for water-skiing and fast enough to get you home in a hurry when you have ended a day of fishing far from camp.

It has a full gearshift lower unit, which, if desired, may be operated with Mercury's standard single-lever, remote-control system.

The new 35-hp. 350 is the lightest outboard of that class ever built and the most powerful twin-cylinder ever marketed by Mercury. It may be had as a standard engine, or may be equipped with electric starting, plus a super-power magneto.

The 65-hp. 650 is the most powerful four-in-line motor ever produced by Kiekhaefer and is said to be the lightest motor in that class in the entire industry. Its torque and lugging ability will be well appreciated by water skiers.

YOU MAY WELL WONDER about the 85-hp. 850, another new model, because it's between the 1000 and the 750, which will not be made any more.

To understand the outboard competition and why new models must continually be made, one needs only to talk to Kiekhaefer's engineering men or even to Carl Kiekhaefer himself.

For instance, the 850 was engineered specifically to develop high thrust at low and moderate speeds for water skiing and for large, heavy boats. Obviously, such a motor will turn light- and medium-weight hulls into high-performance boats.

Although Kiekhaefer's main plant is situated at Fond du Lac, Wis., other engineers spend 24 hours a day at the Lake X proving grounds near Orlando, Fla. And it is through such testing that annual changes come about.

Tom King, vice president of the corporation, which is a subsidiary of Brunswick Corporation, predicts that there will be a 10, possibly a 12 per cent increase in sales next year, mostly because of Mercury's drastic change in models, plus a close look at the boating industry throughout the country. He points out that Mercury is the only outboard manufacturer to make big changes in model design.

MORE THAN 100 OUTDOOR WRITERS from various parts of the nation came here to see the unveiling of the Mercury motors and the MerCruisers. Callaway Gardens was picked for its natural beauty as well as its string of lakes in which we drove every type of Mercury, mounted on just about every kind of boat that is manufactured in the U.S.

Carl Kiekhaefer, who remains as president of the corporation bearing his name despite its sale last year to Brunswick, insists that Mercury has no intention of entering the boat field. Neither does it have any desire to start factory packages (boats, motors and trailers). That's a job for the dealers, he says.

Kiekhaefer, a solidly built outdoor man with tremendous energy and vitality and who once earned his living racing automobiles, enjoys nothing like the smell of the water, be it salt or fresh, and the feel of the wheel of a boat in his hands.

On one day, all the editors and Kiekhaefer executives took a three-hour bus trip into Alabama, where we drove MerCruiser units on Lake Harding and the Chattahoochee River. It was my pleasure to ride in a Bertram 31-footer, equipped with two 310-hp. MerCruiser and skim along at 50 miles per hour. The driver? Carl Kiekhaefer.

You'll be hearing more about MerCruisers in a later column.

Speed Handicap Tijuana Feature

Postman, seeking his fifth successive win, and Mineral Board are favored in the five-furlong sprint for older horses.

Secondary feature is the Garden Grove, also for three-year-olds and up, at one mile and 1/16.

RACING ROUNDUP

Mongo Outlasts Lark in U.N. Cap

Overlooked in the betting by the crowd of 25,468, despite five victories in seven starts this year, Mongo paid $19.40, $11.40 and $8.00 in turning back 11 rivals in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Milton Ritzenberg's Wise Ship grabbed the lead at the start and held on until overtaken by Mongo in the backstretch. Wise Ship, ridden by Heliodoro Gustines, battled head-and-head with Mongo, Charlie Burr up, through the stretch. T.V. Lark, sixth in the midstretch, then made his move under Avelino Gomez but just failed to catch Mongo.

Mongo, whose first grass course victory came in the Ventnor Handicap Aug. 11, was timed in 1:56 3/5 under a 117-pound burden.

T.V. Lark returned $10.00 and $6.00 and Wise Ship paid $4.00. Mongo's share of the purse was $65,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Never Bend, beaten a week ago in the world's richest horse race, barged back into the 2-year-old championship picture with a come-from-behind victory in the $152,150 Futurity at Aqueduct.

But before the son of Nasrullah from Harry G. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable was made the official winner, he had to withstand a foul claim. Never Bend, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, finished the 6½ furlongs with a margin of 1¾ lengths over the Greentree Stable's Outing Class. Pack Trip, an outsider racing for Joseph M. Roebling, trailed by another 2½ lengths for third place in the field of 13.

* * * *

THE NUMBERS of the first three horses across the finish line had not much more than been posted when Donald Pierce, riding Outing Class, claimed a foul against Never Bend and Shoemaker. He charged that his mount was bothered by the Cain Hoy Stable star at the start of the race. But after looking at pictures of the race, Pierce's claim was disallowed by the stewards.

Never Bend, chalking up his first stakes triumph and his fourth victory in six starts, stepped the distance in 1:17 1/5 seconds. He earned $94,347.50 to run his total earnings to $193,677.50.

As the favorite of the crowd of 49,132, Never Bend paid $4.30, $2.80 and $2.40. Outing Class, coupled with Catulus, returned $3.40 and $2.80. Pack Trip was $4.60 to show.

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Henrijan scored a one and three-quarter length victory in the $10,000-added Albany Handicap at Golden Gate Fields Saturday before 16,148.

With Native Diver a late scratch, only five horses went to the post for the six-furlong sprint. There was no show betting and Henrijan paid $5 and $3.20. Second place Ann's Knight returned $3.40. The time was 1:09 2/5.

Testum Triumphs in Governors Cup Race

By ERNIE MASON

POMONA—Dick Anderson, a rough-and-ready cowboy from the Idaho range country had a big day Saturday afternoon. He's the co-owner and trainer of the 3-year-old speedster, Testum, and the colt walked away with $6,365 as he trimmed Fay's Night Out and Mr. Wag in the $11,475 Governor's Cup at six furlongs.

"Fog-Horn Dick," as he's affectionately called in the Pomona Stable area, went the race a $5 bill better, as he took Testum to the gate on his stable pony, a job worth a fiver to the pony-boy.

* * * *

WINNER of the La Jolla Mile at Del Mar before coming to Pomona, Testum was sent away the 2-1 favorite among the huge Saturday crowd of 22,096 and didn't disappoint a one of his backers as he led from start to finish and wound up a three-quarter length winner over Fay's Night Out and Mr. Wag in the track record-equaling time of 1:10 3/5.

Jockey Ken McReynolds went along for the ride and earned his first Pomona Stakes victory with a clever rating job all the way. McReynolds is best known as a quarter horse rider, but showed he can handle the thoroughbreds with equal ability with his performance.

Testum, who started his racing career in the bushes of Montana and who finished fourth in an allowance event here last year as a 2-year-old, was registering his sixth victory in 12 lifetime starts and now boasts a bankroll of $37,285.

Testum, backed well by the fine Saturday turnout, returned $6.60, $4.40 and $3.80.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Ernie Cuts Long Playing Record

By EARL WILSON

HONOLULU — Tennessee Ernie Ford takes himself 10 vacations a year . . . each two weeks long.

I met him here on the beach at Waikiki while he was taking one of the vacations. Ernie had on a little straw Hawaiian hat, sunglasses and shorts, and I was in my light blue $21 wash-and-wear suit. When a soft noontime shower started, neither of us budged. We just lay back on the beach mats under us in the sand and proceeded with the beachcomber interview in the rain.

"Ten two-week vacations a year," I said. "You must get pretty exhausted just vacationing."

* * * *

AND THE MORE remarkable thing is that Ernie proved to the broadcasting bosses that you don't have to do a TV program from either New York or Los Angeles — because Ernie lives and works (when he isn't vacationing) in his favorite city, San Francisco.

"Well, after five years of every Thursday night at 9:30, I decided to quit the Ford show and do something else. ABC started talking about this show.

"I said, 'All right, I'll do the show if I can do it from San Francisco.'

"They said, 'O.K., where?'"

* * * *

SO THEY RIGGED up a studio, and Ernie built a home in Portola, about 45 minutes from the San Francisco business section.

"I go into San Francisco three days a week and tape two days' shows," he explained. "Then every five weeks, I take two weeks off.

"Oh, yes, then there's four weeks a year I'm not seen on the show at all," he said—so it would appear that Ernie has about 24 weeks off a year—approximately half a year.

Pleasence Relives POW Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Donald Pleasence is playing a top role in "The Great Escape," now shooting in Munich. The story concerns a mass breakout from the German prisoner of war camp Stalag III in World War II.

The escape actually happened.

"I know," recalls Pleasence, "because I was a prisoner of war at neighboring Stalag Luft 1.

"The news of the escape from Stalag III didn't take long to get to our camp. In fact, the Germans used it as a club over our heads and really got tough with us. It kind of resigned us to sitting out the rest of the war."

Pleasence said he and his fellow prisoners always had escape on their minds until the Stalag III breakout. In the movie, he is one of the leaders of the escape.

JANE POWELL . . . Pro-Musicals

'WORLD OF MUSIC'

Jane Powell, Stan Kenton, Damone in L.B. Thursday

Jane Powell is a tiny, blue-eyed blonde with the firm conviction that America should stop trying to make "message" films and television shows and concentrate on what it does best—movie and TV musicals.

Jane, who stars with Vic Damone, Stan Kenton and Jimmy McHugh in "The Wonderful World of Music," which will be presented at the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium for one night only Thursday, is quite candid about her position.

"I don't think I'm exaggerating when I say that we make better TV and movie musicals than any other country in the world," Miss Powell declared. "No other country even comes close to the standards we have set."

* * * *

JANE NOTED happily that there was a new upsurge towards musicals in the United States today and cited such successful examples as "West Side Story," "Gypsy," "The Music Man" and "Jumbo."

Jane's movie credits include two of the most successful musicals ever made—"Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" with Howard Keel and "Royal Wedding" with Fred Astaire. In addition she has appeared in "Small Town Girl," "Luxury Liner," "Three Sailors and a Girl" and "Deep in My Heart."

She has made three movies—"Athena," "Hit the Deck" and "Rich, Young and Pretty" with her co-star Vic Damone of "The Wonderful World of Music."

CHIP OFF THE OLD BING

Gary Crosby Works to Stay at Top—Where He Started

By BOB BARNES

Bing Crosby stamped his trademark on his oldest son. Gary, 29, has his old man's easy-going mannerisms, his offhand attitude. When he talks, chips of Bing hit a listener.

His drive is to create his own identity, to escape his famous crooner father's shadow. Yet, without the shadow—

* * * *

HIS PROBLEM is complicated by his three younger brothers, Dennis, Philip and Lindsay—all in show business. They're all faced with the same mixed blessing and handicap in a father known the world over, but the compulsion to assert themselves as individuals hasn't shown itself in them as it has in Gary.

Gary's self-appointed task is to turn the Crosby name from a sunshade into a springboard.

One handicap he readily concedes — he lacks the Old Groaner's inimitable singing voice. He sings with eyes closed or glued to those of Barbara, the fascinating ex-chorus girl he married a year and a half ago.

* * * *

IT HAS been a long, hard fight for Gary to stay on top where he started—the reverse of the average man's scramble—and no end is in sight. He seems to be making headway, though, in his battle to make people think of him as Gary Crosby instead of as one of Bing's boys.

"One drawback in having a famous father is you don't have a chance to learn while you're young without your mistakes being publicized," Gary says. "Every time you pull a blunder everybody knows about it."

Since returning from the military service four years ago, Gary has had several bouts with illness or nervous exhaustion. The same is true of brother Lindsay.

CROSBYS
Bing and Gary

* * * *

GARY, NAMED after Gary Cooper, took off with as healthy a boost as you'll find in show business, including summer fill-in on his dad's radio program and a vocal recording called "Gary Crosby and a Friend."

Gary started alone, later teamed up with his brothers. A cold and a sore throat forced him to stop singing midway through a 1959 engagement at Montreal and the four boys split up amid published reports of a brawl — which the brothers denied.

* * * *

"THAT WAS all publicity started by a disgruntled individual," Gary says. "It got picked up in this country and magnified. There aren't any hard feelings among us."

They didn't come to blows, he says, but adds in his matter-of-fact way, "we argued every night."

He told them to form an act without him.

* * * *

TWINS DENNIS and Philip are 28, Lindsay 24. The boys' mother died in 1952. Bing, 58, has a second family by former actress Kathryn Grant: Harry Lillis Jr., 4, his namesake; Mary Frances, 3, and Nathaniel Patrick, 1.

$3 MILLION FACILITY FOR LONG BEACH

New Marina Hotel Due to Open in December

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

Viewed by Long Beach leaders as a major economic and recreational asset for the city, the $3 million Edgewater Inn Marina Hotel under construction at Pacific Coast Highway and Second Street now is scheduled for opening in mid-December.

Announcement of the opening target was made by James Stockman, president of Transwestern Hotels, Inc., at a press preview attended by civic and business leaders.

MARTIN BURTON, general contractor, said construction is being rushed so the hotel may be opened on or about Dec. 15.

The building site was leased from the San Gabriel River Improvement Company through Ed Callahan, president, Huntington Land Companies, San Marino.

"This new hotel," Stockman declared, "has been designed and built to make it the most outstanding hotel in all Southern California. Its location on the Long Beach Marina offers the world's largest yacht marina as an attraction for international travelers, conventioneers, businessmen and family tourists."

* * * *

DESIGNED by architect Roy Sealy, the hotel will include 200 guest rooms and suites; three restaurants, with dinner dancing nightly, a 24-hour coffee shop, two cocktail lounges, convention and meeting rooms seating up to 1,500 people, a gift shop, liquor shop, a yacht catering service and a children's playground.

There will be a barber shop, beauty salon, news stand, a doggie and cat motel, swimming pool and landscaped patios. There will be the cabana club and free parking for more than 650 cars.

* * * *

ALL OF the guest suites have private outside patios or lanai balconies. The hotel will be 100 per cent air conditioned both summer and winter, and 16 suites will have fireplaces.

Stockman stated that the finest electronic equipment is being placed in the hotel, with television and radio in every room, maid-call service, message at desk systems and color television available to those who desire it.

As an additional service, Philippine valets will be on call for private parties.

* * * *

TRANSWESTERN Hotels, Inc., with head offices in Santa Rosa, has joined with Homer Taberman and Associates on a long term contract to operate the hotel. Transwestern will furnish and equip the hotel with outstanding decor and furnishings.

Other Stockman-owned hotels include the Edgewater Inn, Oakland; the Caravan Lodge, San Francisco; Edgewater Inn, Marin County; Edgewater Lodge, Tahoe City; Edgewater Pacifica Lodge, Stateline, Calif.; Edgewater Lodge, Santa Clara; Edgewater Inn, Concord; the City Center Motel, Long Beach; and ownership interests in three other hotels.

* * * *

STOCKMAN stated, "we are extremely pleased to be associated with this fabulous new hotel, and are especially proud to be a part of this dynamic growth in the Long Beach area."

Introduced at the press conference, held in the Captain's Inn, were Stockman's wife, Betty Joe, who is vice president and secretary of the operation; Taberman; Tom Coleman, who will be manager of the new hotel; and Miss Pat Roger, handling public relations.

AMONG FEATURES, of the facility, Stockman pointed up the unusual octagonal design of the two-story central lobby.

"There will be a drive-through road for patrons from both Pacific Coast Highway and Marina Drive.

Stockman said restaurant facilities would take care of 1,600 persons at one time.

Howard Jones of the Long Beach Convention bureau cited the value of the new hotel as an aid in accommodating future convention and world fair crowds and stressed its central location between Disneyland and Marineland.

County's 'Fabulous Future' Key Factor in Big Business Project

By BOB GEIVET

Orange County's fabulous future—and its equally-dynamic present—set the pattern for announcement the past week of a multi-million dollar shopping center Orange County General Hospital.

Its development will be costly, but the yield will be terrific.

Into the land purchase, developers Donald Appel and Larry Slaten poured $4¼ million to acquire the 167 acres held by the ill-fated International Marketland. They expect to invest $75 million in developing a 70-acre segment of the property as their first project.

From that improvement, studded with two department stores and satellie shops, a $35 million annual business will result.

The Appel-Slaten Development Co., a Los Angees concern which in 30 months has set up $150 million in projects in the Los Angeles County-Orange County area, including Palm Springs and Lancaster, paid cash for the property at the confluence of the boundaries of Orange, Santa Ana, Garden Grove and Anaheim.

* * * *

IT WAS ONE of the largest cash purchases of commercially-zoned land in the history of Orange County, according to Gordon O, Baskin, president of Continental Bank of Los Angeles, which with Chase Manhattan Bank of New York acted as consultants in the deal.

Tentatively named "Four Cities Center," the project will be a complex of the shopping center, 450-unit motor hotel, high-rise and garden-type apartments, multi-story office buildings, a medical center and a convelascent hospital.

It may also include a convention hall for 1,000 persons and, Appel and Slaten revealed, may have a sports center.

"It will take more millions, and much more planning, for full development of the project being designed by Maxwell Starkman of Los Angeles.

STRATEGICALLY located almost equi-distant from the centers of the four cities it touches, the property is bounded by Chapman Avenue on the north, Placentia Avenue and Santa Ana Freeway on the east, Lewis Street on the west, and route of the Garden Grove Freeway on the south.

Their plans is for a "com-

Right of Way Problems to Get Airing

BELLFLOWER—Two public forums will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings for property owners of residential and business areas being taken or affected by right of way acquisition for the Artesia Freeway across Bellflower, according to E. T. Ibbetson, chairman of the Relocation Committee of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors. Both meetings will be held at 8 o'clock in the Simms Park building.

The forums have been arranged as a cooperative effort between the local Realty Board and the Chamber of Commerce to provide the approximately 400 property owners involved with vital information regarding the taking of the property and to encourage them to relocate in Bellflower.

Maps Show Tremendous City Growth in Orange Co.

By BILL DUNCAN

Transition from a cow county to a near metropolis is vividly illustrated today on maps released by the Orange County Population Research Committee.

The maps show the small number of incorporated cities in Orange County in 1950, and finally in 1962. The building boom in Orange County came in 1955.

In 1950 there were 13 incorporated cities with an aggregate area of 57 square miles and a population of 124,600. Oddly enough today one city—Anaheim—exceeds the 1950 population of all Orange County cities.

* * * *

BY JUNE, 1962, the figures had increased to 24 cities with a total of 238 square miles and a total estimated population of 755,000. This represents an increase of 318 per cent in area and 506 per cent in population.

Fullerton, incorporated in 1904 with 16 square miles, remained the largest city in size through 1950. Since 1950, three cities, Anaheim, Huntington Beach and Santa Ana have exceeded Fullerton in area—and all but Huntington Beach in population.

* * * *

ANAHEIM presently leads all county cities with 27 square miles — extending almost to the Riverside County line on the east to Los Angeles County line on the west.

The additional growth by annexation—except for small county "islands"—is no longer possible in the western portion of the county. Cities are nearly solid in that area.

Cities which are favorably located for expansion by annexation are those on the easterly periphery adjoining unincorporated territory.

Franchise Plan Grows Up Into Success Story

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

When someone says 'batter up' it's strictly business and not baseball with the head of the International House of Pancakes, which recently opened a new restaurant in Long Beach.

Sparkplug of the fast-growing chain of eateries is Al Lapin of Toluca Lake. He'll be 35 years old Tuesday.

From a single restaurant started four years ago in his home area, Lapin has expanded into a chain of 41 units, with 17 more under construction.

* * * *

IN A TYPICAL Horatio Alger fashion, Lapin has developed and enlarged a franchise operation which now is branching out into other fields of business.

Al and a brother, Jerry, entered the food business in 1952 and built up a mobile snack bar sales success from a $3,200 investment. In 1959, they sold the business for more than $125,000.

The restaurant system is now a publicly owned corporation operating in other states as well as California. Stock was issued at $6 a share and has gone up. The last nine-month interim report showed revenues of $3,020,528 with earnings of 43 cents per share on 621,047 shares then outstanding.

* * * *

LAPIN has a closely-knit operation, employing both individual and trade area franchises. In addition to quality control methods, there is a centralized bookkeeping system for all units.

The corporation earlier this year acquired the rights of Woody's Smorgasburger restaurants. It is developing a so-called Dog House chain, offering franchises in a lower price range. It is putting on the market a new liquid instant batter for pancakes in the home.

The corporation recently purchased the Copper Penny restaurants operated in Garden Grove, Buena Park, San Diego and Riverside.

Swinging away from food operations, Lapin also is planning automobile brake shops under a franchise plan.

* * * *

For example, pancake house waitresses introduce themselves to patrons immediately and ask if they would like their coffee before they order. Waitresses get special training.

CUTTING ANNIVERSARY CAKE

Retirement Hotel Notes Anniversary

First of its kind in the Long Beach area, the New Robinson Retirement Hotel on Ocean Boulevard celebrated the fourth anniversary of its opening Wednesday.

A special observance was held in the recreation room, with honored guests, music and a birthday cake.

Honored were the first two guests, who still are living at the hotel—Allan W. Brugh and Miss Maud Parsons—and the three members of the original staff, J. R. Wild, assistant manager; Mrs. Lulu Dorsey, chef; and Clarence wood, hotel maintenance.

* * * *

BEHIND the anniversary party lies a chain of events beginning with real estate broker Harrvey Miller's turning a last minute sale cancellation into a successful retirement hotel operation.

A little more than four years ago, Miller was involved in a deal for sale of the Robinson Hotel. The deal fell through, but Miller decided to take over the hotel himself and employ his own ideas in operation of a retirement spot.

Within a year the hotel was filled to capacity and has continued under a planned program of activities for its tenants.

The shopping center of one million square feet will be flanked by off-street parking areas for 6,000 automobiles, they said.

The apartment cluster will be the last phase of construction, according to their present plans. They envision 700 living units in seven structures.

THE COMPANY already is occupying the headquarters office building of the old International Marketland. It set up a construction schedule to start next spring, to be completed in two years.

Major attraction to Orange County was its fast growth, forecasting an unparalleled future, company officials explained.

From 216,244 persons resident in the county in 1950, the population climbed to 763,937 in 1961, and this year the count is 865,318.

The predictions are even more fantastic: by 1965, a population of 1,014,049; and by 1970 an overwhelming 1,521,812 persons. And every solid forecast shows increasing income levels and consequent gains in purchasing power of the population.

Webb, Santa Monica City Sign

Delivery of a $1,111,259.93 check to Santa Monica officials and the scratch of pens on contract papers has signified the signing of the land disposition agreement for the $65 million redevelopment project to be built in the city by Del E. Webb Corporation of Phoenix as a joint venture with Kern County Land Company of San Francisco.

At the contract signing the Webb Corporation and KCL officers handed over the $1 million-plus check as first installment on purchase for almost $6 million of the 18 acres of downtown Santa Monica land. They also posted a $250,000 security deposit.

SIGNING THE CONTRACT were Del E. Webb, board chairman, and L. C. Jacobson of Phoenix, Webb Corporation president; Dwight M. Cochran, San Francisco, KCL president, and J. Lee Schimmer Jr., chairman of the Santa Monica Redevelopment Agency.

A separate contract for a $20 million commercial phase of the project is to be signed within six months. The project site is an eight-block strip along the coast extending from Santa Monica's southern city limits. First land is to be available for development by next April 1.

The Webb-Kern team, with Welton Becket and Associates as architect, was awarded the project last September over 10 other development teams after six months of hearings.

Flock to Cameron Homes

Attracting the crowds were the three bathrooms, three and four bedrooms, and inside service areas of Cameron Homes, selling for the low price of $295 down, plus closing costs, with full prices for all models being $17,775.

Many buyers came with the "green ad" (also found in this week's Press-Telegram) clutched in their hands, demanding to see if it really could be true there were three bathrooms in a home selling for less than $18,000.

After the first weekend of sales, the development is one-third sold out, according to Stan Bell and Evan Jenkins, builders of the homes.

Among the many other features cementing the potential buyer's mind to purchase a Cameron Home are: Used brick or slumpstone fireplaces with raised hearths and log lighters, a family room, Tappan built-in range and oven with hood and fan, natural raised ash kitchen cabinets, the finest wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, entry, hall and master bedroom, plus many, many others that made Cameron Homes so attractive to home buyers last weekend.

The beautifully and extensively furnished models are open from 11 a.m. to dusk daily. From the Long Beach area, drive east on 7th Street (Garden Grove Boulevard) to Beach Boulevard (Highway 39). Turn south on Beach to Hazard Avenue, then east on Hazard a short distance to Cameron Homes.

* * * *

The family room features a massive fireplace, and it too has sliding glass doors to the patio.

An oversize master suite has spacious double closets and luxurious private bath with "sky ceiling," and large dressing area and mirror walls, elegant fixtures and decorative marble pullman top. Four additional full sized bedrooms and huge bath are connected by a central sleeping wing hall.

* * * *

TWO OTHER 4 bedroom 2 bath, family room models are available at Bar Harbor with a choice of 12 exterior stylings.

Bar Harbor Homes are priced from $24,995 to $25,995. Excellent terms are available, with down payments as low as $995 plus costs, and monthly payments from $136.00.

Furnished model homes are open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. To visit Bar Harbor from Long Beach, take Seventh Street, which becomes Garden Grove Boulevard, to Harbor Boulevard. Turn south to the model homes which are on Harbor Boulevard between Warner Road and Baker Street.

New Financing Worked Out by Mills Company

Although there has been controversy throughout the nation concerning the new FHA financing terms for modernization, Mills Construction Co. announces new terms available to customers.

In 1961, the Kennedy administration enacted legislation permitting secondary financing insured by FHA in amounts to $10,000, payable in 20 years at 6% simple interest. Banks and lending institutions have been reluctant to make loans under this new program although insured by FHA.

Mills Company has worked with many lenders in this regard and was successful in processing one of the first 20-year loans in Southern California.

This was processed under Section 203-K, FHA, and work is now in progress.

Time involved in preparing the plans and submitting for approval was approximately 45 days. Full cooperation by FHA officials and the Bank of America made this possible.

With this precedent established, Mills feels that future 203-K loans up to $10,000 will be easier to process for both the lenders and prospective customers. In addition, financing up to $10,000, payable in seven years, is available for those not able to qualify under section 203-K.

Promoted by Bank

David W. Hill, 22 67th Place, has been appointed assistant vice president at United California Bank, Frank L. King, chairman of the board, has announced.

MEDALLION HOME
LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

"I BUILD ALL KINDS, BUT I LIVE IN A MEDALLION HOME"

"Why this demand for electric living today? I can answer that with the reasons why my family and I enjoy our Medallion Home so much," Says Mr. Olin.

"The cleanliness of electricity is what my wife likes. Because of it, her housework takes much less time.

"What I appreciate most is the over-all high quality of the electric features—the major appliances, lighting and wiring—which are solid assets in a home's total value."

Mr. Olin is president of the Home Builders Council, State of California. Remember his reasons in favor of electric living when you buy or build a home, and make sure it bears the Medallion Home Award.

Only one new home in four earns this distinction. These are the qualifications:

1. A flameless electric kitchen—cool, clean, modern. It comes equipped with major electric appliances, including automatic flameless electric range and oven.

2. Full "Housepower" wiring—Only a home built to rigid Medallion Home standards has the overall electrical capacity necessary for truly modern living.

3. Abundant lighting—planned for comfort, convenience and beauty throughout the home.

A total electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:

4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

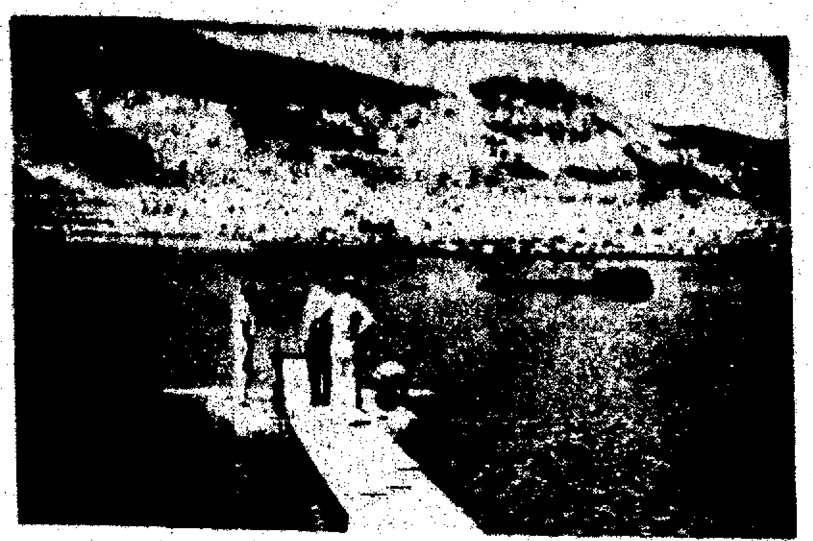
Offer Oregon Land in L.B. Sale Today



SCENE AT ANA RIVER LAKE RANCH IN OREGON

A hunting and fishing "paradise" is being offered in 2½ acre parcels of the 3,000 acre Ana River Lake Ranch in south central Oregon, according to Hal Lundeen and Ray Gibbs, insurance executive owners.

"We originally acquired the ranch because of its unique location and features," Lundeen said.

The entire southern boundary of the ranch borders the Summer Lake Game Refuge, where 12 to 18 thousand duck and geese are bagged every season. Also the western boundary borders the Fremont National Forest where the greater part of 10,000 deer are taken every season.

* * * *

"WHEN WE SAW the beautiful 200 foot deep spring-fed lake stocked with 30,000 trout and more than a mile long for fishing, boating and swimming, that did it," Lundeen said.

"Our friends enjoyed the area so much, they persuaded us to let them buy a part for themselves. This called for a subdivision."

Some 340 acres just 200 yards north of the private lake have been subdivided into 2½ acre parcels. These parcels front county dedicated and maintained roads and are surveyed and staked ready for immediate or future use. Total price $1,490, 10% down and easy no-interest terms on the balance.

* * * *

STATE HIGHWAY 31 runs through the ranch and the small community of Summer Lake is located at the southwest corner of the ranch property, offering stores, gas station, restaurant and schools.

Electric power, telephone and propane services are available to each ranch site. In addition all property owners will have full use of the Ana Lake with its exclusive beach area now under development.

* * * *

THE BALANCE of the 2½ acre parcels, amounting to some 100 parcels, will be offered for public sale today from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The sale will be held at the conference room of the new Outrigger Motel, 5325 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., Long Beach, directly across from the golf course between Anaheim and Seventh streets south of the Traffic Circle.

The public is invited to see the pictures, maps and other information on display.

Cyprus Shore Streets to Be Gas Lit

SAN CLEMENTE — The only gas street lighting system in South California, reminiscent of the 1900s, soon will illuminate intersections in the private community of Cyprus Shore, according to James Decker, district manager of Southern Counties Gas Co.

In this one respect, the hands of time are being turned back in the development of this modern ocean-front residential area.

Thirty-two distinctive copper and glass gas lights will be operated under a lighting district for the private streets, recently approved for the terraced development by the San Clemente City Council. All other utilities are underground installations, including a master television cable, to preserve desired views for each homesite.

* * * *

THE 30-ACRE community of Cyprus Shore in South San Clemente has been developed from the original Cotton family ranch, used by them chiefly for week-end parties in bygone days.

Adjacent is the John Elmore ranch, famous for thoroughbred racehorse breeding. Today, the entry road to Cyprus Shore winds through the Elmore paddocks, providing an interesting and colorful background for the area.

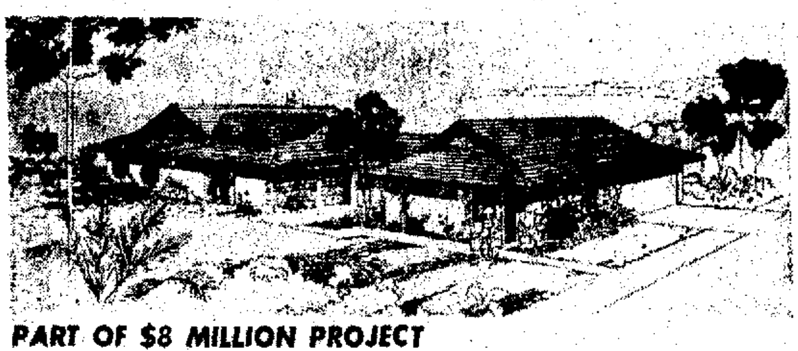
To preserve the dignity and elegance of its history, Cyprus Shore is now under an architectural and community master plan, controlled by the Cyprus Shore Community Association. Standards of this exclusive residential community will be maintained by the residents themselves as members of the association.

* * * *

MORE THAN one and a half million dollars already has been used for land improvements alone at Cyprus Shore, according to the developers William C. Mirams and Col. Sherman A. Smith.

More than a hundred terraced homesites, priced from $15,000 to $31,000 are available on an unusual purchase plan which incorporates a 60-year leasehold with option to buy. Ten custom homes are now under construction as forerunners of an eventual 110 ocean view homes when the community is complete.

The property also includes one-half mile of beach and a three acre park in the center of the community.



PART OF $8 MILLION PROJECT

Artist's rendering of latest residence added at Cyprus Shore, exclusive $8 million terraced ocean-front development in San Clemente, characterizes the styling and sparkling view from the more than 110 homes to be built. The community has the use of a private 2,000-foot beach and a three-acre wooded glen a few feet from the beach.

Moore Real Estate School to Begin Classes Monday

The second annual session of the Moore Real Estate School starts Monday at 7 p.m. in the school's Lakewood headquarters at 4151 E. Carson St.

There will be a discussion on "Real Estate as a Career and License Laws" which will be open to the public at that time.

Prospective students will hear about the exciting opportunities in this field and applicants will learn practical real estate from a firm with 16 years proven experience in the Long Beach-Lakewood area with a sales volume of over ten million the first eight months of 1962.

* * * *

THE PROGRAM offered prepares students for all phases of the real estate business covered in the state examination given to applicants for a real estate salesman's license.

Jack B. Krueger, general sales manager of Moore Realty, and Bob Allen, sales manager of two Moore Realty offices and training director, will teach the four-week course, which will include eight night classes.

Ray Westcott, former assistant real estate commissioner and author of "Real Estate Primer," will be consultant and guest lecturer for the school.

E. Tennyson Moore, president of Moore Realty, states that there was a great deal of interest in the first annual session of the real estate school in 1961-62 by residents desiring the knowledge of real estate to better understand their own personal real estate problems and investments.

AWARD-WINNING STYLE

This is one of the handsome stylings in second unit of Influential Homes-Orange, award-winning development in City of Orange. Priced from $20,650 to $22,150, Butler-Harbour residences are available on VA and FHA terms.

Bolsa Park Homes Near Sellout

"Our second unit of homes is nearly sold out at Bolsa Park," reports Ernie Merrill, sales director of the new community in Huntington Beach, "and the remaining homes represent the last opportunity buyers will have to purchase our homes at their original prices.

"Increased building costs and rising land prices have forced us to raise our prices in the new third unit," he continued.

Available in Bolsa Park's third unit now being readied for its opening is a highly popular new 5-bedroom plan offering direct access from rear yard and pool area to the central shower bath.

Designed as a single-story model with no stairs to climb, the plan includes a large living room, completely separate family room, ample dining room, and built-in efficiency kitchen.

Entrance to the home is through a front sun patio. A second, pool-sized patio is situated at the rear. Pricing on the five-bedroom home is from $22,990. Also offered in the third unit are 4-bedroom homes from $19,800, and 3-bedroom models from $19,250.

Also included are custom entries and loggia areas; custom natural ash kitchen cabinets with raised panels; O'Keefe & Merritt colored gas range and double window oven with rotisserie; Waste King dishwasher.

Bolsa Park may be reached from Los Angeles via Santa Ana Freeway to Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) turnoff, continuing south past Knott's Berry Farm seven miles to Bolsa, right to Bolsa Chica, then left to models. SERENE residential location in the northern part of the picturesque City of Orange, yet close to the Riverside Freeway, schools, shopping and colleges, is cited as a major factor in the project's popularity.

The Orange Unified School District has a deservedly fine reputation," Mrs. Harding said. "Single district control of the student's educational program from kindergarten through 12th grade guarantees careful attention throughout."

Parochial school students attend the Holy Family School on Glassell Street.

Other location advantages are a public golf course in Orange, fine local parks, and a short drive to famed Irvine Park and Lake east of Orange. Nearby Newport Freeway helps speed residents to the beaches in a comfortable half hour.

* * * *

AMONG HOME features winning favor are luminous ceilings in kitchens, "enormous" wardrobes, unique sculptured detail and jeweled plaques in bathroom tiling, decorative interior screen dividers, and deluxe built-in gas ranges and ovens with rotisseries and signal clocks.

Custom-styled fireplaces vary with home plan. Refrigerated air conditioning and dishwashers are optional features which may be included in monthly payments.

Other attractions are double marble pullmans, twin oval sinks, many beamed family room ceilings, and Jack and Jill double bedrooms with fold-back doors which create a large playroom by day, and two private bedrooms at night.

Fullerton's President Homes Boast Many Special Features

Exceptional location, and award-winning residences with features rarely found at the price range — these are the principal ingredients accounting for sales of more than $1,500,000 during the past two months at President Homes in Fullerton, reports sales agent Harry Milligan.

The Middlebrook-Anderson community is superbly situated on the scenic former Arroues Ranch, adjacent to the Fullerton and Brea golf courses, with a view of Mt. Baldy, within walking distance of elementary school, and minutes from high school, two colleges, Hillcrest Park, and shopping centers.

The new third unit, with five strikingly furnished model homes, includes a much discussed split level by architect Raymond Levanas, AIA. Homes are priced from $24,800, with 90%, 30-year loans available.

• • • •

INTERIOR LIVING SPACE ranges from 1,680 square feet for a luxurious two bedroom model, to over 2,000 square feet for larger family dwellings. Seventeen widely varied architectural stylings utilize lavish planters, large double doors, ornamental cast iron, trellises, stone veneer and entry patios. Plans include two, three and four bedrooms, exceptional family rooms, rumpus rooms, and 2½ or 3½ baths.

"In addition to the away-from-it-all serenity of the setting," Milligan commented, "this unusual architectural variety gives President Homes the look of individual custom residences."

The project won American Builder's Award of Merit.

The split level features a large step-down rumpus room, master bedroom suite with its own balcony and outer steps to rear terrace, traditional separate dining area, and four sliding glass doors to the pool-sized yard.

• • • •

ANOTHER popular plan places four bedrooms in a separate wing, and features a huge family-dining section enhanced by exposed beams, paneling, and custom-styled fireplace. The two bedroom home is notable for a "brunch room" with fireplace and hearth, adaptable as den or study, traditional dining room extending through glass door to patio area, master bedroom suite with large dressing area, and master bath with private sun garden.

Balanced Power kitchens include built-in dishwashers, gas ranges, ovens, rotisseries and planning desks. Other attractions are imported tile or slate entries, birch paneling in family rooms, snack bars, preparation for air conditioning, and brick, stone or marble type fireplaces varying with home styling.

SPLIT-LEVEL DESIGN

This split-level is one of the handsome stylings in the new third unit of President Homes in Fullerton, where moderately priced, spacious residences have won favor.

Country Club Life Offered at Castilian Park Unit Two

ORANGE—Henry C. Foster developer, has announced the grand opening of Unit 2 of Castilian Park.

"We offer to discriminating homebuyers genuine country club living in superior homes designed for small families," he said.

"Our indoor-outdoor-living floor plans combined with planted courtyard living areas, atriums, and studios blend the best of California climate with fine structures."

Located at Tustin Avenue and Fairway Drive, Castilian Park is adjacent to the Santiago Golf Coure and bordered on the west by Cambridge Street.

A variety of fiancing arrangements may be made, including 80% and 90% loans, minimum down, and 5¾ percent interest available. Prices range from $26,900.

Castilian Park may be reached from the Santa Ana Freeway via Tustin Avenue east to furnished models.

PRICED FOR BUDGET-MINDED

Good news for the value-conscious and budget-minded, Artesia Wonderland in the close-in City of Artesia presents an attractive selection of diversely styled homes with less-than-rent monthly terms from $78, including principal and interest, total "move-in" of $295, including all costs, and full prices from $11,750 to $12,950 for the house and lot, officials said.

Artesia Wonderland Designed for Value

A wonderful discovery for the budget-minded, value conscious homeseekers, Artesia Wonderland in the close-in City of Artesia, presents a charming selection of "homes everyone can afford" at exceptionally low full prices and terms, sales agents Koblentz & DeLancy explain.

Keyed to the moderate income brackets, Artesia Wonderland homes may be purchased on good conventional loans with less-than-rent monthly payments from $78 including principal and interest, a total "move-in" of $295 includes all costs, and the full prices for the houses and lots are from just $11,750 to $12,950, Koblentz said.

• • • •

BOASTING AN unusually venient location, it is termed "close-in" because the young, rapidly expanding City of Artesia has ready access via the Santa Ana Freeway to the Beach Cities, Los Angeles and other major centers, and via the Freeway to the whole Southland freeway complex. Schools are excellent, and the proximity of Long Beach State College and Norwalk's Cerritos Junior College, make it practical for youngsters to complete their education without leaving home.

Exterior designs are attractively diverse and the flexible plans boast such attractions as sliding door wardrobe closets in the large bedrooms, well-defined dining areas adjoining the hospitable "open" kitchens and attractively appointed baths.

• • • •

KITCHENS feature double sinks with sink-installed disposer, numerous cabinets, range hood with light and exhaust fan, and counters topped with colorful superamic (fine tile) tiling. Kitchens and baths have floor coverings of sturdy vinyl and all of the homes have hardwood parquet floors of "stretchwood."

Added attraction is the front lawn landscaping and shrubs.

Open seven days a week, Artesia Wonderland is reached from Long Beach by taking the Pacific Coast Highway, then north on Los Alamitos which becomes Norwalk Boulevard, then turn left on 166th Street to the model display.

Per Capita Wealth Rises 7% a Year

Since World War II the amount of wealth per capita in the United States has grown at an average rate of 7 per cent per year, a study released by the National Bureau of Economic Research indicates.

At the end of 1958 total national wealth was about $1,700 billion, or nearly $10,000 per person.

About three-quarters of the increase in the postwar years reflects a rise in prices.

"The National Wealth of the United States in the Postwar Period," by Raymond W. Goldsmith, director of the National Bureau's Postwar Capital Market Study, contains the only comprehensive, detailed estimates of U.S. national wealth and its components presently available. It is the most recent volume in the bureau's series of studies of the capital markets, a program aided by a grant to the National Bureau from the Life Insurance Association of America.

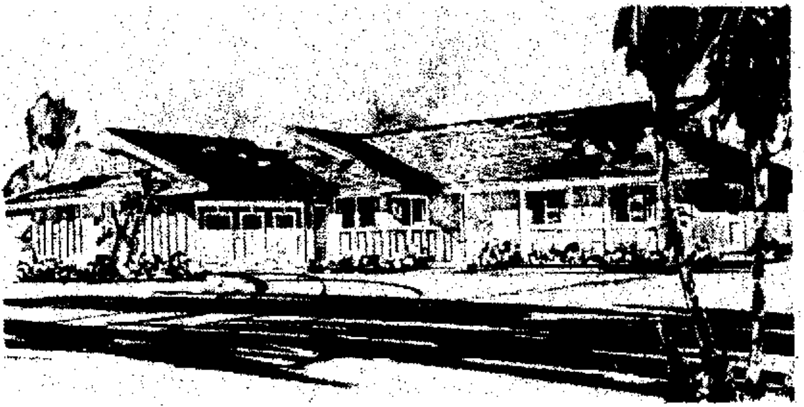
The growth rate per capita in reproducible national wealth was found by Dr. Goldsmith to be not only substantially above the rate in the 1930's and during World War II but also in excess of the increase in the 30 years before 1929.

Attractive Golden West Homes Building Final Unit

"Home buyers who are eager to move in will find that immediate occupancy is still available on some models at Golden West Estates," said Jim McCarthy, vice president of the McCarthy Company, co-builder with Sant Construction of the Huntington Beach community.

"But since we have now reached the eighth and final unit at Golden West, we want to urge anyone who has been planning to buy here and has not, to do so now before all the homes are sold," McCarthy advised.

Among the three and four bedroom, family room, two bath homes recently completed and ready for immediate occupancy is an unusual floor plan featuring three bedrooms and a den which can be converted into a fourth bedroom. This den has double doors opening onto the living room which may be closed to provide quiet for study or for use as a bedroom, or may be opened to extend the living room to 36 feet in length.



GOLDEN WEST HOMES PRICED FROM $17,800

* * * *

PRICED from $17,800. Golden West homes are offered with new 35-year, 5¼% FHA terms, as well as conventional terms and VA no-down-payment terms. FHA down payments are from $875, while conventional down payments are from $695. A lay-away plan permits buyers to reserve their home with a $100 deposit while they build up to their down payment.

Golden West features include: Gleaming modern breakfast bar, lustrous natural ash cabinets, wide-and-high sliding glass doors, forced air heating with thermostatic controls, extra-large stall showers, Wilson-Art sink tops with coved splashes, large service area, wash basins and baths with Mixet fixtures, Emerson-Pryne exhaust fan in kitchen and baths, center entry halls, Rockerglow silent light fixtures, and American Standard plumbing fixtures.

* * * *

LESS THAN 10 minutes from Golden West are Pacific beaches and the Long Beach and Balboa marinas. Also nearby are fine parks, country club golf courses, Knott's Berry Farm, and Disneyland. The area includes complete shopping and schools.

From Los Angeles, Golden West may be reached via Santa Ana Freeway to Beach Boulevard (Hwy. 39), turning south past Knott's Berry Farm to Bolsa Avenue, right (west) to Golden West, then left (south) to the model homes.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via 7th Street (Garden Grove Boulevard) east to Golden West Street, then right (south) to furnished models.

Pendleton Tool Buys L.B. Firm

Pendleton Tool Industries, Inc., has acquired Kina-Technics-International Corp. of Long Beach, Pendleton Tool president Morris B. Pendleton has announced at Los Angeles. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Kina-Technics will be operated under the present management as a division of Pendleton Tool.

"Since we bought a home," say the Thompsons,

"OUR CHILDREN ENJOY LIFE MORE!"

"They've got a yard of their own to play in and more friends around to play with. And with no upstairs or downstairs neighbors, we don't have to keep them so quiet. They really have fun! All in all, a home has made their lives (and ours, too) a lot richer and fuller!"

Mr. Thompson went on to say that he was sorry he didn't buy sooner, because property in booming California was not only a sound investment, but—thanks to professional real estate people, escrow officers, and title insurance—it was a safe one, too.

"Our real estate man," he said, "found us a fine place, made an offer for us—even arranged for our loan. The escrow officer handled all the paperwork and recommended that we protect our 'ownership rights' with a Title Insurance and Trust Company policy."

"We learned," Mr. Thompson continued, "that a T.I. title policy is the best protection we could have should someone make a claim against our property rights . . . that the company will even defend our title in court as insured."

"Every day our home becomes dearer and dearer to us. And it's nice to know that our rights to it are protected by the company with America's largest staff of title experts and California's most complete title plants. On the day you buy, do what we did. Insist on T.I."

MASTER BEDROOM

Handsomely furnished models depicting Garden Park Estates' all-new unit of one and two-story "talk of the town" luxury homes serve, according to buyers, as a source of interior decorating ideas as well as an aid to visualizing their own furnishings in these new homes at Garden Grove Freeway and Knott Avenue. Interior pictured is the second-floor master bedroom in one of the models.

Garden Park Estates Offer Many Home Furnishings Ideas

Garden Park Estates' charming furnished model display that highlights the exciting one and two-story "talk of the town" luxury homes in the all-new unit, are a source, buyers say, of new home furnishing ideas as well as an aid in visualizing their own furnishings in these new residences.

A planned community that is actually a "walled city within a city" at Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway, one of the fastest growing areas in all of booming Orange County, Garden Park Estates' new unit presents a distinctive selection of architect-designed homes in contemporary, conventional and ranch stylings. There is an extremely wide choice of floor plans ranging from two bedrooms with den and three and four bedrooms with family room and dining areas, to the handsome two-story dwellings with five big bedrooms. All plans feature two luxurious baths and the big two-car garages have clean, durable concrete driveways.

Full prices for the quality built homes are from $17,800 to $25,600, officials explained and the exceptionally flexible terms encompass a range of financing geared to virtually every requirement.

There are veteran terms of nothing down, except the usual impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $98, including principal and interest, and for veterans who qualify, there are Cal-Vet loans. Terms for "everyone" include good conventional loans and choice of 30 and 35-year FHA loans.

* * * *

DESIGNED for large families, Garden Park Estates' new two-story homes have two handsome fireplaces, one in the second floor master bedroom, and one in the living room. On the second floor there are three bedrooms and the other two bedrooms form a "sleep wing" on the first floor, separated from the activity areas by the entry hall.

Luxury and convenience features in these one and two-story homes include wood burning fireplaces, walls of sliding glass, forced air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch, and sliding glass doors. Baths have pullman lavatories and colored plumbing fixtures and all kitchens are equipped with color-matched built-in wall oven and range.

Open seven days a week, Garden Park Estates is reached from Long Beach by driving east on 7th Street past Long Beach State College, straight to Knott Avenue and the new unit's furnished models.

'Newporter' Introduced to Public

The "Newporter," a 2,325 square foot custom home showing the latest design and decorator concepts, will be on display today for the first time in the Tustin area as the introduction of builders, Edward Nahigan and Harold Meakin's new Patrician Custom Home plan.

The furnished model home will be typical of several Patrician Home plans that will be available on an individual basis, and will also serve to introduce the new Walter Leimert, St. Hubert Woods, custom lot community in the choice Orange County location.

The home will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. and will feature, along with the latest in design and decor, the newest in all gas kitchens and gas air conditioning, the builders report. Chermak and Wright AIA are the architects.

The home will be available on individual lots or on a home and lot package basis and will be but one of a collection of prestige designs offered by the Patrician builders.

To reach the Newporter model in the Tustin area, drive East on 17th Street (Westminster Boulevard) thru Santa Ana and past Tustin Avenue about one mile to Dall Lane. Turn north (left) at Dall Lane into St. Hubert Woods and the furnished model. Refreshments will be served.

YAWL "TYPEE" SAILING OUT OF ABYC

Sailing's for Entire Family

By BETTY WENTWORTH

It's been said that when two Englishmen get together they form a club. This is partly for reasons of good-fellowship, but also because much more can be accomplished by group, rather than individual action.

The same can be said of sports enthusiasts; and it's not truer any place than among the sailboat clan. Alamitos Bay Yacht Club at 5437 E. Ocean Blvd. has always been a family club. When a member joins, his entire family is listed in the club roster.

There's a sound basic reason for this. There's generally something in sailing that each member of the family from junior to grandfather can enjoy, whether he be skipper, crew, race or galley committee member or a spectator in the so-called "rocking chair fleet."

Fostering of the family facet and providing a place where youngsters and teenagers can learn a sport and keep busy and happy have been guiding credos of the club.

Recreation Commission's Leeway Sailing Club (story below) has full use of club facilities. It has meetings and special events at the club and is included in the club's annual roster. Not one member of Leeway has ever been cited by the City Juvenile Department. Through sailing, members have learned good sportsmanship and to respect property of others.

* * * *

THERE'S BEEN SAILING on the bay, racing or cruising, since back in the '20s.

We're indebted to Mrs. Gilbert Wagner, staunch member of the club for many years, for some excerpts from a club history she's just completed.

It was in 1926 that 14 sailors got together in a boat loft to organize the first club and elect Richard L. Russell Sr., their first commodore. Since then R. L. Russell Jr., has been a commodore and now his son, Rick, is also an expert sailor. It DOES run in families, you see.

They built a small clubhouse a couple of years later with 50 members participating. Thorugh the depression years they couldn't maintain it; they raced "off the beach" and met in member's homes.

After World War II, during which all activity ceased, an old building was purchased from the shipyards, hauled to its present site on leased city property. Members did all work of driving heavy support pilings, painting and refurbishing. They still turn-to once yearly for "re-painting" days. The galley has always been manned by members too.

Despite the modest clubhouse some outstanding Western, national and even international regattas have been hosted by the club, with warm hospitality making up for inadequate facilities.

Possibly you're wondering why we're doing a yacht club story in September when the busiest racing season is past.

It's because a great milestone has just been reached in the club saga. A lease has been signed with the city of Long Beach for a new site on the tip of the peninsula covering about 2.2 acres adjoining Marina Basin No. 5 which is about to be constructed.

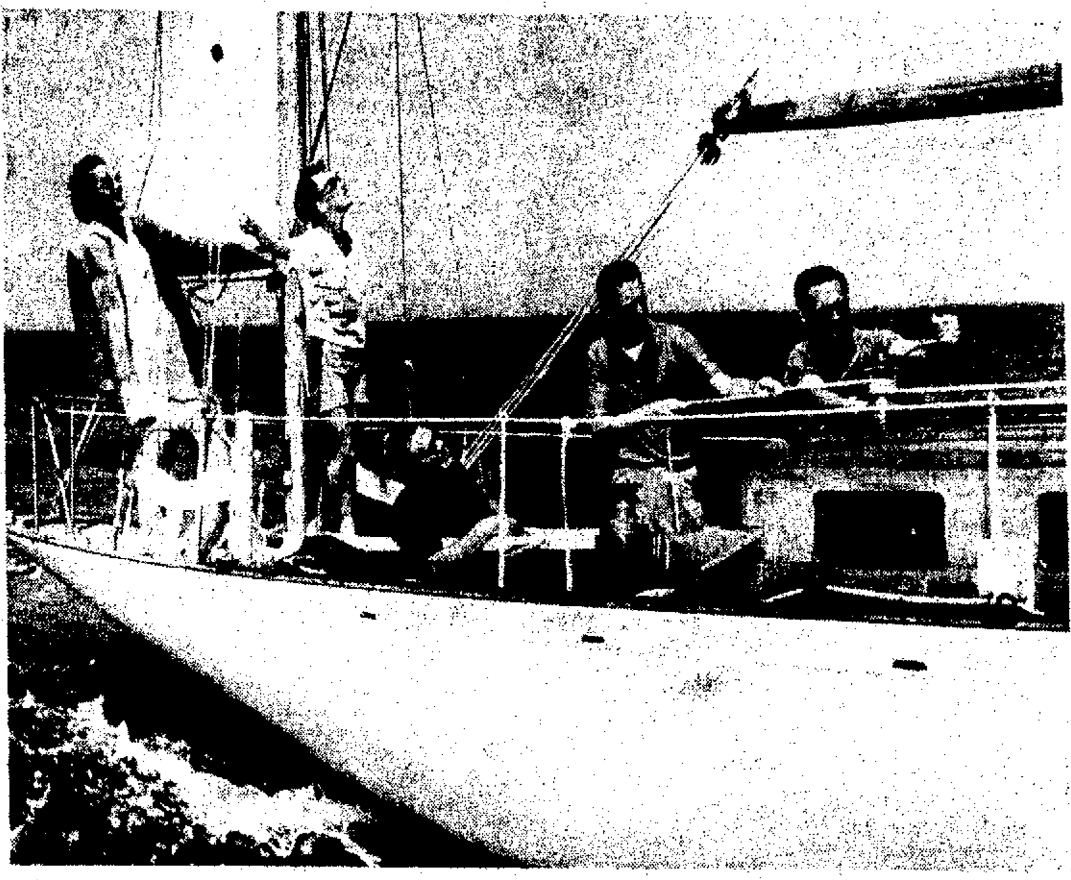
ENGINEERING drawings for the basin are being prepared and it is hoped construction will be started in the first half of 1963. Upon its completion, construction of a new yacht club will begin. This has been a dream of members for many years and their gratification is great.

Olympic Class boats competed here in a 1961 regatta (they're the 5.5 Metre, Dragon, Star, Flying Dutchman and Finn classes). It is believed that there is an excellent chance that sailing tryouts for the 1964 Olympics in Japan will be held here, hopefully with a new clubhouse completed. This will be a time when every member of every ABYC family will doubtless turn to—just the way they've done in the past but on a larger scale!

Whether You're Aboard a 48 or an 8 Foot Boat



BINOCULAR VIEW of graceful 48-foot yawl, "Typee," in upper left-hand corner brings family aboard into focus in picture above. Owned by Llewellyn Bixby Jr., it's one of largest in Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's ocean racing class. It's raced to Ensenada and Acapulco as well as being used for frequent family cruising and racing to Catalina. Shown at stern keeping eyes on big mainsail are Mrs. Bixby and daughter, Jean (Mrs. Raymond Smith); "Bix" Bixby is at helm, while son, Llewellyn Bixby IV, and son-in-law, Ray Smith, are trimming the mains'l.

For Many, It All Began in Leeway Club

The skipper on a large sailboat cruising down Alamitos Bay spots a cute youngster about 12 who's bailing like sixty from a nearly swamped Sabot sailboat.

"Need a tow home?" hollers the skipper.

"Please don't touch my boat," frantically begs our junior salt. "I'd be disqualified, and I've got a race to finish."

* * * *

This is NOT from Horatio Alger. In fact the sailor was a pretty blond and always finishes her races unless she capsizes (which is seldom). She's aware of the universal racing rule that if you accept tangible assistance or if contact is made with a would-be helper, you're out!

And she's not an exception. She's simply a member of Leeway Sailing Club and learned long ago that you start a race with serious intent to finish. This doesn't mean that by being in such dead earnest you have less fun. It means that your wins are VERY important to you and therefore twice as exciting.

Leeway Sailing Club is a unique organization sponsored by the Recreation Department and under the supervision of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club. It has about 150 members divided into juniors (12 years and under) and seniors (teen-agers).

* * * *

ANYONE CAN JOIN. He doesn't even have to own a boat to be eligible, although he usually ends up getting one (usually a Sabot which is 8 feet long). Dues are only $2.50 yearly and money is used for trophies.

Leeway is a recognized junior yacht club and a member of Southern California Yachting Association! Members can sail in any invitational regatta of a recognized Southland Yacht Club. regatta of a recognized Southland Yacht Club.

And they do! You'll find them popping up in large numbers at all the regattas. They love to trailer their little boats around and try new waters. Sabots can be nested, like bowls, or will go in the back of a station wagon or on top of a car. They have team races with other clubs also, which are generally pretty rollicking.

* * * *

FUNDAMENTAL policy of Leeway can be best voiced by Frances Dixon Nason, known as "Fran" to the hundreds of her fond and utterly devoted young charges. (Since the summer of 1941 she has been aquatic supervisor of the Recreation Department).

Fran says, "This club is run not only for the youngsters but by them, with no adult supervision except when necessary to insure safety. They elect a board headed by the resounding title of Commodore and make their own rules and regulations."

Her young tars love Fran quite openly and non-sentimentally; probably because they can spot her genuine deep fondness for every last one of them, whether he sails like a champ or a dub.

* * * *

LOTS OF budding sailors learn what fair play is for the first time when they find that cheating at a mark is apt to end disastrously. Those nice marine blue eyes of Fran's seem to be able to see around corners and that wide friendly smile and gay, warm voice can state cold facts firmly and in a way that makes flip young skippers feel mighty regretful.

Juniors must be enrolled in or have passed the American Red Cross Swimming Class, and after 12 the Life Saving course. Water safety, sailing techniques and racing rules are discussed at their meetings.

Races are held from ABYC twice a week throughout the summer.

* * * *

WELL WORTH watching from the sportsmanship angle is a pair of indignant small fry presenting arguments to a protest committee after an infraction during a race. They use miniature boats and marks to describe the incident and each gets a chance to tell his version. Somebody has to lose; and, although it's hard to take, they learn to accept a decision with astonishingly good grace.

The seniors have dances every other week at the Yacht club, and major junior regattas are raced from the clubhouse. Many members later become members of ABYC. When the yacht club moves to its new facilities, Leeway will go right along.

This is satisfactory to everybody; in fact, since Leeway races are one of the best spectator sports in the world as far as adult sailors are concerned, life at a yacht club wouldn't be half as much fun if you couldn't re-live your experiences learning to sail through watching the fun and trials of the young 'uns.

EDITOR ON THE GO:

World Food Congress Opens a Busy Week

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

NEW YORK — One hundred and sixty newspaper food editors, attending their 20th Annual Conference in New York, are taking the Waldorf-Astoria in stride.

As we get under way, we're assured of four things: miles and miles of indoor walking — food enough to make the Department of Agriculture green with envy—a minus quantity of sleep, and—the most important of all — ideas galore for you, our readers. New foods—new gadgets — new ways with old foods, and time-saving ideas a plenty.

This year the conference is extra special—in that we were the guests of the International World Food Congress at the New York Coliseum on Friday and Saturday. It's actually the fifth congress, but the first time it has ever been held in our country.

To say it's tremendous, fantastic, fabulous or exciting is absolutely the understatement of the year. Actually, Webster left this good earth without leaving words with which to describe it. But, after covering its 9,000 square feet of space, we gleaned the following:

FOR ONE thing, ladies, your hours on KP duty are numbered. What used to be a 5½-hour day for preparing meals for a family of four has been reduced to 1½, which in turn will be further reduced.

Convenience foods have been popularly received — but progress hasn't stopped there. Research in genetics, food processing and packaging are certain to make living easier.

While frozen foods, mixes and canned goods will still be around, the foods of the future will be frozen-dried steaks, lobsters, shrimps, chicken and crabmeat. Freeze drying, still in its infancy, is expected to grow up big and strong in the next five years. Under this system of preservation perishables will be able to be stored on your pantry shelf without spoilage or loss of flavor, nutriments, aroma or appearance. Since foods will be dehydrated in such a way that no refrigeration is needed, shipping costs will be lower.

* * * *

IN THE MEAT department, geneticists have been experimenting in breeding animals with more protein and less fat. Meat will be tastier with the new process of injecting natural food enzymes (papain) into animals before processing so there will be a uniform tenderness even in poorer cuts of meats.

To put the Fifth International Food Congress into one package, here's what you'll find: New strains of vegetables with improved color, flavor and nutritional value. Many more tomatoes will be produced per acre than is now being done. There will be more corn to the cob, more flower than leaf in broccoli and more color to carrots.

* * * *

MILK CARTONS will be made of plastic to prevent leakage, cheese spreads will be in pressurized containers and baby foods in astronaut-type tubes for traveling babies, to mention just a few improvements in the near future.

Yes, while we were awed, amazed and fascinated by this International Food Congress, and we liked what we saw of progress . . . lo, unto-the-day when man will be carried away by progress to the extent that our food will be zipped through to us in IBM capsule form.

We still contend there is nothing quite like the good old-fashioned nostalgic aroma of food a-cookin'.

HAIR TODAY, WIG TOMORROW

Two Heads Better Than One

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

After a Fashion

LILA McDONALD
. . . she keeps one hairdo ahead . . .

Busy gal that she is, she's always ready to go—even when her coiffure's just plain flat.

That's because she has a spare.

She just changes attire, whisks on her designed-like-her-own-hair wig and is off in high gear.

* * * *

BOTH HER own coif and the duplicate wig are custom-made jobs.

She and her hairdresser designed the hairstyle on Lila's own tresses, then copied it for the wig.

She doesn't care about hair of another color—she just uses her matched wig to fill in when her own hair's a wreck. Most often, people inquire if she's wearing her wig when she actually is wearing her own hair.

This way Lila gets double mileage from a week's hairdo.

And both can be equipped with all manner of accessories. She wears a ribbon encircling the puffed crown (see picture) to match her costume of the day.

And when she feels especially jaunty, the coronet becomes a jewelled dog collar, this fall's edition of the "latest thing" in hair accessories.

* * * *

MRS. McDONALD, one-time model and now co-owner with Yolanda Ericson of the Parisienne, finds her wig "the greatest switcheroo since mix 'n' match coordinates."

Take a swimming party she recently attended. Other femmes emerged from their dressing rooms with wet straggly hair. Lila came out looking like she'd just come from the beauty parlor.

And it's wonderful for buying trips and duplicate bridge playing jaunts (she's a card shark; ran duplicate bridge clubs before going into the fashion business).

She just carries her other head of hair in a hat box and whisks on her wig when her own tresses "let me down."

"After all," she points out, "like the saying goes: Two heads are always better than one."

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

AN EXPENSIVE day arrived awhile back for a certain husband (mine), only he didn't know it. He still doesn't.

This guy's wife has always been satisfied to drive her own old, secondary family car . . . a creaking station wagon, a veritable dowager of a machine.

"Senile Tendencies"

"I don't NEED a better car." I've assured him repeatedly, figuring that four wheels to do a job of simple around-town transportation are enough.

Then came that day. As one of several newswomen, I was offered the use of a new Lincoln Continental for two weeks to assist with an opinion poll conducted by the manufacturer. Was I interested?

Just as anxious as Cinderella was to trade her pumpkin in on a golden coach, regardless of what I had preached. As it turned out my "coach" was a beguiling all-black beauty . . . a young siren of chrome and horsepower.

And did that car bring back a long-forgotten attention . . . you know, like from men. Service station and car lot attendants treated me like I was slender and champagne instead of otherwise and gray. Even friends seemed more considerate, regardless of the fact that they knew the how and why of my glamorous possession.

"Men—again!"

Now I'm back in the old heap and plotting. It's a dream that will have to fade, I suppose. And to all you gals who drive the second best in your family, my advice to you is . . . quit being so darn sweet about it!

LUCKY 13th was Thursday for a bevy of Doris and Jim Wood's friends. In the first of a series of Indian summer into fall parties, the Woods entertained at a smart and happy cocktail buffet dinner in their home.

* * * *

PARTIES seem to be stacked up like hotcakes at Aunt Jemima's for the Woods. Doris and Jim co-hosted a welcome home dinner with Mildred and Kenneth Wing Wednesday at the Wing's. Purpose was to indoctrinate such summer Europeans as Dorothy and Dan Dunlap, Bea and John Hancock, "Artie" and Al Stevenson and Ethel Severson back into local living. And you know what they did? Made it black tie and very continental to prove you don't have to cross the Atlantic to enjoy the suave life.

* * * *

OVERLAPPING party hosts and or guests seem to be order of the week. Names repeat but affairs are different in case of Dorothy and Dan Dunlap who entertained at two merry dates. Color slides were verboten but travel talk was de rigueur Friday when Dan and Dot had a welcome and farewell for friends whose paths are currently crisscrossing as they come and go. Prior to Friday's party they had another gala date when they gathered the Long Beach-Palm Springs crowd plus Angelino friends in for festive wining and dining.

* * * *

WONDER WHAT James Hester can possibly do for an encore as time goes by? Last year he was elected president of huge New York University, youngest man ever to assume the post. And now, if you're a subscriber to Life Magazine you must be aware, he was saluted in this week's issue featuring the "Take Over Generation" and pinpointed as one of the "A Red-Hot Hundred" in the entire nation.

Jim, a graduate of Wilson (president of the senior class of 1942) and of Princeton, is the son of Chaplain James Hester, USN-Ret., and Margaret Hester. His sister Virginia (Mrs. Eric) Laddy is the I. P-T art critic. When I called Virginia, proud but irrepressible, she hooted at Jim's pompous pose in the mag pix, said he isn't that way at all. Once a kid brother, always a kid brother.

A STRONG and prideful theme, "Gala Americana", has just been announced for the swish, the big, the annual Headdress Ball, to be presented for the 12th consecutive year by Long Beach Auxiliary to Southern California Symphony Association on Nov. 17.

Jean Doody, chairman, entertained at a heads-together-discussion session and luncheon Thursday for such committee members as Fran Cavaliere, Evelyn Manning, Virginia Milton, Marion Groshong, Lucy Kuster and Janice Cole.

WHO GIVES a whoop about getting back to any little grass shack where the whatever-it-is swim by if they can go, instead, to Florence and Dr. Orville Cole's always Polynesian-perfect luau at their "shack" in Belmont Heights.

"Some "Shack!"

From sizzling teriyaki steak hors d'oeuvres to late evening floating on the island in their pool, it wowed the local natives last Saturday. One highlight was the "home grown talent" show given by guests.

Jerry Roberts won the hula contest with a version never seen before on land or sea, a kind of twist and a wiggle. Traditionally the winner, Keith Houdyshell was just an also-danced this year. He manfully covered up his disappointment over his defeat with a quiet statement. Simply, that he'd never compete again as long as Jerry was invited.

Speaking of that floating island (it holds 20 grown-ups, if they don't mind getting that close to the gunwales a little damp) it was always carrying a crowd of such guests as Marvin Cloyd, Betsy and George Taubman, Pat and Walt Gilkey, Mary and Ed Wade, Larry and Ann Ruff, Frances and Henry Clock and on ad infinitum.

And the strangest assortment of trivia is found on that island at party's end. This year Florence collected from its deck: 2 leis, 1 shoe, 1 chicken bone, 2 olives, a gold necklace, a slice of pineapple, 1 earring, 4 paper napkins and 1 empty glass. But not 1 leftover person.

* * * * *

ALL FOR sweet charity, Sertomans and their wives will be guests of La Sertoma gals as they feast all over the East end of town next Saturday.

A progressive dinner is the scheme to raise shekels, with cocktails and Harold and Enid King's home, beginning at 6:30 to set the philanthropic pace. Dinner will be at Myrtle and Jerry Tollefson's followed by dessert at Margaret and Dick Henson's home on Santiago. How blessed it is to give!

WED IN EAST

In recent Catholic ceremony in Newark, N. Y., Elaine Plyter, daughter of the Vincent Plyters of Newark, became bride of Robert Lee L. Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee F. Caldwell, Long Beach. Graduate of Cornell, bridegroom has just accepted an assistanceship at Purdue.

FOUNTAIN OF FLOWERS will float in the sparkling pool, and silver, three-tiered fountains of champagne will be placed around the garden of the Thomas Shaheen Jr. residence Thursday night for the Couturier Fashion Show sponsored by Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association. Planning decor are (from left) Mmes. Earl Milton, William Ellery and the hostess.

Champagne at Shaheens

The spacious home and terraced gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaheen Jr., 4681 Virginia Rd., will be the setting for a gala "Evening Champagne Party and Couturier Fashion Show" on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Looking forward with great anticipation to the black tie event are members of the Long Beach Auxiliary of the Southern California Symphony Association. Mrs. Shaheen is chairman of the auxiliary's opera committee.

They are working toward the appearance in Los Angeles of the San Francisco Opera Co., which will open on Oct. 26 with "La Boheme" and present approximately a dozen other operas during its season.

A blue ramp is being constructed across the swimming pool for the professional models (many of whom have appeared in Vogue Magazine) who will model fashions for the opera.

Cocktail and ballgowns created by such well-known designers as Helga, Werle, Mignon, Angela, Ernest Newman, Ellis Porter, Marusia, Jewel and Maxwell Shieff will be featured, and many of the designers themselves will be present. These gowns will be available at Parisienne.

* * * *

POPULAR local leading man in Community Players and Civic Light Opera, Marvin Cloyd will wear men's formal evening attire. Piece de resistance will be Furs by Flier who does many creations for the Hollywood stars. Music will be provided by Joe Moshay's Orchestra.

Mrs. Earl Milton is in charge of decorations and will use rich vintage colors, employing clusters of grapes and myriad flickering candles for glamor effect. Blue lights will highlight the models as they move around the pool and terrace. Assisting Mrs. Milton are Mmes. Dominic Cavaliere and Harvey Doody, with Mrs. William Ellery in charge of reservations.

SINGULAR HONOR

Her face wreathed in smiles, Mrs. William Walsh receives word of her selection as one of 17 recipients, nationwide, for the Camp Fire Girls Silver Leadership Medallion, highest national award for adult leaders.

Localite Receives Camp Fire Award

Recognized for her leadership excellence in the Blue Bird program, Mrs. William Walsh, 3224 Golden Ave., this week was honored by Camp Fire Girls with presentation of a Silver Leadership medallion, highest national award given to leaders.

Mrs. Walsh is one of 17 recipients chosen at this time from among the thousands of leaders throughout the United States. She was selected on the basis of the annual group report submitted to the National Awards Committee at Camp Fire Girls headquarters in New York City. Announcement of her selection came from Miss Martha F. Allen, national director, with actual presentation made by Mrs. Helen Collins, executive director of Long Beach Council of Camp Fire Girls.

The medallion is awarded for evidence of outstanding leadership and girl participation, creative program, constructive use of program resources, and cooperative relationships with the local council and community.

* * * *

ACCORDING to Mrs. Walsh, her work with girls of Blue Bird age has been so stimulating and self-satisfying she plans to continue as leader of the group, now Hawis Camp Fire Girls, at Birney School. She attributes her successful leadership to parent-group cooperation, and urges qualified women of the community to share the rewards she has discovered as a leader.

Three additional leaders from Long Beach Council also have been selected for national recognition. The Shuta award, for evidence of variety and balance in program, has been presented to Mmes. Wesley Towner, Earl Siegel and Melvin Slaughter.

Constitution Week Observances Set

The week of Sept. 17-23 has been proclaimed Constitution Week in celebration of the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

All local chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution are combining efforts to urge citizens here to observe the week in rededication to the ideals of America. To this end, displays of patriotic material have been placed in store windows and special observances planned.

* * * *

NEXT Saturday the public is invited to a 1:30 p.m. program and tea in honor of the week, to be given by the DAR chapters at Rancho Los Cerritos, 4600 Virginia Road.

Babrowski and Christensen Vows Read by Candlelight

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed W. Christensen of 4225 Tulane Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Babrowski, 4149 Chatwin Ave.

PRECEDING her to the altar as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Gary Schulthies, whose daughter, Kimberly Anne, was flower girl. Attendants were Carole Thompson and Mrs. C. Iwamasa. The bridegroom chose his brothers, Michael, as best man, and Paul as junior usher. Larry Gauthier and Jack Gold completed the wedding party.

Edith Head to Appear At Symphony Style Show

Edith Head, seven time Academy Award winner and director of Paramount Studio design department, will appear at Symphony Juniors fashion show Sept. 26 in Elks Club.

The show will benefit the Continuation Fund for Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra (which gives four concerts each year in Long Beach). A coffee hour will precede the event at 10:30 a.m.

Miss Head will talk on costuming for motion pictures as models parade down the runway in clothing from her personal collection of famous designs.

To be shown will be originals fashioned for Clara Bow, Carole Lombard, Mae West, Jean Harlow, Bette Davis and on through the years to styles done for Grace Kelly, Audrey Hepburn, Lana Turner, Liz Taylor, Kim Novac and Debbie Reynolds.

* * * *

THE STYLE event itself (with ensembles presented by The Broadway) will underline the tie-in of fine art and fine dress.

Included will be stylish illustration of the Spanish influence: bright red fabrics and distinctive black braid trim.

Tickets may be purchased from members of Symphony Juniors or at The Broadway. Music students will be given a half price discount.

* * * *

Mrs. William Snowden, chairman of the fashion show, explains that expenses for the four performances in Long Beach last year came to $25,197.00 while tickets for a full house realized only $11,146.00.

In order to keep the cost of the tickets down, the balance of money must be raised by such means as the Symphony Junior's fund.

In addition to the orchestra's four concerts in Municipal Auditorium each winter, the Philharmonic gives performances for Long Beach school children.

Miss Head will appear at the style event through the courtesy of Sarong, Inc., and The Broadway.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Sip Sodas to a Juke Box

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have been married for two years. My husband is 23. He likes to go to places where they serve hard liquor and listen to the music. He says he has to go alone because, even though I'm married, I am not old enough to go to those places, and he is too strait-laced to lie about my age. So he goes alone and I sit home. Is this fair? What can I do about it? It will be three years before I'll be old enough to go with him.—UNDER AGE

ABBY

DEAR UNDER: Strait-laced? If you fall for this line you belong in a jacket of the same name. He knew how old you were when he married you. He should limit his entertainment to places he can take his wife.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: When people need glasses, they get them Why don't people who are hard-of-hearing get hearing aids? My mother doesn't hear half of what's going on, but she pretends she does. Of course she doesn't fool anyone. When I suggest taking her to a hearing specialist she gets insulted and fights with me. Is there some sort of stigma attached to using a hearing device? Please print your reply. She reads EVERYTHING but she doesn't hear much.—WORN OUT FROM YELLING

DEAR WORN: There is no stigma attached to using a hearing device. (The modern ones are scarcely visible.) Those who don't hear "half of what's going on" are missing half the fun in life. (P. S. MY hearing is excellent and I own no stock in the hearing aid companies.)

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Why on earth would a man buy a girl a set of rings, give them to her and tell her not to wear the engagement ring out in public until he tells her it is okay? I am 22 and he is 28.—LIKES TO KNOW

DEAR LIKES: I don't know, but I would certainly find out before spending any more time with him. He could be (a) married, (b) involved with someone else or (c) afraid of his mother.

Major & Minor Notes

STRUGGLE TO FAME RECOUNTED BY TOZZI

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

The great basso, Georgio Tozzi, of the Metropolitan and La Scala Operas, of whom I wrote last week, and who I interviewed recently, found his first success in light opera. In London he sang for two years in the Cochrane production of "The Rape of Lucrece" and might still have become famous in that field, but his heart was set on becoming an opera singer, so he went to Milan in Italy.

"I wanted my money to last as long as possible so I got a room with an Italian family on the fifth floor—walk up. Luckily, they served a roll and coffee for breakfast with the $22 a month rental."

* * * *

HE BEGAN singing lessons and had one every day. His little room under the roof was so hot that after his hour's lesson he would sit in the park studying his score, and enjoying the cold drinking water at the little fountains, which helped fill him up until the evening meal of spaghetti or sandwiches with cheese or salami. The money was dwindling away and so was Georgio's weight. When he arrived in Milano in mid-winter he weighed 180 pounds and by mid-July he weighed only 140 pounds.

"I began giving English lessons," he said, "and that helped, but I became anemic and sick from lack of nourishment." About this time he met two friends; a painter and a sculptor, both hungry students who are now famous. They introduced him at parties where he would sing for the guests. At one of these soirees he was heard by an impressario who signed a contract with him for opera performances in the small Italian cities.

"But I didn't know the roles they wanted," he lamented, "so I rushed to my teacher and in three days I had 'La Forza del Destino' ready and in six more days I finished learning the bass role in "Ernani."

* * * *

THIS WAS invaluable experience. In two years (1954) he made his debut at La Scala where he sang with Tebaldi and Del Monaco in "La Walley." It is but a step from La Scala to the Metropolitan Opera and in 1955 he made his debut at the Met singing in "La Gioconda." He has been singing in all the principal opera houses and music festivals of the world ever since. His television appearances on NBC in such operas as "L'Amore dei Tre Re" and "Boris Godonov" have been outstanding. His was the beautiful voice one heard in the movie "South Pacific" as the voice of Rossano Brazzi.

In 1953 Georgio Tozzi married a charming American girl from Montana and now they have their permanent home in Montclair, N.J.

I left this fascinating singer reluctantly, so stimulating and great hearted was he. His artistry and magnificent voice recall such singers as Badestini, Chaliapin and Pinza, all of whom I have heard. His faith in God is absolute. "There is a God," he said, "whether you believe it or not."

Playhouse Offers Gay New Comedy

"Critic's Choice," comedy by Ira Levin in its first non-professional release following sensational success in New York and road shows, will have its formal opening Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St.

Don Kroll will play the leading role, presented by Henry Fonda on Broadway, as a beleaguered critic faced with the problem of professionally reviewing the first play written by his current and second wife. His woes are aggravated by the unexpected appearance of his first wife, an exotic and worldly actress who hopes to take advantage of the dilemma and re-win her former husband.

Kroll, who made his initial appearance at Community as the insurance doctor in "Everyone Loves Opal," is drama coach and journalism instructor at Lakewood High School and played in soldier shows and little theaters in Georgia.

Nila Williams, who won a supporting lead award in 1960 as "Fiona" in "Cloud Seven," will play the star's role as the current wife, pretty and refined, who has surprised everyone by writing a play which is being produced. The first wife will be portrayed by Norma Aagaard, new to Long Beach theaters, who was a former American airline stewardess, and acted with the San Marino Players.

* * * *

STEVE Dohnert, who won a juvenile award for his first stage role as "Maurio" in "Time of the Cuckoo", will play a sophisticated son of the first wife. Kathryn Offill, well known actress, playwright, and high school drama coach at Lynwood High School, will play the sensible mother of the current wife. William Clements, whose last role was in "Third Best Sport," will play the way-out director of the wife's play. Ann Cypherd will play a first role as maid.

The change to a Thursday formal opening from the usual Friday was made at the request of the sponsoring "Previewers". The comedy will run seven weeks on Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays.

Vast Canvasses Are Splendid, Inspire Awe

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Splendor, grandeur, and elegance on a scale I have not experienced previously in a contemporary art show, mark the Heller Collection at the Los Angeles County Museum until Oct. 14. The closest similar reaction of awe and almost fear came to me in the Medici Tomb of monuments by Michelangelo. The marvel is the combination of means, taste, and impulse which brought about this private collection.

Most of the paintings are huge, several are in the neighborhood of 8 feet by 18 feet. Seeing these made me realize why these painters must use the grand scale. As William Seitz says in the most helpful catalogue: "It is as if, having abandoned the careful shading and representation that in the painting of the past gave an illustration of reality in a stage-like space, these artists were forced to enlarge the picture surface proportionately, adding to flat extension the dimensions that were lost when deep recession was sacrificed."

* * * *

MOST IMPRESSIVE painting to me is Barnett Newman's "Vir Heroicus Sublimus" which is 95 by 213 inches of the reddest red broken only by five, thin, precise vertical lines. Perhaps some of the impact came from the fact that this painter's work is not familiar to me. His several other works, using the same thin lines on solid background indicates the limitless possibilities Newman has found within this exquisitely simplified approach to painting.

Five of Mark Rothko's large oils in which float unknowable rectangles are marvelous to behold. Archille Gorky's "Summaries" is a huge Surrealist drawing full of indescribable shapes which are very alive, a very active group of beings. Two drawings on small scale by Philip Guston detail the cluster of free horizontal and vertical brush strokes which culminate in central forms in his large oils of which "The Evidence" is overwhelming in color and indictment.

* * * *

JACKSON POLLOCK'S "Echo," an almost 8 foot square drawing in black oil compels with its bold calligraphy and serves to clue the viewer to the involved intricacies of the two enormous canvasses in color, "One" and "Blue Poles." Franz Kline's three black and white action paintings are suspensions of ponderous forms from strokes which begin, apparently, outside the canvas.

My one disappointment was in the de Koonings which, on their own, might be more impressive but in such overwhelming company seem a little "chi-chi."

The collectors, Ben Heller and his wife, still in their mid-30s. have succeeded in capturing the most exciting of the abstract expression school Americans in the fabulous post World War II decade.

Seeks Salt, Pepper in a Silver Shaker

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

There is a time and place for everything, or so the adage goes. But do you, Mrs. Mayfield, feel there is a place for half-grey hair? They kindly call it salt and pepper, but the salt (at least for me) has lost its savor.

I am on the level when I wonder if it's okay to turn all my hair grey? I believe it will soften the sharp lines time has cut into my face. I just can't wait for it to turn completely grey. Is there a way I could encourage it to age?—GRANDMA AT LAST.

DEAR GRANDMA AT LAST:

At last, a sensible woman! You amaze me though, for the usual plea is how can I keep my hair color? And all too often the rinsed down or black or dyed red ages the skin's appearance drastically.

Beauticians work magic today. See one and see. You might look lovely totally grey.—M. M.

NOTE TO BRIDAL ANNIVERSARY: Of course the bride of a year can gift the groom of the year.—M. M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I am in the ninth grade and I mean to really buckle down and get the grades. There are six children in our family and I plan to work hard toward a scholarship.

I want to take three years nursing school after I get my diploma. I want to become a stewardess eventually and then, after I get married, which of course I will, I won't be able to be a stewardess so I plan to have my nursing to fall back on.

My mother and her neighbor have me confused. They say a girl ends up doing what comes naturally—getting married and having children. They don't think a girl needs a career but just something to fall back on.

I want to marry, yes, but why shouldn't I become a nurse, too? Why shouldn't a girl go to college?—WHY.

DEAR WHY:

Well, why ever not? You, at the moment, seem to have the brains in your family and neighborhood. But your mother and neighbor may prove to be right. Ninth-grade girls with high hopes have received their diplomas on the way to the altar, doing what comes naturally.

But it doesn't come wisely. So stick to your plans. Stick with your dreams. Do your flying before you settle down.—M. M.

Admits He's a Weak Chef

By Malcolm Epley
I. P-T Executive Editor

Chef of the Week

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mildred K. Flanary, I. P-T Food Editor, is in attendance at the International World Food Congress and Food Editor's Conference in New York City. Her Chef of the Week column is being authored by guest writers in her absence.)

Me, a chef of the week? It's an unexpected honor.

If I qualify, it's because I'm the chef of A week — the week I go into the back country with some of my male pals to do a little fishing, communing with nature and, of an evening, courting Lady Luck in a little game of cards.

On these excursions, our gang, surfeited with urban life, likes to do a little rough eating. And when it comes to rough eating, I'm just the fellow to preside over the preparations.

I am, at least, the fellow who drew the pots and pans assignment. On our first trip out, I volunteered, and it was amazing how the competition faded out.

Nobody, for one moment, has challenged me. If there is food to be prepared, everybody just sits around and waits for old Mac to get busy. The stuff I pass over to the boys may be tough, greasy or otherwise lousy, but there's not one in the gang who wouldn't rather take it that way than do the cooking job himself.

* * * *

FOR ME, there's one little compensation. If there's anything I hate, it's doing dishes. And even among this group of highbinders, any one of whom would bluff you out of your last copper in a game of stud, there's a code of fair practice. Epley does the cooking —so somebody else has to do the dishes and scour the pots and pans.

I wouldn't go so far as to say they're done well, but they're given a quick treatment of water and soap and set aside for the next meal. I've observed that this operation seems to take more wiping than washing, and our dish towels would frighten that little TV detergent salesman who is always telling housewives how to wash their dirtiest clothes.

* * * *

ON OUR WAY to the back country, we stop at some market or grocery to pick up the grub. Although I am to do the cooking, this chore is never left to me. Every member of the gang gets a market cart and goes about on his own, picking up things that strike his fancy.

This results in an unbelievable conglomeration and some mighty peculiar items. We always get far more than we can consume in our allotted time in the hills and donate what is left, and hasn't spoiled, to other campers or the fellow who runs the place where we stay. Our eating comes dear.

Some interesting incidents occur in the markets. Last time, when we were shopping at Lake Tahoe, one of our members insisted he wanted some of those little potatoes that come peeled and cooked in cans. I told him I preferred frozen potatoes, but he brushed me aside and went looking for the cans.

Malcolm Epley

A pretty young housewife in halter and briefs came by just then. Sniffing the air a bit, he sided up to her and asked her where he could find the cans of potatoes.

"Oh, I know something that's better than that. Come with me," she said. He went off with her in warm companionship and came back in a little while with two or three packages of frozen potatoes. "These are best," he said, as if he had just made a great discovery.

* * * *

AND SO, with what is provided me out of a variety of whims and tastes, I go to work in camp to prepare the grub. Some remarkable concoctions emerge from my cookery, but there's no complaint. Each knows that a growl from him could put me on strike, and the dread responsibility would have to go elsewhere. On these occasions, I'm one of America's most appreciated chefs. There are always shouts of encouragement while I work and a great smacking of lips and grunts of pleasure during eating.

So I am a chef of A week —one of the happiest weeks of each year.

U.S. Lags in 4th Round

America wound up the fourth session of the world title match just as they started, with a disastrous hand. It only cost six International Match Points, and it put them seven IMPs behind. It was a needless loss.

Italy with the East-West cards bid a nice comfortable one no-trump and made two. The American East-West bidding is shown in the box.

West's opening spade bid is reasonable although most top level bidders would open with one club. East's two club response is an example of the Drury convention which a few of our players use. It asks partner to show if he has a full opening bid. A two diamond rebid denies this, any other bid shows it. So when West bid two no-trump, East raised to three.

* * * *

USUALLY 14 points opposite 9 are not enough to make game and this hand was no exception. North opened a club. South took the ace and returned the suit. West won with king and played ace and jack of hearts. North went up with the king and cleared his club suit with another lead. He still had to get in with the ace of diamonds to cash the last two clubs and set the hand one trick.

"Porky," familiar trademark of the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, got a beauty treatment from the pretty princesses of the royal court of agriculture just before opening day. Clockwise, starting at "noon," the girls are Margaret Lesner and Judith Shasky, both of West Covina; Sallye Jo Howell, Whittier; Sharon Azhderian, Chino, and Linda Lobe, Whittier. All of the girls are Mt. San Antonio College coeds. The fair opened Friday and will run through Sept. 30 with all of the familiar features of years past, plus some bright new ones. Called, and justly so, the world's largest county fair, the big exposition has something of interest for all of the thousands who visit the grounds and exhibits each season. NEXT WEEK

On Nov. 20, 1912, a masked man armed with a homemade bomb walked into Central Police Station in Los Angeles and threatened to blow up the building. Los Angeles waited two awesome hours for the human bomb to carry out his threat. Those fateful hours—during which thousands gathered in the streets below and the police wove a desperate plot to unarm the stranger—are relived next week in Southland in a story called "Terror at Central Station." Watch for it.

Sermons from Nature

By Weldon D. Woodson

MARVELS that abound in the world of nature are put on film by Moody Institute of Science of Los Angeles, a department of Moody Bible Institute of Chicago and founded and managed by Dr. Irwin A. Moon. Films are shown for GIs, youth summer camps, church young peoples' societies, industrial plant employes and similar groups.

MIS had its beginning at the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition in 1941. How it originated is as interesting as the creatures and plants it dramatizes on the screen.

The founder, Irwin Moon, a physicist and an amateur moviemaker, had been pastor of the Montecito Park Union Church in Los Angeles. He had used illustrations from science to point up his talks with the young people of his congregation and had found them eager listeners. Other groups enjoyed his presentations to the extent that he finally resigned his pastorate to devote his full time to giving what he called "Sermons from Science."

When the Golden Gate Exposition opened, Moon tried a daring experiment. He rented space near the Gayway and designed a special show to compete with the carnival attractions. More than two tons of equipment, most of it homemade, went into the production of a spectacle that covered various aspects of science.

Photos by Moody Institute of Science

Nature's strange engineer, the trapdoor spider, played a film role, too. Here is spider near trapdoor nest.

A MILLION VOLTS of electricity flashed through Moon's body, and the audience gasped in amazement. Then he fried an egg on a cold stove, lighted a lamp bulb with his bare fingers, time-compressed the growth of a camellia into a few seconds and gave his voice a "helium accent."

The show was a whopping success. Crowds came to look and to listen.

One visitor was Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of Moody Bible Institute. Subsequently, the Moody Institute of Science was established.

MIS headquarters, 11428 Santa Monica Blvd., has a complete movie-producing studio where the "Sermons" are recorded on professional movie film for worldwide distribution.

Through the years, Dr. Moon and staff members of MIS have journeyed to the far corners of the earth in quest of animals and plants to cast in its films. Often, however, they have found subjects at their very door.

For instance, the trapdoor spider, which builds a burrow closed with a trapdoor on the slopes of adobe hills in and around Los Angeles, and elsewhere in Southern California. MIS featured it in its motion picture, "The Prior Claim," which reveals the way plants and animals have anticipated man's greatest inventions.

"Belly plant," so-called because of prone posture necessary to study it, is examined by botanist with eye to use in film produced by L. A. group for a "Sermon."

THE INSTITUTE found that if a trapdoor spider is taken out of its home and placed on some fresh dirt in a box, it may start at once the construction of an abode. It begins with the excavation of a small depression. The comb-like rake of spines on the jaws of the spider come into play in this operation.

As soon as the depression is large enough to accommodate the bulk of the spider, the fashioning of the door takes place. Material is added a pellet at a time, accompanied by much chewing alternated with the depositing of silk from the spinnerets. These silk strand reinforcements within the earthen door account for its great strength and for the highly effective action of the hinge.

Moody Institute's motion picture, "Hidden Treasures," depicts the wonder micro-universe about us, a realm hidden by the vagaries of size. The subjects in this film included the so-called "belly plants" of the desert. They acquired their name due to the fact that they are so tiny that one cannot see them unless he lies prone on his abdomen and studies them through field magnifying glasses.

MIS LAUNCHED its investigations of these microscopic growths when its representatives were invited to go with a group from the California Institute of Technology to Organpipe National Monument in Arizona to study desert plants and to bring specimens back to Pasadena's famous Earhart Plant Research Laboratory. There controlled conditions, desert or otherwise, can be obtained at the flick of a switch for the subsequent study of these plants in the laboratory.

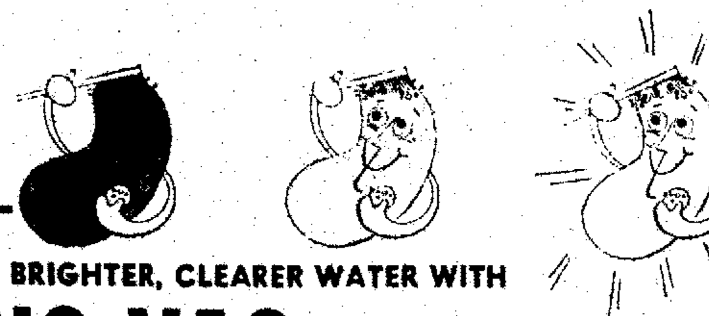
PADDOCK PRESENTS!

NOW FOR THE FIRST TIME . . . A POOL THAT REALLY CLEANS ITSELF!



BRIGHTER, CLEARER WATER WITH

NO-VAC by PADDOCK OF CALIFORNIA

THE PADDOCK NO-VACUUM SELF-CLEANING SYSTEM

what it does!

If you have never owned a swimming pool, you may not know what's involved in normal maintenance. But if you ask an owner, he will tell you that by far the biggest job in pool maintenance is vacuuming. In the conventional pool it is usually necessary to vacuum at least twice a week to remove sand and sediment, which settles to the pool floor. If this continual vacuuming could be eliminated, you would save time (about two hours a week if you do your own maintenance). This is exactly what the No-Vac System does . . . it automatically "vacuums" for you, sweeping sand and sediment from the floor into the main drain and thence to the filter where it is removed.

The NoVac System is engineered into your pool. Basically it is a series of jet-flow inlets, strategically placed in the pool walls and floor. Water is recirculated into the pool under pressure through these inlets, and the jet streams sweep sand and sediment into the anti-vortex main drain. The system works continually when the filter is in operation. With NoVac, an occasional brushing usually keeps the pool immaculately clean.
Of course, the system will not remove heavy debris such as water-soaked leaves (which are normally carried off by the surface skimmer). On occasion, sediment may collect in isolated spots where freak whirlpools form. NoVac does a continuous and thorough job of reducing pool maintenance to a minimum and gives you the carefree pleasure and satisfaction that you get only with a pool that is always crystal clear and immaculately clean.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Do you have data on COGHILL?—J. C., Long Beach.

J. C.: COGHILL originated in Yorkshire, England. Coghill was a countryside phrase derived from "Cogg-hyll" which meant "Woodcock-hill." Ancestors using primitive spellings of this name include John de Cokhill and Elizabeth de Cokhill of Yorkshire in 1379. Until the 18th century there were no set spellings of any name. The Coghill coat-of-arms has three black balls on a silver chevron across a red shield. A black stripe crosses the top of the shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on DE MARCO and MARCIANO. — C. D., Wilmington; M. P., Long Beach.

C. D., M. P.: DE MARCO is an old Italian surname meaning "Son of Marcus or Mark." MARCIANO has an identical significance. These names were applied as baptismal titles in honor of the ancient Roman god of war, Mars, with the connotation "Warlike one."

DEAR MISS RULE: Could you give data on McQUILLIAN. — Mrs. A. A., Long Beach.

A. A.: McQUILLIAN, traced to its early Irish source, is revealed as a modern evolution of the old Gaelic clan name McCiiileannain. This phrase translates as "Sons of the youth." The McQuillians were natives of County Cork in remote centuries.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give genealogy on CROFT.—Mrs. V.C., Anaheim; D.C., Long Beach; A.C., Buena Park.

V.C., D.C., A.C.: CROFT was a medieval English word for "small farm." Yorkshire ancestors of this family include William del (of the) Croft and John del Croft, 1379. The Croft coat-of-arms from Stillington, Yorkshire, is a shield divided into four quarters, two gold and two red, with a red rampant lion on the upper left gold quarter.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give the background of SCHWARTZ. — R.S., Long Beach.

R.S.: SCHWARTZ is a German surname meaning "Black." It was used in the Middle Ages as a physical descriptive name for a man of dark complexion. Many of the first "dark one's" progeny became prominent among German nobility. The family coat-of-arms has an Arabic Moor's head banded with blue and gold on a golden shield. The most famous ancestor was Berthold Schwartz, 14th century alchemist, who is considered the inventor of gunpowder in Europe. However, the Chinese are credited with this invention at a much earlier date.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please print the source of CARTER. —W.C., Long Beach; Mrs. J.F., Garden Grove.

W.C., J.F.: CARTER was the designation for the honored medieval English profession of carting loads by wagon, Nicholas Le Carter was an Oxfordshire land owner in 1273. Some of his distant descendants settled in Monmouth, Wales. The Carter shield is blue, emblazoned with two combatant gold lions. Robert Carter arrived in Massachusetts on the Mayflower in 1620.

DEAR MISS RULE: Do you have data on ELLIS?—Mrs. A.L., Sunset Beach; V.D., Long Beach.

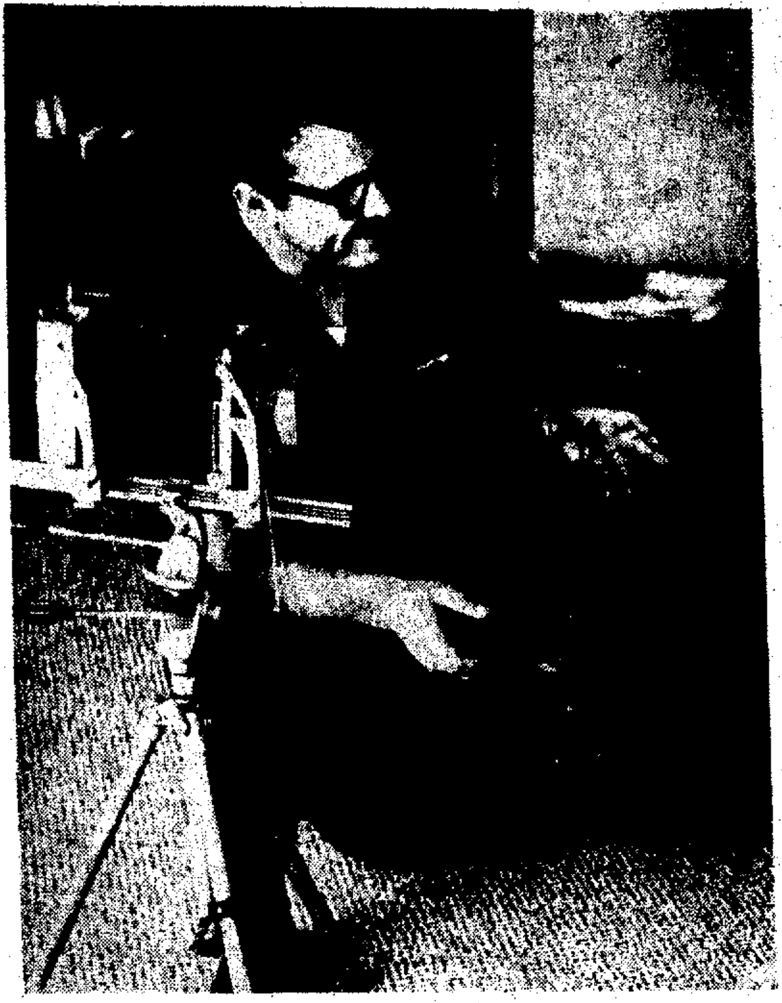
A.L., V.D.: ELLIS of Britain in a lineage descended from the heroic Elias, Knight of the Swan. He was the great-great-grandson of Gottfriend, King of Denmark, who died in A.D. 810. Elias or Ellis is from the Biblical font name Eliyah meaning "God the Lord." The English Ellises were Earls of Bristol. Their coat-of-arms has five silver crescents on a black cross centered on a golden shield. Richard Ellis, one of the American forebearers, settled in Massachusetts in the early 1600s.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have brief genealogy on McCALL. — D.M., San Pedro; F.M., Long Beach.

D.M., F.M.: McCALL is both Irish and Scotch in background. Irish McCalls' original Gaelic name was MacCathmhaoil, translated as "sons of the battle chief." This family was famed for learning and mentality. They are traced into remote antiquity to Eoghan, son of King Niall of the Nine Hostages, who died in 1014. This clan were powerful leaders in north Irish Tyrone. The Scotch McCalls were a branch of Clan Donald, and lived on Loch Fyne. Their coat-of-arms has a silver dagger lying vertically on a red shield. Above the dagger are two gold fleurs-de-lis; below it are two gold stars.

DEAR MISS RULE: Could you explain the source of DAFFRON —Mrs. D. D., Lomita; D. T., Redondo Beach.

D. D., D. T.: DAFFRON is a French surname that evolved over many centuries of spelling changes, from a family progenitor who was born in the month of April. In dialectical French the original name April was altered to Avrillon or "Little one born in April." Avrillon was condensed to Avron and Affron. The initial letter "D" refers to "Descendant of." No coat-of-arms is recorded for Daffron.



With an artistic eye and a camera technique that contrast with his huge physique and football prowess, Don Regas readies for another glamour shot.

Glamour Photographer

By Robert Shotwell

A YOUNG Long Beach man, who looks like a professional wrestler, is making a national name for himself in the field of glamour photography.

Don Regas, 32, of 6651 Coronado Ave., has recently been accepted as a member of the American Society of Magazine Photographers and, as a result, is constantly searching for new faces to feature on magazine covers. This usually results in fat fees for the models and national fame, accomplished through the excellent Regas lens work and his skillful darkroom techniques.

Don is a 1947 graduate of Jordan High School and attended Long Beach City College and Los Angeles Art Center, where he perfected his camera techniques. His photographic talents have been featured in national magazines, and some of the glamorous products of his lens work have graced the covers of national publications. Recently, Regas has had a "cover" every month, and the pictures? Beautiful girls, naturally, like those appearing on this page.

Regas says that a pretty face and a good figure are almost mandatory prerequisites for his demanding market. National publications will pay their highest dollar for the fresh, new, young face on their covers. In addition, the "new face" can command top space in those magazines.

Regas says a girl doesn't have to be beautiful or exotic to command national attention. But she must be equipped with a pretty face, a nice figure, and a willingness to pose for long hours.

Joanne Sommers has been the subject of two Regas-made magazine covers.

Regas' photo of Jean Patton, formerly of Long Beach, has seen print 11 times.

Southland First to Publish Photo of Curley the Scout

Portrait of a Great Indian

By Betty Hardesty

LAST PHOTOGRAPH of Curley, the famous Crow Indian scout of Custer's Last Stand, now published for the first time on this page, was taken by Dr. LeRoy H. Labbitt of Long Beach and Hardin, Mont.

And in the taking, Dr. Labbitt added new sidelights to the character of this witness to a memorable chapter in the history of the Old West.

Curley was about 20 when he saw the massacre of United States Gen. George A. Custer's battalion by Indians in the Battle of the Little Big Horn on June 26, 1876. "So he was 67 when I took his picture," says Dr. Labbitt. "It was 1922, the year before his death."

"Because Curley was the first to bring news of the tragedy and because he used Indian sign language, knowing no English, many exaggerated stories were told about him as being the only survivor of the battle," explains Dr. Labbitt. "I did not question him about it myself; he knew little English even then and wasn't much of a talker."

One popular legend claims that Curley stood by Custer until his death and then escaped by wearing an Indian foe's blanket. Col. W. A. Graham belittles this version in his book, "The Custer Myth," a 412-page tome of fine-printed documents and authentic letters: "As the Custer fight occurred during the hottest part of a scorching day and the Indians had stripped for action, being naked except for breechcloth and moccasins . . . a blanket would have furnished a disguise about as effective as a plug hat, white tie and tails. . ."

EVEN AS LATE as 1950, Life Magazine published "another remarkable variation of the Curley myth," writes Graham, stating that the scout hid inside a disemboweled horse and arrived on his pony three days later at the boat "Far West" which was a distance of only 20 miles. The tendency of newspapers at that time to add melodrama to journalism was somewhat to blame, the Helena Herald being the first to print exaggerated accounts.

Col. Graham considers Curley blameless for the stories which made him a romantic hero. Curley said of himself to Tom Le Forge as he interpreted for Lt. Bradley shortly after the battle, "I did nothing wonderful. I was not in the fight."

Curley had been ordered by Gen. Custer through the chief of scouts, Mitch Boyer, a half-breed Sioux, to go back to the pack train and help dig entrenchments. Curley had, however, taken a different route from the other scouts, White Swan, Goes Ahead, Hairy Moccasin and White Man Runs Him. He went up to a high point on the divide between Rosebud and the Little Big Horn, where he could see for miles, to watch the battle. Then he made a roundabout way back to the mouth of the Little Big Horn River where the "Far West" Army supply boat was waiting.

CURLEY'S arrival there is recorded by Sgt. James E. Wilson: "An Indian scout named Curley, known to have been with Gen. Custer, arrived about noon with information about a battle, but there being no interpreter aboard, very little reliable information was obtained. He wore an exceedingly dejected countenance but his appetite proved to be first class."

No doubt the many stories, movies and TV versions of the Curley myth are better known than the facts of the battle of Little Big Horn, says Dr. Labbitt. But briefly, Gen. Custer, being sent to control an Indian uprising, had underestimated their numbers and divided his force of 600 for attack from three directions. His own division was even on foot, the horses being sent back. "He hadn't a chance against 5,000 to 6,000 Indians," Dr. Labbitt points out.

Two days after the slaughter, Gen. Godfrey buried the dead. His description appeared in Century Magazine, 1892: "On the morning of the 28th, we left our entrenchments to bury the dead. . . . There were 42 bodies and 39 dead horses on Custer's hill. We buried 212. Including three Indian scouts, 265 were killed. We could not count the hostile loss but numerous bodies were found sepultured in trees and scaffolds."

"THE CROWS were burying their dead that way when I went to the Reservation after 1900," says Dr. Labbitt, who was born and raised on a Montana ranch. After obtaining his M.D. degree, he settled in Hardin, a town in the Crow Reservation about 30 miles east of Billings. There he acted as surgeon for the Indian Agency and acquired land interests which take him back home half of each year.

The U. S. government was slow in compensating Curley but he was recognized before his death by an act of Congress which paid him a lump sum of $10,000. It was in 1922 when Curley consulted Dr. Labbitt about a hernia that the doctor asked to take his picture. Curley nodded, left and came back dressed in his best. The deer skin jacket and moccasins were Indian-tanned and he wore his now gray hair braided and tied as in his youth, a leather thong necklace with stone pendant and a scarf. He carried a heavy Indian blanket.

Curley was buried at Custer Battlefield National Monument in Crow Agency, Montana, May 23, 1923. His marker reads only "Curley" as no one knew his family name.

Today, the famous battleground is a beautiful cemetery but unchanged and unique in one respect, as Dr. Labbitt explains it. Though the bodies were re-buried in a common grrave, markers still stand where the soldiers fell in pairs, fighting and dying, back to back; while Curley watched from a distant hill.

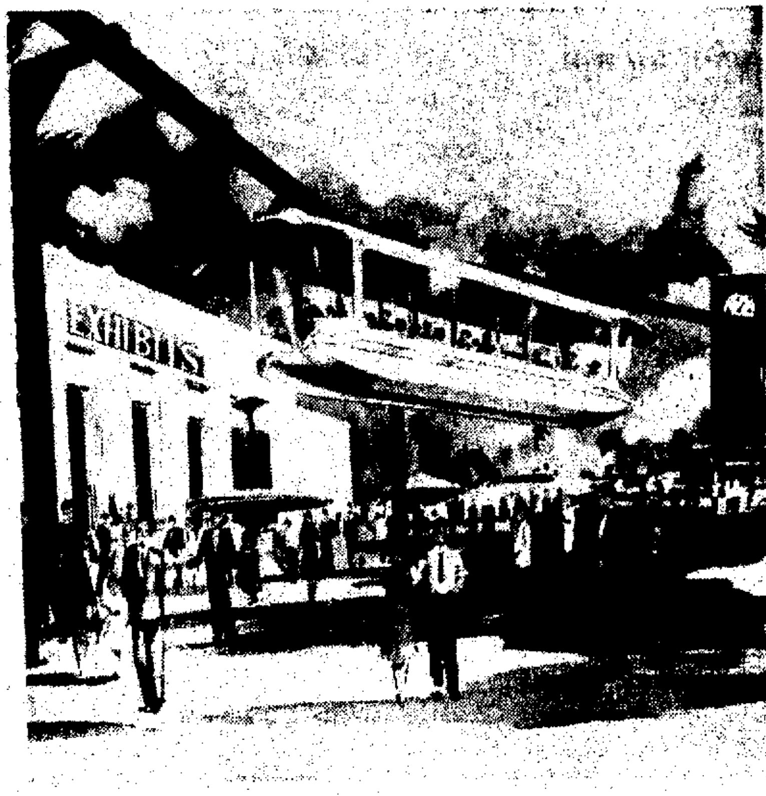
Monorail among features added for giant exposition of Los Angeles County's vast resources

Fair Time in Pomona



Spectacular innovation of the Los Angelos County Fair is a mile-long monorail system offering a scenic flight over the 450-acre fairgrounds.

By Roy L. Driscoll

CATCHING the gay spirit of Seattle's Century 21 Exposition, the 1962 Los Angeles County Fair—which opened Friday in Pomona—justifies its place as America's largest county fair because of its sheer magnitude, great diversity and spectacular entertainment.

As a result, an attendance goal of 1,250,000 has been set for the 17-day run ending Sept. 30.

Under the banner of "Democracy on Parade," there is a mighty pageant reflecting the impact of the amazing space age achievement on every-day life while retaining the mellow atmosphere of the time-honored institution. Its backdrop is an exciting round of entertainment and diversion highlighted by a spectacular monorail system carrying passengers on a mile-long scenic flight over the grounds.

Its 40,000 individual exhibits and displays are spread over the 450-acre exposition park with its 200 permanent buildings, including many huge steel and concrete exposition structures. The huge Palace of Agriculture is filled to overflowing with prize products of the harvest and wealth of natural resources contributed by a hundred counties, communities and organizations throughout the state. A premier livestock show has the cream of the flocks and herds of the west. Six thousand examples of women's handiwork are enshrined in the spacious Domestic Arts Building.

Pretty farmerette, Judy Brewsters, takes note of a show ring veteran.

A GORGEOUS profusion of blooms transform the exotic Floral and Garden Building into a riot of color such as only the Southland and the tropics could produce. Adjoining is a large shaded area devoted to examples of gracious outdoor living. The last word in appliances, furnishings, decor and convenience highlight an exciting and revealing Home Show. A home builders' new products exhibits hall, supplemented by a model home, is a veritable treasure house of information on newest materials, ideas and inspiration for the home builder.

Foremost in the cultural phase of the fair is the impressive Fine Arts Building, shared by the International Photographic Exhibition and the Arts and Crafts in Action show wherein a score of foremost artist-craftsmen demonstrate procedures in popular leisure-time pursuits. Distinctive international flavor is found in the International Building where colorful and picturesque entries from many foreign lands depict their products, arts and crafts and tourist attractions. Adjoining is a gay Mexican Village steeped in the carefree atmosphere and charm of the land below the border.

Always a popular magnet, the Sports Plaza, surrounding the large boat and water skiing marina, is crammed with the paraphernalia so dear to the heart of the sportsman, vacationist and devotee of the wide open spaces.

OTHER fascinating attractions include the amazing space age achievements where science and invention march hand in hand for the protection and benefit of mankind, the the nation's military might, the great junior fair where youth endeavors are glorified, public schools exhibit, the Court of the Redwoods paying tribute to the state's famed forests, and other impelling sights literally too numerous to mention. They all sum up to miles of inspiration and education in the mellow, charming atmosphere of that time-honored institution, the County Fair.

As the 1962 Los Angeles County Fair sets a record for the number and diversity of its exhibits, so its program of entertainment is the most spectacular and enjoyable of them all.

For the first seven nights, the free grandstand show features the breathtaking Chuckwagon Races from the Calgary Stampede, plus the versatile entertainment of Tex Williams and June Carter. The famed Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride highlights the last 10 days, with talented and charming Gisele MacKenzie as a special attraction.

THERE IS an endless flow of colorful entertainment in such popular diversions as Storybook Farm, now featuring a replica of an 1880 farmhouse in addition to the living nursery rhymes and a museum of old-time farm implements, the Fun Zone with its collection of new thrills and chills, including the world's highest sky wheel. In addition there are the sightseeing trains, the Plaza of the States, horse shows, historical collection of mighty steam engines, world's largest miniature railway system, the amphitheatre with its continuous performances and last, but far from least, the exciting combination of harness, quarter horse and thoroughbred racing at the state's third largest race meet in average daily attendance. Daily double wagering has been added to the races this year.

The Los Angeles County Fair is an ideal objective for a family auto jaunt and holiday. Carefully controlled traffic, parking space for over 40,000 cars with free tram service to entrance gates, and many other features contribute to the convenience and comfort of visitors.

State and interstate highways, including 60, 66, 70 and 99 and San Bernardino Freeway serve motorists from the four points of the compass.

Truly a visit to the Los Angeles County Fair is a most enjoyable and rewarding experience.

Entertainment features that back up the huge exposition include replica of an 1880 farmhouse besides living nursery rhymes, old farm implements.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

A House Expands to a Family's Need

By Stella George

A FEW YEARS ago, when their two children were very young, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Bond felt that the house located at 2320 Faust Ave. met all of their needs. It was close to elementary and junior high schools; located two minutes from a shopping center; a short walk to the nearby churches; and situated in a community with a small town, friendly neighbor atmosphere.

When the home was purchased by the Bonds it was large by tract home standards. The location on a corner lot gave it prestige value. However, the usable lot size, 60x100 feet, was relatively small. The L-shaped house contained 1,522 square feet of floor space. There were four bedrooms, three of them quite small, two baths, living room, dining room and kitchen. A formal entrance hall was lacking.

AS TIME went on, the Bonds realized that certain additions would not only increase the beauty of their home but also its functional aspects —both from the point of view of adult entertaining and teen-age fun, to say nothing of enjoyable everyday living.

So they added a 16x32-foot swimming pool, kidney shaped, and planned to provide plenty of deck area. The pool area was landscaped and a barbecue area with plenty of space for bench and chairs was created.

The front door of the home opens into the Beauty and comfort were added to the home when Bond and son, Gary, designed and built the new family room (below) that opens to a pool.

Father and son joined forces to customize this home to suit the family's needs.

Placed at the side of the front door, a slim, opaque screen creates the illusion of a separate entry area.

The living room is attractively furnished with a curved couch in avocado shade placed against blond paneling. A fine painting above the couch has a tiny coral accent, and the color is emphasized in benches across the room. What appears to be an imitation plant near the couch is very real—kept polished and beautiful by Mrs. Bond. (Her secret of keeping leaves polished and bright is the use of mayonnaise as the polishing agent!)

THE DINING room is furnished in rose-colored walnut. The far end of the dining room was once a plain wall that backed to the garage. The Bond family enjoyed hi-fi music, so Bond and son, Gary, made alterations accordingly, setting back the wall to accommodate radio, record player, and record collection in cabinets which open flush against the wall. Thus, no actual room space was lost when the hi-fi was installed.

A rumpus room was item No. 2 on the list to customize the home to the owners' needs. Father and son decided to build the room themselves, a challenging do-it-themselves project by any standard of comparison.

The work took time, but their efforts were well rewarded. One entire wall of the kitchen was opened up to afford access to the new room. The latter is two steps down from the kitchen. There is a dining and entertaining bar between the two rooms with regular chairs on the kitchen side and high stools on the lower room side—thus four people can dine comfortably at the same time.

Flooring in the room is pressed wood, good looking and long wearing. Two Naugahyde couches back the glass wall that faces the patio and pool. A spinet piano is opposite. The TV rests on the wide brick hearth. Decoration above the fireplace is cleverly contrived with a trombone, clarinet and trumpet sprayed gold. The drums near the piano are there for an obvious reason: the many-purpose room is frequently a rehearsal hall for Gary and his band. There is plenty of room for dancing since the lightweight couches can be moved easily as needed.

ONE OF THE four bedrooms in the home is used as a den by Mr. and Mrs. Bond. The second bedroom, while quite small, is expertly furnished to provide a place for everything without crowding.

Daughter Carol's room has a tiny entry which makes the room appear somewhat larger than it really is. Her room is nicely arranged to provide space for one of her favorite pieces of furniture, a sewing machine. There is ample room for all a young girl's special needs. The master bedroom, with adjoining bath, opens onto the deck area around the pool.

The Bond home now contains a livable 1,765 square feet.

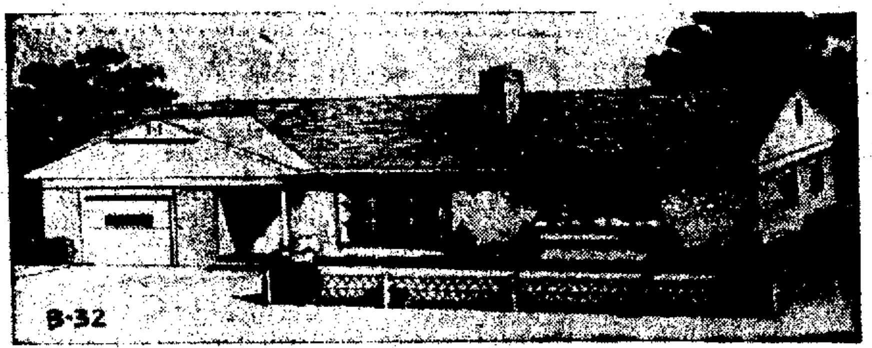
HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Here's for Economy, Now and Forever



Low maintenance is assured with this brick exterior on all four sides reducing major upkeep costs to the minimum. Total living area is only 1,193 square feet.

By David Bowen

TRUE economy in a new home design doesn't stop when the building contractor has been paid off and the family moves in. It's something that keeps saving you money as long as you live in the house.

True economy includes protection from that annoying disrupter of budgets: home maintenance. Few prospective homeowners have the foresight to consider this factor, but none escape a sometimes unpleasant education on the cost of the upkeep. Wood surfaces must be kept painted, gutters repaired, roofs watertight, cracks caulked.

Lester Cohen, the architect, has taken steps to make sure the lesson of maintenance will be an easy one for owners of B-32 in the House of the Week series. This six-room ranch is brick all around, reducing repairs and holding repainting to a minimum. Low roof pitch makes it possible for an amateur to do simple roof repairs with no danger to life and limb. The house as a whole is compact, small enough to keep all maintenance projects within reason.

THIS TRUE economy has another advantage. According to real estate boards, low-maintenance homes are easy to sell. Thus if the family outgrows this house or must move to another city, it can always quickly get its money out.

Other items increasing resalability of B-32 are the integrated garage, the extra lavatory for the master bedroom, three bedrooms large enough to sleep six if necessary, and a spacious living room with a real dining room.

If a basement is not needed or wanted, heating and utilities can be put in the space shown as basement stairway, putting them within easy access from kitchen, garage and outdoors.

"THE IMPORTANCE of the integrated garage should not be underestimated," says Cohen. "It brings the garage under one roof (for economy), close to the house (for convenience) and provides the best kind of extra storage space at no extra cost. It also makes the house look larger, an important resale factor. Total living area is 1,193 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 57 feet in width by 30 feet in depth.

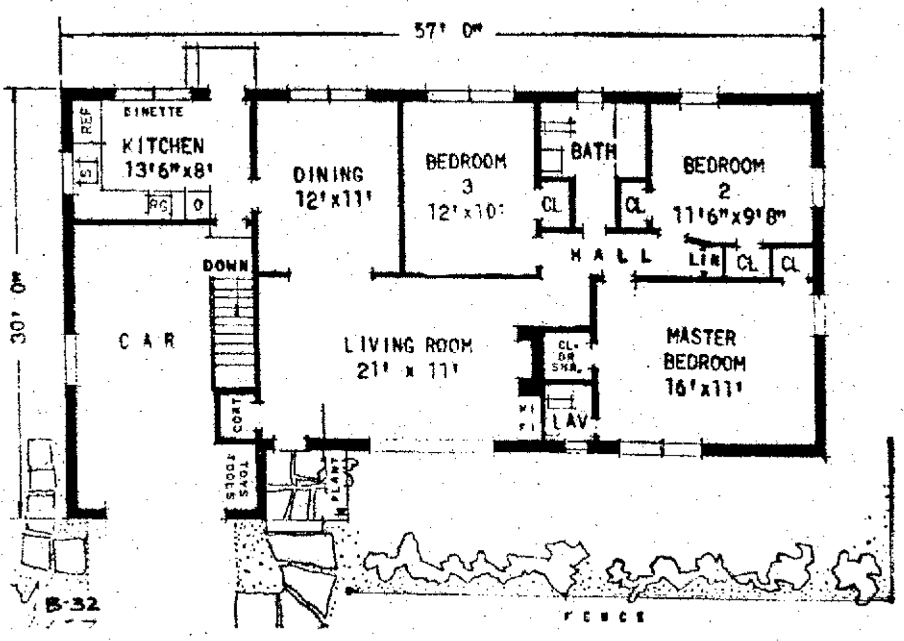
The kitchen is brightened by windows at the back, where the dinette area is shown, and at the side over the sink counter. There's a door to the back yard, but even more convenient is the service foyer between kitchen and basement stair. Plans show a full basement under all rooms except kitchen and garage. Someday the family



Large size of the living room is shown in this floor plan. Garage is attached.

THERE ARE three bedrooms, two at the back of the house for the children and the master bedroom at the front. The main bathroom is between the back rooms, readily accessible from the bedroom hall.

A coat closet just inside the front door, a linen closet in the bedroom hall and five bedroom closets add up to a total of six storage spaces. Additional storage is available in the attic, basement and garage.

The house is brick on all four sides, with a contrast of flush plywood used for the gable front. A flush door, a planter, plant boxes and wood fence contribute to the attractive exterior appearance.

Hospital Call Eased

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

SICK CHILDREN under 5 years old fare far better if their mothers accompany them to the hospital.

In an experiment conducted in Great Britain, mothers stayed with their child in cubicles in the hospital ward. Doctors say the arrangement prevents unhappiness in the child and possible nervous after-effects.

The disadvantages of a mother leaving home and other children are far outweighed by advantages to the child in the hospital, says Dr. Dermod MacCarthy in the journal Lancet.

Children, regardless of age, should have their mothers with them in the hospital if they are blind, mentally deficient or have cerebral palsy, Dr. MacCarthy says.

SCIENTISTS now believe there may be antipolio properties in the conch, a big item in the diet of people of the Bahamas.

Only 15 cases of polio have been seen in the past 10 years in the Bahamas. If the incidence had been the same as that of the United States there would have been 177 cases there.

On the island of Bimini in the Bahamas group the children start eating conches as soon as they stop nursing. They eat them in every form: raw, in salads, fried, in stews. On Nassau, conches are eaten only occasionally—and it was on Nassau that most of the 15 polio cases occurred.

Researchers recently reported that the juice of the abalone has certain antipolio qualities.

Scientists don't know what it is in mollusks that appears to inhibit polio viruses.

A BRITISH physician suggests that seasickness can be avoided, in the daytime at least, by fixing your gaze on the horizon for about two hours. (Dr. N. B. Eastwood in Lancet.)

LIFE EXPECTANCY for babies born now is 70 years, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. This is the first time this figure has topped 70 years and represents a 3½-year gain in the past 10 years.

ONE COCKTAIL can touch off a migraine attack in some persons, reports an AMA Journal consultant. However, such a headache is not related to the hangover headache.

VARIOUS types of facial and head pains have been alleviated with one of the anti-depression drugs, two British neurologists report in the journal Lancet. Many of the persons studied had a mild obsessional personality: they were perfectionists, indecisive, worried over trifles, or were excessively orderly.

HOW EFFECTIVE is candy as a means of combatting driver fatigue? Researchers are trying to find out. Some 60 drivers for the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power are consuming daily rations of chocolate bars and hard candies, and the researchers are recording their reactions.

A NEW STUDY shows that the most frequent locations of home accidents to children are the yard, living room, kitchen.

SOUTHERN NAT'L HIGHWAY

Big Ed Fletcher (hat brim turned up) in the rear seat of one of his big touring autos. Fletcher raced across country—his object to popularize driving, push road construction.

By Alfred JaCoby and Lew Scarr

THE BIG MAN at the wheel of the high, dignified, square-framed touring sedan ground the accelerator into the floor and laughed in the wind as mile after mile flew by—Arizona desert, the high plains of Texas, the gurgling swamps of Louisiana, Mississippi's glue-gumbo.

The Southwest wanted a coast-to-coast southern route highway in 1926, and big Ed Fletcher was giving it to them by driving his family sedan faster than a crack passenger train in an amazing non-stop dash across the United States.

Fletcher broke every speed law in every city, county, and state from San Diego to Savannah, Ga. But that was all right, Fletcher got permission first.

The idea was to set a coast-to-coast record. And if the United States Bureau of Roads heard about his speed run, fine. Only about 5 per cent of the 2,535 miles was paved. Ed wanted a smooth ride for those who came after him. He wanted a coast-to-coast route.

ED FLETCHER'S Borderland Highway Run began at 4 a.m. Oct. 20, 1926, from downtown San Diego. In eight hours and two minutes driving, Ed's Cadillac sedan—with 17,000 miles already on the speedometer — was in Phoenix.

They pushed on: Tucson, Lordsburg, Deming, N.M. At 12:05 a.m., Oct. 21, the four-man group had reached El Paso. Twenty-five hours later they had spanned the great state of Texas. They arrived at Shreveport, La., at 1:15 a.m., Oct. 22.

Once, in the swamps of Louisiana, the man at the wheel dozed momentraily. Ed Fletcher, Jr., grabbed the wheel just in time and the group roared on.

The party reached the Mississippi River at 5:55 on the morning of Oct. 22. Luckily they caught a ferry after waiting only five minutes.

IT WAS relatively free-wheeling from there. They breezed into Jackson, Miss., at 8:10 a.m. and Montgomery, Ala. at 6:25 p.m.

The wonderful trip ended at 3:15 a.m., Oct. 23, in Savannah as Fletcher officially checked in with L. A. Brantley, the Western Union manager.

They had beaten the previous coast-to-coast record by 11 hours and 56 seconds.

"We beat the fastest passenger train by 28 hours," Fletcher recalled. "It took us 71 hours and 15 minutes to make the trip and we averaged 35.5 miles an hour for the whole trip including stops."

Two months later the route officially was named U.S. Highway

FLETCHER was a promoter of the old school. He developed land and water, and, of course, highways. He grew rich in his work and reared a family of 12.

From 1900 until his death in 1956, Fletcher was like a GO signal in the middle of any road promotion.

From his first 1906 Maxwell—leather dashboard kerosene lamp, and no top—Fletcher became an auto bug.

He loved driving and he loved what made his cars hum and what they hummed on—highways.

He helped develop the first Mountain Springs Grade road with mule and wagon—still is a gear-grinder for U.S. Highway 80 drivers between El Centro and San Diego. He built the first of the two famous plank roads over the sand dunes of Imperial County.

BUT HE HAD his problems with what he called the Los Angeles highwaymen. When Los Angeles finally got a road from Phoenix bypassing San Diego, Fletcher had his own suggestion:

"It is a pleasure to go to Phoenix one way and come back another."

In Ed Fletcher's early years, the road promoters, not the highway engineers, were in the driver's seat. They were men who knew a land couldn't develop without a ribbon of concrete to pull in the solid citizens.

And the solid citizens came and followed the 20-foot-wide slab highways as if they were trail-marked trees leading them out of the dark age of dirt roads into the bright future of coast-to-coast freeways.

Autumn Treat: Poached Fish

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

FISH STEAKS may be better enjoyed in hot weather, especially the piscatorial prizes freshly hooked by your own kith and kin, by poaching them and eating them cold. Fish steaks may be poached in a small amount of Tobasco-seasoned water in a skillet on top of the stove. Add vegetables, too, to the poaching water; celery tops, parsley, carrot and onion slices add subtle flavor and color. Poaching fish in this manner keeps both you and the kitchen cool as cool.

Poached fish needs a tangy sauce to enhance its delicate flavor. Curry powder blended with mayonnaise and sparked with the zest of lemon juice and Tobasco, the spicy liquid red pepper, produces a delicious accompaniment.

With the fish, serve an attractive, chilled salad of macaroni shells mixed with diced celery and green pepper, combined with mayonnaise flavored with lemon juice, minced onion and peppery Tabasco.

Curry Mayonnaise

1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ cup lemon juice

Combine mayonnaise, curry powder, Tabasco and lemon juice; blend until smooth. Chill. Serve cold with cold poached salmon steaks, striped bass or halibut steaks. YIELD: 1⅛ cups.

Note: To poach fish, use water about 1½ inches deep in skillet; add seasonings such as salt, Tabasco, celery tops, parsley, carrot, onion slices; bring to a boil: add fish and simmer over medium heat until fish flakes easily with a fork.

Tabasco Macaroni Salad

1 package (8 ounces) macaroni shells
⅔ cup diced celery
⅔ cup diced green pepper
1 cup mayonisse or salad dressing
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain; cool. Combine cooked macaroni celery and green pepper; toss lightly. Blend together mayonnaise, lemon juice, Tabasco, instant minced onion and salt. Add to macaroni mixture and toss lightly until well mixed. Chill until ready to serve. YIELD: 6 servings.

Poached fish steaks served cold with Tabasco-curry mayonnaise provide a pleasant summer diet variation.

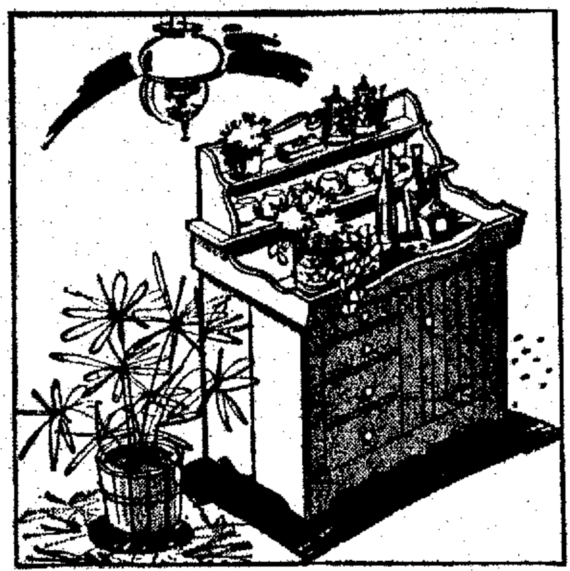
ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook



Early American in styling, this colonial drysink can be made easily in the home workshop, aided by plan.

By William Meyerrieeks

EARLY AMERICAN furniture has an appeal all year round, but there's something about the fall of the year that evokes a special magic from the homespun appearance and warm pine wood tones of a piece of authentic colonial.

And its handcrafted history makes it especially adaptable to manufacture in your own basement. A mirror finish is neither expected nor desired.

The Sketchbook plan provides one-quarter scale patterns for the curved parts and precise dimensions of all other pieces.

TO ORDER, specify Colonial Drysink Plan S-25 and send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

'Way Out With Mr. Stork

By Steve Ellingson

WHEN babies are expected there is most always a shower and where showers are concerned, there needs to be decorations,

The baby shower table centerpiece (see illustration) is quite out of this world. It's personalized too, the family name is on a flag beside the little cottage which Mr. Stork is going his best to locate.

This project is made of styrofoam now available at all dime and variety stores. It's colorful too, glitter has been added to the white parts and bright artificial flowers around the base and on the ring surrounding the planet.

Any guest of honor at a baby shower would be pleased with this decoration. There's fun in making it, too.

GRADE CARD

How to Take Notes

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

QUESTION: "Can you suggest a method of note-taking that will help my son keep up with a fast-talking teacher?"

ANSWER: A good note-taker doesn't try to make a word-for-word transcript of the lecture. He makes an outline. He writes down in the fewest words possible the key ideas. He may sit for minutes at a stretch listening but not writing. A good news reporter assigned to cover an hour-long speech will come away with but a page or two of notes. He has learned to distinguish the hard core of thought from its package of words.

A student should train himself to listen for key ideas. Lecturers usually wave rhetorical flags at the main points of interest. They underscore: "Now let me stress this point." They define: "Let's pause and see exactly what this term means." They enumerate: "The three main points are . . ." They summarize: "In conclusion, let's examine briefly what we've said."

Lectures often follow standard patterns. They will have a beginning (introducing the subject), a middle (giving facts and ideas on that subject), and an end (summarizing the material and presenting conclusions). The student who learns the signals and patterns and looks for them will find note-taking a simple and profitable chore.

Here are some other suggestions that will help:

1. Keep classroom notes in a bound notebook or loose-leaf binder rather than on separate pieces of paper that may get lost.
2. Provide a separate notebook, or a separate section in a master notebook, for each class, and date each day's entry.
3. Periodically, review and rewrite your notes and arrange them in their proper order among notes from other sources.
4. Give key ideas physical prominence for quick reference. When you go back later and look at your notes, headings and sub-headings should stand out from other material on the page.
5. Reserve a section of your notes for new words. Go through your notes regularly and collect these words into a vocabulary list.
6. Develop your own short-hand system—a simple one using abbreviations and omitting understood words such as "a," "and," and "the."
7. Strive for neatness, orderliness, and clarity. Your notes are useless unless they mean something to you when you look at them again a week or a month later.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

Start Lawn Now

September is a good month to start a lawn in California and the earlier you set about it, the better lawn you will have next year. Check with a local nurseryman about the best seed for your area and sow it in a bed that has been well worked over with a spading fork or power tiller, then raked smooth and level. It's a good idea to settle the seedbed by soaking it, then raking to level once again before sowing the seed. This will eliminate uneven settling after the seed has been sown. Work plenty of steer manure into the soil and cover the seed with a layer of fine ground peat moss.

The seedbed should be kept moist at all times, of course. Peat moss relieves you of watering several times a day in warm dry weather.

Deborah Feels She's Bypassed

By David Farmer

AP Newsfeatures Photo

It's all very confusing to youngsters striving for a big movie contract, but Deborah Walley is trying to get out of hers with Columbia and go over to Disney.

DEBORAH WALLEY went to drama school. She took a screen test. She got a contract with Columbia Pictures. She began making movies.

She's a budding star at the age of 20.

How does she like it?

"It's been horrible.

"I want out of my contract," she says. "They haven't let me do anything since last November."

Miss Walley, whose 95 pounds are distributed admirably over a 5-foot-2 chassis, has green eyes and red hair and just loves Walt Disney—for whom she's done some movie work. That's the problem.

Columbia, she explains, has "pre-empty rights" on her—meaning:

"They can keep me from doing anything for anyone else, and they don't have to give me anything to do, either."

She wants Disney to have these rights.

"Columbia is no longer an organized studio," she complains. "It's a financing corporation. They have no say about who's used in the movies they finance.

"The studio is not equipped for caring for people, and they don't know how to build stars.

"But I think I can get out of my contract."

Debbie has made one picture for Columbia and that studio has relaxed the clutches to let her film "Bon Voyage" for Disney.

She starts another for Disney this summer—a period musical called "Summer Magic," set in the eastern United States in the 18th century.

DEBBIE THINKS the folks at Disney like her better than the folks at Columbia, and she might be right.

A Disney spokesman said, "We feel she's going to be a very big star. Debbie is a joy to work with and Walt has great respect for her."

Her lone movie for Columbia is "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," for which she underwent her screen test. She did the picture in 1961.

Deborah has another recent contract which she entered last April 28, and which she isn't seeking to overturn. It's her marriage to actor John Ashley, 25.

She and John live in an apartment in "an old Normandy castle in Hollywood above the Sunset Strip."

DEBORAH feels that marriage and a career can mix. "John and I talked about it before we were married. Neither of us is a jealous person. If one of us got big and the other didn't, it would only make the other one happier.

"It doesn't mean that much to be a star—not to me or John.

"We both want kids. I want to have a family soon. I believe you can have a family and a career too. If not, my husband and my family are the more important."

He Learns While He Earns

His FIRST Elected Office

When a fellow's own friends recognize him as a leader, he has really arrived. Yesterday, Jim was elected president of the Booster Club of his school. This is one of the highest honors a lad of his age could receive. It made him feel good when his favorite teacher said: "Jim, this is not an easy job, but I know you will handle it well. You have the qualities of an outstanding leader." Many of these qualities of leadership were developed by Jim on his newspaper route. As a young man with his own business, he had learned how to think for himself, as well as the importance of serving others well. Throughout the United States, Canada, and other free nations of the world, young men with newspaperboy experience are demonstrating the value of this fine training – and society is the benefactor.

Camping Under Mexico's Stars

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

"I FELT as if I'd just swallowed a sunrise."

This is the picturesque way author-adventurer Nell Murbarger describes her feelings when "Mom," her favorite traveling companion announced, "we're going BACK to Mexico next winter."

"Mom" is Nell Murbarger's 74-year-old mother, Mrs. Bessie N. Lounsberry, authority on sea shells and marine crustaceans. Together they have made a hundred exploring expeditions into romantic Old Mexico climaxed in 1961 by a 30,000 mile trip into 28 Mexican states, journeying far off the beaten path into jungle territory. Nell Murbarger tells about it in "30,000 MILES IN MEXICO" (Desert Magazine Press, $6).

A former newspaper woman, Nell Murbarger is the author of numerous Western travel books including "Ghosts of the Glory Trail," "Sovereigns of the Sage" and other popular favorites.

THE AUTHOR and her shell collecting mother are long-time residents of Costa Mesa, Orange County, where their cozy brown cottage at 1940 Maple Ave., lures friends from near and far. Author Murbarger's "30,000 Miles in Mexico" is studded with pictures taken by the two of fascinating places on their itinerary. Both are old hands at camping under the stars. "Beginning in 1910, Mom and Dad and I camped first with horses and buckboard, later with a 1916 model T Ford, in every state west of the Rocky Mountains," Miss Murbarger explains. "In 1924 we extended our travels into Mexico."

Throughout half a century of camping experience the mother-daughter explorers roughed it, cooking over a campfire and sleeping under the sky. However, in preparing for the 30,000-mile trek into the wilds of Southern Mexico, they heeded the advice of friends and started out with a well-equipped camper outfit.

AMONG HIGHLIGHTS of Miss Murbarger's delightful travel saga is her account of Christmas Day spent in the jungle near San Blas where they gathered rare sea shells along the coast. Nights under orchid hung trees, days spent in travel along shell strewn beaches, encounters with friendly natives and the taste of new and formerly untried Mexican fruits and vegetables all are recounted by Miss Murbarger who is known as the "Roving Reporter of the Desert." The two covered 28 Mexican states penetrating into areas unknown to tourists. When reluctantly they turned the wheels of their camper homeward they determined to return to Mexico next winter. Inveterate travelers as well as those who prefer to make armchair journeys will find a world of pleasure in "30,000 Miles in Mexico."

THERE is always room for a good history of Europe's medieval era, when the historian can write with verve and has something new to say. The University of Vienna's Friedrich Heer, in "THE MEDIEVAL WORLD, Europe 1100-1350" (World $7.50) adds fresh facets and new glints.

THE MILITARY nature of World War II, as of all titanic conflictions, can be illustrated best by the parts that make up the whole—the key battles.

In "THE FORTUNES OF WAR" (Little, Brown, $6.95) Andrew Rooney, combining narrative and pictures, uses the Tarawa invasion, the Stalingrad siege, the D-Day landings and the Battle of the Bulge to sum up the greatest of all wars.

Ancedotes, discussions of strategy and tactics, photos like that of U.S. Marines working their way to the top of a concealed bomb shelter in Tarawa and of the frozen corpses of Stalingrad offer fresh proof that Sherman was right but that supreme courage is also a part of war.

POLITICAL, psychological and economic strategies governed John F. Kennedy's decisions in his first year in the White House — that first year which, historically, establishes the pattern for most presidential administrations.

Helen Fuller, magazine editor and writer and former Justice Department attorney, evaluates Kennedy's crucial decisions in his "YEAR OF TRIAL" (Harcourt, Brace & World, $5.75) with the insight and background of the veteran Washington analyst.

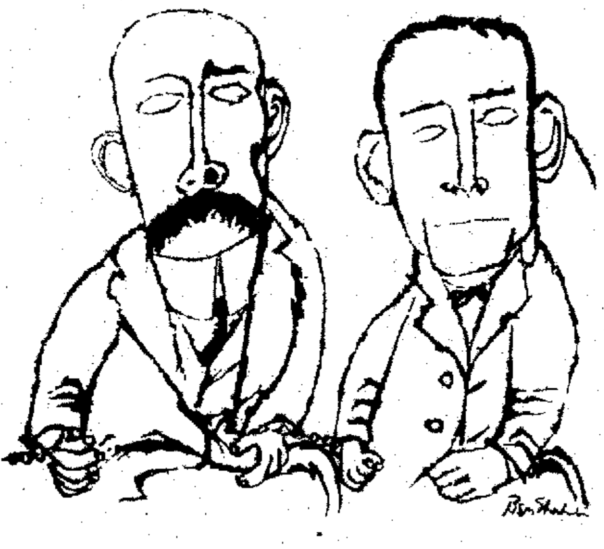
She interprets comprehensively the President's selection of the key men of his executive team, headed by Lyndon Johnson and brother Robert Kennedy; his relations with Congress and the Republican-Dixie coalition; his approach to economic and domestic problems; his foreign policies, including dealing with Russia, the race into space, fallout shelters and aid abroad; and civil rights.

CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND still turns out a deft story. The latest is "PARTY MAN" (Dodd, Mead, $3.75) about Tommy Cuyler, the night-school lawyer who came into politics through the back door.

Whether he risked his career by defending the mayor's murderer, calmed a bloodthirsty mob or courted the senator's niece, Tommy was out to win.

WHAT DOES ONE expect of a biography of David? All that is known of him is already in the Bible. What, then, can a book billed as a Biblical biography add?

Dr. Frank G. Slaughter, author of "DAVID: WARRIOR AND KING," (World, $5.95) has written many novels on Biblical themes. Here is a work that is not a novel. The author can add no new facts, but he can, and does, catch the reader up in the storminess of David's life, treating it with suspense and drama, but in the process, virtually novelizing the biography.



THESE DRAWINGS of Sacco and Vanzetti by Ben Shahn are featured on the jacket of "TRAGEDY IN DEDHAM" by Francis Russell (McGraw-Hill, $7.95). The book is the story of the Sacco-Vanzetti case with new and crucial material.

Pals and playmates of Mrs. Nelda Davis, these Japanese spaniels are fine examples of small, long-lived breeds.

PET PARADE

Shorties Have Longer Lives

By Eleanor Avery Price

DID you know that small dogs enjoy longer life spans, as a rule, than larger dogs? The allotted number of years of even an average-sized dog is only 10 to 12, but toys have been known to live well into their twenties.

If you ask a toy dog owner why this is true, the answer may be that a toy dog lives in close companionship with his humans. He enjoys the run of the house the same as most cats—and cats live longer than most dogs! So there is probably an element of truth in the answer. The Japanese spaniels are pets of Mrs. Nelda Davis, 4412 E. Lavante St. Mrs. Davis seldom leaves her toys alone. Even when they take their sunbaths outside, she stays with them. To her they are little people who need companionship of humans.

Dog Research News of the Albers Milling Co. division of Carnation Co. of Los Angeles lists other factors that contribute to the longevity of dogs.

1. Careful selective breeding. Some dog families are long-lived, so it is possible to breed "long life" into a puppy. He inherits fixed characteristics, and if he doesn't become ill or injured, he'll be with his family longer than a puppy whose breeders ignore this truth.

2. Scientific feeding. More prepared dog foods are sold in markets than baby foods. In split litter tests, the condition of puppies fed on quality commercial foods was as good as those fed commercial foods with additional meat, fish, etc. A great deal is known about a dog's needs, and it is an unwise owner who lavishes too many supplementary foods on his dog without first consulting a veterinarian.

3. Sanitation and disease control. Parasites should be eliminated and the dog and his area kept clean. A veterinarian will help with preventive measures and again in time of doggy trouble.

4. Proper equipment. It is amazing how many people buy a puppy without first considering where it will sleep, what it will eat, what grooming tools are needed, etc.

5. Training. A schooled dog, one that feels he is pleasing his owner, has a sense of security that adds years to his life. Also, he won't be out chasing automobiles, raiding refuse cans, and in general courting disaster.

BEVERLY RIVIERA Kennel Club has a show at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium today. Next Sunday, Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club will have a show and trial at Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa. Top dog obedience demonstration will take place at Pasadena's Brookside Park at 6 p.m. today.

Tips on Gardening

GARDEN TIPS for the week . . . Lift bloomed-out gladiolus when tops turn brown. Cut the stalks off about an inch above the corms and store the latter in a cool place. They should also be dusted before storing; ask your nurseryman.

September and October are good months to put in that new lawn. Do it right! Ask your nurseryman and follow his instructions.

Ranunculus and anemone tubers are available for planting in September. Soak them overnight before putting them in the ground.

Bedding plants for winter bloom should be planted now. Stocks, violas, pansies, cinerarias, calendulas are five good choices.

Many perennials — especially the shasta daisies — need dividing this month.

Japanese Art Exhibited at Fair

JAL Photo

One of 20 groupings in Japanese Shibui exhibit being sponsored by Los Angeles County Fair by Japan Air Lines. Individual items also are considered under term Shibui.

By Bob Joyce

JAPAN'S concept of beauty, known as Shibui, is now on exhibit in Southern California for the first time during the Los Angeles County Fair, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily through Sept, 30 at Pomona.

"Shibui—The Calm Beauty of Japan" will be presented in the fair's International Building. The entire exhibit, which includes more than 110 works of art in 20 groupings, will then go on tour to many of the leading galleries in the United States.

Purpose of the exhibit is to reveal the nature of the most treasured portions of Japan's aesthetics as seen in fabrics, clothing, utensils, lacquerware, metalware and pottery. Some of the items are antique, others are contemporary works by both great Japanese artists and humble, anonymous artisans. All items are for everyday as well as ceremonial occasions.

ACCORDING TO ART experts of Japan Air Lines, through whose auspices the exhibit is being presented, there are varying degrees of beauty, ranging from the trivial called Hade (hah-day) meaning bright or bold; Iki (ee-kee) meaning chic or high fashion; to Jimi, the Japanese word for sober or sedate. Shibui, above all these, is the most difficult to attain.

An exact definition or translation of Shibui is impossible. Shibui is not so much a thing as it is a quality. It can be applied to shape, color, sound—in fact, it can involve all five senses. Shibui is seen in objects, dress, manners, garden design and in cooking and presenting food.

Shibui is the art of understatement. It is simplicity. It is modesty. It is silence. It is a love of richness, imperfection and irregularity which only time can bestow upon something, as in the case of antiques.

Shibui is a quality of beauty which Japanese strive for in their personal lives, an elusive beauty goal which most fail to achieve, but all can appreciate.

PURPOSE OF the JAL exhibit is to give Southern Californians an opportunity to see in reality a quality which has been borrowed from the Japanese and which experts say is becoming more and more evident in American homes.

Cupid Lost to a Steamer Ticket

Before leaving on a six-month trip, Harry Hamilton displayed the long ticket taking him to far places.

By Bonnie Brown

LONG AGO Harry Hamilton had to decide between buying a marriage license or a steamship ticket. He decided on the steamship ticket and has been carrying on a romance with travel for most of his 66 years.

Novelist, playwright, teacher, movie script writer and hero, Hamilton recently left his Belmont Shore home on a six-month trip to Tahiti, Australia and the Orient.

He began his writing career at 16 in Tucson, Ariz., when a movie company arrived to shoot scenes for the film.

"I wrote a four-page script, 'A Border Romance' and sold it to the company for $15. Drunk with success, I wrote another yarn, 'An Orange Grove Romance' and darned if it wasn't bought for $15 for Alice Joyce and Carlyle Blackwell, two famous stars of the period. Years later, when I was working at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, I met Miss Joyce. She didn't remember the picture."

HAMILTON was teaching in Illinois country schools when World War I broke out. He enlisted in the Army.

Wanderlust hit him after his discharge and he got a job on a freighter to France where he got another job demonstrating the Charleston and Black Bottom in a Paris cafe.

Back from Europe, Hamilton found he was a hero, complete with Carnegie Foundation medal and college scholarship.

"I got the medal for not knowing how to swim," Hamilton said. "I was on the Mississippi with some friends and one of them found himself in deep water and yelling for help. I went after him. Unfortunately, I didn't know how to swim either. Another boy who did know how to swim, pushed me to shore and brought in the original victim.

"It got reported as an act of heroism on the part of the boy who saved both of us. The Carnegie people, however, saw it differently. They decided that since he knew how to swim, it was his duty to save us, but since I didn't and tried anyway, I was a hero. They gave medals to both of us."

THE SCHOLARSHIP put Hamilton through Carnegie Tech where he dabbled in playwrighting for the college drama department and had as his roommate Norman Foster, with whom, after graduation in 1924, he collaborated in turning out plays while teaching in high schools and at Auburn University and running the Little Theater in Montgomery, Ala.

He and Foster wrote five plays. One of them, "Savage Rhythm," was sold to producer John Golden. It opened New Year's Eve, 1932, and ran for two weeks.

Hamilton turned to the novel.

Bobbs - Merrill published "Banjo On My Knee," and 20th Century-Fox filmed it in 1936. It was a big success and Hamilton recalls the preview night in Westwood.

"My mother, father and brother were with me. Barbara Stanwyck linked her arm through mine and thanked me for writing her a good part, and Walter Brennan, who nearly stole the picture, congratulated my parents on having me for a son. Nothing has happened to me to top that."

M-G-M- SIGNED Hamilton to a five year contract with the usual option clauses. He lived through several of the options while a second book, "All Their Children Were Acrobats" came out.

He decided, in 1937, to take a three-month leave from his M-G-M- job (at a $10,000 loss in salary) to go to Samoa to write a novel with an Arkansas background. The work was "Watch Us Grow," and he wound up in the south of France before he finished it.

"As it turned out at the book store counters," said Hamilton, "my mistake was in not writing it in Little Rock."

After an option pickup he didn't survive, he had two more books published: "River Song," which was condensed in Liberty Magazine, went through two regular editions and a 200,000 copy Armed Forces edition; and "Thunder in the Wilderness" which went through a regular edition and then into a paperback Permabook edition. In between, he was selling short stories to Liberty, Esquire, and Colliers.

THE TRAVEL BUG hit him again in 1938 and he was off to Europe again.

Next year, Hamilton plans still another trip, a round-the-world journey by freighter.

"By then," says Hamilton, "I will have run out of money and geography."

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

Q. What is the origin of the saying, "The time has come, the walrus said"? F. M.

A. This is from stanza 11 of "The Walrus and the Carpenter," from the book "Through the Looking-Glass" by Lewis Carroll (Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, 1832-1898). The stanza begins, "The time has come," the Walrus said, / "To talk of many things: / Of shoes — and ships—and sealing wax — / Of cabbages — and kings—"

Q. What kind of tax is the federal estate tax? C. V.

A. It is classed as an excise tax on the right to transfer property at death, and is based on the value of the property transferred. The word "property" in this case is a very inclusive one, covering even some gifts made during the donor's lifetime.

Q. What can be done to cure dry, brittle fingernails? M. S.

A. An inadequate diet may be the primary cause of this condition. Soaking the hands too long in dishwater may remove the natural oil from nails, as may over-frequent use of nail polish remover, or even a too dry atmosphere. If the diet is not at fault, dry fingernails caused by external conditions can often be corrected by rubbing cold cream into and around the nails frequently.

Q. What is the difference between a vaccine and an antitoxin?—A. J.

A. Vaccines are mild or weak infectious agents which cause the human body to manufacture its own immunity to other more serious infections. Antitoxins are derived from animals which are inoculated with a disease they are able to resist by manufacturing antibodies in their blood; their blood serum can then be injected in a human patient to confer immunity. The first form of vaccination was inoculation with cowpox, a mild disease which produces immunity to smallpox.

Q. Who was the first clown to use white paint on his face?—T. V.

A. Gros Guillaume ("Big William"), a farce actor in Paris in the time of Henry IV, made up his face with a thick coating of flour, which he sent flying into the eyes of his fellow players by puffing out his fat cheeks. The white face of the modern clown is a direct inheritance from this 18th century Pierrot.

Q. Who was the "Mr. Dooley" who is so often quoted? T. A.

A. "Mr. Dooley" was the humorous creation of the American satirist Finley Peter Dunne (1867-1936). From behind the bar of his mythical saloon in Chicago, "Dooley" held forth in his broad Irish dialect on contemporary events and happenings. The "Dooley" sketches were syndicated in the press. Most of them appeared between 1893 and 1905.

Q. Who said "Taxes are what we pay for civilized society"? C. T.

A. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. in a decision handed down in 1904.

CAMERA ANGLES

Don't Be Afraid of Shade

There's a fascinating world around the camera fan, as this merit-award shot in 1962 Kodak high school photo contest proves. Plus item to rope design is butterfly.

By Irving Desfor

THERE'S nothing that beats shooting pictures of people in the bright sun — except, perhaps, shooting in the open shade or under a hazy sky.

You get no squints, frowns or wrinkled brows.

You get no washed-out highlights in face and figure.

IT'S HARD to buck the ancient rule of dragging people out into the bright sun to take their picture. Once upon a time there was a reason for the rule: you needed all the light of the sun to get good exposures with the combination of slow lenses and slow film which prevailed.

Today we have finer lenses even in simple cameras and faster film, even in color. So try shooting people in open shade and when the sun is hidden by haze or by a cloud layer. For best results in color, add a skylight filter to eliminate some of the bluish reflection from the sky. The exposure doesn't change because of the filter but a warmer tone is added to the picture. See, then, if you don't get faces of people as they are—relaxed and natural — because they don't have to squint in the sun.

Don't!

Especialy if the event or occasion has more than casual significance. At its best, the colors from color film which has passed its expiration date will be somewhat degraded and the resulting pictures will be shown with apologies or an explanation.

For those who haven't the heart to toss the film away—even if out-dated — this is the time to try experimental work with filters, close-up lenses or time exposures. At least you might learn something in exchange for the cost of processing.

Camera Event

Long Beach Camera Guild has scheduled a nature program by Ken Sloop of Orange County Camera Club for its meeting at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Library, 5614 Britton Dr. Color slides will be shown. September contest winners included Don and Elva Hayward, Roy and Fossie Ludlum, Chuck Haven, and Hazel Vosper, color slides; Don Hayward, Joe Graves and Ada Fredricks, stereo. Sloop was the judge.

TRAVEL—RESORTS

Around the World With DELAPLANE

"Are there good women's hairdressers in Spain? Do they speak English?"

IN MADRID, yes on both. The Castellana Hilton has a good beauty shop. After some time of getting haircuts in languages I don't speak, I got one I liked in the Castellana Hilton. I had passport photographs made—all four sides.

I show these to a barber, say in Japan. And he knows what I want. You might try that. It saves a lot of wear and tear on the phrase book.

"There was something in the paper about a tour to South America by a writer."

That's me. I'm taking a pretty colorful writing swing around South America in late October and taking a few people with me. (Not a guided tour but you'll see everything I see.) Down the West Coast via Lima and back through Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro. Handled by a hui of travel agents. You send your address, I'll have them send you the folder.

"What is this business about flying to Rome and seeing 16 cities in Europe that you talked about?"

The air transport rules are set up in such a way that you can stop in various airports even though your carrier doesn't land there.

For example: If your carrier goes to Lisbon and then Zurich (as SWISSAIR does), you are entitled to fly Iberia, the Spanish airline, to Madrid and then to Majorca where you pickup SWISSAIR again.

On a round-trip from New York to London, you can stop off either way in Bermuda for a very few dollars.

With Rome as the farthest point on your ticket, you can fly in via London to Scandinavia, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Rome and out via Lisbon or Paris. A travel agent works this out for you in a couple of minutes. No charge. Their percentage comes from the airline.

"We are five single, career girls (25). What we would like to know about a trip to Europe is what NOT to do or buy."

I WOULD NOT buy off street peddlers. Lot of this in Spain and Italy. It's junky. Offers to sell you cut-rate cloth or anything else as "smuggled" is a switch on the old pigeon drop. Usually done by a "seaman" and a "stranger" getting into conversation in front of you and dragging you in as referee.

I would NOT go to tea with one of the "Counts" with the wavy hair around the Spanish Steps in Rome. You wind up picking up the dinner tab. (In Mexico you run into a little blackmail, too.)

Change your money in banks. Count your change, especially from taxis. Generally, Europe is much safer and easier than the U.S. But there's always a local racket.

"What do you think of two boys of 19 driving to Mexico City? My mother says if you say so, it's OK."

I did at 19. I say it's OK. (But get off the highway before night. Anybody driving at night in Mexico is loco.

"Are the 'primer tendido' seats you mentioned as good for Mexico bull fights all right for taking pictures? I do not have a telephoto lens."

No. For close shots you ask for 'barrera' seats on the shady side. That's ringside.

"What shots do we need to visit Guaymas, Mexico?"

So close to the border, I wouldn't bother about shots for a short trip. You need a smallpox vaccination within the last three years—stamped by your City health department—to get back in the U.S.

"If we drive in Europe, can you suggest the gasoline to buy?"

All countries in Europe have gasoline geared for any kind of car. But you don't find too many of the service stations like those in the States—the hand pump outside the local garage is more usual.

In the service stations you do find, windshield washing or tire checking must be against the social order. Even so, I see Frenchmen tip the small change after paying. Same in Italy.

The Shell stations seem to have more free road information. Free maps, pamphlets on camping, sightseeing and hotels. If there are rest rooms, theirs are best kept up.

"Is it advisable for a woman alone (middle-aged but I look younger) to stay in Guadalajara, Mexico? I'm interested in writing and painting. . . ."

There's nearby town of Ajijic that has quite an American writers' and artists' colony and you're certainly safe enough there or Guadalajara. I thought Ajijic had a kind of arty feeling though.

I liked better San Miguel de Allende. Good art and writing school. Small Mexican town. Good accommodations cheap. You get a folder on this by writing Instituto Allende, San Miguel de Allende, Gro., Mexico.

Beauty Gives 'Visit USA' a Lift

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

A TALL statuesque blonde with measurements worthy of the Folies Bergere will be in Long Beach during the Wings Over the World Show on Sept. 22-23 to survey the city as a destination spot for several hundred vacationing Europeans.

She is Carin Holmberg, 26-year-old native of Vemdalen, Jamtland, Sweden. She also is a stewardess for Scandinavian Airlines System.

Her appearance here is part of a joint endeavor by National Airlines and SAS to bring more European tourists to vacation spots in Southern California as a part of the Visit USA program sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

AT THE SAME TIME, a National stewardess, Alice Hayhoe, will be in Europe touring SAS system cities where, through newspaper and television interviews, she will extoll the advantages of Long Beach and Southern California as a resort and playground.

Miss Holmberg speaks fluent English, French, German and Swedish. She will stay at the Lafayette Hotel while in Long Beach.

On Sunday, Sept. 23, she will be one of the hostesses on board a National Airlines DC-8 which will be on public display at the Long Beach Municipal Airport during the Wings Over the World Show.

CARIN HOLMBERG
She'll Survey Long Beach . . .

As part of the stewardess exchange program between National and SAS, Miss Holmberg also will visit via NAL cities in Louisiana, Florida, Washington and New York.

NATIONAL AND SAS, working together, are ideally suited to bring European traffic to Southern California that ordinarily would remain on the East Coast.

During 1961, European travelers to the USA spent approximately $132 million in this country as compared to $613 million spent by American citizens in Europe. Statistics compiled by the U.S. Department of Commerce show that little more than half of the Europeans visiting our country extend their tours beyond the confines of New York or Washington, D.C.

Through use of NAL's new triangle fare (Los Angeles to New York by way of Miami for only $25 extra), Europeans arriving in New York on SAS jetliners can easily come to Long Beach at a minimum cost and return to Europe via SAS polar flights.

HARVEST BEGINS this week on a record crop of tasty mountain grown apples in the Oak Glen area near Beaumont, and once again hundreds of Southlanders will motor there to buy the fruit direct from growers.

Red Delicious and Rome Beauty look especially promising, according to Blackie Wilshire, president of the Oak Glen Apple Growers Association, with early varieties such as Glen Seedlings, Gravensteins and Transparents now being harvested. The growers are located along Oak Glen Blvd., between Beaumont and Yucaipa, along with coffee shops which specialize in hot apple pies during the picking season.

IF YOU PLAN a trip, and worry about being abroad in a strange land and unable to communicate with the natives, here's help in a big way.

"Berlitz World-Wide Phrase Book," prepared by the staff of the Berlitz School of Languages and first volume of its kind, uses pronunciation-at-a-glance method in 16 different languages to help you "get through" on such basic matters as accommodations, transportation, food service, shopping and emergencies.

The languages covered, and comprehended by more than 90 per cent of the two billion persons of the world, include Spanish, Portuguese, French, Dutch, German, Swedish, Italian, Greek, Russian, Hebrew, Arabic, Swahili, Urdu-Hindi, Indonesian, Chinese and Japanese.

If your favorite book dealer does not have a copy, you may order it from Grosset & Dunlap, Inc., 1107 Broadway, New York 10, N.Y. ($2.95).

THE TRAVEL AGENT is playing an ever-increasing role in stimulating business for the nation's air carriers, notes D. E. Midgley, system director of agency sales for Trans World Airlines.

In 1961, Midgley reports, travel agencies accounted for 34.5 per cent of total passenger revenues on TWA's 50,000 miles of routes in the United States and across the Atlantic to Europe, the Middle East and Asia. For their share in this volume of revenue, travel agents collected $8,509,000 in commissions.

The same trend is indicated for 1962. In the first six months of this year, TWA paid $4,627,000 in agents' commissions.

YOUR GARDEN

In Emulation of a Founding Father

"Snow-on-the-Mountain," or Euphorbia marginata, offers interesting foliage.

—Burpee Seeds Photos.

By Murtha Hurley

ONE OF THE founding fathers of our great country was an ardent young gardener as he himself wrote;

"No occupation is so delightful to me as the culture of the earth and no culture comparable to that of the garden. Such a variety of subjects, some one always coming to perfection, the failure of one thing repaired by the success of another, and instead of one harvest a continued one through the year. . . . Though an old man, I am a young gardener."

Such was the declaration of Thomas Jefferson when he was 68 years of age.

One way to emulate Jefferson's ardor for gardening is to welcome a few newcomers to your garden beds. Almost every gardener, at some time or other, has the urge to plant something different. This lends a sense of adventure to gardening. You will find yourself eager to learn the habits of growth and bloom of the newcomers. Getting acquainted with them adds zest to gardening, keeps a gardener young in heart as well as in limb.

THE FLOWERS mentioned here would not be termed new in the true sense of the word. They are just not the average run-of-the-mill plants. All prosper in our gardens if given a location and soil to their liking and adequate moisture during hot spells.

Beautiful Platycodon or Chinese Bell Flower would be among those present.

Jefferson, an originator of new ideas, would have been interested in the new Gloriosa Daisy, developed from one of our hardiest perennials, the Black-Eyed Susan. You, too, will thrill to the six-to-seven inch golden daisies so easily grown.

PLATYCODON grandiflorum is a beautiful plant. Because its buds resemble miniature balloons, it is called the balloon-flower. In June the plump buds open to unfold large, waxen star-shaped flowers. Plants are set in beds in early spring. Flowers are a deep, cool violet blue, pure white and a soft pink, recently developed. A lovely double blue flower is also available.

The plants develop into dense-branching bushes about 2½ feet high. The bush blooms all summer if flowers are snipped off when faded. This is necessary since the flowers last just one day.

You can grow Platycodon from seeds. If new little plants are set in the bed in early spring they should bloom the first year, usually in August. When once established, thereafter they will bloom from June through the summer. Set plants ten inches apart.

Platycodon likes a moderately fertilized loam with extra humus, will not succeed in stiff, heavy soil. Mix plenty of leaf mold with the soil. Good drainage is essential. It the border is slightly raised, so much the better.

PLANTS PROSPER in the shade as well as in mildly sunny spots. Consistent irrigation, not sprinkling, particularly in hot weather is necessary. Plants are hardy, long-lived perennials. Once roots are established, they do not wish to be disturbed. Let grow and spread, without dividing. Often more flowers are obtained from young transplants than from divisions.

In the fall, do not cut old stems off. Just let the plants die naturally, otherwise the crown may be injured.

Gloriosa Daisy is just that, a glorified daisy, six to seven inches across, borne on long cutting stems that are rigid. Blooms make excellent cut flowers that hold up well indoors. The plants are vigorous, defy drought, heat and cold weather, grow into bushes three feet tall. They were developed from 40 years experimentation by the American plant scientist, Dr. Albert F. Blakeslee, working with our American native flower, Rudbeckia hirta.

Sow seeds in early spring where you want them to grow, in full sunlight, or set small plants.

"Snow-on-the-Mountain" is an annual in a class all by itself. It is easily grown from seed, likes dry soil. Its distinctive beauty is in broadly veined and white margined leaves with the topmost leaves almost white. It grows 3 to 4 feet tall. The cut foliage makes interesting arrangements.

THE PLANTS are sometimes used as a hedge. It has inconspicuous flowers with showy white bracts, somewhat like the poinsettia, to which it is related.

You will not find this plant in nurseries, as a rule. Sow seeds in spring to enjoy the unusual plant from July to October. Plant in full sun.

One caution. The stems have a milky juice. Do not get this in your eyes, mouth or in cuts.

It's Time to Replant Iris

By Joe Littlefield

Iris plantings should be worked over now, old rhizomes discarded and new ones planted for better spring bloom.

WORK OVER your old iris planting, and you'll have young new plants blooming lustily next spring. Old iris clumps not divided within the past three or four years should be dug up and separated. Old knobby plants should be thrown away and new ones replanted.

Unless you grow a bed of iris by themselves, it is a good idea to plant iris in a sunny bed whether the area contains all annuals which seasonally are replanted, all perennials that bloom each year and are replanted every three or four years, or a flower bed containing both annuals and perennials.

You'll create a more pleasing effect if you plant iris in a flower bed in groups of three, the plants set out in a triangular fashion with foliage ends of the rhizomes facing away from center of the triangle.

IRIS SPECIALISTS recommend a slanting, angle cut, shaped like an arrowhead. when cutting foliage back on iris being replanted. First, because the new blades (foliage) coming on seem to make a better shaped fan (composition of leaves); also there is less chance of water or bugs settling on the cut and causing rot as the cut heals.

Tops of the rhizomes should be showing slightly above the soil level. If rhizomes are buried, blooming may be affected.

Dorothy Digs in the Garden

By Dorothy Jonson

We often hear gardeners complain of oak root fungus in the soil. This is a very dangerous disease that can spread and destroy the soil of an entire garden. But, fortunately, in most cases the condition will turn out to be just an ordinary fungus which can be effectively controlled by applying agricultural sulphur and spraying the soil with a good copper (not mercury) fungicide.

If you do have the genuine oak root fungus, you can recognize it by the offensive odor that always accompanies it. And in that case you should bare the roots of any trees or shrubs, growing in the area, to the sunlight and spray them with a good fungicide. Make sure that these trees have proper drainage and then leave the roots exposed to the sun for three or four weeks. This is the best thing you can do. When you replace the soil either use new healthy soil or mingle the soil you took out with agricultural sulphur.

Begonia Talk

"General Culture of Begonias" will be the topic of Bert Slatter of Los Angeles at a meeting of Parent chapter, American Begonia Society, at a meeting and potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Linden Hall, 208 Linden Ave. There will be a plant sale. Visitors are welcome.

Almost 1 out of every 2 women suffer pre-menstrual tension

... but don't know what's wrong

WEIGHT GAIN, BLUE MOODS, "NERVES," IRRITABILITY HEADACHES, TEMPER FLARE-UPS, MAY ALL BE SYMPTOMS

How new scientific tablet can now control these physical and emotional upsets without taking hormones, narcotics, or harmful sedatives.

Many women fail to realize that for a week prior to their periods, an excessive amount of water accumulates in body tissues—putting pressure on nerves and organs. As tension builds up, breasts become sore . . . you feel bloated, irritable, nervous, headachy . . . even gain weight.

Now medical science has at last found an effective, yet simple, inexpensive relief for this pre-menstrual tension. It's Pamprin—and it contains no hormones, no narcotics, no harmful sedatives. Pamprin will positively not interfere with the normal cycle, duration or flow of your period.

Pamprin safely rids the body of excess water and thus relieves tension as no aspirin or simple pain-reliever can. At the same time, doctors find, Pamprin has a wonderfully calming, soothing effect on the irritability, "nerves" and emotional upsets common to pre-menstrual time. What's more, many women who ordinarily suffered cramps and backache once periods began, found surprising relief, too. Pamprin with its exclusive medically approved formula is now available in tablet form, without prescription, at your druggist. Get Pamprin today. Try it before your next period. Or for a generous free trial supply of Pamprin Tablets, send your name and address today to Chattem Laboratories, Dept. 5, Chattanooga 9, Tennessee.

JOSEPHINE REYNOLDS

She Gets Letters

THERE'S only one thing wrong with the Melody Cove, 1960 Santa Fe Ave.

It's closed Sundays.

But owners Jerry Reynolds and his tall brunette wife, Josephine, deserve a day of rest, because they do a terrific job of pleasing the dining out public the rest of the week.

Mondays through Fridays, the redesigned and redecorated Melody Cove serves its fine steaks and sea foods from 11:30 a.m. to midnight. Saturdays it serves from 2 p.m. to midnight. Various specials run through the week, such as as spaghetti and meatballs dinner for $1.75 on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and a delicious prime rib au jus dinner served for $2.25 Thursdays only.

Jerry and Josephine are careful food buyers who operate a scentific kitchen where there is a minimum of waste. As a result they have for years maintained a price schedule which is lower than other restaurants of comparable quality. And the Melody Cove is a quality house. One of its most popular specials, a teriyaki steak dinner, has been so successful that other restaurants have copied it. Tabbed at $2.25, it includes a moderate sized, tender broiled sirloin which is marinated in soy sauce and ginger. It is served with a cup of exotic sauce into which the happy diner dips each forkful, and it's accompanied by soup du jour or a crisp green salad, baked potato with cheese sauce, hot garlic bread and coffee.

Another extremely popular Melody Cove item is the $2.50 top sirloin. Still another is the veal cutlets dinner, $2.25, which is so well liked that guests often write letters and notes to Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds to report how much they like it. Other excellent menu items include large top sirloin, $3.25; Australian lobster tail, $3.65; eastern scallops, $2.15 and fried jumbo shrimp, $2.15.

Writer Asserts 'Quality' Returns to TV via Series

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

"Saints and Sinners," a newspaper series created by a former newspaperman, debuts 8:30 p.m. Monday on channel 4.

The hourly opener guest stars Lola Albright and Brian Donlevy and features Nick Adams in his regular series role as reporter Nick Alexander.

The real behind-the-scenes star is the head writer and creator of the series, Adrian Spies, one of the most respected authors in the nation.

He wrote for "Playhouse 90," "Studio One," "Robert Montgomery Presents" and several others of the same caliber.

In 1957 he won the $20,000 Robert Sherwood Award for TV drama entitled "Island in the City."

It was about a Puerto Rican detective in New York. The drama dealt with what it is like to be a member of a minority and to hate that minority.

* * * *

NOT TOO long afterwards, television underwent a drastic change. Most of the anthologies died. As Spies puts it:

"The big, beautiful anthologies became economically not feasible."

And Spies, for the most part, stopped writing for television.

"I had the idea it was impossible for a writer—under the new setup— to preserve his identity as an idividual."

He stuck by that idea until last year. Today, he candidly admits: "I was wrong."

What convinced him he was wrong was the quality of such series as "Dr. Kildare" and "The Defenders."

* * * *

SPIES DESCRIBES them as "splendid series."

"I realized in the pressure-cooker of television," Spies said, "that series would provide the most likely area where we were going to get the most quality in TV."

He wrote an episode for "The Defenders." He wrote a two-parter for "Target: The Corruptors." And he wrote a drama for "The Dick Powell Show," a new anthology series that will be back for a second season.

He doesn't look for any great comeback of the anthologies. In addition to the "not economically feasible" aspect, Spies believes the public prefers series with running characters.

But series today are conveying "more maturity in attitude."

And that "maturity is being reflected by the number of top writers returning to the medium.

* * * *

"FOR EXAMPLE," said Spies, "I wanted Ernest Kinoy and Joe Stefano to do scripts for 'Saints and Sinners.'

"These are writers who make statements and make them well.

"I told them, 'Give us your statements and we'll adjust them to the series.'"

Basically, what that means is that the author has a chance to preserve his identity as an individual. Basically, what that means is TV quality not ham-strung by cliche attitudes.

Both Kinoy and Stefano, incidentally, agreed to do scripts for "Saints."

* * * *

ON THE LESS aesthetic side of the picture, one reason that Spies agreed to his attachment to "Saints" was that he was given a percentage of the series.

While the percentage is not broken down publicly in dollars and cents, it's no secret that movie producers would find it difficult to match the offer.

Speaking of percentages, Spies is convinced that the public is the group gaining the most from the new "mature" attitude towards series.

"The great mass of viewers are getting more for their money even if they're not asking for it," he said.

Broadway 'Loser' Hopes He's Picked Winner

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Among the first new television shows of the coming season is an hour comedy series based on the proposition that anglo-American relations can be funny.

Inasmuch as both sides are still smarting somewhat from the spat back in 1776, the show may get more laughs in, say, Buenos Aires than London or New York.

Chief funster in "Fair Exchange," which debuts 9:30 p.m. Friday on channel 2, is Eddie Foy Jr., who plays an American father who sends his daughter to live in England for a year. An old English army buddy has foisted his daughter off on Eddie in return — which accounts for the title.

* * * *

THE EPISODES are divided evenly between the tribulations of the American girl in Blighty and the English miss in Kennedyville.

"The show runs 60 minutes," Foy explained, "but it only amounts to a half-hour for me because I'm only in half of the scenes. Each story flashes from one family back to the other.

"And the situations are exactly the same. For instance, when my daughter wants to go out on a date in London, the English girl living at our house wants to do the same thing. We show what happens to people of different backgrounds when faced by identical situations."

Foy, who has been around since breaking in with his family's vaudeville act back in 1910, is undergoing some anxiety as to whether "Fair Exchange" will be a hit.

* * * *

HE IS A notorious loser at picking hits.

"My average is really lousy," he said at Desilu Studios where the CBS show is being filmed.

"I've starred in 18 Broadway shows," he confessed, his chin trembling in recollection, "and 15 of them were flops. Maybe I shouldn't be in this business.

"But I did have three good hits, 'Pajama Game,' 'The Cat and the Fiddle' and 'The Red Mill.' I'd rather not talk about some of the dogs I was in.

"Let me sum up my judgment at choosing shows. I turned down a big part in 'Oklahoma' because I didn't think it would make the grade. For years afterward I threw up every time I walked by the theater where it was playing."

* * * *

FOY, A GENTLE soul who has moved from New York to Hollywood, hopes that his luck will improve in television.

"I decided to go along with a television series because there aren't many movies being made, and the way I was picking 'em on Broadway I was better off not working," he said.

"Besides, they offered me very good money to come out here for the show. I think the premise is funny, and if we all work hard there's no reason to believe our series won't be a hit."

Eddie said the same thing on 15 other occasions in New York.

EDDIE FOY JR. . . . New Series Star

SERIES ABOUT 'COURAGEOUS TEENAGERS

'It's a Man's World' Premieres

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — All right, you've been howling for something new and different on television, and now you're going to get it.

You may not like the innovation but it promises to be a considerable departure from any series ever telecast.

Titled "It's A Man's World," the hour-long show depicts today's teenagers in an entirely new light. They are neither glamorized delinquents nor cute kids conning old dad out of five bucks for the prom.

The series premiers 7:30 p.m. Monday on channel 4.

Peter Tewksbury of the slick "My Three Sons" show, is originator, writer, director and producer of this experimental series and may prove to be a messiah to that large, over-dramatized, much-catered-to-segment of the population—the teenager.

* * * *

BUT TEWKSBURY, a slender, driving personality, says it best:

"Our continuing series is an argument refuting the idea that the youth of this country is psychotic, physically unfit and emotionally unstable.

"I'm tired of seeing young people on television depicted as idiots or delinquents. The only real way to explore their potential is to remove authority from their lives, family, teachers, coaches and clergymen, and put them on their own."

Tewksbury has taken four totally unknown actors between the ages of 14 and 22 and placed them on a houseboat on the Ohio River where they encounter (and sometimes solve) the problems of their age group.

* * * *

BY HIS OWN admission episodes follow no real plots. Instead, he works on the theme that today's kids are more courageous than past generations and are equipped with sufficient values to cope with the complexities of the atom age.

He has chosen the Midwest as a setting, shooting backgrounds in Marietta, Ohio. Marietta is known as Cordova in the series. Townspeople were unaware their city would be used for the show's local when Tewksbury and company were shooting there during the summer.

"We deal with honest sex, drunkenness, petty crime and such," he said. "But we tell our stories with humor and compassion.

"Basically we are attempting to entertain, but the show also is strongly educational."

* * * *

TEWKSBURY is well qualified to run a show about youngsters. He has four children of his own ranging from 9 to 15 years old.

"They are all positive, well-balanced people and are happy that their father is taking the side of teenagers on TV," he said.

"This is the kind of show that cannot be appreciated immediately. Viewers should see it four or five times before forming conclusions. I think if they watch it that long they will become fans."

"We either will be tremendously popular or a big bomb," Tawsbury concluded. "I believe we will be successful."

GLENN CORBETT (left) and Randy Boone are two of the four relatively unknown youths who will be featured in "It's a Man's World" premiering on Monday at 7:30 p. m. on channel 4.

Pan and Fan Mail

I am a faithful watcher of the program "As the World Turns" on channel 2 and I think it is a wonderful clean show.

My 13-year-old daughter watches every chance she gets.

So sorry that the story writer had the wonderful actor Jeff to die. Sure won't seem the same to us anymore.

Mrs. Frank Smith, Long Bch.

I watch "As the World Turns" and was very disappointed the way Jeff Baker was taken from the program.

What is his real name?

Also, will he be in another series and what is he doing and where is he since leaving the program?

Mrs. B. Baker, Long Beach

CBS doesn't make it clear whether Mark Rydell got tired of the wonderfully clean soap opera or the world turned on him.

The network does know that he is planning to direct plays on Broadway.

If your letters are typical of femme reaction throughout the nation, I'd say CBS killed off an actor with Vince "Ben Casey" Edwards appeal for the ladies.

I read your answer to a letter about Raymond Burr and may I say although you may be right about the name, you are wrong about the address.

I belong to Stars Fan Club. In my latest brochure Mr. Burr's home address is listed as Larchmont Blvd., Los Angeles. I have omnitted the street number although that too is listed.

Now which is correct?

Do stars like Raymond Burr and Barbara Hale bother to read their fan mail or does some one do it for them?

How much mail do they average a week?

Beverly Caplan, Long Beach

While you were omitting the address, you might just as well have omitted the street.

Burr lives in Malibu, not Los Angeles and not on Larchmont Blvd.

Mail sent to Burr and Miss Hale is opened by their secretaries. Most letters are routine requests for photos. The secretaries handle these requests. Occasionally, the secretaries give fan mail requiring personal attention to the stars.

Burr, his office reports, averages about 3,000 letters a week. Miss Hale gets about 1,500.

I protest!

Why do all the good shows come on so late at night?

Take "Steve Allen" for an example. Since it ended at midnight I could watch it on Fridays during school. But now that it's scheduled 45 minutes later, I can't even watch it then.

Please! Can't you do something about this great show and others that can't be enjoyed by school kids?

Debby Billstein, Long Beach

Yes I can. I, too, protest!

So have—at last count—300 phone callers and 30 letter writers to KTLA (channel 5).

The station's programming director reports he's keeping a tally of the protests and may "later re-evalute the situation."

Why he changed the 10:30 p.m. situation to 11:15 in the first place he refuses to disclose.

'Hazel' Returns for Second Season

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"My mother told me I had the soul of a maid," said Shirley Booth, "and here I am playing one. It worked out perfectly."

The distinguished actress who received an Emmy award for a series actress as NBC-TV's "Hazel," (second season premiere 9:30 p.m. Thursday, channel 4) looked up from her lunch on the outdoor terrace of a Sunset Blvd. restaurant and said:

"I've had my own maid for 20 years. But I can't change. I'm one of those people who are always straightening things—ashtrays, everything. Nothing makes me happier than hammering nails or baking or gardening at my Cape Cod (Mass.) cottage."

* * * *

THIS NATURAL attachment to a role, she said, is perhaps one of the reasons she is not disturbed at being committed to the "Hazel" series for five years. She admits many of her fans feel that she should not stay away from the stage so long, and that some have the opinion she is demeaning herself with her television role.

She disagrees.

"What are you an actress for, if not to have a wide range?" she said. "People always remember me in 'Come Back, Little Sheba.' But they forget the kind of earthy comedy I played in the show 'Three Men On A Horse' on Broadway or on radio's "Duffy's Tavern.' "

* * * *

MISS BOOTH, whose series trails only "Bonanza" and "Wagon Train" in the national television audience ratings, is indeed one of the few performers who can lay legitimate claim to the old publicity saw: "Star of stage, screen, radio and television."

She has won three Antoinette Perry awards for her stage roles, which include, in addition to "Sheba," "The Philadelphia Story," "My Sister Eileen," "Goodbye, My Fancy," "By the Beautiful Sea," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" (in which she sang), "Desk Set" and "The Time of the Cuckoo."

This last play was made into the movie "Summertime" with Katherine Hepburn and is another example of Miss Booth's diversity; in it she played an American spinster on an Italian fling.

* * * *

IN MOVIES, she won the Academy Award as best actress for "Come Back, Little Sheba," in which she played a frowsy middle-aged housewife married to Burt Lancaster. The same year, the judges of the Cannes Film Festival named her "the world's greatest actress."

On radio, old fans will remember her as Miss Duffy on the "Duffy's Tavern" show. She was married to Ed Gardner, who played "Archie," the star of the program. They were divorced in 1942, after which Miss Booth returned to score her greatest theater triumphs. Her second marriage was to W. H. Baker Jr., an investment broker who died in 1951. She has not married since.

* * * *

"IT WOULD be lovely to retire again," she said. "Oh, I've done it twice, for both my husbands. I'm really very adaptable and lucky for it. Me, I'd enjoy myself cleaning out an old closet."

Wearing a matronly blue dress, a flowered hat, a string of pearls and carrying a white purse, Miss Booth exuded that natural, mother-like manner which accounts for so much of her television success. She found little to complain about, a rarity in performers.

"I'm really in an enviable situation on my show," she smiled. "For instance, I wear a wig, so I don't have to sit under a dryer. My only costume is a maid's uniform, and I make myself up. It takes all of five minutes, and I don't have to bother with that terrible, long, early-morning suffering of being done up by a professional. And on top of that, I loaf around in a pair of comfortable old shoes."

* * * *

MISS BOOTH made her television debut on the famed "Playhouse 90" in 1957 as Washington hostess Perle Mesta. In 1952, she said:

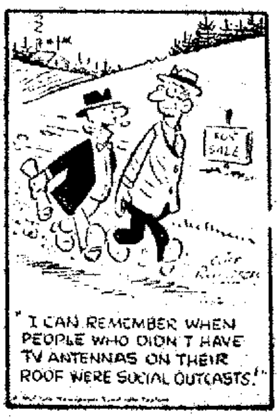
"Hollywood is not my dish of tea. I must play to an audience, or I have no way of measuring my work."

Despite her television success, she has not altered this opinion much, if at all.

"I must say I love working with an audience," she said.

"It's more inspiration than looking into a camera. In a way, movies and television are a form of narcissism. You learn from watching yourself, not the audience."

WHITNEY BLAKE (left) and Shirley Booth, who has title role, rejoice at the return of their series, "Hazel," 9:30 p. m. Thursday, channel 4.



"I CAN REMEMBER WHEN PEOPLE WHO DIDN'T HAVE TV ANTENNAS ON THEIR ROOF WERE SOCIAL OUTCASTS!"

Veterans Get Eight Radios

The queen is Mrs. Ruth Miller, whose husband, Earl is a patient in the paraplegic ward. He was injured in an auto accident 12 days after their marriage.

The sequence showing Mrs. Miller being selected as queen will be aired 3 p.m. Monday on channel 7.

In addition to an array of personal gifts, Mrs. Miller was given a secretarial course for herself.

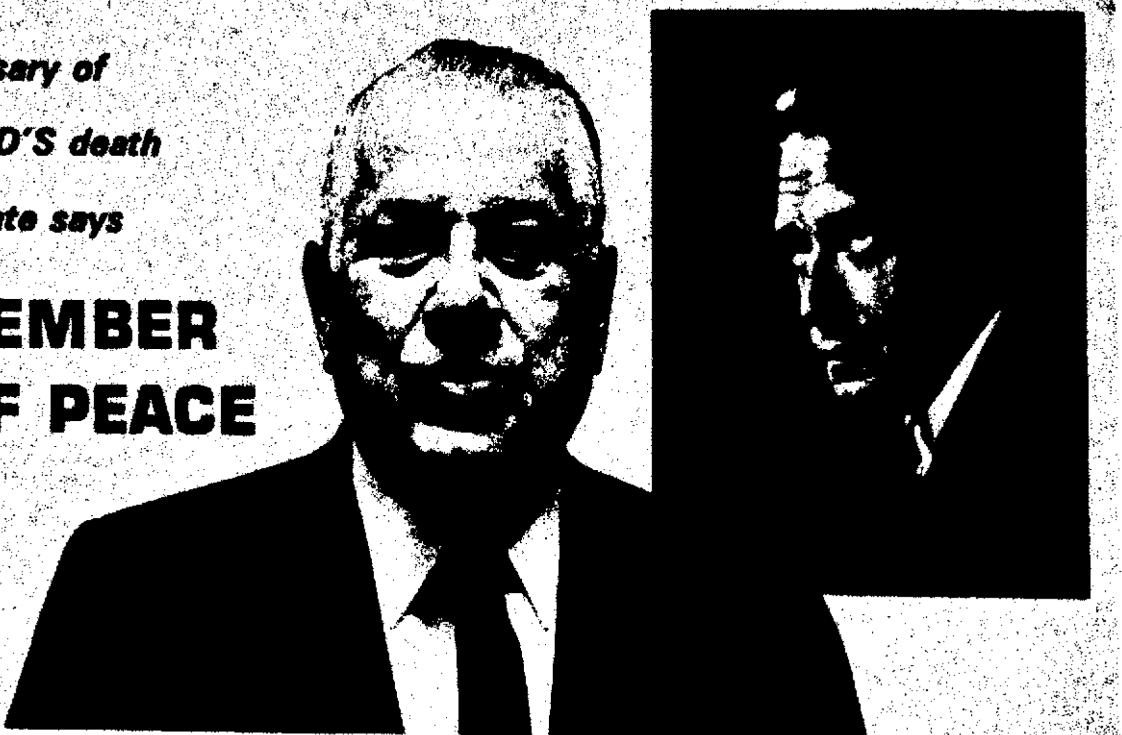
On the first anniversary of DAG HAMMARSKJOLD'S death his closest associate says

LET'S REMEMBER THE MAN OF PEACE



Andrew Cordier and wall photo of Dag Hammarskjold

BY ED KIESTER

"IF INDIVIDUALS are inspired by others—and they are—then Dag Hammarskjold should inspire millions upon millions of young people all around the world. In his life, his ideals and his accomplishments, he set a standard worthy of emulation."

The man speaking was a grey-haired, stout, Ohio-born world diplomat named Andrew Wellington Cordier. For eight years he was executive assistant to the late Secretary-General of the United Nations and his closest associate. He undoubtedly knows more about this brilliant and austere Swede, whose death so shocked the world a year ago this week, than any other person on earth.

Today, Cordier is dedicating himself to keeping Hammarskjold's memory alive. He has left the United Nations, with which he had been affiliated since its birth, to become dean of the Graduate School of International Affairs at Columbia University. One of his major interests, however, will be the Dag Hammarskjold Foundation, of which he is national chairman.

The Foundation, a world-wide organization with headquarters in Stockholm, is now raising funds to carry on Hammarskjold's deepest concerns. During his lifetime, the Secretary-General often called attention to the need for trained young people to help in the development of the newly-emerging nations. The committee hopes to advance this cause by training programs and scholarships in his name.

He Disliked Monuments

"This is the kind of living memorial appropriate to his taste," Cordier says. "He disliked monuments, busts, and portraits. No memorial in concrete or marble would have been suitable. An appropriate memorial had to be something to perpetuate the work that he did for a better and more stable world."

Response to the fund appeal has been "splendid," Cordier says. One of the first to pledge support was Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Congo, the nation whose problems Hammarskjold was attempting to work out when his plane went down in Northern Rhodesia. Sweden and Norway already have raised more than $2 million for the cause. Other countries which have joined include Canada, Tunisia, Australia, and New Zealand. Still others are joining.

"It is extraordinary how the masses of the world felt about Dag Hammarskjold," Cordier says. "I was conscious during his life that he had gained a grip on their imagination. But I was amazed at the depth of the sense of loss registered by them after his death.

"They had come to recognize the extraordinary contribution that he had made in averting war and in promoting peace. Through his herculean efforts and his brilliant accomplishments, he contributed to their welfare, whether in the promotion of economic and social betterment or in the development of a little more stable world. Peoples everywhere, and particularly the Africans and Asians, looked to him for economic, political and even for spiritual leadership."

One Man's Achievement

To Cordier, the message of Hammarskjold's life is that this still is the age of the individual. Despite specialization and mass civilization, one man can still conquer many fields and leave an impact on them all.

"Dag had the breadth and depth of the great men of the Renaissance," Cordier says. "He was the Einstein of diplomacy, a master of economics and banking, yet outside his own specialty he was gifted in fields of culture from architecture to religion. A social evening at his home was unforgettable; he would bring together people from selected cultural fields for a great evening of animated conversation.

"Back in 1955, Dag was chosen to succeed his father in the Swedish Academy, which chooses the Nobel Prize winners in literature. I felt that he would not have time for something so time-consuming; yet he became at once one of the most outstanding members of the Academy. He read all of the best current literature, both for sheer pleasure and for evaluation of its merit for the next Nobel Prize.

"His keen musical sense was manifested in his personal selections of the numbers to be played at the impressive United Nations concerts. These programs developed a reputation for extraordinary quality."

Hammarskjold's unflagging stamina in times of crisis became almost legendary. He worked around the clock in the first hours of the Congo crisis, quickly organized the United Nations Emergency Force and airlifted it to Africa to put down the fighting. At the time of the Suez crisis, he spent virtually a sleepless week, but at its end the fighting had stopped, a United Nations force had been set up and the first steps taken to clear the canal.

"I remember Dag most vividly at those times," Cordier says. "He would work 22 hours, sleep two, work 26 more, sleep two more. The rest of us could hardly keep up. But he wouldn't admit he was tired—he would have regarded it as a blot on his record.

"He could keep going at that pace," Cordier says, "not only because of great physical energy, but because of his iron fiber, his iron will. When he had an aim in mind, he achieved it regardless of difficulties. And this in turn grew from his own deep inner stillness that was a mainspring of his strength—a fortress so strong that disappointments, failures, setbacks and even personal attacks could not weaken his will or compromise his resolution to carry on his great task.

"Dag was a man of character, integrity, faith, determination, wisdom, knowledge. He was a man to be emulated. He was a man to be remembered."

One way to remember the "quiet man of peace," will be the Dag Hammarskjold Foundation. To those who donate, the Foundation will send a certificate of thanks. The United States Committee of the Dag Hammarskjold Foundation has established its headquarters at 155 East 44 Street, New York 17, N.Y. ■

Forehead press: Place hands with interlocked fingers on your forehead. With your hands, press back as if you were trying to push your head out of the way. Continue to apply pressure in this manner for up to 30 seconds.

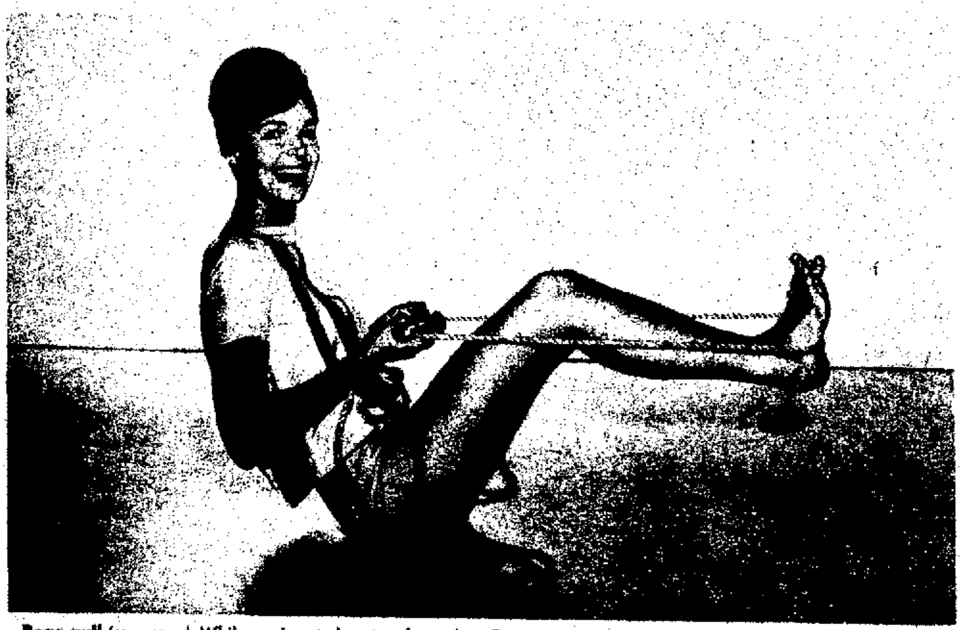
HOW TO LIVE TO BE A HUNDRED

These seven simple exercises—plus good nutrition, proper sleep and regular medical checkups—can extend your life.



Rope pull (see cover): While semi-seated, grasp the ends of a 5-8 foot rope looped around the soles of your feet. Press against rope as hard as possible with both feet and at the same time pull feet toward you with your hands.

Jumping rope: Practice this until you can jump comfortably for five minutes a day. At first that won't be possible, and you may have to begin at 10 or 12 jumps, but in a few weeks you should work up to five minutes.

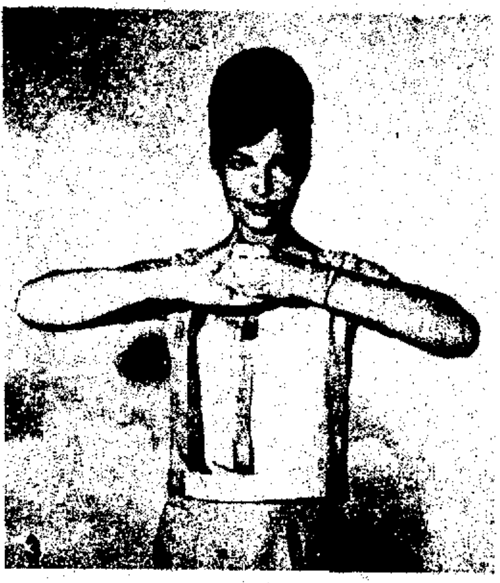
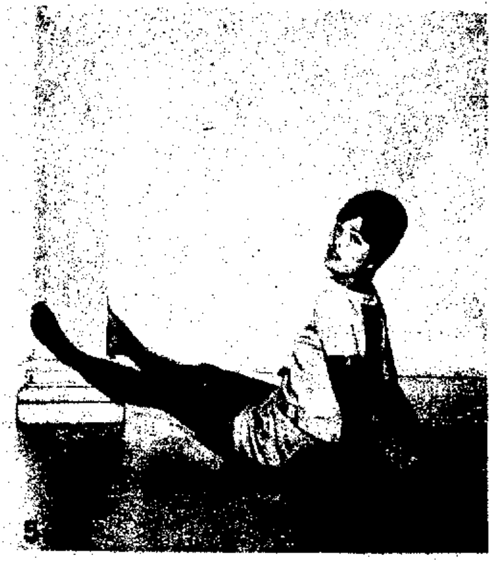
Trotting: Trot for 2, 3 or 4 minutes, then walk for an equal time; repeat until 20 minutes have passed. Increase trotting speed daily until you are running. After 8-12 weeks you should be running the whole 20 minutes.



Hand lock: Holding your hands interlocked at chest level, with your arms up and your elbows pointing straight out, push hands together as hard as you can, then reverse direction and pull as vigorously as you can.



Leg press: Assume a seated position on the floor with one foot on either side of a pillar, wall or similar object. Press your legs together for 30 seconds as forcefully as possible, letting the wall or the pillar resist your effort.

A WORD OF WARNING

Exercise will lengthen your life—but be careful not to overdo it. You'll know you've been exerting too hard if you notice any of the following symptoms after you have finished exercising:

1. Your heart refuses to stop pounding within 10 minutes.
2. Your breathing is still uncomfortable after 10 minutes.
3. You are shaky for more than 30 minutes.
4. You can't sleep well that night.
5. You carry fatigue over into the next day.

by LLOYD SHEARER

CHICAGO.

Do you want to live to be 100? If so, start exercising today and continue regularly.

Begin with the simple exercises on these pages. They were devised by the Illinois State Medical Society. They are designed to build endurance, develop muscle tone and produce new blood vessels.

Combined with good eating and sleeping habits, they will add years to your life. How many? The medical experts claim: "Ninety minutes of these exercises each week now can mean 25-30 more active years in your future."

Today the American infant has a life span of 68 years if a male and 73 if a female. Add 25 to 30 years to those figures, and you've got your 100 or even more.

For centuries medical authorities have insisted that the natural life span of man should be five or six times the length of time it takes him to reach his maximum physical maturity. The human body generally attains its maximum physical maturity somewhere between 25 and 30. Thus, the human life span should be at least five times 25 or 30, or somewhere between 125 and 150. But as we all know, it is not.

Why?

Because we have been unable to control the rise of cancer and arteriosclerotic and other degenerative diseases.

What can the average person do about cancer, which causes 20 per cent of our deaths? Not much, except submit to regular medical health checkups. These will reduce a number of cancer deaths now occurring, since many types of cancer can be cured if detected early.

What can we do about arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries? We can do plenty. Approximately 55 per cent of the deaths in the U.S. today are due to arteriosclerosis. And, according to Dr. Clement Martin, medical director of a leading insurance company: "This is largely a preventable disease. It seems to be the result of a culture in which we sit too much, eat too much, and exercise too little. We've got to exercise more if we want to live longer."

New Medical Facts

An acknowledged expert in the field, Dr. Martin has collected and studied most of the existing research on the relationship between exercise and longevity. He points out that there are reliable studies which suggest, and in some cases statistically prove, that:

1 People who exercise live longer than those who don't;

2 Mailmen live longer than sedentary business executives;

3 Athletes live longer than non-athletes;

4 Farmers suffer fewer fatal heart attacks than lawyers;

5 General laborers suffer six times fewer coronary disease deaths than physicians and surgeons.

"There is absolutely no doubt about it," Dr. Martin maintains. "An increase in longevity can readily be predicted for those of us who remain physically fit at a normal or slightly subnormal weight level.

"The animal experiments of Clive McKay," he goes on to say, "demonstrate this. Control animals given all the food they wanted and little exercise shortened their life span to half that of animals on restricted food plus exercise."

Why don't we Americans exercise as much as we should? Why do physical fitness tests prove conclusively that our children are weaker and more flabby than European children?

One answer is that we're too rich. We spend more time eating than exercising. At least half the men in this country, 35 and over, are overweight. A second answer is that we have developed in some areas a strange sense of values. Many people take better care of their cars than their own bodies.

Explains Dr. Martin: "Most of us get paid best who sit longest and move the least. Executives are not supposed to do any physical work. They just think and press buttons and dictate to secretaries and recording machines. These are the men who have the highest death rate from coronary disease, and these are the men we want our sons to grow into. It's our most intelligent, creative and well-paid group that needs exercise the most and gets it the least.

"Take the railroad industry," he continues. "Do you know that ordinary track laborers suffer only about one-third the heart attacks that white-collar men suffer? I've pointed this out many times in my lectures throughout the country and frequently someone will say, 'But executives and white-collar men have more leisure time to play golf. Isn't golf a good exercise?'

"My answer is that golf is a fine sport, but it is not beneficial as an exercise, and for that purpose it's practically worthless. Tennis is a very good sport because a part of it involves running. Swimming is an excellent exercise. Bicycle-riding, as Dr. Paul Dudley White suggests, is an effective exercise. What we need are vigorous exercises because these speed up the natural process of growing new arteries throughout the body.

How to Start

"Isometric exercises [the first five shown on these pages] which pit one muscle group against the other are a good way to start at any age. Thirty seconds a day, three days a week, of these exercises are sufficient to increase strength at 5 per cent a week. These can be supplemented with brisk walking, rope jumping, and swimming. The ultimate goal is to run continuously for 20 minutes per day."

Dr. Martin says everyone should consult his doctor before beginning an exercise routine so as to determine his basic physical condition. He believes that too many men are worried about heart strain. I mentioned to him the rash of heart failures in the Midwest this past winter brought on by snow-shoveling.

"That's why it's good to get a physical checkup," Martin explained. "So you know how you stand to begin with. A man who's out of condition, who's done little or no exercise during the whole year, is called upon by his wife to shovel the snow out of the driveway. He's out of condition, but since his wife and kids are watching from the upstairs window, he's not about to say, 'I'm pooped,' after three minutes and throw the shovel down. Instead he strains his heart by putting a sudden load on it. He's like the weekend athlete who does nothing five days a week, then drives himself to the brink on Saturday and Sunday.

"A man who breaks in gradually, and by gradually I mean from six to ten weeks, has achieved a sufficient degree of physical fitness so that he can engage in vigorous activity. That's the kind which helps the arteries, the capillaries, the entire circulatory system. That's the kind which prevents premature hardening of the arteries."

The person who exercises daily and eats prudently (and exercise does not increase appetite—if anything, it decreases it)—such a person will have a lower blood pressure, decreased muscular tension, a slower pulse rate, greater muscle tone and strength, increased energy, and most important of all, a prolonged life span.

Do you want to be such a person?

MARIO LANZA'S CHILDREN

—what's happening to them?

Famed singer, Mario Lanza (above) brought up his children amid surroundings of fantastic luxury—a world that came to an abrupt end when he and his wife Betty died within five months of each other in 1959 and 1960. Children were then taken in by Lanza's parents, the Cocozzas.

by ARNO JOHANSON

HOLLYWOOD.

THREE YEARS AGO, after a decade of unbridled living characterized by too much of everything except discipline — too much money, fame, talent, food and temperament—Mario Lanza, approaching 40, died in Rome.

Five months later, unable to live without him, her nerve-wracked body reduced to little more than a flesh-covered skeleton, Mario's wife, Betty, passed away in Hollywood.

The Lanzas left four handsome, brown-eyed children: two girls, Colleen, now 13, and Elissa, 12; and two boys, Damon, 10, and Marc, 8.

At the time, these children were monumentally spoiled, and everyone wondered what would happen to them. Like many parents who want their children "to have everything we didn't," the Lanzas indulged their offspring. If Colleen wanted a pony, Mario would buy her a stable of horses. If Elissa requested fireworks for July 4th, Betty would buy her an arsenal. At one point in their nouveau riche period when Lanza received a royalty check for $1,100,000—the largest single check for recording royalties ever issued—the Lanzas had 13 in help in their medieval Beverly Hills castle.

Because most children are cute and appealing and the Lanza progeny were especially so, domestics waited on them as if they were descendants of the divine. This sycophantic servility became even more pronounced when the Lanzas moved to Italy.

Comic-book Addict

I remember one time in Rome a month before Mario died, I ate dinner in the fabulous villa he had rented from the Marshal Badoglio estate. The entire family was gathered, and when Marc, then 5, dropped his napkin on the floor he signaled a waiter to pick it up for him. Lissa, then addicted to comic books, had her Italian laundress bring a new supply to her wherever she was in the house. She just wouldn't walk back to her room. Clothes were never put away except by the servants, and the children had no chores to do.

They were so used to servants they'd never learned to tie their shoes

I was living in a hotel in Rome which had a swimming pool on the roof, and I invited the family over for a swim. Lanza was too ill to come, but Betty and the four children arrived in their chauffeur-driven Volkswagen bus. I remember the children's treatment of the hotel staff as lordly and cavalier. They seemed far removed from reality, and when their parents died I wondered if they would ever adjust to middle-class life in California.

This is to report that they have adjusted beautifully, thanks mostly to their paternal grandmother, Mary Lanza Cocozza—Mario used his mother's maiden name when he started out as a concert singer—and to Terry Robinson, Lanza's best friend and former trainer.

The Lanza children were placed in the custody of their paternal grandparents, Mary and Tony Cocozza, by the California Superior Court in 1960. The court felt that Lanza's parents were better equipped to raise them than were Betty's mother, Mrs. May Hicks of Chicago, or her brother, Bert Hicks, father of movie star Dolores Hart, both of whom petitioned for the children. There was quite a legal hassle and a good deal of money involved, since Lanza left to his survivors $350,000 in insurance plus the royalties of his recordings, although he had pledged a good share of the royalty money to several of his backers who advanced him large sums of money on which to live.

Insurance Muddle

When Betty Lanza died, she, too, left a sizable amount of insurance reputedly $200,000. To date the insurance company has not paid any of it, suggesting that she was addicted to barbiturates at the time she took out her policy without disclosing that information to the medical examiners.

The estate plans to sue the insurance company shortly, and the ensuing case if it goes to court will probably make headlines.

In the meanwhile, however, the four Lanza children live happily in an upper-middle-class three-bedroom house in the Pacific Palisades, the home Lanza bought for his parents when he moved them out from Philadelphia in 1951.

Mary Cocozza, 57, a strong-willed, attractive grandmother, reports, "They've all developed into fine, obedient children, but believe me, it was a job. When they first came to live with us, none of them knew how to get dressed. They'd never dressed themselves. The boys didn't know a right shoe from a left shoe. They didn't know how to tie their own shoelaces. They had been served so long and so constantly they couldn't prepare a sandwich for themselves. I changed all that, not at once but gradually.

"I told them that they'd been raised in a fantasy world, a world of millionaires. I said, 'Nobody's a millionaire any longer. You've got to live on the insurance money until you grow up, and then each of you has to make his own way. You'd better start right now.'

"I taught the girls," Mrs. Cocozza continues, "how to make their beds, how to fix a meal. I enrolled them in Marymount, a parochial school, and I saw to it that they did their homework. I gave all of them music lessons. Damon plays the trumpet. Marc and Elissa the piano, and Colleen takes dancing and singing. Terry Robinson looks after the children's health. He teaches them swimming and gymnastics and takes them to the dentist and doctor for periodic checkups. We've made healthy, normal children out of them."

Has any of the four inherited the Lanza vocal talent?

There's a chance that the oldest, Colleen, may have. A few weeks ago the Lanza children were lunching at MGM, their dad's old studio, when producer Joe Pasternak, a sentimental, gravel-voiced Hungarian, passed by. Pasternak produced Lanza's first film, That Midnight Kiss, in 1949. When he was introduced to Colleen Lanza, 13½, he shook his head in disbelief. "To think," he said, "that I used to hold you in my arms when you were a baby. Now you're bigger than I am. Do you sing like your father?"

Invitation to Sing

Colleen explained that she'd been taking vocal lessons. "Then you must sing for me," Pasternak urged.

Next day, Colleen returned to the studio and sang for Pasternak, the man who 25 years ago discovered Deanna Durbin and turned her into one of the great child singers of that era.

Pasternak liked what he heard. "Colleen has a sweet, thin, soulful voice," he explains. "Not much of her father's power yet, but good tone, good expression, and she handles herself well. She has poise. What I've done is to turn her over to the studio vocal coach, Bobby Tucker. He's to teach and train the girl for the next six months.

"After that we'll give her a screen test. She seems very photogenic, and who can tell? Maybe we've got another potential Judy Garland here. Anyway, we're giving it the good old college try."

Colleen, who listens to her famous father's recording in much of her spare time, says: "I'd like to become a singer if Mr. Pasternak thinks I have the talent. My daddy always used to say that singers were a dime a dozen, but that original singers were very rare. That's why I'd like to carry on the family tradition, not in my father's style, which I never could repeat in a million years, but in my own way. I want to be original."

At the moment, the Lanza household is caught up in the excitement of Colleen's apprentice period. Says Tony Cocozza, 68, Mario's father: "It's so wonderful having Mario's children in our house. It's made us young all over again, especially Mary. When a woman has four children to look after, she has no time for tears. Now with Colleen singing at MGM, it's like starting all over again with a child in show business."

Child in show business or not, Mary Cocozza is determined to raise her charges in a normal, non-Hollywood fashion. "I thank the Lord each morning," she says, "that I got the four of them in time." ■

THE RICHEST ORANGE FLAVOR IS SKIN DEEP... AND THAT'S WHERE TANG GETS ITS NEW NATURAL FLAVOR

Amazing but true: The richest orange flavor is not in the juice, not in the pulp, but locked in the rind of tree-ripened oranges. And that's where TANG gets its new natural flavor. It's the best tasting TANG that ever happened.

And TANG—the instant breakfast drink—still gives you more vitamin C than fresh or frozen orange juice... plus important vitamin A.

So, for breakfast tomorrow, mix a decanterful of New Natural Orange Flavor TANG tonight. Serve ice-cold in the morning.

By the way, better try New Natural Grapefruit Flavor TANG too. Tart-sweet, very refreshing and a nice change of taste.

Humor in Red China:

HOW TO LAUGH ON AN EMPTY STOMACH

A RECENT VISITOR to Red China found the officials sober and the masses sullen. Their gray, humorless society so depressed him that he finally asked his hosts whether anyone ever smiled in the People's Republic. Thereafter, almost everyone he met broke into a forced grin.

Except for such compulsory mirth, the only smiling in China is done behind the backs of the Communist cadres. The once-venerated sages and satirists have gone underground; jokes are repeated only to trusted friends; humorous ditties are circulated in whispers.

Here are some of the funny stories circulating in Red China today:

A farmer was sent back to his own plot from a commune that had failed. A Communist agitator soon showed up to implore him to work harder. "The land was yours, is yours and will be yours," he harangued. Replied the farmer: "This head also was mine, is mine, and, after you have cut it off, will still remain mine."

Reduced Wardrobe

A lady, whose wardrobe was filled with dresses before the Communist take-over, was soon reduced to a single, drab garment. A friend tried to comfort her by pointing out that she was luckier than African women who have no dresses. Startled, she demanded: "How long have they been under Communist rule?"

A shopkeeper tried to keep out of trouble by saying "Hao! Hao!" (good! good!) to everything the Communists told him. One day an official told him that the great Mao Tse-tung was ill. "Hao! Hao!" said the shopkeeper perfunctorily. "How dare you say 'good' that our leader is ill?" demanded the official. The merchant hastily replied: "Your reprimand of me is also good."

But the favorite, first told by Confucius, concerns a weeping woman beside a freshly-dug grave. A passer-by solicitously asked the cause of her grief. "My husband's father was killed here by a tiger, then my husband also," she sobbed. "Now my son has met the same fate." The traveler, pointing across the river, asked: "Why do you stay in this dangerous place instead of moving to safer territory?" She replied: "Sir, I linger here because there is no oppressive government." Confucius added a moral: Oppressive government is more to be feared than a tiger.

At first the Reds branded Confucius as "reactionary" and banned his teachings. But the ancient sage, revered by the Chinese masses for 24 centuries, couldn't be shut up. "If the government eulogizes Confucius, this would merely add a little earth to the Tai Mountains," was the whispered reaction. "If the government denounces Confucius, it would take away some earth from the Tai Mountains. It would mean nothing."

Grudgingly, the Communists have "rehabilitated" Confucius. The people delight in quoting him on such subjects as why the Chinese seldom talk while they eat: "The Chinese eat from a common bowl. If they talk too much, they find nothing left. But foreigners eat from individual plates, so they can afford to talk."

Pointed jokes deal with China's current famine. The story is told of the Communist official who invited the people of his jurisdiction to a party but sent them home to prepare their own refreshments. Another official received a pet dog as a gift from abroad and wrote to the giver: "I deeply appreciate your kindness. The meat was delicious."

Another favorite concerns a villager who painted a fish on a piece of paper and sent his son to deliver it to a friend in the city. The friend formed his hands in the shape of an imaginary mooncake and offered it to the boy as a return gift. Later the friend's wife scolded him: "You should have given only half the mooncake."

Elusive Rice

The theft of food, now rampant in China, is also celebrated in jokes. One prudent man, the story goes, posted a sign over his full rice bin while he was out, proclaiming: "No rice in here!" He came back to find his rice gone and the sign replaced by another: "I haven't stolen your rice."

A similar joke is told about the thief who seized cakes from a market stall but was caught before he could get away. Asked why he attempted the theft in front of so many people, he replied: "I was looking at the cakes. I didn't see the people."

The Chinese tell of a monk during the religious purge who was being hauled to Peking for trial. On the way, the People's policeman got drunk and fell into a deep sleep. The monk picked the policeman's pocket, transferred his chains to the officer. As a parting gesture, he took out a razor and shaved the policeman's head like his own. When the policeman awoke, he saw the chains and felt his bald head. "The monk is here," he muttered, "but where am I?"

"Poisoned" Wine

Another complaint put to laughter is the extra rations that the Communist cadres draw. One official, fearful that his coolies might steal food and wine, warned them that the food was spoiled and the wine bottle contained poison. One night, he came home to find some pork and wine gone. He routed the coolies out of bed and accused one with liquor on his breath. "A dog stole into the room and ate the ham," alibied the coolie mournfully. "I knew I would be blamed, so I decided to commit suicide by drinking the poison from the bottle."

When British Field Marshal Montgomery visited Peking recently, Chinese Premier Chou En-lai delighted in introducing him to Henry Pu-yi, the former puppet emperor, who had just been released from a Communist prison. The last of the Manchu emperors explained that he was now a gardener and added: "It is much better to be a gardener than to sit on the throne of the Imperial Palace doing just what you're told to do."

This caused Chou considerable amusement. But he laughed even harder at a crack by Tu Yu-ming, the former Nationalist general, who had lost Manchuria to Communist General Chen Yi.

"Those two fought each other," Chou explained as he introduced the two generals to Monty. "This one lost," Chou added, pointing to Tu.

"How many men did you have?" Monty asked the loser."

"A million," replied Tu.

"How could you lose if you had a million men?" asked the incredulous Britisher.

"They ran over to his side," said Tu, nodding toward Chen Yi.

But the Chinese people might well remind their Red rulers of an ancient proverb: he who laughs last, laughs best.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

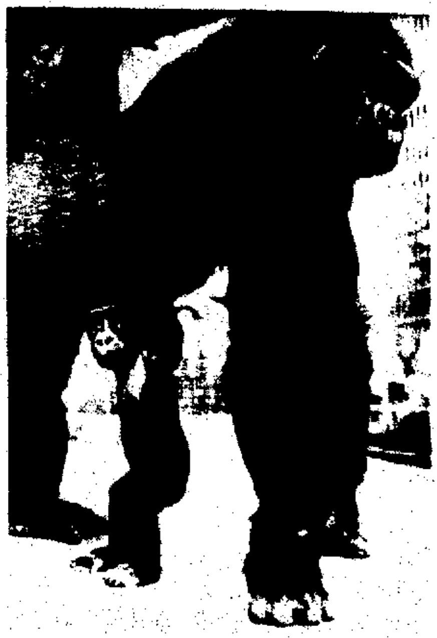
Joyful mother, Achilla gathers up new baby in her arms and dances around her cage.

'MY BABY IS A GORILLA'

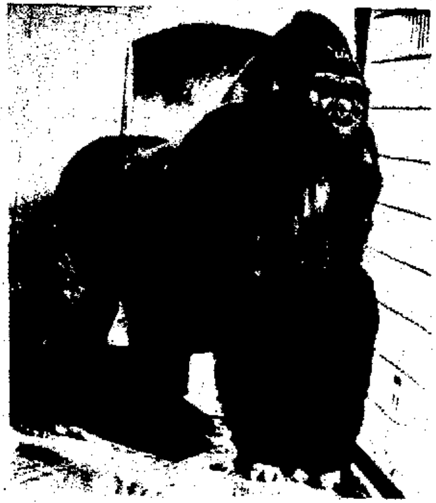
BASLE, SWITZERLAND.

ACHILLA THE GORILLA has a right to be proud. Her new son Jambo (see photos) is only the third gorilla ever born in captivity —and the first whose mother took care of him. Achilla completely neglected her first baby, Goma, now 3, who was brought up on a bottle. But she took charge of little Jambo herself, making these the first pictures ever shot of a gorilla caring for her young.



Baby Jambo, standing for first time, eyes visitors.

WHAT DAD THINKS



Rejected father, whose name is Steifi, views son in frustration through bars from another cage. Steifi hasn't been allowed into the nursery yet for fear that, with his enormous strength, he might injure Jambo with a too-affectionate gorilla hug.

right out of the movies: HATS

by VIRGINIA POPE Parade fashion editor

Movie queens past and present are the inspiration for this season's new headgear. Top designers have recalled the special look of their favorite actresses and interpreted their styles in a collection of hats that are opulent, romantic and very feminine. Furs and feathers, tweeds and leathers are some of the materials used to execute high-style big-brimmed hats, high crowns, cloches which cover the head like helmets, and draped turbans. Heavy knits and crocheted hats are also popular this fall.

For further information about these fashions, write to Virginia Pope, Fashion Editor, Parade, 733 Third Avenue, New York 17, New York. Name this newspaper. Enclose self-addressed envelope.

Delphine Seyrig, who created the 'Marienbad' look, was the source of inspiration for Sally Victor's fabulous hat of white coque feathers. The lovely hat helmets the head in a cascade of soft fluff. An ultra-feminine style, it is worn with a mink-collared black Branell suit.

My favorite jokes

by RIP TAYLOR

A show-business pal of mine left his wife because of another woman—her mother.

They call our language the Mother Tongue because the father so seldom gets a chance to use it.

Did you hear about the farmer who ran a steam roller over his field because he wanted to raise mashed potatoes?

A Hollywood wedding, as a rule, is generally a retake.

The average fellow today marries a girl because he can't afford to take her out any longer.

I know a Texan who only carries $40 in cash with him—but that's not too bad for a three-year-old!

I call my car a Mercedes-Benzedrine. It keeps me awake nights wondering how to pay for it.

The man who brags that he runs things around his house is probably referring to the lawn mower, vacuum cleaner and the washing machine.

A playboy friend of mine decided to reform. The first week he cut out cigarettes. The second week he cut out whiskey. The third week he cut out girls. The fourth week he cut out paper dolls.

Money isn't everything—but if you've mislaid your credit cards, it sure comes in handy.

Observation: With today's prices, clothes break the man.

If at first you do succeed—it's probably your father's business.

Did you hear about the actor who's noted for his moving performances? He can never pay his room rent.

I saw a movie the other night that had a surprise ending. It was over in 90 minutes instead of three hours.

I visited a real modern Chinese restaurant where the customer stretches out on a couch while the waiter reads the meaning behind his fortune cookie!

When two women become extremely friendly, you know there's a third woman somewhere who has just lost two friends.

In these times it takes just a little jack to lift a car, but it takes an awful lot of jack to keep it up.

ANECDOTE of the WEEK

Romy Schneider, the German film beauty, speaks three languages fluently—but English is not one of them. On a recent visit to New York, she ordered dinner sent up to her hotel suite. Romy carefully told room service she wanted "French duck." More than an hour went by—and no dinner. Romy called the hotel manager to complain. He assured her he would take care of it personally.

A half hour later—Romy completely bewildered by all this delay over a simple matter like dinner—a soft knocking sounded at the door. She opened it. There stood the hotel manager with a poodle on a leash: the "French dog" she had ordered. ∎

U.S. POLIO EXPERTS' CONFERENCE ADVISES:

Halt Adults' Type III Oral Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A temporary halt in the use of Type III oral polio vaccine for adults, was recommended Saturday night by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The vaccine involved is one of three types being used in mass immunization programs.

The decision, announced by Surgeon General Luther Terry, came after a day-long meeting of an advisory committee of polio experts.

The committee had not planned to meet until Sept. 27 but moved up its session after Canadian authorities recommended against further mass use of the mouth-administered Sabin oral vaccine.

* * * *

THE CANADIAN FEDERAL health department acted after getting reports of four cases of paralytic polio among four million persons who had received the Sabin live-virus vaccine.

The committee's decision is advisory, and local health officials will make their own decisions on immunization programs.

Reached by ship-to-shore telephone from New York to the liner Queen Mary, aboard which he is returning from a business trip abroad, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, vaccine developer, said:

"I think all community-wide immunization programs should go on as scheduled.

"I have had at least 15 ship-to-shore calls since the decision was handed down and in each case the callers assured me there would be no discontinuance of their programs."

He said the immunization-program leaders had called from St. Louis, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn.; San Francisco Bay area and other cities throughout the nation.

"I left the United States Aug. 16 and the day before I left I attended a conference of the surgeon general's committee and on the basis of the evidence at that time, there was no reason for alterations in the program."

Asked specifically if he meant that the vaccine should continue to be given to adults, Sabin replied:

"I see no reason why the vaccine should not be given to adults."

* * * *

HE SAID HE EXPECTED to arrive in New York Tuesday and would then seek to read the minutes of the meeting at which the decision was made to recommend a temporary halt in the program.

Terry said two reasons prompted the committee to recommend use of Type III vaccine for preschool and school-age children:

1. The outbreak of polio after reception of Type III vaccine has been confined to adults.

2. Children are more susceptible to polio and need the protection the vaccine will give.

He noted that the incidence of polio in adults after reception of the vaccine was less than one per million doses.

Inoculation Plans Here Unchanged

No change was forseen Saturday night in plans to open Type 1 Sabin oral polio vaccine clinics in the Long Beach area and Orange County on Oct. 21.

Statements from medical directors in both areas indicated the "Sabin Oral Sundays" programs of administering the new vaccine would continue barring later action by the U.S. surgeon general or other competent authority.

Belief in validity of the program followed on the heels of an order from the surgeon general in Washington, D.C., halting use of Type III vaccine for adults.

According to a previously released schedule, Type I will be given throughout California on Oct. 21 and 28; Type II on Jan. 20, 27; and the newly suspect III Dec. 2 and 9.

"We have plenty of time to evaluate Type III" before it would be used in this schedule, Dr. Harold A. Neibling, Long Beach Medical Society president told The I, P-T. "Type I and II are proven perfectly safe" by a recent world-wide experimental program.

These sentiments were echoed by Dr. Sam S. Woolington, of Long Beach, SOS medical director. "The group advisory committee meets Tuesday and I expect we'll have a further statement then."

Commented Dr. William K. Friend, Anaheim, president of Orange County Medical Society and member of the statewide SOS committee:

"We're going ahead with the program as planned . . . except for Type III. There we'll follow the recommendation of the surgeon general, which has been that it be given only to

Castro Purely Nikita's Stooge

Editor's Note—What is actually going on in Cuba? Recent events etch the pattern of Communist control. Just how far this has gone is summed up in this article by a specialist in Communist affairs who worked in Cuba both before and after Castro seized control. The analysis is based on inside information from Cuba, a survey of Havana and Moscow statements, and diplomatic reports.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow today just about owns Cuba—lock, stock, barrel and beard.

Inexorably, Soviet communism is closing its steel grip. Challenging the United Sates in the sensitive Caribbean and the Western Hemisphere, Moscow has given the world a lesson in imperialism.

When the Russians colonize, they colonize for good. Short of armed invasion, there seems little hope of prying the Communists out of a base 90 miles from U.S. shores.

* * * *

THE SOVIET takeover will be complete when Fidel Castro is shoved aside, along with his 26th of July Movement revolutionaries. This will be a slow and cautious process, but signs of party conflict are clear.

Daily, Castro, now plump and overweight, appears more and more in the role of a bumbling and confused man, loudly demanding everything his own way, but bowing to what he now calls the "collective leadership." He has lost much popular support. Havana reports suggest only 20 per cent of the people back him now. That is much more than the percentage backing the old guard Communists, but they do not need popular support. They have their tight, disciplined, spy-ridden organization—and they have Moscow on their side.

* * * *

COMMUNISTS are patient. They can wait until popular disillusion and economic chaos make Castro no longer important. They are letting him shoulder the blame for Cuba's internal woes. They are letting his entourage of "new Communists"—men like Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Fidel's brother Raul Castro and others of his Sierra Maestre revolution following—hang themselves with ropes fashioned of their own confusion. The time will come when Castro can safely be removed.

A close examination of just how tightly the Soviet Communist grip has seized the Pearl of the Antilles produces a sense of shock. From documents and official regime statements, and from reports of diplomatic travelers, this picture emerges of a Cuba as tightly bound to Moscow as is Bulgaria:

THE ARMED FORCES

The rag-tag 26th of July army of bearded romantics who marched into Havana Jan. 2, 1959, is no more. In its place is a force of about 300,000, made up of more than 50,000 trained regulars and a heavily armed militia. The training is by Communist bloc officers. The equipment is modern. The discipline is strict and Soviet style. The facilities are installed and expanded by Russians and East Europeans.

Even now the army has political commissars, carbon copies of the "politruk" officers of East Bloc armies, assigned to nail down party authority. One group of 750 "revolutionary instructors" was graduated this month from a special school and is being infused into the army. Castro says their mission is to "teach the class struggle character of the revolution" to the army.

Havana is ringed by military hardware, manned by Russians and Cubans. The Russians paid cash for former estates near Havana, and the belief is the areas will be used for anti-aircraft batteries and rocket-launching sites.

K Seen Angling for JFK Talk

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may be maneuvering for a meeting with President Kennedy before forcing a Berlin showdown, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow said it looked as if Khrushchev wants a summit conference before the end of the year to determine whether a negotiated East-West settlement is possible.

The Soviet leader is not planning to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York this week. The Soviet delegation is being led by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

But Gromyko was expected to sound out the prospects of a Khrushchev-Kennedy get-together, after the general debate of the U.N. Assembly.

* * * *

MOSCOW's announcement earlier last week that it will not press Berlin negotiations until after the November congressional elections in the United States was believed intended to allow time for another round of top-level talks.

Kennedy left the door open for such a meeting with Khrushchev when he recently stated he would be prepared to meet the Soviet leader if he came to the United Nations.

The dispatches suggested Khrushchev is anxious to get the Berlin issue "out of the way." But, at the same time, is increasingly aware that any forceful action now could lead to armed collision with the United States.

Lawyer Aids FBI Detect Russ Spies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Saturday said a three-year investigation uncovered illegal intelligence activities by two Soviet employes of the United Nations.

One left the country before the United States submitted its evidence to the U. N. Secretariat and the other left afterward, presumably expelled by the United Nations.

The Justice Department said the illegal activities were uncovered by the FBI with the help of Richard A. Flink, a young New York City lawyer who is a Republican candidate for the state assembly.

The announcement said Yuri A. Mishukov, a 31-year-old translator first established contact with Flink in the fall of 1959.

* * * *

WHEN Mishukov left the country this summer, for reasons unannounced, he turned over the contact work to Yuri V. Zaitsev, a 38-year-old political officer in the U. N. Political and Security Affairs Council, the department said.

The announcement said the Russians promised Flink a $3,000 campaign contribution in return for information regarding what the Justice Department described as "internal operations of the United States government agencies and personal information about influential members of Mr. Flink's political party."

The department said the money actually was paid to Flink who turned it over to the FBI. That agency impounded it and its final

Security Talks Said 'Beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defense chiefs of the United States and Britain have completed a week of "most beneficial" talks on cooperative efforts to further the security of the free world, a joint communique said Saturday.

The Pentagon issued the joint British-American report on talks this week between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Britain's Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft.

* * * *

"THE PRINCIPALS WERE in general agreement on the matters discussed," the communique said.

A prime topic of the conversations was the intensification of joint British-American endeavors in military research and development.

The communique said the discussions also covered the balance between nuclear and conventional forces in the military establishments of the Western Allies, and measures necessary to "insure maintenance of Allied rights in Berlin under any circumstances."

Thorneycroft, who was a guest of President Kennedy on visits to space installations in Alabama and Florida on Tuesday, visited the headquarters of the Supreme Allied Command for the Atlantic at Norfolk, Va., Saturday.

Deadlock Ends Rail Parleying

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations aimed at ending a strike against the Chicago & North Western Railway broke up Saturday and the railroad said it would not talk again until the union yields on its job-security demand.

The 17-day-old walkout by about 1,000 members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers has idled about 15,500 railway workers in a nine-state area.

* * * *

IT IS HAVING a serious economic impact throughout the territory and the results have stirred demands from Congress and elsewhere for an early end to the shutdown.

At his news conference Thursday, President Kennedy called for an early end to the strike, in the public interest, and expressed hopes for weekend settlement.

Bay City's Mayor Reverses Slump, but Tax Rate Soars

SAN FRANCISCO — The economic health of San Francisco, a city that lost population in the 1960 federal census, is likely to be a top topic in the election race for lieutenant governor.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, is being hailed by his proponents as the man who put San Francisco on its feet again.

* * * *

CHRISTOPHER literally rebuilt run-down San Francisco municipal facilities and backed bond issues for civic improvements. Private developments and a higher employment level followed, and civic leaders say the population decline has been halted.

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER
Colorful, Aggressive

But Christopher's progress program increased spending by 71 per cent and left behind some record-size tax bills. And some Christopher foes charge the king-sized tax bills will hamper San Francisco growth in the future.

San Francisco's budget has skyrocketed from 188 million dollars in 1954-55 to 322 million dollars in the current fiscal year of the Christopher administration.

San Francisco has the second-highest per-capita property tax in the nation, outranked only by Boston. And Democrats in San Francisco have wide political grins.

* * * *

"CHRISTOPHER presented San Francisco with the highest tax rate in history while roaming the state with Richard Nixon preaching economy in state government and demanding lower taxes," said Thomas

Police Probe Mysterious Death Here

Homicide detectives Saturday probed circumstances surrounding the death of a 22-year-old man whose body was found in a Long Beach hotel.

Joseph English Lindsey, of 3925 Livingston Dr., was dead Saturday afternoon in the hotel room at 131 E. Anaheim St. he had rented 12 hours earlier.

Police said a number of capsules were found near the body. An autopsy will determine cause of death.

A relative informed police Saturday night Lindsey did not use drugs nor drink alcoholic beverages. The relative said Lindsey had suffered four stab wounds in the back Wednesday night, but the wounds appeared superficial and were treated by a neighbor.

L.A.C. Says:
A Close Race

It is probable the results of the governor election in November will be decided by one of the smallest margins ever experienced in a state election. It cannot be much closer than the 1960 Nixon-Kennedy state election which Nixon won by a margin of only 35,623 votes. But experienced politicians agree—in private at least—that it is a horse race with the odds even.

This reasoning is despite the fact that there are a million more Democrats registered than Republicans. It is also while remembering that Brown was elected by a million majority in 1958. It is apparent the close race predicted is based on results of the June primary election when Brown received less than half of the Democratic vote eligible to vote in that election.

In that June primary election two million Democrats failed to even go to the polls. Of those who did vote, 102,595 wrote in the names of Republicans Shell and Nixon. Another 294,000 voted for three virtually unknown Democrats opposing Brown—and most disturbing to Brown is the fact that some 300,000 Democrats who did cast a ballot failed to vote for him—they left the governor candidate portion of the ballot unmarked.

Because both the Nixon and Brown forces recognize the closeness of the race, they are making every effort possible to get their supporters active. In the 1960 election Nixon won by a margin of less than two votes for each precinct in the state. That should cause each precinct worker to realize the importance of the work they do.

California has long been a state where voters crossed party lines. The great majority of Democrats are as conservative as are the great majority of Republicans. But the Democrats are saddled with the left-wing program of their powerful CDC. After years of accepting CDC actions some of the Democratic candidates are now hedging. But they still support the over-all organization whose programs have embarrassed them into "death-bed conversions" in opposing some of the more radical CDC programs.

It is apparent many of the registered Democrats who did not vote for Brown were disturbed over this situation. There is good reason to expect them to be equally disturbed when they go to the polls—if they do—in November. Many of them will vote for Nixon and many will again leave their governor section of the ballot unmarked.

There is reason to believe this is why Brown and Richard Richards are concentrating so much of their attention on labor unions. Their largest recent audiences have been before labor union-sponsored meetings. The union leaders are using all their facilities to line up their members to vote for Brown. But they are finding a great apathy among the rank and file members. These are some of the reasons why it is expected to be a close race, when it should be a walk-away for a Democrat candidate who held the respect of the registered party members.

We are often asked—what can I do?—by readers who are anxious to discharge their responsibilities. Our answer is—organize the groups with which you associate. Hold neighborhood meetings to discuss the issues. Carry out systematic precinct work. Write your views to your congressmen, assemblymen and your newspapers. Do what you can—with what you have, wherever you are—and you will be a vital part in the campaign, regardless of which side you are on. This is the way elections are won. It may seem a small part—but its accumulated force is tremendous. It is no time for laggards—it is a time for real Americans to go to work.—L.A.C.

Ill Judy Leaves Hospital

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Entertainer Judy Garland, wearing pedal pushers and a red and black jersey, was discharged from Carson-Tahoe Hospital Saturday after undergoing treatment for a kidney disease.

"I'm feeling fine and I want to go back to work if my kidney keeps behaving," she said.

Dr. Richard Grundy said the 39-year-old singer-actress was suffering from acute pyelonephritis in the right kidney, which produces a severe pain similar to kidney stones.

* * * *

HOWEVER, Miss Garland, who left the hospital in a black Rolls Royce belonging to Nevada gambler Bill Harrah, said she still plans to keep her Sahara Club date in Las Vegas next week.

It had been reported earlier that Miss Garland accidentally took an overdose of barbiturates. Dr. Grundy said this was not true.

Miss Garland's personal physician, Dr. Kermit Osserman, was flown here from New York Friday night after the entertainer, vacationing at nearby Lake Tahoe, was found on the floor of the home of a friend Friday afternoon and taken to the hospital.

school-age or younger children.

"By December, when the Type III clinics are set, they probably will have cleared it for use by everybody.

"We"—the medical profession—"are not going to give or recommened use of anything we wouldn't use ourselves. I, personally, would give my children all three types today without any qualms," Dr. Friend declared.

Dr. Ian MacDonald, Los Angeles County Medical Society head, could not be reached for comment but his colleagues felt his thinking insofar as the entire county is concerned would approximate their own.

Hold Three Teen Girls in Robbery

Three teen-age girls were booked for investigation in connection with the Saturday night assault and robbery of a 75-year-old woman dress shop owner.

Mrs. Louise Frances Gorman, owner of Gorman's Dress Shop, 1292 E. 4th St., was knocked down when she struggled with a girl who was fleeing with $6 from the cash register.

Booked were Dixie Arthur, 17, of 822 Island Ave., Wilmington, who police said took the money; Judy Ann Jones, 16, of 1134 E. Renton St., Torrance, and Jo Ann Catherine Robinson, 18, of 1339 Devonshire Rd., Anaheim.

L.B. Woman Hurt in Fatal Crash

A 21-year-old Long Beach woman was injured critically Saturday in a West Los Angeles traffic accident that killed her male companion.

Taken to UCLA Medical Center was Janice Garcia of 7140 Myrtle Ave., who police said was speeding in her sports car when it slammed into a power pole on Sepulveda Boulevard, two miles north of Sunset Boulevard.

Killed was Edward Dino Damiani, also 21, of Hollywood.

disposition is not known to department spokesmen.

THE TWO Russians also asked Flink to advocate certain policies in speeches if he were elected to the New York Assembly, the Justice Department said.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department spokesman said that the two U. N. employes wanted Flink to advocate "policies favorable to the Soviet Union." There was no elaboration.

The two Russians, Mishukov, the translator, and Zaitsev, left the United States this summer, the department said.

There was no indication that the United States planned further legal action. As is customary in such cases, the United States reported the matter to the U.N. Secretariat on July 26.

* * * *

Expulsion is the usual procedure in such cases involving United Nations employes.

Spy on Spies in Chance Role

By United Press International

Young Bob Flink isn't a cloak-and-dagger man. He doesn't look, act or behave like one.

Yet he became a valuable undercoverman for the FBI. It was purely by chance—when he attended a Soviet trade fair in New York in 1959.

* * * *

IT WAS Mishukov who first approached him to spy for the Russians, although neither Mishukov nor his cohort, Yuri V. Zaitsev, 38, ever used that word—even when they offered him $3,000 for his services.

"They were not that crude," Flink said. "They knew what they were doing and I knew what I was doing. I guess you would have to say that I was a spy as far as they were concerned."

The rising young lawyer, a new father and now a candidate for the New York State Assembly on the Republican ticket, readily admitted he didn't relish his counter spy role.

DILAPIDATED S.F. CIVIC FACILITIES REBUILT

E. Feeney, San Francisco Democratic wheelhorse.

Tom Gray, manager of the San Francisco Down Town Assn., said: "If this gets much worse, I don't know how San Francisco is going to be able to attract new business."

Christopher said a $1.08 tax increase is due to mandatory increases in city spending. He said he can control only $2.5 million of the spending.

Also, Christopher has been rebuilding.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO City Hall newsmen say that prior to the Christopher Administration, city facilities were rundown and maintenance had been neglected.

Christopher put the city facilities in good shape. He spearheaded campaigns for capital improvements.

San Francisco, one of the few major cities in the nation that registered a population slump in the 1960 federal census, now shows a new face and new signs of life.

New civic center buildings have gone up. Employment is up. Ground has been broken for new high-rise apartment projects. A rapid-transit district is proposed in a coming bond election.

* * * *

"WE HAVE doubled our construction rate in five years," said Christopher. Some of Christopher's predecessors had been blasted as do-nothing mayors.

Nobody, not even his worst enemy, would say that about Christopher.

Typical of Christopher's attitude on government was this comment: "Do you know what makes a lame duck administration? It is sitting back and coasting downhill."

Asked about the tax increases, he replied: "Yes, tax rates are going up . . . but we have restored our plant . . . and put maintenance on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Meanwhile, San Francisco has a tax rate of $9.39 per $100 valuation—highest in its history.

* * * *

ONE COLORFUL chapter in Christopher's career — a battle against state milk-price-fix laws—seldom has been aired fully by his past political foes.

But the fact that Christopher once spent two days in jail over a state milk-price-fix-law dispute invariably pops up as a back-door issue in every Christopher campaign. Sometimes Christopher's opponents only have identified him as an ex-jailbird, and haven't stated why he was behind bars.

Thus far, Christopher has come out on top when political foes raised the spectre of a misdemeanor milk-marketing violation that occurred 22 years ago.

* * * *

AND CHRISTOPHER has made it plain he will talk candidly about the milk-pail controversy of 1940 if the topic comes up in the current campaign.

Asked if he anticipates that his political foes will try to skim some 1962 political cream off the old jailing, Christopher replied:

"I understand that a picture of me was being shown two weeks ago, and I look for it to be used in the campaign."

He referred to a picture in jail garb and numerals which officers snapped for identification when Christopher was locked in Marin County Jail.

As a prelude to his jailing for two days and two nights, Christopher had been battling for his Meadow Glen Dairy and other small milk distributors to upset a new state milk-price-fix law.

* * * *

THE SMALLER dairies contended it was discriminatory legislation because it helped the big dairies maintain their share of the market.

"We filed suit and won our case in Los Angeles County," said Christopher. But the appellate court reversed the superior court—and that was when the state lowered the boom on Christopher.

Hauled in by State Department of Agriculture agents, Christopher was taken before a justice of the peace and found guilty of five counts of a misdemeanor.

The convictions, brought under a section of the State Agricultural Act which forbids the purchase of milk for less than the prices set by the state, resulted in a stiff sentence for Christopher.

* * * *

HE WAS FINED $5,000, placed on probation for two years and ordered to quit the dairy business for one year.

Christopher subsequently was jailed and mugged when—on advice of counsel he ceased making $200 monthly payments on his fine, and his probation was revoked. His attorney adopted the cease-payments tactics when he decided to appeal on the ground that the justice of peace had acted illegally.

After the jailing, a different court listened to an appeal that there had been an injustice in the Christopher case. That appeals court commuted the remaining half of the fine, and allowed Christopher to return to the dairy business.

* * * *

A. E. BAGSHAW, the district attorney who prosecuted Christopher, subsequently came to his defense, saying:

"This and other legislation of a similar type, regulating prices in other industries, were unpopular with the buying public because of a feeling that they made impossible the low prices which come from unrestricted competition.

"I do not with to be interpreted as condoning Christopher's offenses. However, in their nature, they did not involve dishonesty, immorality or moral turpitude, but constituted violations of regulatory laws not unlike . . . presently existing price-control legislation, which are quite generally violated."

Other candidates dream of Christopher's favorable press, a relationship he cultivates carefully with open-door policies for reporters and daily press conferences.

* * * *

QUIZZED ABOUT the strengths and weaknesses of their mayor, the San Francisco City Hall press corps had only praise for Christopher.

"I tell them the truth — even when I make a mistake," explained Christopher.

Christopher, 54, came to San Francisco as an immigrant boy. He attended a tough school south of Market Street, sitting next to both a future mobster-murderer and an eminent priest-to-be.

His climb to the political peaks was fast and sometimes stormy. Also, he has founded a successful dairy business.

His foes accuse him of moving too fast in negotiating the Candlestick Park baseball deal with the New York Giants and also of making rapid-fire decisions on other projects before all the facts could be evaluated fully.

* * * *

HIS REGIME also has been blasted by some for spending too heavily, though Christopher has the reputation of paring budgets of his department heads.

And though the San Francisco press generally has hailed his administration in editorials, some tongue-in-cheek feature stories have sniped at Christopher for being "a square."

In the 1960 presidential campaign, Christopher stirred up a furor by forcing a City Hall elevator operator to remove a Kennedy lapel button.

Christopher also has been blasted by some segments of the city for running too tight of a town. They say: "A little vice might help the convention business."

I, P-T Bureau in State Capitol

The Independent, Press-Telegram Saturday announced opening of a Sacremento Bureau in the State Capitol Building.

The bureau will provide readers specialized coverage on state government affairs. There will be special emphasis on how new trends in state government will affect the Long Beach area.

James R. McCauley, reporter who has covered federal and state offices in the Long Beach area for the past four years, will be the Sacramento correspondent. McCauley, 35, joined the I, P-T staff in 1957. In 1961, his series of articles on "The Industries that Didn't come to Long Beach," won first place in the community special feature competition of the Matrix Awards.

* * * *

HE WON third place in feature competition of community papers in 1960.

Previously, McCauley was on the Omaha (Neb.) World-Herald, the Salt Lake City Deseret-News and United Press. He was graduated with a journalism degree by the University of Utah. He got his start as a reporter in 1944 when a school principal in Salt Lake City ousted him for writing an editorial criticizing the faculty and a Salt Lake City newspaper hired him.

BIXBY KNOLLS, DR. REHMAN

Long Hospital Case Trial Due

By DON MADDOCK

A marathon trial, involving felony conspiracy charges against a local osteopath and three associates, is scheduled to begin Friday in Superior Court here.

The jury hearing is expected to take at least three months, and may last six. The prosecution alone has subpoenaed nearly 300 persons as possible witnesses.

Key defendant in the proceedings is Dr. Jerome Rehman, operator of Bixby Knolls Community Hospital at 3833 Atlantic Ave. from January, 1961, until he closed it recently.

Dep. Dist. Atty. John Marin, who will present the state's case, terms the hospital as having been a "butcher shop."

* * * *

DR. REHMAN, 33, claims he is a "scapegoat in a 1962 witch-hunt" who is being harassed for his liberal views, especially as they relate to the medicare program.

Dr. Rehman; hospital orderly Dichard Gorman, 26: X-ray technician Charles Symes, 30, and the hospital's attorney, Mark Sincoff, are accused of conspiring to commit acts injurious to public health.

The state's main contentions are that unnecessary surgery was performed, and that patients were hospitalized for undue periods.

* * * *

THE FOUR were indicted by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury June 14.

Three chiropractors, who allegedly delivered babies illegally, also were named. Proceedings against them have been postponed until November, pending an Appellate Court ruling in a separate case involving similar charges.

Dr. Rehman also was indicted on a manslaughter count, involving the death on June 29, 1959, of Mrs. Rosa Lugo, 23, former Wilmington resident who had undergone surgery 20 days earlier.

* * * *

SUPERIOR COURT Judge Joe Raycraft threw out that charge in one of several hotly contested preliminary proceedings.

The judge ruled the charge was barred by a three-year statute of limitations, which he decided began running as of the date of the surgery.

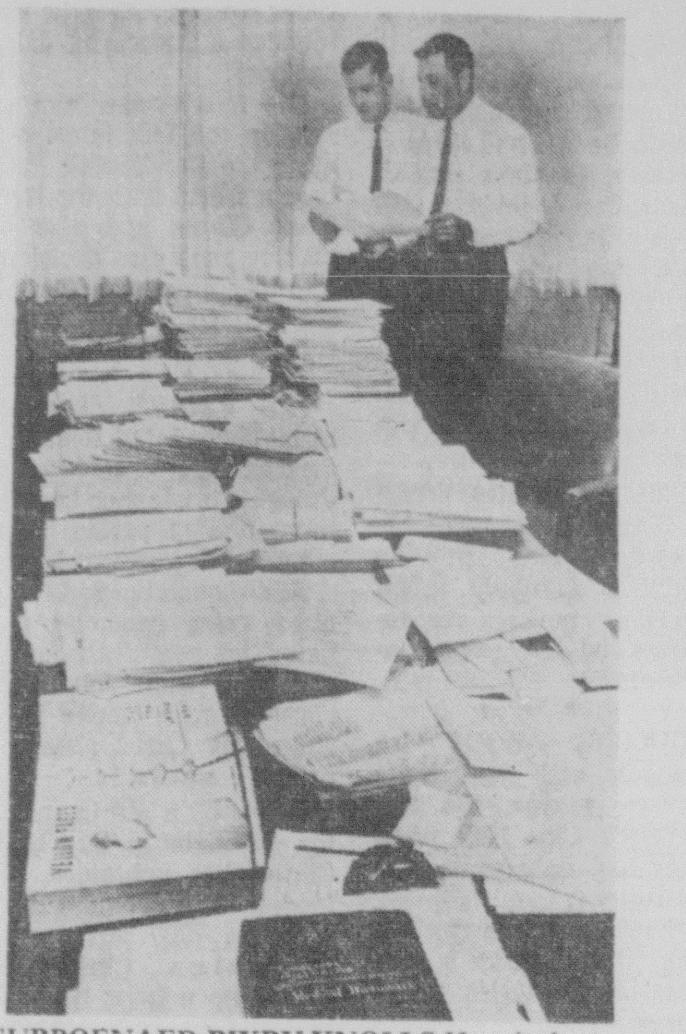
The indictment was returned within three years of Mrs. Lugo's death, but more than three years after the allegedly negligent operation.

The district attorney's office has appealed Judge Raycraft's ruling.

Marin and district attorney office investigator Joe Carroll touched off another court battle Aug. 22, when they spearheaded raids at the hospital and a Wilmington clinic, in which about 400 patients' records were seized.

* * * *

DEFENSE attorneys Milton Emlein, Albert C. S. Ramsey and Russell Pray demanded that Municipal Court Judge Charles T. Smith quash the search warrant under which the documents were taken.



SUBPOENAED BIXBY KNOLLS Hospital records are scrutinized by Deputy Dist. Attys. Charles Sheldon (L) and John Marin. Some 300 cases of medical reports and other papers were confiscated in recent raid on closed hospital.

Judge Smith heard many hours of legal arguments and testimony, then denied the defense motion. First, however, by agreement of opposing counsel, he ordered return of about 80 files.

That action came Sept. 6, just 15 days before the trial's start, but it wasn't the last preliminary step.

* * * *

TWO DAYS ago the attorneys were back in court, asking that the place of trial be changed to the city of Los Angeles or into Orange County, and that they be permitted to examine all prosecution records.

They lost the motion to move to a different court, but Superior Court Judge Maurice C. Sparling granted them permission to inspect the district attorney's files.

That, presumably, will keep them busy until Friday.

Club Members Help Fisherman Save 7 Tons of Tuna From Wreck

By RALPH HINMAN Jr.

It would be fitting. . . .

* * * *

IN A twinkling his tight little craft was in a shambles, hull ripped asunder and the frozen fish cargo about to wash seaward.

Pathetically, futilely, Gunn packed a cardboard box with the marine delicacy, tripped ashore across the rocks. One man, one box, seven tons. . . .

His plight was observed by Schuyler V. V. Hoffman, resident in the Portuguese Bend Club. Quickly Hoffman organized 78 men, women and children into a human chain stretching from wreck to beach.

When the tide ebbed at 1 p.m. this human conveyor belt stood ready while a truck waited at water's edge.

* * * *

DURING six grueling afternoon hours the 78 tossed or passed about five tons of albacore from boat to truck. By 6 p.m. only a single ton remained in the hold, the bulk delivered to a cannery.

By unofficial estimate the Samaritans saved Gunn between $1,500 and $1,800.

His uninsured ship remains jammed on the rocks today, a total loss.

Bullfighter Better

MADRID (UPI) — Antonio Ordonez, Spain's top bullfighter about whom Ernest Hemingway wrote "The Dangerous Summer," was reported feeling "quite well" Saturday after being gored twice in the right thigh.

17-Month-Old Boy Kills Young Sister

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A 17-month-old boy apparently killed his 9-day-old sister by beating her with a feeding bottle, a coroner said Saturday.

Coroner W. C. Telford quoted Mrs. Randall McCoy, mother of the children, as saying she left the girl on a bed in a room Friday. She said when she returned to the room she found the boy on the bed striking the infant with a bottle.

Communism Courses in Curriculum

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The State Board of Education Saturday unanimously approved a policy statement calling for a scholarly and objective approach to the study of communism in California secondary schools.

The statement called for this approach rather than indoctrination.

Such a program should develop clearly the threat of communism to the free world, the statement stressed.

* * * *

OBJECTIVES of the program, the statement added, were "to prepare the pupil to think for himself and to act as a responsible patriotic citizen of the United States.

Local school district governing boards would be responsible for establishing the courses of study.

Confinement Said No Cure for Drugs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—A panel of experts appointed by President Kennedy rejected the practice of lengthy confinement for drug addicts Saturday and recommended instead a stronger focus on rehabilitation.

The Newport White House released a progress report by the panel which also:

—Said there was increasing evidence, particularly among teen-agers, of the "spree" use of a number of different drugs in rotation.

—Reported an evident decrease in abuse of such narcotics as heroin at the present time, but an increase in the abuse of such non-narcotic drugs as the barbiturates.

—Said the drug habit is "only rarely initiated by the pusher with economic motive in mind" but is instead "spread from user to user."

—Suggested the possibility of investigating critical factors in those who, while also exposed to drug abuse through physical proximity or actual experimentation, manage to remain free of the habit.

—Rejected any public policy which would continue a person's addiction by furnishing him with drugs.

The report was to be the principal working paper for the first White House conference on narcotic and drug abuse, set for Sept. 27-28. Kennedy commissioned the report six months ago for the forthcoming conference at which an estimated 400 scientists, law enforcement officials and other authorities are expected to gather.

The White House said the report was not being presented as conclusions to be approved or disapproved by conference participants.

* * * *

THE REPORT said the most critical component of treatment and rehabilitation is not confinement but rather appears to be a "long, strictly supervised, highly controlled parole period, with legal and practical measures to assure that the parolee remains drug free."

The general recommendation, the report said, is for the post-addict to remain about five months in a drug-free environment after withdrawal from physical dependence on drugs.

The report said the great majority of addicts are discharged from a hospital or prison after their withdrawal with little supervision or help, without resources to sustain them until they find a job, and without agencies working to assist them to become established and productive members of society.

The girls were sent to the hospital after a picnic Saturday in Recreation Park and ordered to rest through today.

It's Memorial Hospital that's got an acute case of appreciation.

JILL, DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beckwith, and Peggy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Avery, are two of the 75 members of the Volunteens, organization of teenagers, 14-18, who do work at the hospital summers, after school and on weekends. Doctors to Push Chest Campaign

Medical doctors are pushing their drive to attain the $9,180 Community Chest quota set for them and dentists have collected all but $400 of their $2,016 goal, United Neighbors Community Chest spokesman said Saturday.

Dr. Donald J. Greco, team chairman for the medical doctors, who begin their drive Monday, said:

Having over-subscribed our goal by six per cent last year, we have set a precedent that civic pride requires us to maintain. Although many of our doctors are members of A.I.D., our workers still have nearly 300 calls to make."

The team of doctors working under Dr. Greco at the direction of Dr. Harold Neibling, president of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, Long Beach District, include last year's award winning chairman, Dr. Richard Nixon, and Drs. Alexander Van Dyke, George Bryant, L. L. Wiltse, Charles Oliver, C. E. Bodensteiner, David Gean, M. M. Haskell, John Morgan, Gene Bouch, Irvin Pilger, Orville Cole, Richard De Golia, Thomas Wright, Jack Lynn, John Kashiwabra, Jerome Cope and Lowell Bowton.

Others are Drs. David Williams, Edward Artman, Chester Laubscher, Donald Malcolm, W. G. Durnin, Leonard Wachs, Roger Slater, Harry Vanley, Louise Benefield, Robert Gumbiner, Richard Steiner, Raymond Kelso Jr., James Keipp, George Evashwick, Owen Walker and Francis C. Hertzog Jr.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE ALBRIGHT
They Were Childhood Sweethearts

MAUDE, GEORGE

He's 85, She's 81, Old Enough to Wed

By GEORGE ROBESON

Two childhood sweethearts were married Saturday and set up housekeeping in Wilmington.

The groom is 85, his bride is 81.

The romance between George and Maude Albright, who now live at 1168 Ravena Drive, began about 1890 in Highland County, Ohio.

* * * *

"WE WERE both orphans," the new Mrs. Albright recalled Saturday. "George's father married my aunt, and George and I were brought up together. We always had an awful crush on one another."

George Albright was 13 at the time. Maude was 9.

Shortly after, occupational necessities and the traveling propensities of pioneer life split the family. George sought his fortune in Missouri, where he married. Maude went with her stepfather to South Dakota. She married a cowboy there.

* * * *

SHE BECAME a widow 35 years ago and had lived in the Long Beach area for 16 years when George Albright came back into her life last July.

"George's wife had died two years before," Mrs. Albright said. "We contacted each other through my uncle in Ohio."

For several years, each had known where the other was living. And then George came to Long Beach, where Maude was living with a daughter.

* * * *

"WE RENEWED our acquaintance," the bride beamed Saturday. "We know we need each other, and need to take care of each other. And we love each other as we did when we were young."

And as for George Albright's feelings as a bridegroom at 85:

"Like Teddy Roosevelt used to say," said Albright, "I feel like a bull moose!"

Stockbroker Marries Actress Janet Leigh

Dist. Judge David Zenoff performed the civil ceremony in the presidential suite at the Sands Hotel. Thirteen guests were on hand, including singer Dean Martin and his wife.

The shapely 34-year-old actress wore a pink dress with a pink ribbon in her hair. She was attended by Mrs. Jerry Gershwin of Beverly Hills. The groom had two best men — Mort Viner and William Cooper, both of Los Angeles.

WHISKERED YES-MAN

'Big-Shot' Castro Actually Khrushchev's Trained Seal

Soviet radar, Russian-manned, checks all flights. Dozens of Soviet night fighters have been shipped may reach 200. Cubans are trained to use them. A parachute corps will be sent to Russia to complete training. And military equipment pours in, along with thousands of "technicians."

THE ECONOMY

Moscow owns the economy. Fantastic numbers of trucks, jeeps and other vehicles pour in from the Red bloc, each batch making Cuba more dependent upon Soviet petroleum shipments.

Imports for 1962 from the U.S.S.R. include: wheat flour, cereal grain, edibile oils; canned, frozen and cured meats, condensed milk, baby foods, rice, butter, lard, peas, canned fish, beans, potatoes, fertilizers, rayon and other textiles, superphosphates, trucks, jeeps, buses, tractors, a petroleum tanker, rice harvesters, machine tools, power shovels, graders, bulldozers, compressors, rolled steel, tinplate, steel pipes, cast iron, cardboard, raw materials for soap manufacture, cement, lubicants, ammonium nitrate and even containers for sugar.

Czechoslovakia is sending textile yarns, artificial leather, steel products, chemicals, glass, foodstuffs, newsprint, buses, tractors, trucks and tow-trucks, machinery and tools, diesel motors, electronic units. Red China sends soybeans, rice, canned meat, medicines. Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Poland send food. The bloc also sends swarms of technical assistants.

Cuba's sugar goes to the bloc in part payment. The sugar industry, always the backbone of the Cuban economy, is dominated completely by the Soviet bloc. Bloc equipment runs the refineries.

The island, therefore, now is practically wholly dependent on world communism. JUCEI, the regime's "coordination and inspection board," is a central plan body modeled on the Soviet GOS plan—state planning board.

AGRICULTURE

In a May 1961 speech to farmers, Prime Minister Castro ridiculed the idea that farms would be collectivized. He said: "The revolution would never do such a foolish thing . . . although this is a socialist revolution, the land will not be socialized . . . if a farmer prefers to keep his bit of land, then the revolution will never try to socialize it."

An agrarian reform law a year before had broken up big holdings for distribution. Peasants, in order to make any economic sense of their production, had to form cooperatives, especially in such fields as sugar, coffee, rice and cattle raising. The number of cooperatives grew to 622.

As late as two months ago, Castro repeated the pledge against collectivization. Then he changed his mind — or it was changed for him.

Last month, Castro told a sugar cooperative conference that distribution of land to the peasants would mean destruction of the revolution. Nor was the cooperatives idea practical, either. The answer had to be "people's farms" — a copy of the Soviet state farm idea in which the government owns the land and the peasant becomes a sort of farm-factory worker. There already were 300 "people's farms." Castro indicated the regime would collectivize all the cooperatives so that, in his words, the farmer would be a real proletarian and get rid of his instinctive impulse to own land.

As in other Communist lands, production quotas are laid down. Norms are set for cattle and livestock production, and as in the other lands, the big drawback is that the cattle cannot read instructions. The economy is prey to all the ills that afflict other Communist agriculture.

LABOR

Regimentation is on the Soviet model. The working man is subject to production quotas. "Socialist emulation," the speed-up device invented by Moscow, formally was introduced April 16. The speed-up worker is known as "distinguished worker."

The Cuban Workers Central directs 25 national unions and automatically approves what the regime orders. As in other Communist countries, it does not represent the labor force, but the state. Workers are subjected to lectures, work discipline, warnings about such things as a "formal bureaucratic attitude." They are punished for lateness or absenteeism. Directors are punished for failing to make quotas or for distorting figures.

Cards were issued Aug. 15 to all workers over 18. The information about each worker took up 15 pages. Fourteen pages went into regime files. The worker got the 15th as his card. He cannot work without it.

Before the Castro era, few women in Cuba did heavy labor. Now they — along with workers, students and even aged people —are dragooned into "Socialist Sundays." They are supposed to be volunteers to save sugar crops. Women also cut hay, pick coffee and cotton and do other agricultural labor.

Castro announced a year ago plans for a system of "corrective labor" for prisoners, sounding much like the forced labor of other Red nations.

The regime constantly nags workers about greater production. There is even a board of "volunteers" supervising sports, called "Listo Para Vencer" (ready to win). This copies the Soviet organization GOTOV (initials standing for "Ready for Labor and Defense").

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Russian Rocket Rattling Over Cuba Evokes JFK Roar

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia rattled nuclear rockets again last week, warning they could rain down if the United States attacks Fidel Castro's Soviet-armed Cuba.

President Kennedy gave this all-inclusive response: There will be swift and overwhelming retribution if at any time the Communist buildup in Cuba seriously endangers U.S. security, the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, access to the Panama Canal, missile and rocket operations at Cape Canaveral, the lives of American citizens; or if Castro attempts to export war in this hemisphere, or allows Cuba to become an offensive military base for Russia.

"This country," the President added, "will not take any action the situation does not require and will take any action the situation does require (and) all Castro's weapons could not change the result."

As to Soviet retaliatory threats, he noted that the United States "has been living with such threats for many years."

The Chief Executive assured a nationwide radio-television news conference audience that Moscow's arms shipments to Castro do not as yet constitute a hazard to any part of the hemisphere. But he warned Latin American nations to "realize the consequences to themselves" if Cuba becomes a real offensive base.

CASTRO

The President called on all Americans to keep cool and shun loose talk. This plea was echoed in Congress which drove toward bi-partisan passage of a resolution affirming and endorsing his fight-if-we must Cuban policy. Congress also was preparing to arm him with authority to call up 150,000 ready military reservists if an emergency warrants it.

Castro berated Kennedy as usual but did not repeat his customary claim that the Soviet Bloc would spring to his defense if attacked.

* * * *

THE STATE Department noted that Russia threatens to use rockets to protect Cuba, yet foreswears "intimidation" as alien to Soviet foreign policy. This, it said, must be news to the people of Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia and "all the millions in other countries whose voices have been stilled by the tide of Communist tyranny."

The President pledged that the United States would win the race with Russia to the moon and make space "a sea of peace and not a terrifying theater of war."

He pounded home that theme in addressing big audiences in a two-day tour of space centers.

"We have vowed," he declared, "that we shall not see space filled with weapons of mass destruction but with instruments of knowledge and understanding."

His statement appeared to signal increased peace-and-war space spending next year —well beyond this year's record $5.4 billion which includes $3.7 billion in actual spending.

The President acknowledged the heavy cost—rising to 50 cents per week for every American. But he said the challenge from Russia was one we intend to win.

At Cape Canaveral he inspected a huge rocket destined to carry America's third astronaut—Lt. Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr.—into orbit within the next few weeks.

At his news conference, Kennedy denounced acts of terrorism against Negroes in the South as "cowardly and outrageous." He was particularly incensed by the burning of two Negro churches in Georgia. He promised the FBI would bring the perpetrators to justice.

The Navy disclosed that it will establish a Polaris H-bomb missile Submarine base at Guam. The Russian Siberian coast and the Red China mainland would be easy targets for the underwater long-range missiles in event of war. The first such base is at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Nationalist China assumed full responsibility for the flight of an American made U2 patrol plane shot down over Communist China. But the Peiping government laid the whole blame on the U.S. and linked the flight with the current Far East tour of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman-designate of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The United States let it be known that it plans to begin its final above-ground nuclear test series in the Central Pacific late this month or early in October. Russia continued its "retaliattory" tests and still proclaimed its readiness to sign a test-ban treaty. It was silent again, however, on a cheat-proof inspection system.

Runaway Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen died in convulsions in London after taking a massive dose of barbiturates to foil his deportation to the United States and life imprisonment. London police investigated to determine how he got the drugs.

Congress sent to the White House a bill making it a federal crime to drop a Canadian quarter, a Mexican centavo or a slug into vending machines, pay-telephone slots, postage stamp machines, or other vending devices. It also sent to the White House the President's $100-million public works authorization bill which is aimed at providing jobs in distressed areas. The money must still be appropriated.

Former President Eisenhower hit the election campaign trail in behalf of Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind. The House, meantime, "acquitted" Halleck of charges he shot doves in a baited field in North Carolina. A federal game warden cited Halleck and other members of a hunting party. Halleck denied knowing the field was baited. House Democrats and Republicans gave him a vote of confidence.

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire who had admitted an interest in the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, was defeated in a reelection bid upset in a primary election. The conservative was vanquished by businessman John Pillsbury, GOP leader in the state legislature. In the Minnesota primary, veteran GOP congressman H. Carl Andersen was retired to private life. His name had been linked with that of fallen Texas tycoon Billie Sol Estes.

Brown Notes Mexico Independence Day

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Warm wishes to Mexico on its Sept. 15 independence day were extended by Gov. Brown.

In a statement, Brown said that Americans feel a kinship for Mexicans on their independence day because the U.S. gained its independence only 34 years after Mexico won freedom from Spain.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Corp. Profit, Personal Income Set New Records

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Good, but not good enough.

That was the reaction this week to the newest reports on the course of business.

New records were established by corporation profits and personal income. While this was encouraging, the rate of gain was not up to expectations.

Retail sales dipped slightly in August from the record level of July but stayed ahead of August 1961.

Profits of corporations attained an annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter, a period in which the stock market collapse occurred. In the preceding quarter the rate was $50.1 billion.

* * * *

THE TOTAL income of all Americans climbed by $900 million to an annual rate of $442.8 billion in August. However, there was a decline in manufacturing payrolls of $400 million to $94.1 billion.

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges called the figures "not entirely satisfactory, but I still think good."

He said business has bounced back a little from what it looked like two or three months ago, and added:

"I would rather say that over the short term—I believe the economists call that about six months—I thing business is going to stay good; not as much as we would like, but still good."

* * * *

RETAIL SALES slipped in August to $19.6 billion from July's peak of $19.7 billion, a drop of only 0.5 per cent. They were 8 per cent above a year earlier.

A survey by the National Retail Merchants Association indicated that retailers look for a sales increase in the second half of this year. Seventy-one per cent of the 211 store executives polled put the anticipated boost at 5 per cent.

The Electronics Industries Association estimated that manufacturers' sales of electronic devices and equipment will increase this year to a record $13.1 billion from about $12 billion last year. It attributed most of the growth to equipment for the defense and space programs.

* * * *

"ANXIOUS scanners of the economy's bulletin board are finding the posted notices more than ordinarily uncommunicative," said the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. "The summer months probably sustained a modest expansion in over-all business activity, but the trend was not sharply etched. Certainly it wasn't sufficiently strong to dispel concern over the expansion's staying power for the longer pull.

"As autumn begins, there is less talk than there was a few months ago of the likelihood of a downturn of business activity in the near future. But earlier bearishness has not been replaced by strong confidence."

* * * *

PRODUCTION of passenger cars spurted to an estimated 120,000 last week as assembly of 1963 models picked up speed. The output the previous week was 65,221.

In August, steel production totaled 7.1 million tons, up from 6,174,187 in July and down from 8,660,527 in August 1961. In the first seven months of this year, shipment of finished steel products from mills amounted to 43,986,282 tons, a gain of 21 per cent over the like 1961 period.

* * * *

T. F. PATTON, president of Republic Steel Corp., pleaded with the Senate Judiciary Committee that it not insist that steel companies submit confidential information on production costs. As spokesman for Republic, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel and Armco Steel, he said the data, if made public, would help the industry's domestic and foreign competitors.

The four companies had refused to answer subpoenas issued by the Judiciary Committee's Antitrust Subcommittee. Eight other steelmakers submitted the information. Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver sought to have the full committee cite the four companies for contempt.

The subcommittee's investigation of steel industry competition is an outgrowth of the unsuccessful attempt to raise steel prices last spring.

* * * *

A FEDERAL Grand Jury in Hartford, Conn., indicted 11 big fabricators of copper and brass mill tube and pipe over a period of five or six years. Sevcen company officials also were indicted.

The Grand Jury charged that price-fixing meetings were held in hotels and private clubs in at least three cities. The government said the companies account for 90 per cent of the $400 million annual sales of brass mill tube and pipe.

General Hits Reserve, Guard Slash

DENVER, Colo. (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robt. S. McNamara's plan to reorganize and cut back the National Guard and Army Reserves came under more fire Saturday from Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president of the National Guard Association.

In a statement issued in advance of the Association's 84th general conference here, Harrison asserted the plan was devised by civilians who don't know "what makes the citizen-soldier tick." He said it would disrupt the present Reserve program and destroy its effectiveness.

McNamara ordered the reorganization in the backwash of bitter disputes over Reserve readiness in President Kennedy's Berlin crisis manpower call up last year. State governors and many congressmen warned that reducing the citizen-soldier army would imperil the nation.

Harrison charged Saturday that the proposal was drawn up without the benefit of advice from National Guard and Army Reserve leaders who must recruit and train the Reserve forces.

* * * *

McNAMARA ASKED Congress for authority to cut the Reserve units from 700,000 to 642,000 men. He would eliminate 1,700 units altogether and add new ones, for a net cutback of 800. He is still standing by the plan despite bitter resistance. He also is screening Reserves to eliminate or reclassify those who because of family ties cannot respond to a mobilization call.

Harrison, noting that President Kennedy has just asked Congress for power to call up 150,000 Reserves, said the Reserve forces "are poorly supported and badly administered by the Pentagon."

"What the forces need," he said, "is not another major reorganization but better policy direction, better high level admiistration, and better logistical support. Any reorganization should build on the sound foundation of Reserve power that now exists."

* * * *

HE SAID the Guard was prepared to organize the type of units McNamara desires and he resented Pentagon "implications" that the Guard seeks to hang on to obsolete units.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," Harrison added. "The existing units were assigned by the Army less than three years ago. If they have become obsolete in this short time, we are prepared to convert to what is now needed. We are, however, opposed to wholesale elimination of effective units so long as the current world crisis exists."

In his latest request for call-up power, the President had in mind the Berlin and Cuban crises.

Harrison said the National Guard "is presently at the highest level of readiness in its history." He said it was greater numbers of school-qualified officers and non-commissioned officers than ever before and that 40,000 members are now enrolled in Army schools either taking or conducting extension courses.

"The high readiness has been achieved," the general said, "despite a series of Pentagon reorganization orders that have plagued it (the Guard) since the end of World War II."

Pakistan Gets $45 Million Loan

KARICHI, Pakistan (AP) — Official sources said the United States has granted Pakistan a second $45 million interest-free loan to help buy iron and steel products. The loans are part of $500 million promised to Pakistan by the United States over a two-year period.

Tense U.N. Opens 17th General Assembly Tuesday

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations, broke but still brawling and growing, opens its 17th General Assembly Tuesday in an atmosphere of tension.

Delegates from 104 nations —totaling 1,000 or more men and women — will play roles in the annual international drama of politics.

The 89-item agenda, or work program, does not include the question of Berlin and The Wall specifically. There is no entry to pinpoint a debate about Moscow's use of Cuba as an entering wedge in the Western Hemisphere. The U2 headlines do not figure in the printed agenda.

But the program contains enough friction points to insure bitterness in debate for the three months or more of the session.

* * * *

THE AGENDA is shot through with hostilities—East against West, anticolonialists against colonial powers, anti-Communists against totalitarians — and, in the case of South Africa, black against white.

To start the session a general policy debate lets spokesmen for all countries give their views about the state of the world and what the United Nations should do about it. These statements are made not only to impress other delegations but government officials and the folks back home.

Berlin, Cuba, Laos, Viet Nam, U2 incidents—all flash points but not included in the printed agenda — are likely to figure in many policy speeches.

In actual agenda items the delegates also have plenty of fodder for censure, recrimination, the sharp word, the taunt, the rebuke.

* * * *

THEY HAVE before them a no-progress report on disarmament from the 18-nation committee that wrangled all summer in Geneva over Soviet and British-American disarmament plans.

They must debate bans on nuclear weapons tests of the kind that have stirred continuing U.S.-Soviet rivalry for a year since the Soviet Union broke the moratorium on testing.

They must try to reconcile U.S.-Soviet differences on cooperation for peaceful uses of outer space.

The delegates must decide whether the United Nations can go on pouring $10 million a month into the Congo in the face of a deficit mounting to $180 million because the Soviet bloc, France and some others refuse to pay assessed shares.

* * * *

THEY MUST decide, in fact, whether the United Nations has enough money to keep going at all.

They must elect a secretary-general. The Assembly and the Security Council hold the answer to whether U Thant, Burmese diplomat who was picked on a temporary basis to succeed the late Dag Hammarskjold, now will get a full five-year term. Britain and the United States support Thant. A Soviet veto could end his career as chief U.N. executive next April.

Delegates will decide in the face of increasing clamor from the Soviet bloc and some African countries whether the United Nations should use force in ending South Africa's 40-year mandate over South West Africa and set that territory free.

The delegates must pronounce on quick independence for half a dozen other dependent territories in Africa.

* * * *

THE UNITED STATES probably will take its traditional spot in the policy debates next Thursday — two days after the Assembly opening, unless deadlocks in electing Assembly officers delay that.

Whether President Kennedy will come here to deliver the U.S. statement ranks in speculation with whether Premier Khrushchev will come back to the Assembly hall where he banged his shoe in 1960.

If Kennedy does not deliver the statement, it is expected to be made by Adlai E. Stevenson, head of the U.S. delegation. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected during the second week of the Assmbly for private talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko about Berlin and with Latin American diplomats about Cuba.

* * * *

BEFORE THE Assembly is very old, at least four countries will be added to the roster making the total 108. They are Rwanda and Burundi in Africa, Jamaica and Trinidad—Tobago in the Caribbean.

Algeria, if it gets a stable government, and Uganda after independence Oct. 9 are expected to raise the membership total to 110 before the year-end holidays.

The election of an Assembly president, one of the earliest orders of business, mirrors some of the organization's internal conflict. Veteran Muhammad Zaffrulla Khan of Pakistan is pitted against G. P. Malalasekera, a Buddhist scholar from Ceylon who is a newcomer here. Zafrulla Kahn's supporters claim the simple majority necessary to elect him, but there is talk of a deadlock to pave the way for a darkhorse.

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has appealed to West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss not to leave office, it was reported here.

Strauss has been asked to run for the premiership of Bavaria State Nov. 25, and was known to have been seriously considering the suggestion.

12 Red Suspects Arrested in Munich

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Twelve persons, most of them employes of the Munich transit system, have been arrested during the last six weeks for Communist activity, officials reported.

They are accused of being members of a Communist ring who tried to distribute Red propaganda. Officials refused to give details.

Hungary Illiteracy

BUDAPEST (UPI) — The newspaper Nepszava reported that thousands of Hungarian children are illiterate. The newspaper said most of the illiterate youngsters are from Gypsy and farm families living in remote areas.

Teddy or Eddie? Race Looks Like a Toss-up

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief of I, P-T
Washington Bureau

BOSTON, Mass. — Whenever you deal with Massachusetts politics you deal with political outer space. The incredible is the norm in this state of tangled political loyalties and ambitions and the outsider must tread warily in attempting to assess what he sees—or thinks he sees—in Massachusetts' turbulent political pot.

Thus, to state it bluntly, this reporter has not the faintest idea of how Tuesday's important primary contests here will come out. Facing each other in the Democratic senatorial contest are two youthful members of families long associated with Massachusetts politics, Edward J. (Eddie) McCormack, the state's attorney general, nephew of Speaker of the House of Representatives John W. McCormack, and a formidable vote-getter in his own right, and Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy, grandson of famed former Boston mayor, "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, brother of U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and also brother of U.S. President and former Bay State Congressman and senator, John F. Kennedy.

The Republican contest is no less interesting. It pits youthful, 35-year-old George Cabot Lodge, grandson of the famous U.S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and son of former U.S. senator, former U.S. ambassador to the U.N. and former GOP vice presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., against the aging scion of still another prominent Massachusetts family and present congressman from Massachusetts 10th District, Laurence Curtis.

The cast of characters having been introduced, you then shoot off into the fifth political dimension. By almost everyone, young Kennedy (30 years old) and young Lodge are considered too young and too inexperienced to be senator, but that doesn't mean people won't vote for them.

Curtis, 69 years old, is widely regarded as too old to make his first Senate effort, but that doesn't mean they won't vote for him. McCormack, 39 years old, is looked upon as verging upon the right age, but is accused of having too parochial a mind, but that doesn't mean people won't vote for him.

The facts are that no one seems to like anyone who is running in either primary, which makes it extremely difficult to arrive at any conclusion about who's going to win.

AS SEEN HERE by self-appointed Massachusetts political experts, the Kennedy-McCormack struggle is a literal toss-up. The regular Boston Democratic organization is dominated by the clan McCormack whose chief, Speaker McCormack, represents in Congress 18 of Boston's 22 wards. Thus, young McCormack should come out of Boston with a large majority.

Kennedy's hope is to offset the expected Boston margin in the outlying areas where, it is said, he is much stronger than McCormack.

U.S., Russ Race for 'Weather as Weapon'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Russia are in a scientific race to achieve human control of the world's weather and thus possess the "ultimate weapon."

The prospects and the hazards involved in the fantastic project were explored this week at hearings of the House Space Committee. Testimony showed that while the United States has begun work on such a project, the Soviet Union also steadily has been increasing research spending on the program in the last few years.

Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, told the congressmen that the weather studies were dealing with forces "almost beyond imagination."

He said great caution had to be exercised because some careless scientific tinkering "might touch off a catastrophic reaction."

During the subcommittee's meeting with Waterman, Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa., observed that the nation which first learns to control the weather "would have the ultimate weapon, far beyond nuclear warhead capability, because it could give or withhold life-giving water and rain."

Waterman agreed in general. He said the government had begun study looking toward creation of artificial clouds to shade large portions of the earth against the burning rays of the sun.

Beach Combing
With Malcolm Epley

THE FEAR of making a boner from a public platform harasses most people who, now and then or regularly occupy one.

Politicians, in particular, are so haunted, and his fellows will sympathize with Dick Hanna, the Assemblyman and Congress candidate from nearby western Orange County, who introduced former President Truman at Anaheim as former President Hoover.

Truman graciously eased any emotional stress Bro. Hanna may have had about it. He said he didn't mind at all, that he had great respect for Hoover. So it all came out all right.

POLITICIANS on speaking tours are always under the threat. A friend of mine, running for office in a northwestern state, told his audience how glad he was to be back in good old Harney County. This would have been fine if he had been in Harney, but he happened to be speaking in Malheur County.

Covering politics here for many years, I've observed a number of candidates get in small trouble by locating themselves "here in Los Angeles." The audience always lets the speaker know that he's pulled one. One alert speaker recovered by saying, "Well, here in Los Angeles County." You can't challenge that.

As president of the downtown Kiwanis Club this year, I've been regularly before a gang of guys who, I knew, would have a jolly experience catching me on boners. I haven't had geographical location trouble, but the fellows have given me the horse laugh on some pronunciations. Notably, on an occasion when I had to use the name of the fish, pompano, happy catcalls rang out. (How do you pronounce it, anyhow?) Last week, I tackled the name of some Hawaiian place, (we had a guest from there) and what a field day the club had. The gang gets such pleasure out of such things, I ought to stage one a week.

THE OTHER day an interesting headline appeared over one of our editorials. It read: "Just Who's Zoo Is It?"

To avoid personal embarrassment, and I do mean personal, I will not identify the writer of that headline. In a momentary lapse, toward the end of a busy day, it was written as it was by one who knows better. Let him who has never made an error cast the first mineral matter. Or better yet, let him, or anybody else, have a little fun with this fascinating group of words.

In fact, here's an offer of a $5 bill for the jingle, or what-have-you, about this headline, which is adjudged the best submitted.

And to stimulate a start, I offer a dish of blank verse salad that I tossed together in the editorial kitchen between writing some editorial page headlines, composing this column, and handling my other duties which I like to think are multitudinous. Here it is:

"Just who's zoo is it?"
Who's the cuckoo
In the IPT zoo
When it should be whose zoo?
Who's in Who's Who,
The newspaper crew's,
Who hasn't got the news
About whose and who's?
What's to blame?
His education . . .
Editor's Note: Or booze?

Now you try it. Entries to Epley, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach, by Sept. 21.

Thousands Stream to Pomona for the Fair

—Staff Photos by Chuck Sundquist

A FIRST-DAY CROWD of 44,883 persons went to the County Fair in Pomona Friday—slightly under the first day's turnout for the 1961 Fair—but Saturday's outpouring of Fair-goers appeared to be setting new attendance records. Opening day visitors included hot dog-munchers Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrys, 17920 Gard St., Artesia, and their two children Tami, 4, and Danny, 2. Ferris wheel and other rides attracted the youngsters, but Mrs. G. G. Chilson, 79, of 744 Daisy Ave., Long Beach, found the goats interesting. The pipe is no prop—Mrs. Chilson has been smoking it for 16 years, she said. Mark Edmondson, 5, of 16884 Wegman Dr., La Puente, is enthralled by forms of transportation, model of diesel railroad, truck equipment and the up-and-coming form—monorail.

Air Force Stunters Starred

By LEE CRAIG

The Air Force's famed "Thunderbird" aerobatic team and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's X15 rocket plane, the world's fastest aircraft, will be featured in the 24th annual "Wings Over the World" event here next Sunday.

The Thunderbirds, flying their sleek F100 Super Sabre jet fighters, will perform their aerial bag of tricks along a several-mile radius over the ocean just off the beach.

TO ASSURE a good view for the thousands expected to gather on the sand and the ocean bluff to watch, the Air Force's top stunt fliers will stage their show below an altitude of 8,000 feet.

The Thunderbirds' performance, beginning at 4 p.m., will climax the regular "Wings" program at Long Beach Municipal Airport, starting at 9 a.m.

More than 50 military and civil aircraft of all types will be on display, according to Maj. R. H. Harter, coordinator of the event for the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

HEADING the list of the craft to be exhibited will be the North American Aviation-built research rocket aircraft X15, which has zoomed to an altitude over 300,000 feet and

Boys' Club Units Reopen With Full Program for Fall

The four branches of the Boys' Club of Long Beach will reopen Monday after being closed two weeks for renovation.

Associate Executive Director Lou Yantorn said the program will include sports, arts and crafts, radio, lapidary and other events, with physical fitness being stressed in the program.

Effective with the reopening, the Downtown Branch at 1585 Chestnut Ave. will cease to operate as a full-fledged branch. It will serve as the central services building, housing offices, warehouse and major indoor sports program for all branches, said Executive Director Maurice A Bugbee.

The change reflects shift of population to the Lakewood-Los Altos area where a new branch has been established at the corner of Charlemagne and Arbor.

The basic building, formerly the Lakewood Lions Club Hut, was made available by the Lions for the Lakewood Branch. This branch will be open for pre-registration, 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and will begin activities Oct. 1. Information about the club branches may be obtained by calling the central office, HE 2-4070.

Vehicles of Bygone Era Readied for Horse Show

Evan K. Shaw, president of a Manhattan Beach dinnerware company, will display some 25 carriages that helped write history in this country.

* * * *

THEY RANGE from a Concord wagon that rode the dusty trails of the west to an elegant town rig driven by the first Alfred Gwinn Vanderbilt.

Employes of the Shaw firm share in the boss's hobby by helping to restore the rusting pieces of old carriages to a shiny finished product. The carriages have been used to advertise the company's product.

One of the collection will be put to good use during the horse show. A popcorn wagon — complete with steam whistle—that rattled over the streets of American cities at the turn of the century will dispense hot popcorn and peanuts once again.

* * * *

MORE THAN 700 entries will compete during the show Saturday and Sunday at the Portuguese Bend Riding Club. The program, for the benefit of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital, will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. Children's riding events are scheduled the first day.

The event, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Wetzel Jr., will wind up with a buffet dinner at the club Sunday evening.

NATION ACCLAIMS L.B. PROGRAM

Pupils' Maps Chart Safest Way to Walk to School, Back Home

By GEORGE WEEKS

With the opening of the school term last week, Long Beach's nationally recognized program to establish safe school route maps has been broadened to protect the lives of 44,000 children.

That number of elementary grade pupils in 49 schools received maps the first week of the term defining the saftest routes for walking to and from school.

* * * *

ON THE REVERSE side of each map is a list of safety rules for children and parents. The do's and don'ts for children are specific. Parents are merely reminded to obey all traffic laws and especially not to double park or stop near red-painted curbs.

Three schools outside the public system joined the program this year. Pupils at St. Lucy's St. Bartholomew's and Bethany Baptist got the materials, along with those at St. Joseph's, which joined last year.

All public elementary schools in Long Beach, or those serving pupils who walk on Long Beach streets are enrolled.

City engineers who coordinate the program and prepare the maps reported that Lakewood is considering adoption of the same system, which has won commendation from the Automobile Association. Signal Hill already distributes its own maps.

The 10-year-old program was originated by City Traffic Engineer Robert D. Dier. It quickly won the approval of school authorities and is kept up to date by map revisions every year.

Assistant Traffic Engineer Tom Shreve, who has supervised the revisions for the last four years, explained that all school principals are invited to suggest corrections each year. Shreve evaluates these suggestions by field checks before incorporating them in the latest editions.

"We don't know how many lives have been saved," said Shreve, "because there are too many factors in traffic accidents. We do know that the child who follows the route on the map will be safer than the one who forgets."

* * * *

IN RECENT YEARS the Long Beach Safety Council (subsidized in part by the city) and school authorities have paid for printing the maps.

Selection of routes and of the material on the reverse side of the maps is reviewed and approved each year by a citywide safety committee. In addition to the city traffic engineering division, members represent Long Beach Unified School District, the Long Beach P-TA Council, the Police Department, the Safety Council and the Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Save Land for Parks; Vote Yes on County Prop. B

LOS ANGELES COUNTY'S population is growing at the rate of 188,000 persons a year, and its available land area is being consumed for industrial, commercial, and residential purposes at the rate of 100 acres a day. To mix a metaphor, the tide of concrete is on the march. An orderly and effective program to preserve and develop some of the remaining land for parks and recreation is imperative. Hence, Proposition B on the Nov. 6 ballot.

AT PRESENT, the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation is a creature of county ordinance. Created by the Board of Supervisors, it could be abolished by the board. Since it does not have charter status, its moneys may be (and have been) diverted to other uses. As a result, the department's planning is uncertain and short-range.

Proposition B gives the county a regional parks and recreation system with permanent charter status. It provides that money earmarked for acquisition and development of regional park and recreation areas will be used for those purposes. Thus, the county will be able to maintain an orderly, long-range plan of development; parks will become realities instead of dying on the planning table.

THE PROPOSED MEASURE anticipates the fear of county encroachment on the facilities of other levels of government. It specifically provides that the department must not interfere with the control or operation of any park, parkway, or other public recreation property owned or controlled by a city, a special district, the state, or the federal government—unless invited to do so.

The department's objectives within its own jurisdiction will be to acquire acreage to meet the growing deficit, to develop the unimproved parks; and to improve existing sub-standard facilities.

ACCORDING TO THE National Recreation Assn., the national standard for park and recreation areas is 20 acres for every 1,000 people—15 acres for regional and 5 for local areas. The county's regional park and recreation plan has established the modest goal of six acres per thousand people for regional park and recreation services. If Los Angeles County is going to have anywhere near a decent amount of regional park acreage for the nine million persons who will be living here by 1975, the program of acquisition and development must start now—with a "Yes" vote on Proposition B.

Protests Against Powell Pouring In

WASHINGTON—Letters are beginning to pour into the various Congressional offices protesting the antics of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat, and demanding that their representatives DO something about it.

Powell recently cut short an educational tour he was making as chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor. In company with two handsome female members of his committee staff, he was studying Paris nightclubs, various beach resorts and his report is awaited here with some anticipation.

Citizens throughout the country are demanding his ouster. This free-spending junket on the U. S. government, plus the $12,000 salary he gives his Puerto Rican wife for watching the beach at San Juan, has enraged them and they are demanding action.

Unfortunately, the only action that can be taken is by the voters of Harlem who, if the past gives any basis for judgment, will undoubtedly return Powell for another term. And another. And another.

About the only step for House members would be a vote of censure. Presumably the leadership could remove Powell from his important committee assignment, but it will weigh this one in the light of the seniority system along with the important factor that Powell is the only Negro with a chairmanship. Political wind sampling quite often ignores the basic issue of what is right and what is wrong and concerns itself with what is best for the party.

AN IRON-WILLED Congressman of our acquaintance was discussing a personal problem at lunch the other day. He, first of all, has achieved the impossible: he has dieted away 10 pounds AND given up smoking. He has also cut down on his intake of highballs.

"You are like a distance runner who has quit running," one of his colleagues theorized. "The more you run the more you can run. You'd better get back in training."

Senate Committee Declares War on U.S. Steel Industry

WASHINGTON.—Persecution of the steel industry by "liberal" or "radical" Democrats in Congress has reached the point where even the labor unions are becoming apprehensive that the end result may be more plants closed down and more jobs lost. If present proposals are carried out, it could mean a form of government control of the automobile industry, of aluminum, coal, copper, iron ore and other basic materials, and of related manufacturing enterprises.

LAWRENCE

Some of the radicals have gone so far as to concede that the purpose of their current demand for cost figures from the steel companies to be submitted to a Senate committee is to determine whether a public - utility system of regulating prices, and perhaps wages, may be desirable as a "public policy" for Congress to enact.

A memorandum authorized for distribution by Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, Democrat, to the entire membership of the Senate Judiciary Committee says flatly that, if a company seeks efficiency through the size of its operations, it may have to pay the penalty for it in a system of public-utility regulation.

* * * *

THE SENATE subcommittee memorandum, in effect, declares war on the steel industry and threatens it either with laws that would establish a public-utility system of government regulation or a split-up of existing companies into smaller units, irrespective of whether they will be efficent or make a profit adequate to insure further funds for investment in plant and equipment.

All this is being done in the face of statements from steel industry executives that net profits in their rate of return on invested capital have declined in the last 10 years by almost 50 per cent. Thomas F. Patton, president of the Republic Steel Corp., said to the committee.

"A product-by-product breakdown of the American steel industry's costs, whether published by groups of three companies or even 12 companies, would be invaluable to foreign competitors engaged in penetrating our markets."

Mr. Patton testified also that disclosure of cost data would have a serious domestic impact in that producers of competitive products "would have for the first time steel-cost information which could prove of great benefit to them and great damage to us in the steel industry." Describing current conditions in the steel industry, Mr. Patton added:

"Wheeling Steel Corp. has reduced its dividend, Lukens Corp. has reduced its dividend, Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co. has reduced its dividend, and if you look at the profits of the steel companies for the last quarter, you will see that a number of them did not earn enough to cover their dividend, and I am sorry to have to say that when you look at the earnings of the current third quarter when they are published they are going to look even worse."

Mr. Patton predicted that, if foreign competitors could get the cost figures of American steel companies, they "would be better able to take business away from us—we could have our steel works working less, and more people out of work, and the towns in which our plants are located would be suffering even worse than they are today."

Sens. Scott of Pennsylvania and Keating of New York, Republicans, asked whether plants in their respective states would be affected and received the reply that the impact would be serious everywhere if foreign competitors obtained access to the cost data of American companies.

* * * *

IT LOOKS now as if the Democratic party candidates for Congress, generally may be adversely affected if the President continues to stand behind the Kefauver committee's crusade. There have been rumors that the White House and the steel-union leaders are taking another look at the whole situation. For it could become a potent issue in the current congressional campaign.

Kennedy Trying to Mollify Both Liberals and Business

WASHINGTON.—By phone and pen, President Kennedy is trying to convince business leaders that he is not antibusiness and simultaneously convince liberal leaders that he is not probusiness.

A coterie of liberal senators in particular have been growling among themselves that the President has been leaning backward to please business.

PEARSON

First, he gave his blessing to a tax bonanza for the Du Pont empire on its forced sale of General Motors stock; and Senate liberals note sarcastically that doubtless the Du Ponts will show their gratitude, as in the past, by contributing their usual quota of about $200,000 to the Republican Party.

Next, Kennedy appointed two pro-oil industry men to the vitally important federal power commission, despite the fact he had promised in his well-publicized speech in Springfield, O., that he would not appoint industry men to regulatory commissions.

Then Kennedy called for the takeover of the communications satellite system by a private company dominated by American Telephone & Telegraph, which every Democratic administration in recent years has castigated and prosecuted for antitrust violation.

Simultaneously, brother Robert Kennedy, the attorney general, according to Senate liberals has one of the worst records of antitrust enforcement in history, with most of his cases actually originating under the Eisenhower administration.

On top of this, the President urged the Senate to give special tax incentives to companies which modernize their equipment. Senate leaders claim this favors big business and discriminates against little business.

All this is why a stanch, tough-minded group of senators who battled hard for Kennedy's election are now threatening to wage continuing legislative war against the man they helped elect—on the pledge that he was a liberal, not a conservative.

To head off the uprising, Kennedy invited Sens. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico and Gene McCarthy of Minnesota, both on the Senate Finance Committee, to the White House to hear his arguments. JFK has also tried telephoning other rebels to mollify them. In most cases they are taking the attitude that his call accomplished little.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the President has been inviting businessmen to quiet luncheons and dinners, to try to convince them that he is not antibusiness. The business leaders go away with White House matches they have snitched to show that they have been the President's guests, but otherwise joke with their friends back home about Presidential attempts to woo them.

BOB HOUSER

HST's House of GOP Horrors Built on Brimstone Footing

THE HELL which Harry S. Truman gives 'em rises from doctrinaire brimstone. The brimstone is HST's foundation. So news accounts of new speeches deal generally with the new things said, taking hell for granted.

HOUSER

Reworking the notes from Ol' Harry's most recent Ol' Ned in Southern California, we find quotables crowded out of the news coverage by space considerations.

On GOP charges that Democrats are too friendly with labor: "If this is crime, I want to plead guilty. They can't send me to jail for it although some of the damn Republicans would like to do it."

What, asked Truman, are the real, basic differences between the two great parties? His answer:

"Democrats try to do what is best for all of the people; the best way to do this is to pay special attention to the problems of the working people of America. We also have special concern for those who cannot provide for themselves—the older people, the sick, the dependent children and all the unfortunates who need help. I've been charged with being a socialist; if concern for 180 million people is what they mean I guess I am one, but to hell with them.

"WHAT ABOUT the Republicans? I think they try too, in their own peculiar way . . . but they start in the wrong place. They start at the top and wait for things to trickle down. This has never worked. But they refuse to try the other approach because they are committed traditionally to special privilege and to those at the top of the economic ladder. The rich get richer and the poor become completely dependent on the whims of the rich. That's Republican policy."

HST told his Los Angeles labor audience that Nixon and his agents would use every device and means of political chicanery and demagoguery in the current campaign, but "you voters of California have too much sense to put a counterfeit in as governor . . . off the record, he's no good."

OTHER assorted Truman spice:

Be careful of the underdog. When the underdog gets on top he's a damn sight meaner than the top dog.

Thomas Jefferson was the first in the White House to understand the GOP special-privilege and trickle-down policies.

If Andrew Jackson had been President in 1860 there wouldn't have been any war.

Earl Warren was a Democrat and didn't know it.

The worst thing FDR ever did was to hijack me into being Vice President.

SOME OF Governor Brown's staff are tough customers. I would have liked to have some of them in my cabinet.

On Nixon, "Don't you talk about him; let him go to hell on his own hook."

On HST's campaigning for JFK: "A law student at the University of Virginia asked what I was going to do when the Pope takes over the White House. I told him that 10 or 15 million Catholics voted for me in 1948 and didn't give a damn whether I was a Baptist or not."

Juvenile delinquency is in about the same proportion as it was in our day, but communications were not so good and it didn't get all the attention. Don't tell me there's a one of you here who didn't do some wrongs. You needn't worry about those youngsters.

Birth Control Key to Peace?

EDITOR:

What is progress? Webster's dictionary defines it as "advance toward perfection." The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to spend $20 billion in the next nine years in trying to land a man on the moon, while half the world goes to bed hungry every night. Is this progress?

Progress to me means increasing the happiness and welfare of mankind, and the greatest discovery that has ever been made to alleviate suffering and increase the happiness of mankind is a little pill. It was developed by a group of scientists and doctors headed by Dr. George Pincus, and cost only a few thousand dollars to discover. This little pill when taken 20 days a month prevents pregnancy. It is safe, and is now available on a doctor's prescription for $3.50, less in clinics, for a month's supply. It can put an end to wars, starvation, crime and diseasse.

* * * *

WARS ARE caused primarily by a lack of space and resources due to the overpopulation which plagues most of the world today. This also causes poverty and starvation. In Brazil, a predominately Catholic country, it is estimated that a third of the population is starving. The infant mortality is as high as 80 per cent in some parts. The rhythm method of birth control, the only one approved by the Catholic church, is too complicated for many and unworkable for others. Dr. John Rock, a Catholic, says of the pills, "Since the action of the pills seems to be completely physiological and in accord with human nature, I believe their use for legitimate contraception is completely moral."

It is now possible for the women of the world to build a civilization where human life will be precious and sacred, where there will be no wars, no hunger, no unwanted, mistreated children, no disease and little crime.

Instead of giving so much adulation to our astronauts, our rockets, our Telstar, let's give our praise and support to the men and women who devote their lives to discovering things that lessen the suffering of the world.

Easier to Start Than Put Out Fire

EDITOR:

Strange as it seems, Mr. Khrushchev may have given the United States an idea worth consideration. His suggestion that we open up trade with Cuba may be a sound idea. We really ought to get along with our nearest neighbors as a matter of common sense. Trade makes better relations between nations than threats of invasion.

Military posturings, belligerance and blunders on both sides have not paved the way to peace nor provided solutions to the economic and political problems that plague most nations, including our own.

Fortunately, the United Nations opens its fall session soon. One cannot help but hope that some new, non-military approaches will be offered to relieve the international tensions which become more dangerous to the entire human race. It is easier to start a fire than to put one out, therefore, it takes more courage to come up with constructive answers, than to trust in guns and bombs.

Mail Took Long Time Getting There

I read in your paper about Sen. Kuchel being worried and concerned about Southern California beaches. It is remarkable how long it takes these public representatives to get their mail. Several years ago the beaches from Long Beach to Huntington Beach were washing out so fast you couldn't keep up with the square yards that were lost per day.

I, with a very few other concerned people were firing letters to Washington every few days and believe me there were very, very few coming back to us from them. I feel quite sure I either read or heard about all that were received from them, and about the only thing any of them said was that nothing could be done. This erosion was started in the first place by building jettys for the Harbor to the Navy Depot at Seal Beach.

What started it doesn't really matter. It is the fact that these people running for office now were not the least bit concerned about whether our homes were washed away, or how much precious beach was lost.

I just hope these dedicated followers of the four men who were in office at that time take a really good look at them and see what some of them did for Southern California.

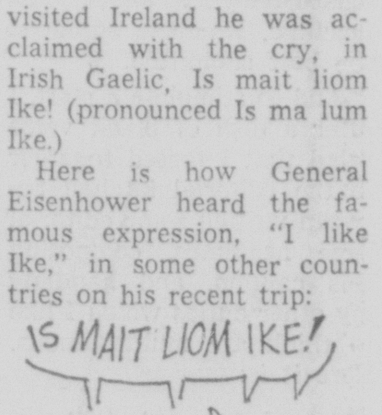
Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

It is reported that when ex - President Eisenhower visited Ireland he was acclaimed with the cry, in Irish Gaelic, Is mait liom Ike! (pronounced Is ma lum Ike.)

Here is how General Eisenhower heard the famous expression, "I like Ike," in some other countries on his recent trip:



IS MAIT LIOM IKE!

Germany: Ich mag Ike!

Denmark: Jeg kan Ike godt lide!

Sweden: Jag tycker om Ike!

Norway: Jeg liker Ike!

In this conection there is a popular Spanish story that when General Eisenhower visited Spain the cheering crowds coupled his name with that of Franco, shouting Franco! Ike! Inasmuch as "Ike" is pronounced "eh-keh" in Spanish, this makes a Spanish pun. For Franco—y que? is colloquial Spanish for, "Franco—so what?"

A copy of the Berlitz "Diner's Dictionary" will be mailed to anyone submitting a question used in "Languages in the News."

Homeowners get their first opportunity today to view the new pool and patio displays at Sunset Fence and Patio Co. and Sunset Pools. The firms are located at 3626 Long Beach Blvd., and are open every day.

Many of the problems confronting home owners who seek to improve their property are erased under a complete one-package program launched here by these two well known building firms.

To home owners this means a distinct advantage in which a swim pool, complete decking, filter and heating system for the pool, patio and patio cover, fencing or any needed building work all can be provided in a one-package, one financially arranged project.

"And," says a spokesman, "much of this can be arranged under a 5 per cent, 7-year bank loan, something unheard of until now in such developments.

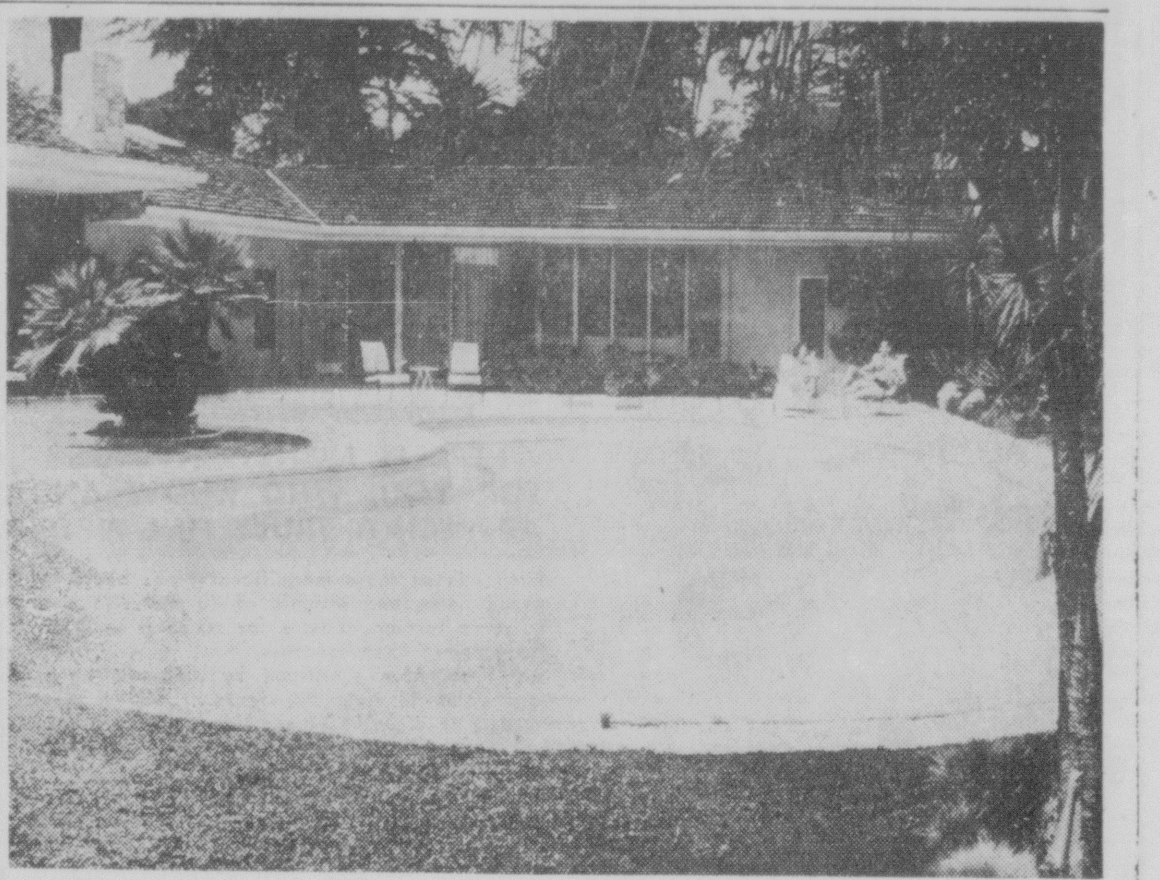
IN THEIR LARGE headquarters, the two firms have model pools, patios, decking, walks, fencing, fireplaces and other home improvement models in display.

Patrons are invited to browse around the grounds and view the improvements and then discuss with well qualified building and design experts any plans for improvements which they might have.

No longer will the home owners have to worry with the responsibilities of arranging various loans, contracts and permits. All responsibilities from the designing to completion and the financing will be handled by the one-package Sunset project.

Remodeling of older homes, room additions, modern fireplaces and other such improvements all can be included in the Sunset offer.



YOUR DREAM HOME comes true when you have a lovely swim pool like this. And such a pool is well within range of most Southland home owners under Sunset Pools broad financing plans. No down payment. No payments till May, 1963.

Home Improvement of Any Kind Offered by Sunset

For 16 years Sunset Fence and Patio Co. of Long Beach has been a progressive, leading home improvement firm doing business with at least 1,000 customers a year.

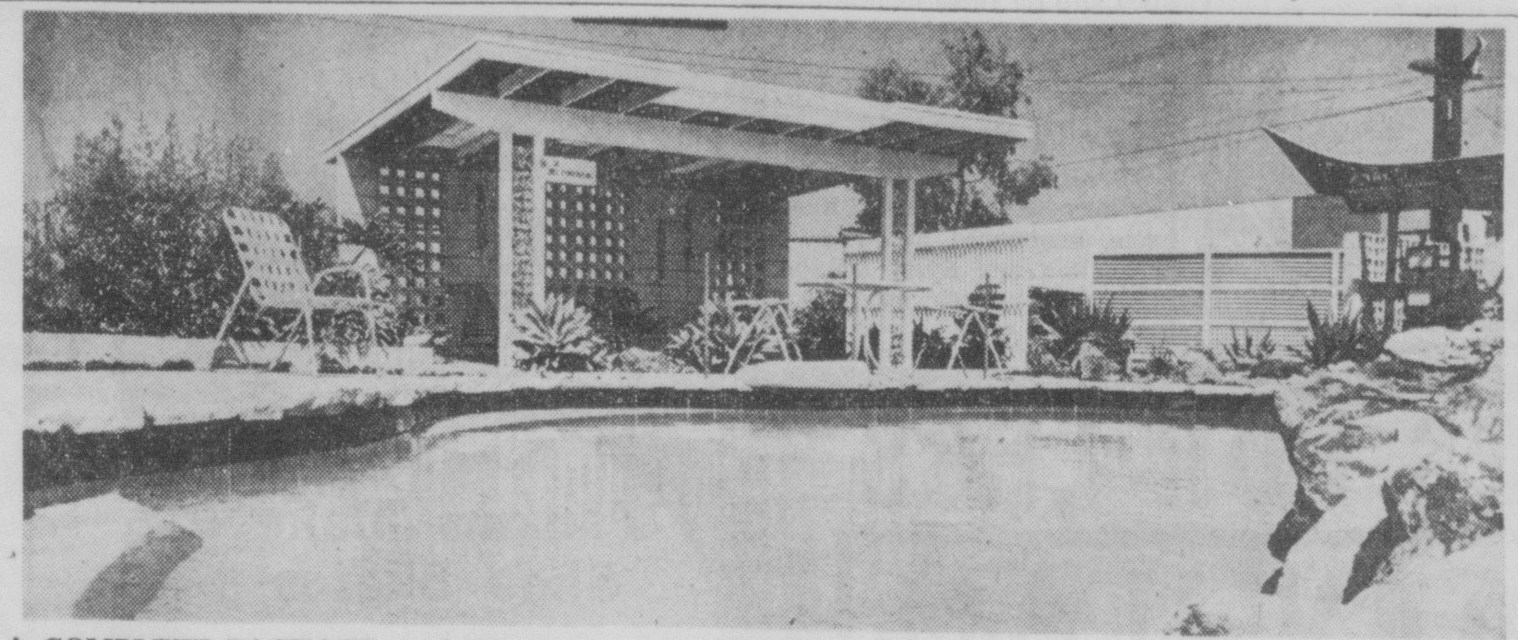
Today, Sunset is ranked as one of the leaders in the home improvement field.

While fences and patios still provide a big share of the business, Sunset provides far greater services.

Room additions, remodeling, new kitchens, improved baths, family room additions, fireplace installation and general improvements all come under Sunset's extensive work.

Sunset's experts pay the closest of attention to designs and will update exteriors and interiors of older homes by using the most modern materials.

Sunset Fence and Patio Co. has arranged new financing through a 7-year bank loan to cover up to $10,000 in home improvements at the low rate of 5 per cent to qualified borrowers.



A COMPLETE PACKAGE, including a swimming pool, decking, filter, lovely patio, fencing and other improvements is now offered by the combination of two major Southland firms, Sunset Fence and Patio Co., and Sunset Pools. This is one of the displays offered at 3626 Long Beach Blvd.

Sunset Rated Among Top Builders of Pools in U.S.

Warren W. Kingsley, president and founder of Sunset Pools, led his firm in 10 years to become a leading builder of pools in Southern California. Now with the E. L. Bruce support he announced they will be able to build a better pool for the buying public at more advantageous prices.

Sunset Pools claims a number of innovations in swimming pool construction, including safety ledges, love seats, the anti-vortex main drain and the dial-clean automatic filtration.

"We believe the swimming pool business in Southern California has come of age," the Bruce firm announced at the merger. The combined methods of sales management and financial dealings will give better pools to more Americans and we intend to make Sunset the world's greatest pool builder."

$20 MILLION SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Torrance, P.V. Vote Tuesday

TORRANCE — Voters in Torrance and the Palos Verdes Peninsula go to the polls Tuesday to ballot on nearly $20 million for school construction needed to avert double sessions in both school districts within three years.

Booming populations in both areas are expected to help increase present student enrollment of nearly 30,000 in the Torrance Unified School District by at least 6,000 students and the enrollment of nearly 9,000 in the Palos Verdes Peninsula Unified School District by some 3,000 students.

In Torrance, voters will be asked to approve $8 million in school bonds, although the district will be limited to issuing about $2 million annually as old bonds are retired because the district already is bonded to its debte limit of 10 per cent of its assessed valuation.

* * * *

SINCE the district already is taxing to its bonded capacity, there would be no increase in the tax if the bond proposal is approved by voters, according to school officials.

Immediately affected if the bond program is not approved, according to school officials, will be the new Torrance Elementary School, Torrance High School rehabilitation and Victor Elementary School additions.

Bond funds would be used to add classrooms at all four present high schools, build three new elementary schools and make additions to at least five elementary schools.

* * * *

PALOS VERDES schools are asking the approval of $6,800,000 in bonds and authorization for state loans of $4,900,000.

Approval would mean a tax boost of about 12 cents per $100 assessed valuation, school officials estimate.

Funds would be used to build the projected Rolling Hills High School and Margate Intermediate School and constrict another intermediate school and two elementary schools.

* * * *

THE MONEY also would be used to buy sites for a third high school in the Miraleste area, four intermediate school sites and nine elementary school sites.

Both bond issues have received support from civic groups and have not had any organized opposition.

It will require the support of two-thirds of the voters Tuesday to pass.

Discussion on Failing Firms Set

ANAHEIM — An inquiry into the revival of failing businesses will occupy Orange County industrial engineers at the first of their monthly dinner meetings here Tuesday at the Water Wheel restaurant.

Speaker for the evening will be W. K. Bock, specialist in management services with an accounting firm.

Future meetings will cover sales, productivity, acquisitions and diversification, organization structure and cost control, according to Leo Berghaus, program chairman for the sponsoring American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

Weekend in Santa Barbara

MOTORLOG
Miramar

STEEN WEINOLD FORMER LONG BEACH HOTEL MANAGER

By BILL EMERY
Auto Editor

A new prestige import sports car was introduced to the public two weeks ago by Bob James of JAMESTOWN, 1350 Long Beach Blvd.—"the fun car center." It's the car you see all over this page, the 1963 Austin Healey "3000" BJ7 convertible.

The British Motor Corporation introduced the "3000" in 1959. The Sports Convertible is the latest version of this basic model. It features a new wrap-around windshield, roll-up windows with hinged side vents and a removable rear plastic window for added ventilation.

Our Motorlog BJ7 convertible had a Blapunkt radio with AM, FM and Marine band that played like a hi-fi with the speaker mounted in the top well in the rear.

The top flips back or up with a flip of the hand as you sit in the car. The top boot is the easiest we've ever put on or taken off.

But the fun is in the driving! The three-liter six-cylinder engine has twin two-inch SU carburetors. Torque power has been increased in the lower range up to 4,000 r.p.m.'s.

Bill Young, Jamestown's sales manager and race driver, checked me out in the four-speed shift with overdrive in third and fourth, giving the car six speeds forward. This is what makes the car a fun car to drive . . . especially in Santa Barbara's hilly streets and the scenic back road to Ojai, Santa Paula and back to Highway 101 at Camarillo.

With a sporty car, we picked a resort with lots of recreation available for our weekend stay. The Miramar is just three miles south of Santa Barbara and a leisurely two-hour drive from Long Beach on the freeways. Steen Weinold, former Long Beach hotel manager, supervises the operation of Miramar's 21-acre complete vacationland.

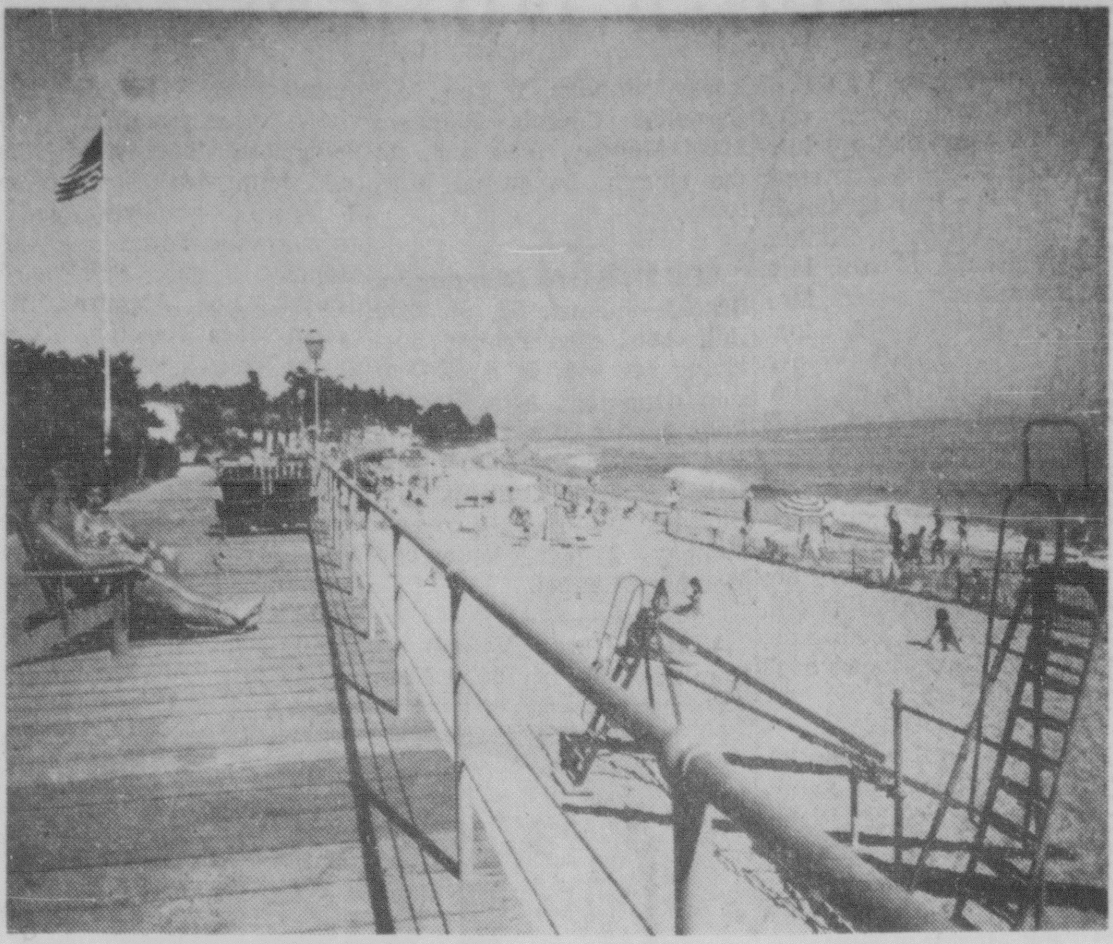
There are accommodations to meet the requirements of more than 400 guests and convention banquet facilities for groups from 10 to 1,000. A second swimming pool and poolside units were recently added. And with the adjoining beach and board walk with beach playground facilities, the Miramar is ideal for a family resort.

Other recreational facilities located on the spacious grounds include a tennis court, ping-pong tables, shuffle board, horseshoe rings, croquet, putting green and a bar for those requiring elbow exercise. Nearby are horseback riding stables, polo grounds, deep sea fishing charter boats, sailing and golf privileges at an adjoining country club.

And if you're still looking for something to do, Santa Barbara has the Mission and Museum, the Botanic Garden, Museum of Art, theaters and playhouses.

The variety of units available is as complete as a small city. There are rooms, poolside lanais, ocean-front cottages, one, two and three-bedroom cottages with parlors, fireplaces and even kitchens all with radio or television.

Ask for room service and a waiter rings your bell with his elbow. You're pleasantly standing at your door—both amused when you see Steve hands full and the tray balanced on his head.



PRIVATE BEACH FOR MIRAMAR GUESTS

Winter rates are now in effect until May 25.

There's something about driving a sports car that makes you an automatic friend to man. If you're parked down town—any town—strangers come up and start talking as if they hadn't seen you for a week or so. The conversation immediately focuses on the car. On the road, every sports car driver is your next door neighbor. You wave at each other. Not vigorously. One or two fingers usually does the trick. But you get the feeling you're among friends . . . even if you are hopelessly lost on an unmarked back road.

In case you're interested in getting lost among friends, you can do it in the Austin Healey BJ7 convertible for $3,599 and that's fully equipped!

Champagne Bet Rides on AF Competition

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A case of California champagne rides on the performance in Troop Carrier Wing competition of a U.S. Air Force crew from California against a crew from Texas.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown put up those stakes in a bet with Gov. Price Daniel of Texas. The annual competition will be held Sept. 17-21 in Los Vegas, Nev.

"To add a little 'kick' to the competition, I would like to wager a case of California Korbel champagne that California crewmen, from either Hamilton or McClellan Air Force Base, will beat the teams from your state," the California governor said in a letter to Daniel.

Other exhibits will include National Air Lines' latest DC8 jetliner, 15 Air Force jet fighters of various types, the Navy's F4H McDonnell Phantom II, one of the world's fastest tactical fighters; a squadron of Air National Guard F86 fighters and a handful of antique aircraft, including a Ford Trimotor.

A CIVIL AIR Patrol squadron will be on hand also.

Representing this country's arsenal of missiles will be the Agena, Hawk, Regulus, Terrier and others.

A Coast Guard air-sea rescue unit will demonstrate its technique about 1 p.m. and there will also be a showing of the latest air freight operations.

Providing music throughout the show will be the Long Beach Municipal Band, the El Toro Marine Corps Band and a Civil Air Patrol band.

ENTRANCE to the viewing area for the program—which is free to the public—will be at Spring St. and Redondo Ave., at the old Air Force gate to the field. Ample parking space will be available on the south side of Spring St.

Children's amusement rides and a circus calliope will be located near the entrance.

Reigning over the celebration will be "Miss Wings Over the World," who will be chosen from 15 stewardesses from as many international air lines at a banquet Saturday night at the Lafayette Hotel.

Something New and Wonderful Has Happened In Long Beach

Red Cross Position Filled

ANAHEIM—Blood on call—24 hours a day, seven days a week—that's the responsibility of Orange County's new coordinator of the Red Cross emergency blood delivery service.

Roy Wade, 218 S. Primrose, began work today as a volunteer in charge of expediting blood deliveries to 21 Orange County hospitals.

The former railroad official and veteran Red Cross worker, has served as a first aid instructor for the Anaheim chapter, and for the past year has worked in the emergency blood depot at Red Cross headquarters in Santa Ana.

Since its inauguration in March, 1961, the emergency blood service has made 3,817 deliveries to hospitals throughout the county. A special car is kept at headquarters to speed blood deliveries. Orange County Sheriff's officers also deliver blood.

The emergency program was formerly under the direction of Mrs. John F. Anthony of Costa Mesa. She averaged 150 volunteer hours a month as coordinator of the blood program and as motor services chairman for the Southern Orange County Red Cross chapter.

Additional volunteers are needed at the emergency blood depot, the new coordinator said, and information may be obtained at any county Red Cross headquarters.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

'Soft' Victim Hides Burglar

A Downey man had a change of heart after he captured a burglar, police said Saturday.

Gary Coffin of 12852 Lakewood Blvd., an apartment house resident, called police to report he had captured the suspected burglar after a struggle in Coffin's bedroom. But when the officers arrived, Coffin said the man had escaped.

A search of Coffin's apartment, however, revealed he had hidden the suspect, Ralph S. Hunsaker, 33, of 9518 Walnut St., Bellflower, in a kitchen-broom closet.

Police said Coffin sympathized with the suspect after Hunsaker told him a "hard-luck story" about being unemployed and broke. But police took another view. Hunsaker, they said, was carrying $530 taken in five Friday night burglaries.

Urges Action in Cuba

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, one of last year's major critics of the callup of reservists, told an audience in Anaheim he approved President Kennedy's move to recall reserves in the new Cuban crisis.

"But," said Tower, "what good-does it do if you call them up but don't use them?"

Sen. Tower, in Anaheim to speak at a $100-a-plate GOP dinner at Disneyland Hotel, said he did not recommend reservists be used in Cuba, but he repeated his propositions for action against Castro's island.

He said the United States should recognize a Cuban government in exile, employ a naval blockade, work through the Organization of American States (OAS) for additional sanctions, and, if the OAS did not act, to work unilaterally for such sanctions.

Forums on Freeway

Public forums for persons affected by state acquisitions of property for the Artesia Freeway in Bellflower have been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Simms Park, 16614 Clark Ave.

The forums will be under the guidance of the relocation committee of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors and the Chamber of Commerce. The Tuesday meeting is for residential property owners and the Wednesday session will be presented for owners of commercial and industrial property.

Sewage Plan Protested

Plans to discharge sewage from the Moulton Ranch senior citizens project into San Diego Creek has drawn fire from a half-dozen spokesmen from Orange County cities, the county itself and several organizations.

The current plan is to dispose of the sewage "after thorough treatment," in a sewage treatment plant. The plan was outlined this weekend to the Santa Ana River Basin Water Pollution Control Board.

But protests from citizens were registered against "possible contamination and pollution" of the waters of Upper Newport Bay, into which the creek empties.

John Troups, consulting engineer for Ross Cortese, who plans the housing project for up to 40,000 persons, claimed that no contamination would result.

'Win or Else' Today for Rams, Colts

Unitas' Crew Six-Point Pick in TV Opener

By JERRY WYNN
I, P-T Staff Writer

BALTIMORE—Like two peas in a pod of hot coals, the Rams and Baltimore Colts will be seething for victory today in their National Football League opener.

Normally the presence of pro football's most rabid fans is incentive enough for Baltimore . . . and the customary sellout crowd of 55,000 will be out to cheer on their heroes at Memorial Stadium today.

But the Colts have additional spurs for this game.

For one, it is "Art Donovan Day" in honor of the 13-year veteran tackle who retired last month. Secondly, the team received a verbal lashing from coach Weeb Ewbank after losing to the Steelers last week that crackled with "win or else" overtones.

* * * *

THE RAMS also will enter the contest with a dedication seldom seen in recent years. Raked by the fans, press and coach Bob Waterfield for their inept showing against the 49ers, they must prove anew that they are capable of playing first-class football.

WYNN'S WINNER
Rams 21, Colts 20

There also is a feeling among the players that if they can get by the always-powerful Colts at Baltimore, they will have an excellent chance to beat their next three foes — Bears, Cowboys and Redskins—and gain a 4-0 headway into the rugged NFL campaign.

So there is plenty at stake for both sides today in what could be the fiercest battle in Maryland since the North and South bloodied the waters of Antietam Creek 100 years ago tomorrow.

* * * *

PACED BY the premier quarterback of pro football, Johnny Unitas, Baltimore is rated a six-point favorite to hand the Rams their eighth consecutive loss at the Colt corral. With Raymond Berry, Jimmy Orr, R. C. Owens and Dee Mackey as targets for Unitas, the Colts have the most dreaded passing attack in football.

The Rams can't match Unitas with Zeke Bratkowski but they should have a far superior ground force in Jon Arnett, Dick Bass and Ollie Matson and equally talented receivers in Jim Phillips, Carroll Dale and Duane Allen.

* * * *

RAM ROOKIE Merlin Olsen will start at tackle in place of injured Urban Henry, and Carver Shannon replaces Alvin Hall at right corner back. Probable starters:

LEATHERNECKS CUT DOWN 49ER

Fullback Wayne Mickaelian of Long Beach State nets only 2½ yards in first-quarter plunge against San Diego Marines Saturday night at Veterans Stadium. No. 64 of 49ers is lineman Darryl Wright.

Worst Defeat in 6 Years as 7,100 Watch

By AL LARSON

Dee Andrews has landed at Long Beach State, but the San Diego Marines had the situation well in hand Saturday night.

The famed halfback, making his college debut as a 49er, was handcuffed on three carries and "netted" minus six yards as the Marines stormed to an impressive 39-0 victory in the season's opener at Veterans Stadium.

A record LBSC crowd of 71,100 watched the Leathernecks roll unchecked. Outweighing their opponent 23 pounds per man, the Marines scored in every period as they handed Long Beach its worst defeat in six years.

* * * *

THE BLANKING was also the first since San Francisco State turned the trick in 1960 and marked the seventh year in a row that the 49ers have lost their opener.

Andrews, who found no running room whatsoever, entered the game 7½ minutes into the first period. Running against a giant wall that averaged 235 pounds, Dee gained one, then lost four and three yards the only other times he handled the ball in the first half. He saw limited action in the final half, but didn't carry.

Cast as two-touchdown underdogs, the 49ers advanced only once beyond their own 27-yard line in the first half as the Marines' massive line held back five successive assaults. The lone threat was short-circuited by an interception on the goal line as the second quarter came to a close.

The 49ers found running against the Marines even more futile the second half. Not once did they advance past their own 35 on six series of downs.

The Marines, led by the sparkling running of Dave Edmunds, Ron Everett, King Dixon, Kelton Winston and Perry Rodrigue, ground out 232 yards to Long Beach's 18.

The Devildogs added 62 through the air to L.B.'s 53 for a net advantage of 294 to 71.

Leading ground gainer for the Leathernecks was Edmunds with 63 yards on four carries. They even had a Jack Armstrong, one of 12 different backs who packed the ball.

Wayne Mickaelian was Long Beach's top runner, picking up 18 yards on 8 attempts. Gene Williams gained 13.

* * * *

THE TIDE of battle was determined on the opening kickoff. Leatherneck tackle Bill Meglen, a future draft choice of the Rams, recovered Bruce Hichman's fumble and four plays later Bo Raney booted a field goal from the 20-yard line.

The Marines increased their lead to 10-0 as a result of another costly fumble. This

TRIPLE STEAL STUNS CUBS, 6-4

Dodgers 4 Ahead, Pennant on Ice?

By GEORGE LEDERER
I, P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The champagne isn't on ice, but the Dodger pennant is — for all purposes except mathematics.

By scoring four times in the last two innings of an error-infested contest, the Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs, 6-4, Saturday, and also floored the Giants, who trail by four games with 13 left to play.

The magic number for the Dodgers is 10. Any combination of Dodger victories or Giant defeats totalling 10 will mean a fourth World Series ring in Walter Alston's jewelry box. Or, to make it simple, if the Dodgers win only seven and lose six, the Giants would have to win 11 and lose two in order to tie.

The corks are ready to pop!

All sloppiness to the contrary, the Dodgers' seventh successive victory and Cubs' 10th loss in a row was as exciting as freeway traffic at five o'clock.

As a matter of fact, it was just past five when the three-hour and 34-minute rat race ended with Ed Roebuck saving the win or Ron Perranoski (6-4).

The winning run came on a triple steal, with Tommy Davis on the front end of a dash as daring as Paul Revere's. Only someone forgot to warn Glen Hobbie, the losing pitcher on two ninth-inning unearned runs.

The bases were full of Dodgers and the score was 4-4 when Andy Carey stepped in as a pinch-hitter for Perranoski with two out in the ninth.

Davis took off on Hobbie's first pitch, as did Tim Harkness at second and John Roseboro at first. The timing turned out to be excellent since Carey wound up looking at a third strike. Two runs scored on the play, Harkness also crossing over as Hobbie was charged with a wild pitch.

Even though Davis was safe on Andre Rodgers' error to start the inning, and Ron Fairly followed with a single, Hobbie dug his own hole. Frank Howard bounced into a double play to ease the pressure, leaving Davis at third. Hobbie, however, hit Harkness, who batted for Larry Burright, then walked Roseboro to fill the bases.

Wally Moon, pinch-hitting for starter Don Drysdale, had tied the score with a two-run double in the eighth inning at the expense of Friday's loser, Don Cardwell. Moon's hit took Drysdale off the hook and justly so.

Drysdale yielded all the Cubs' runs in the fourth inning, although he was blamed by no one but the official scorer. The Cubs scored four times in that round on the grand total of two hits after two of four Dodger errors and two intentional walks.

The first Dodger run also was unearned, on an error by Ken Hubbs. There were seven physical errors, not to mention a bundle of mental ones. But with a pennant on the

Angels Dealt 4th Loss in Row, 7-3

By ROSS NEWHAN

Mathematically eliminated from the race via the Yankees victory Saturday afternoon, the Detroit Tigers got even a few hours later by lowering the Angels coffin another notch.

The Tigers clawed the Angels, 7-3, before 15,255 fans dejected at the sight of the Seraphs fourth consecutive defeat, matching their longest losing streak of the season.

Still alive, but with their pulse barely audible, the Angels fell six and one-half games behind New York.

The Yankees' magic number is now six and the Angels would have to sweep their remaining 12 games to duplicate the New York Giants miracle of 1951. Even with a sweep, the Bronx Bombers need play at only a .500 clip to eliminate the slumping Seraphs.

The Angels now face a tough task trying to rescue second. Minnesota's advantage is two and one-half games. In fact, the way the Angels are producing runs, their four-game spread over the fourth place Chicago White Sox appears as thin as Bo Belinsky's pay check after fines.

* * * *

DURING THE current losing streak, Gene Autry's wranglers have scored but 10 runs, during their last 73 at-bats, Albie Pearson, Leon Wagner and Felix Torres—bright lights in the Angels' halo—have collected only six hits.

Manager Bill Rigney benched Torres Saturday and inserted Gene Leek, but the young infielder followed his teammates poor example and managed only a second-inning single.

Don Mossi (10-13) and Jim Bunning yielded 12 hits, but the Angels again lacked the big blow at the key moment. Bunning, a 17-game winner, was pressed into bullpen duty when the Angels mounted their only rally in the eighth.

Trailing 4-0 and limited to seven hits through seven frames by Mossi, Pearson opened the one big frame with a single. One out later, with runners now on first and third, Bobby Rodgers' doubled to ruin the shutout. Lee Thomas followed with a single, making it 4-3 and producing his 98th and 99th RBI.

That brought Bunning to the mound. The bullet-throwing righthander struck out Tom Burgess, but Tom Satriano kept the inning alive with a single. Bunning then ended the threat by getting Jim Fregosi on a fly to center.

The Tigers got those three runs right back in the ninth when Norm Cash followed an error by Satriano on what should have been the inning-ending ground ball with his 37th home run off Ted Bowsfield, the fifth Angel pitcher.

WSU's Shirts Are Clean

PULLMAN, Wash.—Washington State University is the newest member of the AAWU (and eligible immediately for a Rose Bowl appearance), but the talk around this isolated campus centers more on educational requirements than future football victories.

Even coach Jim Sutherland, the man who gained fame as Ronnie Knox's tutor and as an exceptional recruiter, has his sights trained on the academic changes which permitted WSU to enter the AAWU.

JIM SUTHERLAND
Sights Academic Changes

"I've got to," explains Sutherland, who has compiled a remarkably consistent 29-29-2 record in six seasons in Cougarville. A few eyebrows were raised when Washington State was accepted into the AAWU, so we want to keep our shirts clean and prove to the other schools that our football players aren't strictly the knucklehead variety that can't get into other institutions."

Washington State, among other northwest schools, for years owned the unenviable reputation of accepting athletes whose grades wouldn't permit them to pass through the doors of California universities.

All that was changed, however, last June when the AAWU looked over Washington State's scholastic records and invited the Cougars to join its chummy five-school conference.

"We have the same entrance requirements now as UCLA, USC, Cal and the other AAWU schools," said Sutherland. "If an athlete can't get into one of those schools, he can't get into Washington State, either."

What effect has Washington State's raised standards made on recruiting football players?

"It's hurt us already," admitted Sutherland, "but on the other hand, in the long run it will help us. For instance, nine boys I could have recruited in past years, I had to forget about this summer. They didn't have the grades.

"However, we won't lose as many players in their junior and senior years as we did in the past. Many football players with poor grades that we accepted in the past just couldn't stand the grind of study and dropped out of school. I'd rather have a smaller group of athletes that will stay with me until graduation than a large group with dropouts!"

WHY SHOULD A GOOD FOOTBALL player enroll at isolated Washington State instead of a California school? The writer had pondered this question for years and wondered even more about it after visiting Washington State for the first time Friday.

The school is 40 miles from Lewiston, Idaho, and 80 miles from Spokane. It's in the middle of a wide expanse of nothing. An athlete or any other student could get mighty bored in this country.

One was 215-pound tackle Bill Benton from Bakersfield. The other was 195-pound guard Chuck Barnes from Santa Maria. Benton was a star on last year's Bakersfield College eleven which squashed Long Beach City College.

His frank answer: "I was tired of the smog and rush-rush-rush of the city. Not only that, but it's a lot easier to study here. And I've got to study darned hard. This is clean, cool country and I much prefer it to the heat of California."

Replied Barnes: "I like the air here, too, much better than in California. But I love to hunt and this area has some of the greatest hunting in the world. I'm much happier studying and playing in Pullman than I would be almost anywhere else."

Hunting, country life and clean air—three new reasons for luring athletes.

WASHINGTON STATE doesn't figure to cut much ice in football circles this autumn, but it does boast a genuine all-American, end Hugh Campbell, who was the NCAA pass receiving champion the last two seasons.

"Hugh is a marked man this season and will be double and triple-teamed by every opponent," claims Sutherland. "Therefore, he may not be setting records. As a result, I'm changing my usual offense to emphasise more running than ever before."

For Sutherland to run instead of pass is as strange as Governor Brown attending a Nixon luncheon. But "Suds" isn't worried about de-emphasis of his renowned aerial circuses.

He's too busy entering the records office to check the grades of the boys who hate smog and love hunting.

THIS HURRICANE WRECKED PITT

Nick Spinelli (20) of the Miami Hurricanes is surrounded by Pittsburgh players but managed to score touchdown in third-period action Saturday. The scores gave Miami 17 points and all it needed to beat Pitt. The final count was 23-14.

Hurricanes Slip Past Pitt, Mira Stars in TV Tilt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — All-America quarterback candidate George Mira dazzled a national television audience with his running and passing Saturday and halfback Nick Spinelli scored two touchdowns in leading Miami to a 23-14 victory over Pitt.

Mira, an impetuous junior from Key West, Fla., completed 13 passes in 25 attempts for 162 yards and one touchdown. But it was his deceptive running that frustrated the Pitt defenders in the opening game of the season for both teams.

STATISTICS	Miami	Pitt
First downs	24	16
Rushing yardage	280	192
Passing yardage	162	133
Passes	13-25	10-23
Passes intercepted by	1	1
Punts	3-24	4-42.8
Fumbles lost	1	1

He zig-zagged down field for 86 yards, picking up most of his yardage at crucial moments for the Hurricanes.

Spinelli scored on runs of one yard and eight yards. He also caught six passes from Mira for 67 yards.

For a while, the game appeared as if it was going to be a defensive struggle. Both teams had drives thwarted before Miami's Bob Wilson booted a 25-yard field goal three minutes into the second quarter.

Then Mira and Spinelli went to work in earnest, leading the Hurricanes on a 97-yard drive for a touchdown. Mira ran for 19 and eight yards and also hit with a pay 15-yard aerial to Spinelli.

* * * *

Mira's dead-eye passing and Spinelli's running and receiving broke the game open in the second half.

Mira, apparently trapped, broke away from tacklers and raced 36 yards to help set up Miami's second touchdown in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Spinelli smashed eight yards off right guard for the score to climax a 73-yard drive. Wilson's kick again was good.

MIRA THREW for his only touchdown pass in the fourth quarter after a drive that started on the Pitt six-yard line. Mira hit Jack Sims from 15 yards out in the left corner for the score. Wilson's kick was wide.

Utah State Gets Revenge on San Jose

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Utah State, with veteran quarterback Jim Turner scoring three touchdowns and passing for another, avenged five defeats at the hands of San Jose State Saturday night by knocking off the Spartans, 29-18.

Turner, who also kicked three conversions, smashed over from close up for three TDs and connected on a 17-yard pass to Darrell Roberts to register another.

The Spartans, who had never before been scored on by the Aggies, stayed in the game until the fourth period. Then, trailing 14-12, San Jose attempted a run after setting up a fake kick. But end Jim McNaughton of the Utags broke through to smear Larry Doss for an eight-yard loss and give Utah the ball on the San Jose 45.

From there, the Aggies moved to the San Jose one from where Turner crossed over.

Then Utah State marched right back again for another tally after containing the Spartans.

* * * *

ALL OF San Jose State's touchdowns came on spectacular plays. The final Spartan tally was registered as the game ended when Rand Carter hit Dave Johnson on a 57-yard pass play.

Earlier, Walt Roberts of the Spartans opened the second half by returning a kickoff 68 yards, then went 32 yards for a touchdown around left end on the next play.

Big Ben Is Ticking Again for Troy . . . McKay Elated

Big Ben Wilson, Troy's all-American fullback candidate, went through contact work in USC's workout Saturday and showed no signs of a knee injury which has plagued him so constantly.

The 225-pound senior rolled up 86 yards in 11 carries, running "almost" at full speed throughout the scrimmage. He ran easily at first and then gradually let himself out.

USC scored eight touchdowns in the drill, with Wilson smashing over on runs of one and six yards and quarterback Bill Nelson scoring on 49 and 3-yard jaunts.

Besides Wilson, McKay was not pleased with the scrum. "We're making too many sophomoric mistakes considering the first game is only one week away."

* * * *

MEANWHILE, in the UCLA camp at Westwood, fullbacks also were the surprise of the day in a 45-minute scrimmage.

Warren Jackson and Mitch Dimkich gained over 100 yards. Jackson getting 65 on six tries and Dimkich 41 on 6 carries.

The Bruin varsity scored 7 of 10 times it had the ball against the Redshirts.

Quarterback Ezell Singleton enjoyed another fine day, completing all four pass attempts for 55 yards and one TD.

WARD NABS POINT TITLE

Parnelli Wins Hoosier 100

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Pole sitter Parnelli Jones lapped the field to win the richest Hoosier Hundred 100-mile big car auto race ever Saturday for his first major triumph since last November.

The 29-year-old speedster from Torrance, Calif., took the lead from Jim Hurtubise on the sixth lap and kept it to win the major share of a record purse of $43,775.

Two accidents marred the 10th dirt track event before an estimated 26,000 fans, but no serious injuries occurred.

Jones, first daredevil to average 150 mph for 500-mile qualification, won at an average of 90.604 mph. He lapped runner-up Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., on the 94th lap, then drove the remaining six laps without challenge.

Jim McElreath was third, followed in order by Roger McCluskey, Rodger Ward, Bobby Marshman, Hurtubise, Ronnie Duman, Ernie Koch and Chuck Hulse.

Broncos Squeeze Past Bills

But it was the old pro, 34-year-old quarterback Frank Tripucka, who molded the surprising Broncos into a devastating football team in the final 30 minutes.

Tripucka fired two touchdown passes, one an electrifying 96-yard strike, to scatback Al Frazier that spearheaded the Broncos' 20-point second half. The Bills had taken a 20-3 lead at the intermission on the passing of Al Dorow and the running of fullback Cookie Gilchrist.

The triumph put the Broncos atop the AFL's Western Division with two victories in as many starts. It was Denver's second straight upset of the young season. Tripucka passed for 375 yards in a 30-21 victory over San Diego last week.

* * * *

FOR BUFFALO, it was another humiliating defeat. The Bills failed for a third time to conquer the Broncos in War Memorial Stadium.

The Bills looked like they were going to run away and hide when they built a 17-point bulge in the opening 30 minutes as the balding Dorow connected on touchdown passes of 12 yards to former Canadian end Ernie Warlick and 19 yards to another Canadian import, Gilchrist.

Andrews Handcuffed as Marines Thump L.B. State

time Jack Farls jumped on Gene Williams' loose ball on LBSC's 21. Long Beach's defenses rose up and pushed the Marines back to the 49er 28.

On fourth down Dick Trivino's field goal attempt from the 34 fell short, but he was roughed on the play and the Marines were rewarded with their second golden scoring opportunity. This time they didn't fail.

* * * *

QUARTERBACK John Arms drove his squad into paydirt, ramming the final three yards on a sneak. Raney converted with 8:55 remaining in the opening period.

San Diego lost another touchdown when King Dixon clicked with Farls on a 57-yard pass play but an illegal man downfield penalty wiped out the TD.

The Devildogs broke through for another score midway in the second period when Dave Edmunds scampered 47 yards on a sweep to the left. Raney's PAT was wide and the Marines led 16-0.

When the 49ers were unable to get untracked on their fifth series of downs, the Marines came right back on a 51-yard drive. A wobbly pass from Dixon to Brad Hubert ate up 32 valuable yards. Dixon crunched 8 over left guard and two plays later Ron Ebbert leaped into the end zone with 3:25 remaining.

* * * *

LONG BEACH'S only threat in the first half ended when Rick Lussier's pass was intercepted on the goal line when the gun sounded. The snappy reserve QB from Cerritos College engineered the 58-yard advance as he connected on four of seven passes good for 41 yards. He was the brightest light in the 49er backfield.

The Marines ground out 71 yards to Long Beach's 24 on the ground the first half and added 62 through the airlanes for a 133-65 advantage overall.

The Marines pushed the scoring avalance to a 32-0 as Lussier was tackled by Neil Wright in the end zone for a safety with only 1:30 elapsed in the final stanza.

A senseless personal foul gave the Marines their final touchdown as Tank Moore climaxed a 44-yard drive by popping over from the 1. Raney's extra point pushed the count to 39-0.

Wyoming Wins, 13-0

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI) — Wyoming's Cowboys scored late in the second and final quarters Saturday to wrest a 13-0 victory from the surprisingly tough Montana State University Grizzlies.

The Cowboy scores came after two first period thrusts over Montana's goal were nullified by offside penalties.

The Grizzlies drove close three times but Wyoming stiffened.

Wyoming got its first touchdown with 1:10 remaining of the first half when left halfback Dave Madia drove over from the five. The kick for extra point was wide.

The touchdown came at the end of a 40-yard drive in 10 plays with Madia doing most of the legwork.

Man to Man

UNITAS

By JERRY WYNN

BALTIMORE—It will be your pleasure this morning to view the greatest quarterback in football.

He will be presented live and probably quite lively on television (channel 2, 11 a.m.), as well as in person here when the Rams play the Baltimore Colts.

He is 29 years old, 6-foot-1, 194 pounds, wears uniform No. 19 and can do as many things with a football as there are Kennedys in neighboring Washington, D.C.

His excellence as a passer is matched only by ability to call plays. He has passed for 125 touchdowns in six years, and his record of firing for scores in 47 consecutive games rates with Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak as the most impregnable achievements in all of sports.

He is Mr. Quarterback, Johnny Unitas.

It has been said, Johnny, that a quarterback is 50 per cent of a team. Do you agree?

"Goodness, no. No player is 50 per cent of a team. Even in the broader terms of the question, I will still answer definitely no."

Colt fans probably are the noisiest in the league. Does the yelling of a partisan crowd give you a lift?

"I can honestly say that I often hear no crowds at all. I guess I am too absorbed in what I am doing. The only time I notice the noise is when it jams up my signals."

How seriously will the loss of Lenny Moore affect the Colts' attack?

"When any club loses a player of the caliber of Lenny Moore, it is going to hurt a lot. We will just have to try to make up for it in other ways, and by doing things differently."

What makes Raymond Berry such a great receiver when he doesn't have the speed or height of many other ends?

"Raymond is not the fastest, that is he doesn't go as fast as Carroll Dale, but he is not slow. And he is 6-2 which is not small even in this league. But I think I know what you mean. You can explain it by saying that Raymond is a perfectionist. Whether he is writing a letter or running a pass pattern, he tries to do it perfectly. There is no harder worker or more serious student in the game."

Have you devised any Alley-Oop patterns to use with R. C. Owens?

"Owens has been injured, so we haven't tried any of that Oop stuff yet. I really can't say if we will."

Last year, a Ram player was ejected for hitting you after the whistle. Do you feel rival linemen point for you because of your reputation?

"Not any more than they point for any other quarterback."

Is there one lineman who gives you the hardest rush?

"You know I never stop to check numbers when they are running at me. Any defensive lineman in the NFL if he is up for the game or having a particularly good day can give you fits, and I am not just trying to dodge the question either."

What can a quarterback do once the "wolves" break through the blocking barrier?

"Well, first you've got to see them, but I think I've been blessed with a sixth sense that warns me of impending doom of this nature. Then you've got to counter by sidestepping, 'juking' or just plain taking off. I suppose you could say that a quarterback reacts to pass-rushers like a person would touching a hot stove."

Who do you consider to be the greatest quarterback?

"Jerry, I make it a point not to rate players, at least offensive players. I'm thankful I don't have to worry about them at all."

What do you consider your greatest game?

"I like to think it was the overtime playoff win in 1958 against the Giants. But actually until the overtime, I didn't have much of a day. One game that really sticks out in my mind is the one that clinched the title in Baltimore in 1958. We were behind, 27-7, at halftime against the 49ers, and we won it, 35-27. To come from behind 20 points and in the game that clinched our club's first Western Division title was a real big thrill for me."

Last year, the Rams had better success against Baltimore than other clubs. How do you rate them this season?

"From the trouble the Rams gave us last year, especially that working over on the Coast, it was hard to see why they finished where they did. This year, of course, all I have to go on is the game films I've studied all week. Honestly, I have never seen so many big guys in my life. I think the Rams may take over the Bears' nickname and become the Monsters of the Midway."

Are the Colts going to win today?

"Our head coach has indicated he would appreciate such a happening."

BROWNS, PACKERS PENNANT PICKS

'Title' Games Open 43rd NFL Season

By Associated Press

The National Football League opens its 43rd season today and puts a dog-eat-dog title fight for the Eastern Conference championship right on the line with a pair of key games in Cleveland and Philadelphia.

The NFL has come up with an opening day schedule that pits the defending Eastern champion New York Giants against current favorite Cleveland, and almost equally strong St. Louis at the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 14-week schedule, which also finds champion Green Bay entertaining the Minnesota Vikings, will be launched under a new $9.3 million, 2-year television contract (CBS) whereby each team will share equally in all revenues. In paid attendance, the NFL expects the season's total figures to top the 4 million mark for the first time in history.

A third of a million fans are expected at the opening day program, with more than 60,000 in Cleveland where coach Paul Brown will take a revamped team, that won all five exhibition games, against the strong Giants.

In other NFL openers, the Rams are at Baltimore, Chicago visits San Francisco, Pittsburgh plays at Detroit and Washington is at Dallas.

The Browns will have Jim Ninowski at quarterback and Tom Wilson at halfback, both of whom were obtained in trades during the winter. Ninowski, traded for Milt Plum, and Wilson, from the Rams, have given fullback Jimmy Brown plenty of offensive support.

Brown will be seeking his sixth NFL rushing title and the Browns will be looking for only their second win in the last 10 games with New York.

The Giants also revamped their forces after losing 37-0 in the 1961 title game. They still have Y. A. Tittle at quarterback, but have backed him with Ralph Guglielmi from St. Louis and have bulwarked their offensive and defensive lines with a fine crop of rookies.

In addition, former all-pro halfback Frank Gifford is back after a year's layoff and will add zest to the offense that this year is without Kyle Rote, Charley Conerly and Pat Summerall, all retired.

The Cardinals, with the league's only new coach in Wally Lemm, will have halfback John David Crow ready after recovering from a sprained ankle suffered in an exhibition game three weeks ago.

Quarterback Sam Etcheverry also has proved his injured arm of a year ago is again sound, as has Eagles' signal caller Sonny Jurgensen, who led the league in passing yardage last year.

Jurgy, with such receivers as Tommy McDonald and Pete Retzlaff, broke his right shoulder in a post-season game. The Eagles' problem still is their running game.

Jurgy, with such receivers as Tommy McDonald and Pete Retzlaff, broke his right shoulder in a post-season game. The Eagles' problem still is their running game.

The Packers rode through six exhibition games unbeaten and have the same cast that powered them to the title last year.

The Vikings finished strong in exhibition play, winning their last two games with soph Fran Tarkenton at the controls, and have buoyed their sagging defenses of a year ago.

The Colts were severely crippled last weekend when halfback Lenny Moore broke his left kneecap. Lenny will be out for six to eight weeks. He joins fullback Joe Perry on the disabled list.

Quarterback John Brodie leads the 49ers, whom coach Red Hickey calls the "best team I've ever had." Bill Kilmer, the soph pass-run threat, has recovered from an exhibition injury. The Bears lost all five pre-season games, but will be in their best physical condition so far with rookie of the year Mike Ditka and halfback Johnny Morris back in shape.

Bob Ferguson, the all-America fullback from Ohio State, and rookie Joe Womack of Los Angeles State, lead a revamped Steelers' running game against the Lions. Plum got better with each exhibition game and will get a chance to call his own plays.

Lane Scores TKO, Boosts Title Go Bid

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., scored a ninth-round technical knockout over Len Matthews of Philadelphia in a nationally televised bout Saturday night to even an old score and boost his bid for a title shot against lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz.

The 30-year-old Lane, a cut-eye, TKO victim of Matthews in their previous meeting two years ago, slit his younger opponent's left eye and pounded it nearly shut to force referee Joe Sweeney to intervene.

The referee halted the one-sided contest at 2:54 of the session with Matthews taking a severe pummeling from the southpaw slasher from Michigan, who entered the ring a 3-2 favorite.

San Pedro Nine Handed First Softball Defeat

STRATFORD, Conn. (Special) — San Pedro Mary Star suffered its first loss in the double elimination ASA Softball Championships Saturday, losing to the former national champion Clearwater Bombers, 6-3, in 10 innings.

Clearwater went ahead 3-0 in the top of the eighth on a walk, sacrifice, errors and triple.

San Pedro tied the score in the same inning on singles by George Pearson and Manny Ortega, a triple by Ben Brescovich and Ben Souders' single.

The Bombers won on two more of San Pedro's seven errors and a hit in the 10th. San Pedro's next game will be Monday.

Australian Sloop Overwhelmed, Granted Delay to Patch Wounds

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Defender Weatherly handed Gretel, the darling of Australia, a stunning half-mile defeat Saturday, in the opening race of the 18th challenge for the America's cup, and drew a snappy salute from the President.

The Australians were so shaken by the decisive setback that they immediately hoisted a flag requesting that they not race on Monday. Sunday is traditional off-day.

They needed more time to patch their wounds and pride. The Gretel showed a tendency to keel over on the waves of the Atlantic.

Now, the next race in the best-of-seven series for the trophy which has been in America's possession for 111 years, is scheduled Tuesday over a triangular 24-mile course. But no one in this old seaport thinks the result will be any different.

It looks like another four straight sweep.

As Weatherly pushed her slender, azure-blue nose across the finish line, the Australian challenger was so far back she appeared to be part of the spectator fleet.

She finished 3 minutes and 46 seconds later — a hangdog, broken crew aboard.

It was just a race for just two of the 24 miles, and for 24 minutes Saturday.

Then it turned into a rout as Weatherly showed definite superiority.

The American sloop was completely the master beating into the wind. She stood straighter, pointed higher and west faster.

Gretel's keeling weakness had turned up in practice, but never was completely confirmed before. The seas were chopped up by winds which reached gusts of 20 miles an hour.

This was supposed to be Gretel's weather, but it was Weatherly's day and the decision came early.

200 TO SEEK CROWN IN AMATEUR TEE

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Amateur golf this week picks its successor to burly Jack Nicklaus, who abdicated as king for money.

A field of 200 will start the all match play competition Monday in the 62nd U. S. Amateur Championship at the No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, and with Nicklaus now a pro it could be the most wide-open amateur scramble in years before the windup comes next Saturday.

SAYS WBA OFFICIAL

No Rematch for Floyd If Loses

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — If Sonny Liston dethrones heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Sept. 25 there will be no rematch, says Emile Bruneau, newly-appointed chairman of the World Championships Committee of the World Boxing Assn.

Bruneau, chairman of the Louisiana Boxing Commission and a member of the WBA Executive Committee, said Saturday he'll thwart any rematch.

"If Patterson loses, he'll have to fight and beat the No. 1 contender to earn another title shot," Bruneau said.

"The same holds for Liston," Bruneau added. "Should Liston put up a strong fight—and lose—he'll have to beat No. 1 contender before getting another crack at the championship."

Under present rules of the World Ratings Committee, the loser of any title fight must be dropped to at least No. 3 contender in the next monthly ratings. The No. 2 contender behind Liston is former heavyweight titlist Ingemar Johanssen, followed by Eddie Machen.

Patterson and Johanssen tied up the heavyweight crown for 21 months during their three-bout series.

* * * *

BRUNEAU made it clear he had no information of any impending rematch clause should Liston win. "But things like that have happened before. I'm only making our position crystal clear should any attempt be made to have it happen again."

Bruneau said he spoke with full approval of Dr. Charles Larson, president of the WBA.

Asked what recourse the WBA would have if the edict were defied and a rematch arranged, Bruneau replied: "Any state or country which didn't go along with our ruling could be suspended . . . we would tell other fighters, 'you can't fight in that state or country.' "

At present New York, Massachusetts and California are the only states not members of the WBA.

Forecast Record Year in Trade Marts

The success of the Los Angeles Angels this year has been a severe indictment of virtually every front office in the major leagues.

Key man in building the Angels into a pennant contender in their second year of operation, of course, has been general manager Fred Haney.

The original club which the Angels were stuck with in the special A.L. draft when the league expanded to 10 teams wasn't much more than an average minor league outfit.

It lost nine of its first 10 games in '61 and in that form would have been as pitiful as this year's New York Mets.

But Haney refused to sit still. He began wheeling and dealing. Men completely overlooked by all other major league clubs were given a chance to play regularly . . . and they came through.

FRED HANEY
Key to Angels Success

Many major league scouts have been critical of front office judgment of playing talent down through the years . . . pointing out that there have been scores of men in the minors capable of playing major league ball if given the proper opportunity.

Haney, of course, has long been considered one of the soundest baseball men in the game and a shrewd judge of talent.

Most fans remember that he led the Milwaukee Braves to two pennants and a world championship and then was fired the next year. The club hasn't been the same since.

Haney had hoped to move into the front office at Milwaukee and Braves fans are now wondering why he wasn't considered.

FRED'S FANTASTIC SUCCESS with the Angels has led to a whole new line of thinking in the majors that is destined to result in the greatest trading season of all-time during the coming winter months.

Indications are that most of the other major league clubs will follow Haney's format in attempting to regroup their forces. As one general manager said recently, "If he can do it without anything to start with, the rest of us should be able to do so, too."

And it is said that owner August Busch's recent blast at his Cardinal organization stems from the Angels' success. "How could they accomplish in a year and a half what we haven't been able to do in 10 years?" he asked his front office people.

ALL SIGNS POINT TO BRISK trading with six clubs leading the way . . . the Cardinals, Braves and Pirates in the National League and the Tigers, Indians and White Sox in the American. Thorough house cleanings are in order.

Other clubs will not deal as briskly as the above six plan, but some interesting trades likely will be completed.

Clubs most likely to stand pat, except for replacements from their farm systems, are the Dodgers, Giants, Twins and Orioles. However, each club may arrange at least one trade. The Dodgers would like another pitcher, the Giants a reliever, the Twins a starting pitcher and the Orioles a power hitter.

Cincinnati has a great crop of young players at San Diego ready to move up and if they make the grade, the Reds would have some veteran talent with which to complete a very important deal.

ALTHOUGH THE YANKEES have just about clinched another pennant, they plan to deal more than they have in many years.

Those close to the club say they were much more concerned over the late-August slump than they let on. It was during this slump that the pitching shortage became so evident.

The Yanks are pretty well set in every other position, thus any deals must involve pitching.

They would like the Angels' Bo Belinsky, a strong possibility now that Ford Frick has nixed his going to Kansas City. The Yanks have ample manpower to trade. Shortstop Phil Linz and possibly first baseman Moose Skowron would be the major attractions.

Mayo Smith, the Yanks' top scout, has been covering the National League for the past several weeks, presumably watching possible World Series opponents. However, he has looked at other clubs more frequently than he has the Dodgers and Giants, the two most likely winners.

K.C. Hurler Fischer Cracks 49-Year 'Walkless' Record

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bill Fischer broke the 49-year-old major league mark for continuous innings pitched without giving up a base on balls Saturday night but failed to break his five-game losing streak as his Kansas City Athletic teammates won a 5-4 11-inning victory and swept a doubleheader from the Baltimore Orioles.

Jose Tartabull's single drove in Haywood Sullivan with the winning run and made Dave Wickersham (10-3) the winning hurler. Billy Hoeft was the loser.

The Athletics won the first game 4-3 in ten innings.

Fischer completed 68⅓ innings without a walk and broke the record set by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1913. He surpassed Mathewson's record in the seventh inning and got two out in the eighth before he was relieved by John Wyatt.

* * * *

THE 6-FOOT, 195-pound Fischer retired Jim Gentile and Charley Lau to run his record to 69⅓ innings. Then Dave Nicholson hit his second home run of the night to bring the Orioles within one run at 4-3. When Whitey Herzog followed with a single, manager Hank Bauer replaced the 32-year-old righthander with Wyatt, who had won the first game in relief of starter Ed Rakow.

Wyatt got the side out but gave up the tying run in the ninth when he walked Russ Snyder and Lau doubled the Oriole catcher across.

Sullivan's hit won the opener. Norm Siebern's single, a walk and an intentional pass set the stage for his single. Hoyt Wilhelm took the loss.

Nicholson's homer tied the score 3-3 in the ninth.

Bailey's Triple Helps End Sanford Streak

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped righthander Jack Sanford's 16-game winning streak and handed second place San Francisco another severe pennant jolt by defeating the Giants 5-1 Saturday. The Giants now are four games behind the Dodgers.

Bob Friend dealt the Giants their fourth successive defeat, limiting them to five hits. The only run the Giants got off the veteran righthander was unearned.

The Pirates scored four runs in the eighth inning to snap a 1-1 tie. Sanford, who hadn't been beaten since June, had permitted the Pirates only two hits and had retired the first two batters in the eighth when the Pirates erupted.

Smoky Burgess singled and Howie Goss, his pinch runner, took second on a passed ball. Roberto Clemente doubled to make it 2-1.

Don Clendenon was purposely passed for Bob Bailey but the rookie third baseman from Long Beach, Calif., foiled the strategy, slamming a triple over rightfielder Willie McCovey's head to score Clemente and Clendenon. After Bill Mazeroski was given an intentional walk, Friend blooped a single to drive in the fourth run of the inning.

Friend struck out eight and walked only one en route to his 17th triumph. He has lost 13.

Sanford, now 22-7, walked eight batters and fanned three.

Phils Rally in 9th Nips Cards, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies rallied for three runs in the ninth Saturday to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, with a one-out single by pinch-batter Mel Roach driving in the winning run.

Reliever Bobby Shantz, who gave up three straight singles in the ninth, including two by pinch-batters, was the loser, while Jack Baldschun, who pitched the final inning for the Phils, was the winner.

Shantz was the fourth Cardinal hurler after St. Louis built up a 4-1 lead off rookie Jack Hamilton with a seven-hit attack that included Ken Boyer's 22nd homer.

It was the third successive game in which the Phils rallied in the ninth to win.

Mets Tie 'Futility' Record

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets mathematically doomed themselves to a 10th-place finish and tied another major league record for adversity Saturday when they bowed, 9-6, to Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Reds.

Purkey was credited with his 22nd victory of the season, although he needed relief in the eighth inning from Jim Maloney when the Mets staged one of their futile rallies for three runs. Maloney retired the four batters he faced.

The Mets' pitching staff tied a major league record when Jerry Lynch tagged Jay Hook for a two-run homer in the seventh. This was the 187th home run yielded by Mets' pitchers this season, tying the mark set by the 1956 Philadelphia Athletics.

* * * *

PURKEY, who gave up only four hits during the first seven innings, ran into trouble in the eighth when he served a two-run homer to Marv Throneberry and then made a throwing error on Joe Christopher's infield hit.

The Reds jumped on Hook for three runs in the second inning, Frank Robinson starting the outburst with a double and John Edwards knocking in the last two runs with a triple. Cincinnati scored three more runs in the fourth with the help of an error by Mets' outfielder Frank Thomas.

Killebrew Smashes 2, Twins Romp

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew came off the bench Saturday to drive in five runs with his 38th and 39th homers and pace the Minnesota Twins to 12-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Killebrew, who was benched after Wednesday's game, was inserted in the lineup in the second inning after rookie outfielder Tony Oliva was injured. Killebrew belted a three-run homer in the second off Cleveland starter Barry Latman and smashed a two-run belt off Pete Ramos in the sixth.

The five runs batted in brought Killebrew's total to 109 for the season.

Yank Defense Collapses, but Homers Bump Bosox

BOSTON (UPI)—The New York Yankees defense collapsed in a rash of errors Saturday but the league leaders recovered to beat the Boston Red Sox, 9-6, on a barrage of homers.

Roger Maris, Tom Tresh, Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard homered for the Yanks, who rallied for the victory on four ninth-inning runs. The Red Sox had rallied on five eighth-inning runs.

The defending American League champions erred four times but it was one of three Boston errors which set the stage for the winning rally along with Howard's insurance homer.

The Yankees, who earlier had blown a 5-1 lead, won it when reliefer Jim Bouton, third New York pitcher, shut off Boston's rally in the eighth. He held the Red Sox to one hit in the ninth to gain his seventh victory.

Yankee starter Bill Stafford wound up with nothing to show for it though he pitched one-hit ball before tiring after seven innings.

Maris rocketed his 32nd homer of the season 12 rows deep into the bleachers with one man on in the fourth. Tresh hit his 19th with the bases empty an inning later.

Dodgers' Williams Tests Buhl Today

line, there was bound to be a bundle of nerves.

The Dodgers staged a "bum of the inning" campaign from the fourth through the ninth, but there were some brilliant plays as well.

* * * *

HOWARD'S howitzer arm cut down the lead run in the eighth inning when George Altman attempted to score from second on Rodgers' single to right. In the same inning, Perranoski made a protective stab of Ernie Banks' liner, but erred two plays later when he threw away Ron Santo's bouncer.

Roseboro, Carey and Maury Wills also made errors, but each atoned.

Wills stole his 92nd base and is now four games ahead of Ty Cobb's 1915 record pace. He needs five steals in the next seven games to break the record sans asterisk.

Roseboro drew four of 11 walks doled out by four Cub pitchers and scored the tying runs in the eighth.

* * * *

WITH LUCK, Drysdale could have become the sixth 25-game winner in Dodger history. His troubles in the fourth began when Santo legged out a topper to third for the first Cub hit. Errors by Wills and Roseboro let in two runs, two intentional walks refilled the bases and Dick Bertell's single accounted for the last two.

Wills took the rap for Fairly's high throw on a double play ball and Roseboro escaped without an error, although he dropped another right field strike from Howard.

The series concludes this afternoon with Stan Williams (13-11) opposing Bob Buhl (10-12).

DIS AND DATA—Trainer Bill Buhler has rejoined the Dodgers after recovering from a kidney ailment . . . Happy birthday to Stan Williams, 26, saturday . . . Williams hopes to celebrate today by gaining his seventh career win at Wrigley Field . . . He broke in here with a two-hit shutout win in 1958 and never has lost here.

Drysdale walked Altman to start the second inning and promptly picked him off base . . . Dodgers entered with a .288 batting average against the Cubs, led by T. Davis' .394 . . . Tommy has 204 hits, the most by a Dodger since Lefty O'Doul's 219 in 1932 . . . Babe Herman set the club record of 241 hits in 1930.

Dodgers have stoven 176 bases, best in NL since 1924 Pirates swiped 181 . . . Fans cheered when four eighth-inning runs for Pirates were posted on scoreboard as Dodgers came to bat in the fifth . . . The pro-Dodger crowd also chanted "Go-go-go" before Wills stole in the same inning.

gels, and after three impressive performances, hit a sour note.

Grba, who now plans an October wedding in lieu of the Angels absence from the World Series, had a no-hitter until rookie third baseman Frank Kostro singled with one out in the fifth. One strike later, catcher Dick Brown planted a Grba fast ball into the left field pavilion for his 12th home run.

Brown, whose offensive and defensive abilities are so well known he is listed as a pitcher in baseball's "Who's Who," produced his third RBI of the game and the Tigers' third run in the sixth. His squeeze bunt scored Cash from third after Danny Osinski had replaced Grba.

Ken McBride, absent from the mound since August 3, puts his 11-4 mark on the line this afternoon against Phil Regan (9-9). No relation to the singer, Regan should still have little trouble lullabying the faltering Angel bats to sleep. He'll have to wait a half hour longer to try, however. Game time is 2 o'clock.

* * * *

ANGEL ANGLES: McBride will be seeking his third consecutive Chavez Ravine shutout, having blanked Cleveland on four hits on July 21 and Detroit on three hits on July 17 . . . In his last appearance against Baltimore on Aug. 3, McBride yielded five hits and four runs in six and two-thirds innings and receipted for his fourth defeat, breaking a 10-game winning streak.

Rocky Bridges and Bubba Morton will be the pitchers in today's preliminary contest which pits Billy Moran, George Thomas, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner against the Tigers' Vic Wertz, Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash . . . The home run duel starts at 1:30.

Gene Autry, Bob Reynolds and Leonard Firestone will present the first "Angel Owners Trophy" prior to Saturday night's game . . . The award goes to a player to be selected in secret ballot by his teammates . . . Voting will be done on the basis of performance, sportsmanship and leadership.

The Angels are off Monday and have been invited to participate in a golf tournament at Lakeside Country Club . . . Baltimore moves into the Ravine for Tuesday and Wednesday night games and after another day off Thursday, the Angels host Cleveland in a three-game series which concludes the home season.

MAYS 'FAIR,' ON SIDELINES INDEFINITELY

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) —Willie Mays said he felt "just fair" and manager Alvin Dark said Saturday he had no idea when his star outfielder would return to the lineup.

The flashy Mays, stricken with an attack of indigestion Tuesday night in Cincinnati, worked out lightly at Forbes Field before the game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dark made it clear that Mays would not play until he feels better. "I don't know when Willie will play," Dark said. "He's still weak and we'll just have to wait."

ALL VIKING NEWS GOOD NEWS

Predict One of Best LBCC Teams

By KEN PIVERNETZ

The Vikings of Long Beach City College have picked up momentum and are starting to roll.

Six days away from the opening game at Glendale, coach Jim Stangeland feels he has one of the finest teams in the history of the school.

There's no talk about a conference championship or unbeaten season, but only about what has already happened. After two weeks of practice and two scrimmages, it's been nothing but good news.

Up front, the Norsemen look every bit as good as in 1960. Line coach Rollie Eilerts is high on the size and speed of his entire interior front wall and end coach Joe Lannings feels the same way about Frank Roy, Frank Mazotta, Rich Croson and Mike Fambrough on defense.

Guard Bill James is a good example. A first stringer last year, who was forced to miss Thursday's scrimmage against Mt. San Antonio still suffering from a slight knee sprain, he now finds himself on the second string.

Compact Ken Brewer (5-9, 224) is a good bet to go both ways Friday night at offensive right guard and tackle on defense as a result of his rugged play Thursday.

Richardson has won back his first team status at quarterback from freshman Jim Dunn.

James, Mike Blume and Joe Pearson, forced to sit out the Mt. SAC scrimmage, are expected in uniform Friday. None of their injuries are serious.

Glendale, with flashy halfback Bill Renison, is expected to provide a rough time Friday night. Renison made second-team J.C. Grid Wire all-America last year and heads a team that includes returning Western States Conference all-stars Don Johnson and Ron Clark.

Shot Lead for Jessen; Wright 3rd

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Ruth Jessen chipped with precision and fired a two-under-par 72 Saturday to take a second-round lead of 145 in the $8,500 Sacramento Valley Ladies Open golf tournament.

In second place going into today's final round was Shirley Englehorn, a 21-year-old free swinger who last week won the Eugene, Ore., Open.

But the big surprise was veteran Betty Hicks, 41, who hasn't played in a tournament since 1959. She came home with a three-under-par 71 to tie the first-round leader and favorite Mickey Wright at 147—under par for the 36 holes.

Miss Jessen's key hole was the 17th, where she wedged in a brilliant 85-footer for a birdie. Last year's tournament runner-up also birdied the first, 13th and 14th holes.

Solid Claim for Muncey in Cup Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Muncey and Miss Century 21 of Seattle staked a solid claim Saturday to a second President's Cup unlimited hydroplane title with a record-shattering run in the first heat.

Miss Century 21 streaked along the Potomac River in the first 15-mile heat at 111.639 miles per hour, breaking the record of 109.245 set by Don Wilson in 1959.

In the other elimination heat for unlimited hydroplanes, Tahoe Miss of Reno, Nev., driven by oldtimer Chuck Thompson of Detroit, sped to victory in a race tainted by the failure of three boats unable to start.

Two elimination heats will be run today and the six boats with the highest point totals go for the golden trophy in the final.

Following Century at the finish were Bardahl, Gale V, and Lumberville of Detroit, driven by Walt Kade, in that order.

In the first heat, Thompson, only four-time winner of the President's Cup, had a nine-second lead at the start over Bob Gilliam of Seattle driving his own Fascination, only other boat under way when the starting gun fired.

EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIPS

British, German Runners Surprise

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bruce Tulloh, Britain's barefooted distance running star, and a pair of German runners came through with upset victories Saturday in the European track and field championships.

An outstanding runner who couldn't seem to win in the big races, Tulloh made good by beating Poland's Kazimeirz Zimny and Russia's powerful veteran, Piotr Bolotnikov, the 10,000 meter victor, in the 5,000 meter (3 miles, 188 yards) final. Tulloh was clocked in 14:01.8 and Bolotnikov in 14:02.

Manfred Matuschewski, in the 800 meters, and Jutta Heine, in the 200 meters, were Germany's first gold medalists of the meet in the huge Yugoslav Army stadium.

* * * *

MATUSCHEWSKI, a real outsider, captured the 800 meter run decisively in 1:50 with Russia's Mvalery Boulychev second, Germany's Paul Schmidt third and Finland's Olavi Salonen fourth, all in 1:51.2.

Fraulein Heine, attractive 22-year-old blonde, spoiled Dorothy Hyman's bid for a sprint double by winning the 200 in 23.5. Miss Hyman, winner of the 100 earlier in the meet, was second in 23.7.

The formidable Russians bagged three of the seven championships Saturday and ran their victory total to 11 in 23 men's and women's events. The 28-nation competition ends today.

The Soviet winners were world record holder Tamara Press in the discus, 186 feet, 8½ inches; world record holder Tatiana Chelkanova in the broad jump, 20 feet, 10¼ inches, and Ian Loussis in the men's javelin, 269 feet, 2 inches.

Miss Press, a powerful 25-year-old veteran, completed a double. She had won the shotput previously, and holds the world records in both events. After she won, Miss Press said she would quit sports next year to concentrate on her studies. She hopes to become a construction engineer.

PENTTI NIKULA, the 23-year-old Finnish gymnastics teacher, won the pole vault with a leap of 15 feet, 9 inches, well under the vault of 16-2½ he has lined up for world recognition. The flying Finn gave the 40,000 fans a thrill when he tried to better his pending mark but failed three times at clearing 16 feet, 2⅞ inches. He used a 16-foot fiberglass pole.

Britain, with four gold medals, was second to Russia. Germany and Italy have won two each.

In the unofficial scoring, Russia is far in front with 148 points; Germany is second with 113½ points, followed by Britain, 73; Poland, 55½; Finland, 29; France, 23; Hungary, 20, and Italy 15.

Kosarich Second in Griffith Run

John Kosarich of Long Beach State College took second in the annual cross country run staged at Griffith Park Saturday with a time of 13:04. Long Beach was well represented in the three-mile grind with runners from City College and the local high schools competing along with the LBSC harriers.

Out of some 60 unattached athletes in the race, six local runners placed in the top 20 and seven more in the first 48.

The five others who were among the top 20 were Mit Hunt, LBCC, fourth (13:12); George Lacy, LBSC, eighth (13:30); Tom Jennings, LBSC, 10th (13:51); Ralph Lee, LBSC, 11th (13:52) and John Fairchild, Poly H.S., 16th (14:06).

Restrictions Burden High School Aquatics?

By DOUG IVES

Do you ever wonder why Moore League swimming and water polo coaches talk only about the city championship and not about the league title?

Or why the CIF's biggest and supposedly strongest league generally comes out poorly in the Southern California championships?

There are reasons — and good ones.

* * * *

THE FACT is that Long Beach high schools are too burdened with restrictions—bans which very few other cities invoke.

For example, Downey has pools open during the summer for age group and AAU swimming and polo. Long Beach schools do not. Lakewood does because it's not under L. B. Recreation Department.

Downey, of course, follows Moore League rules, but the valuable experience gained during the summer makes the Vikes almost unbeatable, which is why other Moore coaches almost concede the league title to them.

* * * *

THE HIGH school pools in Long Beach are considered among the finest in Southern California. Yet, not even one hour a week during the summer is set aside for competitive swimming or polo.

There are other restrictions, too. Aquatics is one sport which isn't allowed extra time for tryouts.

Therefore, coaches must take everyone who signs up and then cut the squad later. This takes up valuable practice time. And even when a coach finds talent, he may not get it as only 10 boys are allowed to make program changes.

Coaches are not even supposed to talk to prospects during the summer. A relaxation of this rule would help them find out the boys who really want to compete.

Moreover, girls have the pool twice a week. This seems fair, but the boys don't get to make up the lost practice time during the weekends or in the morning.

There are many coaches who probably would like to teach during the summer, or at least be given use of a pool to help them out. This also is denied them.

CIF rules are more lenient, but each league can make its rules tougher. The Moore League has chosen to do this, and the result is a hardship on the coaches who wish to boost their sport and the boys who genuinely hope to be better competitors.

It's time for a change, isn't it?

Salute to Mexico Card Monday at Sports Arena

Promoter Joe Louis will stage his fourth boxing show of the season at the Sports Arena Monday night and it may be the best one to date.

The former heavyweight champion has lined up a triple 10-round "Salute to Mexico" program featuring such Latins as Zurodo Pina, Gil Cadilli, Rudy Corona and Marcelo Vargas. The show coincides with today's celebration of Mexican Independence Day.

Louis, after three "flops," has switched from "names" to "exciting" fighters and expects a $15,000 gate, or more.

In the pairings, Cadilli meets Corona, Pina faces Don Johnson, state feather champion, and Vargas will tackle unbeaten welterweight Johnny Newman.

Nicklaus Fires 65, Leads Player by 2

SEATTLE (AP)—Two of pro golf's big time, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, shot blistering sub-par third rounds in the $30,000 Seattle Open golf tournament Saturday. Nicklaus moved out in front at the 54-hole mark.

Nicklaus, the Ohioan playing out of Tucson, Ariz., was five-under with a sparkling 65. He had a three-day total of 67-65-65—197 awaiting today's final 18-hole firing.

Player, the South African who confided here in mid-week he was "about at the top of his game," was six under par with a 64. He closed out the day two strokes behind Nicklaus with a 68-67-64—199.

* * * *

"IT WAS a good round, but I'm still second," Player said. "Don't get me wrong. You have to be greedy in this game."

Nicklaus, who said he was "holding back on his drives" to control the ball better, had five birdies. His three-round total of 197 tied this year's pro tour record set by Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., in the Tucson Open.

Real Range of Horsepower

CALLAWAY GARDENS, Ga.—There's a motto among Kiekhaefer Corporation employes that if you want 100 horsepower or under, stick to Mercury outboards; if you desire more power than that, start looking at the MerCruiser inboard-outboard units that range from 110 to 620 horsepower.

It is my conviction that the motto is a good one after seeing everything that Kiekhaefer has to offer for 1963. The range of horsepower in the outboards is beyond doubt the most amazing change in Mercury's history.

There are four models—the 20-horsepower Merc 200, the 35-hp. Merc 350, the 65-hp. Merc 650 and the 85-hp. Merc 850. Added to the four models that are being retained, the eight engines make an imposing array for any outboard industry.

Others are the 6-hp. Merc 60, the 9.8-hp. 110, the 50-hp. Merc 500 and the giant of all, the 100-hp. Merc 1000, which has proved to be the most popular motor Kiekhaefer has ever designed since he started making 6-cylinder engines.

The main changes in the Mercury line are engineering refinements, improved alloys, better bearings and insulation and improved balancing.

MOST OF YOU OUTBOARD FANS are well acquainted with the 60, a perfect fishing motor that a child can carry, the 100, another fishing motor that puts out more horsepower than you think, the 500, an excellent engine for speed either alone, or in pairs, and the great 1000 that really sends you places in a hurry.

Now let's take a close look at the new models. First of all, the 200, a 20-hp. motor that is portable enough for carrying in a car, yet strong enough for water-skiing and fast enough to get you home in a hurry when you have ended a day of fishing far from camp.

It has a full gearshift lower unit, which, if desired, may be operated with Mercury's standard single-lever, remote-control system.

The new 35-hp. 350 is the lightest outboard of that class ever built and the most powerful twin-cylinder ever marketed by Mercury. It may be had as a standard engine, or may be equipped with electric starting, plus a super-power magneto.

The 65-hp. 650 is the most powerful four-in-line motor ever produced by Kiekhaefer and is said to be the lightest motor in that class in the entire industry. Its torque and lugging ability will be well appreciated by water skiers.

YOU MAY WELL WONDER about the 85-hp. 850, another new model, because it's between the 1000 and the 750, which will not be made any more.

To understand the outboard competition and why new models must continually be made, one needs only to talk to Kiekhaefer's engineering men or even to Carl Kiekhaefer himself.

For instance, the 850 was engineered specifically to develop high thrust at low and moderate speeds for water skiing and for large, heavy boats. Obviously, such a motor will turn light- and medium-weight hulls into high-performance boats.

Although Kiekhaefer's main plant is situated at Fond du Lac, Wis., other engineers spend 24 hours a day at the Lake X proving grounds near Orlando, Fla. And it is through such testing that annual changes come about.

Tom King, vice president of the corporation, which is a subsidiary of Brunswick Corporation, predicts that there will be a 10, possibly a 12 per cent increase in sales next year, mostly because of Mercury's drastic change in models, plus a close look at the boating industry throughout the country. He points out that Mercury is the only outboard manufacturer to make big changes in model design.

MORE THAN 100 OUTDOOR WRITERS from various parts of the nation came here to see the unveiling of the Mercury motors and the MerCruisers. Callaway Gardens was picked for its natural beauty as well as its string of lakes in which we drove every type of Mercury, mounted on just about every kind of boat that is manufactured in the U.S.

Carl Kiekhaefer, who remains as president of the corporation bearing his name despite its sale last year to Brunswick, insists that Mercury has no intention of entering the boat field. Neither does it have any desire to start factory packages (boats, motors and trailers). That's a job for the dealers, he says.

Kiekhaefer, a solidly built outdoor man with tremendous energy and vitality and who once earned his living racing automobiles, enjoys nothing like the smell of the water, be it salt or fresh, and the feel of the wheel of a boat in his hands.

On one day, all the editors and Kiekhaefer executives took a three-hour bus trip into Alabama, where we drove MerCruiser units on Lake Harding and the Chattahoochee River. It was my pleasure to ride in a Bertram 31-footer, equipped with two 310-hp. MerCruiser and skim along at 50 miles per hour. The driver? Carl Kiekhaefer.

You'll be hearing more about MerCruisers in a later column.

RACING ROUNDUP

Mongo Outlasts Lark in U.N. Cap

Overlooked in the betting by the crowd of 25,468, despite five victories in seven starts this year, Mongo paid $19.40, $11.40 and $8.00 in turning back 11 rivals in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Milton Ritzenberg's Wise Ship grabbed the lead at the start and held on until overtaken by Mongo in the backstretch. Wise Ship, ridden by Heliodoro Gustines, battled head-and-head with Mongo, Charlie Burr up, through the stretch. T.V. Lark, sixth in the midstretch, then made his move under Avelino Gomez but just failed to catch Mongo.

Mongo, whose first grass course victory came in the Ventnor Handicap Aug. 11, was timed in 1:56 3/5 under a 117-pound burden.

T.V. Lark returned $10.00 and $6.00 and Wise Ship paid $4.00. Mongo's share of the purse was $65,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Never Bend, beaten a week ago in the world's richest horse race, barged back into the 2-year-old championship picture with a come-from-behind victory in the $152,150 Futurity at Aqueduct.

But before the son of Nasrullah from Harry G. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable was made the official winner, he had to withstand a foul claim. Never Bend, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, finished the 6½ furlongs with a margin of 1¾ lengths over the Greentree Stable's Outing Class. Pack Trip, an outsider racing for Joseph M. Roebling, trailed by another 2½ lengths for third place in the field of 13.

* * * *

THE NUMBERS of the first three horses across the finish line had not much more than been posted when Donald Pierce, riding Outing Class, claimed a foul against Never Bend and Shoemaker. He charged that his mount was bothered by the Cain Hoy Stable star at the start of the race. But after looking at pictures of the race, Pierce's claim was disallowed by the stewards.

Never Bend, chalking up his first stakes triumph and his fourth victory in six starts, stepped the distance in 1:17 1/5 seconds. He earned $94,347.50 to run his total earnings to $193,677.50.

As the favorite of the crowd of 49,132, Never Bend paid $4.30, $2.80 and $2.40. Outing Class, coupled with Catullus, returned $3.40 and $2.80. Pack Trip was $4.60 to show.

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Henrijan scored a one and three-quarter length victory in the $10,000-added Albany Handicap at Golden Gate Fields Saturday before 16,148.

With Native Diver a late scratch, only five horses went to the post for the six-furlong sprint. There was no show betting and Henrijan paid $5 and $3.20. Second place Ann's Knight returned $3.40. The time was 1:09 2/5.

Testum Triumphs in Governors Cup Race

By ERNIE MASON

POMONA—Dick Anderson, a rough-and-ready cowboy from the Idaho range country had a big day Saturday afternoon. He's the co-owner and trainer of the 3-year-old speedster, Testum, and the colt walked away with $6,365 as he trimmed Fay's Night Out and Mr. Wag in the $11,475 Governor's Cup at six furlongs.

"Fog-Horn Dick," as he's affectionately called in the Pomona Stable area, went the race a $5 bill better, as he took Testum to the gate on his stable pony, a job worth a fiver to the pony-boy.

* * * *

WINNER of the La Jolla Mile at Del Mar before coming to Pomona, Testum was sent away the 2-1 favorite among the huge Saturday crowd of 22,096 and didn't disappoint a one of his backers as he led from start to finish and wound up a three-quarter length winner over Fay's Night Out and Mr. Wag in the track record-equaling time of 1:10 3/5.

Jockey Ken McReynolds went along for the ride and earned his first Pomona Stakes victory with a clever rating job all the way. McReynolds is best known as a quarter horse rider, but showed he can handle the thoroughbreds with equal ability with his performance.

Testum, who started his racing career in the bushes of Montana and who finished fourth in an allowance event here last year as a 2-year-old, was registering his sixth victory in 12 lifetime starts and now boasts a bankroll of $37,285.

Testum, backed well by the fine Saturday turnout, returned $6.60, $4.40 and $3.80.
